WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan. 20, 1900

There is still a black-smith vacancy with Hunsucker Carriage Co.

We hear of a good man coming here to sell horses. There is an opening here for such a man, and the place needs the business.

Old Mr. J. T. Price, of Farmville, was in town stopping with his son-in-law, J. J. Sumrell Thursday night. He thinks to move here at once.

It don't show good sense, To run against Wire Fence, You're sure to get hurt, hence, Get the best recompense, By using the best fence.

of G. W. PARKER.

J. R. Cooper and father-in-law, C. D. Hooks, went to Goldsboro Monday, driving double team through the country. They returned Wednesday, reporting a big time.

It looks like the farmers around here will have to raise more cattle. Dixon & Hooks have sold 34 beeves at this place in about three months.

Winterville Cigar Co. has sold more goods this month than ever before, having shipped already about forty thousand cigars and cheroots, since Jan. 1st.

Some one asked how much it lacked of being a rainy day yesterday. Whatever else it lacked, it certainly did not lack raining. But if we have a big rainfall, we have plenty of ditch-fall to carry the water off.

You had better read this letter: Bishop, Ga., Jan. 16, 1900.

Happenings in North Carolina.

The Populists will hold their State convention April 18th.

The exhibit which North Carolina will make at the Paris exposition is being shipped.

J. D. Davis, of Raleigh, an engineer on the Southern Railway, was killed by his engine a few days ago, at Greenville, S. C.

At Tarboro one man assaulted another with a coconut, crashing it against his nose and forehead and knocked him almost senseless.

County Statement.

Today we begin publishing the annual financial statement of the county, showing the number of county orders issued, for what purpose and to whom payable, also the receipts and disbursements with the financial condition of the county at the close of the last fiscal year. The statement will be given in installments in THE DAILY REFLECTOR, but will be published as a whole in Tuesday's issue of THE EASTERN REFLECTOR. Everybody interested in the affairs of the county should carefully read the statement.

Value of Plain Talking.

Advertisements are written for the masses to read, and should, therefore, be clear, concise, exact and convincing. What the people want to know should be told them in unmistakable language; for the more information they obtain without undue effort in the reading the better they are pleased. Plain talking, like plain dealing, wins patrons.

wonderfully pleased with the planter and back-band. I have only one horse and have been using your back-band for three years, and have never had a sore back or a hair rubbed off. I think the back-band the best thing of the kind I ever saw. It is economical in every sense of the word. It is easy on the horse, cheap and durable.

Yours truly,

T. B. FULLILOVE.

According to Mark Hanna and John J. Ingalls, U. S. Senators should bear the mark of dignity. They bear a mark all right, but it is more than apt to be the dollar mark.

Mr. Bryan is certainly entitled to one virtue even in the eyes of his opponents. He has never been afraid to let the country know where he stood on any question; in this, furnishing a great contrast to our jelly-like President.

The speech of the venerable Senator Vest in defense of his right to discuss Philippine matters without being called a traitor, and his protests against the efforts of the imperialists to muzzle all who disagree with them, fills a long felt want. Free speech was never needed more than now.

Poor Mark Hanna! Philadelphia has paid $100,000 for the Republican Convention and Pittsburg has proffered $200,000 to the campaign fund for a speech from McKinley, and yet Mr. Hanna declares that the Republican party is lost unless the trusts will go down in their pockets and contribute freely.

The gold Democrats and Republicans are very anxious that Mr. Bryan should withdraw his candidacy for the nomination. They say another man would stand a better chance of winning. Of course, they urge this because they are anxious for Democratic success and want that party to put up its strongest man—nit.

The Interstate Commerce Commission again pleads for amendments to the law that will empower it to order railways to reduce unreasonably high rates, but there is little chance of its getting them. This is a campaign year, and the Republicans are not going to risk alienating the railway money bags by any such action.

It is said that Governor Crane of Massachusetts, is very popular among the employes of his paper mill in Dalton, owing to his liberal treatment of them. There are several aged men in the town whose sole duty is to walk to the office of the mills and draw their pay—a sort of pension for services loyally rendered in the past. A strike in the establishment has not been known in the three generations of family management.

Those towns which have cotton factories find them so profitable that they go right to work to get more factories. Greenville certainly ought to be waking up along this line. This town needs factories.

Wanamaker's Way.

"When times are dull and people are not advertising," says John Wanamaker, "is the very time that advertising should be the heaviest." Such is the advice given by America's merchant prince. Some traders say it doesn't pay to advertise. They think they know more than Wanamaker. That's where they make a big mistake. Wanamaker's advertising has made him rich and famous. Wanamaker's methods on a smaller scale would be as good in Greenville as they are in New York and Philadelphia.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

If poets were made and not born, there would probably be a law against it.

Marriage is never entirely a failure except to the woman who entirely fails to get married.

A man is beginning to get old when he thinks it is more fun to remember what fun it used to be to do things than it is to do them.

A woman's idea of a romantic affair is when a girl is just going to get married and then something happens and it is put off so long she has to have all her things bleached.

When a woman begins to call her husband "darling" when they have company she is generally trying not to let them see that he has done something that he knows he will catch it for after they go home. —New York Press.

New Orleans, Jan. 16—The American mule must be vaccinated before he can be enlisted in the British army service in South Africa in the future. The admiralty has passed upon his case and the decree is final. Seventy five or a hundred, possibly more, of the mules died of glanders or a kindred disease after they were landed on African soil. The animals are separated, temperature taken and virus injected. If the animal is infected the theory is that by this special virus there will be a quick rise in the temperature, thus denoting that the disease, glanders, has found lodgment in the system of the beast, although it may not have shown itself for days or weeks if the virus had not been used. The vaccination of the mules is what has caused the delay in loading of the transport Corinthia.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.
Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.
MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

of clothes is not always the true expression of its worth. It is equally true that a good suit of clothes cannot be sold for less than a certain sum. Look up Your old Cotton Claims Washington, Jan. 18.—Southern Senators express themselves as hopeful over the prospects of securing legislation during the present session of Congress, looking to the refunding of money paid into the Treasury of the United States soon after the civil war, as the result of the sale of cotton captured by the Federal forces. There was originally about $30,000,000 of this money, but a portion of it was paid to the owners of the cotton soon after the war. The remainder was left in the Treasury and has remained there ever since. Senator Money, who is giving especial attention looking to the reopening of the subject, says that the sum left amounts to about $11,000,000. A bill introduced by Senator Davis gives one year additional time for proof of such claims before the Court of Claims. It has been favorably reported by the Senate committee on claims and Senator Money thinks the outlook very good for favorable action. Most of the claims are held in the Southern States.
