THE MASQUERADE.

Sub Rosa's Society Event.

Tuesday evening at the opera house the Sub Rosa Society again took the roll of host and entertained its fortunate guests in a manner that was both elaborate and pleasing. The occasion was a masquerade ball, the participants and characters represented being as follows:

Miss Helen Perkins, Gloria Quayle, in "The Christian."
Miss Bettie Tyson, Bat.
Miss Rosalind Rountree, Vanity Fair.
Miss Ada Woeten, Pochahontas.
Miss Annie Perkins, Filipino Girl.
Miss Mary Belle White, Lady of the 16th Century.
Miss Margaret Langley, Vassa, Sr.
Miss Howell, Ghost.
Miss Blanche Flanagan, Quakeress.

Mrs. R. J. Cobb, Head Nurse.
Mrs. H. W. Whedbee, Pink Domino.
I. C. Gary, Lieutenant.
V. J. Lee, Uncle Sam.
W. H. Dail, Jr., Major Difference in Opinion.
Herbert H. Harris, Nun.
C. J. O'Hagan, Dead Game Sport.
A. H. Gary, Sport from Country.
C. T. Lipscomb, Gen. Lee.

N. C. Cordon, Any Old Thing.
E. T. Forbes, Washington Man.
C. S. Forbes, American Abroad.
After masks were removed a supper was served on the stage.

Miss Mozelle Pollock, of Kinston and Rev. B. W. Spilman, of Raleigh, will be married tomorrow at 9:50 o'clock, at the residence of her father, Dr. J. A. Pollock. They will take the 10.12 train for Raleigh.—Kinston Free Press, 23rd.

A polished gentleman isn't apt to wear his clothes shiny. A man never knows what he can do until he doesn't get the chance. A grass widow is very often a woman whose husband is engaged in sowing wild oats.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan. 24, 1900
R. H. Hunsucker went to Kinston Saturday night.

Highest market price paid for cotton-seed all the time by A. G. Cox.

Hunsucker Carriage Co. is so far without a blacksmith. Who wants the job?

Guano and a plenty of it on the track here for sale by B. F. Manning & Co.

Work is pushing rapidly on the livery stables, and they will be completed in a very few days.

Mrs. Hooks, of Goldsboro, mother of C. D. Hooks of this place, was in town Monday. She is spending several days visiting down here.

Mr. Jeffreys, the Singer Machine man was here yesterday and delivered a machine to the buggy factory.

COMING AT LAST, to Winterville—A car load of horses. C. F. Chapman with his partner left for Richmond Monday morning and the horses are expected to be here by Thursday. Don't fail to come and see them.

When in need of a planter, wagon, or cart, I'll tell you just which way to start,

To Winterville is the place to go, To the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

And any order they can't stop, will be filled at the Hunsucker Carriage Shop.

M. G. Bryan has just returned from another trip by way of Goldsboro, Wilson and Rocky Mount, and has sold more of our goods than ever before. Merchants give us credit for being a home enterprise, and anti-trust.

WINTERVILLE Cig. Co.

Matt Slaughter, of Kinston, brought some sewing machines on the train with him Monday morning, and left them with B. F. Manning & Co. as samples. Any one desiring to purchase a good machine on liberal terms can do so of Mr. Slaughter.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

If a woman was a monkey whenever she saw a looking glass she would look behind it to see who the beautiful woman was.

When a man stands up to be married his face generally has about as much expression as a baby that was just born yesterday.

Bargain IN Trunks.

I have on hand a Big line of Trunks and not having room to handle them, I will offer for sale any one from the smallest size to the largest

AT COST.

Any one wishing a trunk it will pay them to see us before purchasing.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY, 24 1900.

We see it stated that the New York World and other large papers have decided to establish at Roanoke Rapids, in this State, the largest paper mill in the country. It will be an anti-trust factory. If such an enterprise is to be established no doubt the newspapers of North Carolina will gladly extend the helping hand, as they would be glad of the chance to quit paying trust prices for their stock of paper

Familiar Kinds of Subscribers.

To one who is fond of studying human nature, there is no business that offers so rich a field as that of a country newspaper, in every type of human nature that has thus far been discovered. The subscription book can properly be called the index of the town's people—a reflector, so to speak. It has them all there—the good, the bad and the indifferent. You may think you are onto them all, but you are not, if at some time in the village's history you have not studied the subscription book of the newspaper office.

Upon this book is the man who insists on paying for his paper in advance. He knows the exact day it expires, and on that date he makes his annual visit to the office.

There is another kind, who always pays when you present the bill, be it one or five years' subscription. You must go after it, but it is always waiting for you.

There are some who pay on the street, never take a receipt, leaving it to the editor's honesty to give him the proper credit. This man doesn't know exactly when his paper does expire, but he is good pay just the same.

But they are not all that kind, for here comes part of the shadows of the business. Here is a class of fellows who, when presented with a bill of account, swell up like the copperhead, and get very mad for your having wounded their dignity. They pay up, and stop the paper at once.

Another kind is the fellow who, every time he sees you, duns himself. He is coming to the office right away, and pay it, and apologizes for not having done so long ago. Again and again we see him, and again and again, as earnest and sauve as Colonel Sellers ever dared to be, he tells you he is coming to the office right away—perhaps that day.

We pass on and here comes the fellow who never sees us. Hesuddenly becomes attracted to something across the street; and if he doesn't cut across between crossings, his eyes are riveted in another direction until you pass by. Then he moves on.

But one of the meanest of them all is the man who claims that he doesn't get the paper half the time, when it is sent to his address every week. One man who owes four years' subscription, and gets the paper every week, when asked to pay not long since, got very mad, cut up a good deal, and then claimed that he hadn't received a single copy during that time.

And there are other kinds, too, that cast their shadows amidst the little bursts of sunshine that occasionally creep into the office.

We clipped the above from Newspaperdom. The editor who wrote it might have added another class of subscribers—the man who gets the paper a long time without paying for it and when he receives a dun has the post master drop a card to the editor that the paper is "refused." Fact of the business is the best character record to be found anywhere in the subscription list of a country newspaper, and the editor of such paper can in nine cases out of ten tell the character of every name on his list. Of course there are good ones, and he loves to have that kind.

Chairman Simmons on Republican Rule.

The white people of North Carolina will never again submit to negro domination, nor that the negro shall rule the white man in any part of this State.

This was the irrevocable decree of November 8, 1898. For this reason the republican party can never hope to regain control in North Carolina, so long as it continues under present influences, for it is manifest that so long as it so continues negro domination in certain parts of the State will inevitably follow its success, and the influence of the negro in politics will of necessity be exerted and felt in every part of the State. It is futile for republicans to longer deny that their party in North Carolina is controlled by the negro and that government by it is necessarily government under negro influence.

Referring to the supporters or the proposed constitutional amendment, Senator Butler said in his speech before the Populist State executive committee at Raleigh last week all the elements of opposition should unite to "drive this gang out of the State." Mr. Butler was evidently inadvertent to the fact that the driving out business is one at which two can play but was doubtless reminded of it with force by Chairman Simmons who said in his interview in our Raleigh correspondence Sunday that if this were undertaken Butler and his associates may find the "boot on the other leg." They may, indeed. The less of this talk indulged in by the Republicans and their assistants in the campaign now opening, the better it will be—for them.—Charlotte Observer.

A man always thinks that a clever woman is pretty, and a woman always thinks a woman a man thinks is pretty must be clever. The only sure way in this world to have one half of what you want is to quit wanting about two-thirds of what you haven't got.

Against Trust Tobacco.

A traveling man, who sells tobacco, says that during a recent trip through South Carolina he discovered that in all the small towns there is much opposition to the trusts and that many merchants not only refuse to handle the goods made by any of the trust firms, but will not permit advertising pictures or cards to be placed in their stores.—Winston Sentinel.

We have heard some Greenville merchants say they were ready to join with the farmers in their fight against the trust and would stop selling trust goods if requested to do so.

Warning to Delinquent Subscribers.

H. E. Woodheater recently sold to his partner his interest in the Mitchell (Ind.) Commercial, to devote himself to his new official duties as justice of the peace—the only one in the place. In his valedictory, he suggests a new test of inherent depravity in the case of offenders haled before his honor:

"Should any of the readers of the Commercial at any time get into our court, with 'the state' on one side, and he is able to show a receipt in full for his subscription to the home paper, it will serve as a letter of recommendation, and entitle the bearer to due consideration on the part of 'the court,' for a man who pays for his home paper is a pretty good sort of a fellow as a general rule."

Congratulations to the Tobacco Growers.

We heartily congratulate the tobacco growers of North Carolina on their successful State convention held at Raleigh last Wednesday night; on the fine, representative personnel of that body; on their splendidly officered organization; on the unity and enthusiastic interest that characterized their proceedings; on the determination registered to no longer let matters drift to their detriment, but to move elbow to elbow for the betterment of their condition; on the wisdom that marked every action taken.

Now let the same excellent working spirit—the same confidence in the justness of the cause and the outcome of the struggle for relief from trust oppression—be in evidence in completing the organization. Let the aim be to bring to its membership roll the names of all of the producers of the bright weed.—Winston Tobacco Journal.

The most valuable things in a woman's intellect are the things that are left out.

Most men get engaged before they know their minds and get married before their wives know theirs.

There probably never was a baby that didn't get its first tooth a lot sooner than most babies ever do.

Songs have to be written about women or they are not a success. The only songs written about men are funny ones, where the man is generally drunk.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

Because of smallpox in Mr. Airy all public meetings of any kind, including Sunday schools and church, have been forbidden by the town authorities.

A veteran weather prophet of Shore, Yadkin county, says we are to have eight snows this winter. For half century and over he has foretold the weather.—Winston Journal.

The Raleigh Times-Visitor says that a North Carolina woman, Mrs. Emma Van Dusen, formerly Miss O'Daniel, of Hillsboro, has been sworn in as a deputy United States marshal in Texas.

A Durham negro stole $7. Later another negro stole the same money from thief number one. The first thief squealed on the second one and in this way the thing leaked out and both landed in jail.

The Wadesboro Messenger says that Capt. J. C. McLaughlin has been clerk of Anson superior court for twenty-six years and has not since he has been in office missed being present at a term of court until last week, when he was sick.

Frank Rogers, a brother of State Corporation Commissioner Samuel L. Rogers, committed suicide in Montana Sunday. Mr. Rogers is well known here. He was formerly a deputy collector in the internal revenue office and had numerous friends in the city. He went to Montana last spring.—Asheville Citizen.

An interesting case is about to go on the docket of the court at Fayetteville. An attorney has been examining the old county records, embracing the time when Harnett was a part of Cumberland in the interest of a citizen of the state of Ohio, who claims a large slice of the thriving town of Dunn on the Atlantic Coast Line.

NOTICE.

This is to state that the firm of Drs. O'Hagan & Laughinghouse has not been dissolved. The only change made is, that for the better convenience of our patrons we have established a down town office.

Dr. O'Hagan will occupy the old stand. Dr. Laughinghouse will occupy the new office situated on Fourth street, just behind Frank Wilson's clothing store in the Perkins block of buildings where the old post office used to be.

A MEAN LOOKING LETTER-HEAD

Has lost many a dollar for business men. If a man is judged by the coat he wears, he is also judged by the letter-head he uses. An artistic, nicely printed letter-head may be looked on as a good investment.

It will be done right.
The price for doing it will be right, too.
