TOWN MATTERS.

As Looked After by the Aldermen—Market Rents Too High—Shooting Air Guns Must Stop.

The Board of Aldermen met in regular monthly session, Thursday night, all but two members being present.

The usual monthly reports from the different committees were made the street committee reporting that owing to the weather only necessary repair work was done in their department the past month. The lights committee reported that more lamps were being asked for by citizens in some sections of the town.

When the market house committee reported it was stated that there was complaint from some of the occupants that rents of certain stalls are too high. It is the custom to rent the stalls at public auction to the highest bidder on the first of the year. It seems that persons who were envious against the occupants of certain stalls run the price up on them, so they had to keep raising bids in order to hold their stands. Some of the stalls were bid off as high as $15 per month, which is of course out of all reason. The committee was instructed to use its discretion in the matter and fix the rents at a fair figure.

Complaint was made to the Board about boys shooting air guns around town, and the Chief of Police was instructed to notify the boys that they must stop shooting the guns on the streets, and if they do so after being notified to get out a warrant for them.

The police were also instructed to go after those folks who have not paid taxes on their dogs.

There was another application for permission to start a "green grocery" at another stand away from the market mouse, but it was tabled.

The fire committee together with the Chief of fire department was instructed to arrange a place for keeping the hand engine and reel, and permission was given to arrange the old Mayor's office for this purpose.

The accounts allowed at this meeting for current expenses were less than at any meeting in some time, the aggregate being $ 235.

Any woman will tell you that trying on new dresses is also trying on the nerves.

Commends Chairman Blow.

Mr. Alex. L. Blow, the able chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Pitt county, in his call for the "convention of the Democratic party of Pitt county * * * for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State convention * * * to make nominations of candidates for the various State offices" includes the following:

"All persons who are in favor of the white people controlling the State and county governments are invited to participate in these meetings."

This is as it should be; every person who desires that the white people shall control the State and county governments should meet in the primary and unite in the selection—by vote of each participant, not committee—of delegates to the various nominating conventions. At the same time a vote should be taken to ascertain the preference of the voter for the various nominations, and such preference should, as we have no doubt it will, be given full effect in the higher conventions.

By exploiting the methods which prevail in Johnston county, The Post was instrumental in having the same adopted in a number of counties in 1898, in every one of which without exception, it not only worked satisfactory, but resulted in a largely increased Democratic vote. In Johnston every Democrat in a township, and every person who intends to unite with the party, who can or desires to do so, attends the county convention. Every question, or candidate, is submitted, the township delegates retire, and by viva voce vote express the wish of every individual, and the vote is reported as cast by the township delegation. The result is acquiesced in without complaint, and the voice of the majority thus expressed becomes at once the will of the entire body.

The constitutional amendment embodies the supreme test of this year. Let every citizens who favors this amendment for the settlement of the matter which has only brought disorder, disaster and destruction generally upon all the people, be invited to attend and thus participate in the selection of delegates and the nomination of candidates. If this done this year in every county the result will be the grandest victory ever achieved, because more satisfactory methods will have been pursued, in which voice of the people, in fact, will have found expression. We commend the Pitt and the Johnston plans to our friends throughout the State.—Raleigh Post.

It isn't the naughty play that comes to naught.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY, 2, 1900.

At the late session of the North Carolina Conference a resolution was adopted "that the month of February be appointed as Advocate month and that pastors during the month preach on Christian literature, and that prayer be especially made for the church Organ, the Raleigh Christian Advocate; that our pastors, through their committees or otherwise, during the month of February, canvass their congregations in the interest of the circulation of the Raleigh Christian Advocate among their people."

The month for this special effort in behalf of the Advocate is now here and Greenville should not be behind other towns in making a liberal response to the work. The Conference never had an abler organ than the Advocate, and while it should be read especially in every Methodist home, others could take it with much profit.

The Constitutional Amendment guarantees to every white male citizen the right to vote as long as he lives with only one simple proviso, and that is he must register. He has only got to register and when this is done he can vote in all elections and the Amendment says he shall always enjoy that right. What more can any man ask? It is all plain and simple, so much so that he who runs may read.—Lexington Dispatch.

North Carolina Defamed.

Washington, January 31.—Congressman Linney, for the purpose of prejudicing North Carolina election cases now before the House, made a most partisan and violent attack upon the registration laws of the State in a speech delivered today. For more than an hour he poured out abuse on the heads of the people of his State. The ground of his contention was, that as the ballot is abridged lawlessness becomes more prevalent. The ballot he claimed, was the safety valve of the republic. He said that since 1891 there has been a yearly average of 140 lynchings in Southern States, but North Carolina had escaped. If the constitutional amendment passed then lynchings and violence would follow. His speech was so violent that the House was in an uproar half the time. Tolbert of South Carolina, Burke of Texas, Dinsmore of Arkansas, and Barlett of Georgia became involved in a controversy with him. Senator Pritchard came over from the Senate and sa-near Mr. Linney.

While Linney held the floor he gave way to George H. White to speak the foul calumny that negro assaults upon white women were the fruits of white men's assaults upon negro women, thus putting the white women of North Carolina upon the same plane as negro women.

Linney's speech will react upon him.

Amendment Catechism.

Q.—If the amendment is adopted, will the negro be allowed to vote?

A.—Only such negroes will be allowed to vote as can read and write, or such as are descended from those negroes who could vote prior to the Constitution of 1835, or who have come from States where negroes could vote before 1867.

Q.—Will the amendment disfranchise the uneducated whites?

A.—Certainly not. Under it any white man who could vote at any time before 1867, or whose ancestors (that is, his father, grandfather, great-grandfather, etc.), could vote at any time before 1867, can register—whether he can read and write or not—any time before 1908, and will always thereafter be entitled to vote. This lets in every white man and Croatan, however lacking in education, who has not been convicted of an infamous crime.]

Q.—Why this difference between the white man and negro?

A.—Why, bless your soul, it is a matter of natural understanding and capacity. The white man has more sense and capacity than the negro, and inherently understands the duties and responsibilities of suffrage and citizenship better than the negro; and the Democratic party holds that the uneducated white man can be trusted to cast a more intelligent vote than an educated negro. That is what white Democrats believe, whether white Republicans believe it or not.

The Populist party professed at its organization to be the People's party and that name was proudly claimed by it. Indeed it was established, as was alleged, as a protest against the "bossism and ring rule" of the two old parties, and yet never was a political party more completely controlled and dominated by its leaders and "bosses" than this same so-called People's party!

A fresh proof of this was the recent action of its State Executive Committee in assuming to dictate the policy to be pursued in the coming campaign. Even with "the two old parties" no such "bossism" would have been attempted—certainly not with the Democratic party, whose policy and platform is always dictated by the masses of the party in their State convention, and not in advance by any committee.—Pittsboro Record.

AN ELUSIVE BONANZA

THE STORY OF THE LOST LODE OF GORE RANGE.

How a Tenderfoot Accidentally Discovered This Wonderful Bank of Gold and Why He Didn't Enjoy the Richness Thereof.

They were telling mining stories in the courthouse, and Dee Reese, the lawyer, asked:

"Did you ever hear of the lost lode of the Gore range?"

The other lawyers sitting around him said they had never heard of it and then waited for him to begin. Mr. Reese borrowed a fresh chew of tobacco and told this story:

"Hundreds of experienced and inexperienced miners as well have spent a great deal of time and money looking for the lost lode of the Gore range, and they are searching for it yet. This famous mine was found and lost in the fall of 1896. A party of men from Iowa visited Routt county, Colo., in the fall of 1896 on a hunting and fishing trip. The party made its headquarters at Steamboat Springs. In the latter part of October the party moved up and went into camp on Rock creek, in the Gore range of mountains, which runs through northern Colorado. One of the party was a druggist, who had gone on the trip for his health. He knew nothing of mining. He had been warned by an old miner before he left Iowa not to be fooled, as many a tenderfoot had been, by what is known as 'fool's gold,' or iron pyrites. So this druggist paid no attention to the rocks, but attended strictly to his hunting and fishing.

"One afternoon while hunting for deer he started a fine buck and fired at him and wounded him. The buck fell, but got up and ran before the druggist could get to him. Where he fell was a pool of blood, which showed that he was badly wounded. The hunter trailed him by the blood spots on the dead leaves and grass for a mile and there found where the buck had lain down and then rising had gone on again. In this way the chase continued until sundown, and then the hunter, who was exhausted, sat down on an outcropping ledge of rocks to rest.

"In the enthusiasm of the chase he had not noted which way he traveled, and he realized that he was lost in the heavily timbered mountains, with night coming on. He knew it would be useless to try and find the camp that night, so he gathered a pile of dead limbs and kindled a fire against the ledge of rocks and laid down with his feet to the blaze and prepared to sleep. While lying there he noticed the rocks sparkled in the firelight. He got up and examined it, supposing it was the 'fool's gold' he had been warned against. But the rock looked so pretty that he broke off several pieces and put them in the pocket of his hunting coat, intending to carry them back to Iowa with him as curiosities.

"The next day he wandered all the forenoon, and then found the Gore pass road over the range and followed it to the camp. That very afternoon a regular mountain snowstorm began, and the party broke camp, returned to Steamboat Springs and from there went east.

"The druggist, whose name I have forgotten, staid in Denver for a few days on his way to his home in Iowa. In the lobby of a hotel in Denver the talk drifted to mining, and the druggist mentioned the specimens of stone he had found and was taking home. An old miner never misses a chance to examine a specimen and in this group in the hotel lobby was an old prospector. He asked to be shown the specimens. The druggist went to his room, fished up the old hunting coat from the bottom of his trunk and took out the piece of stone. The miner examined it closely and exclaimed:

"Man, that's the richest specimen of gold bearing quartz I have ever seen!"

"The druggist thought at first that he was being joked with, but at last the old miner induced him to take the specimen to Burlingame, the best assayer in Denver. Burlingame assayed a piece of the quartz and reported that it yielded gold at the rate of $17,000 to the ton. The druggist was not satisfied. He submitted another piece of the quartz to another expert assayer and got a report that it yielded gold at the rate of $15,000 to the ton.

"The druggist returned at once to Steamboat Springs, but there was snow in the mountains. He went back to Iowa and returned to the Gore range the next spring and has spent every summer since then looking for the lost lode, and others have searched for it, too, but no trace of it has been found."—Kansas City Star.

Weighting the Baby.

The weighing of infants, a part of the routine in children's hospitals and of the greatest value as an indicator of health or disease, is unfortunately not so common as it should be in private families. Dr. Graham, discussing a paper by Dr. Griffith at the Philadelphia Pediatric society, says, "The rule that a child has double its birth weight at the fifth month and triple at from the twelfth to the fourteenth month makes a very good and useful working record."

Philadelphia's Big Clock. The clock on the Philadelphia city hall is the largest in the world. It has the largest dial. If the dials were out of the way and tracks were laid, two trains could pass each other running through the holes. The glass in the four faces is fastened there by a ton of cement. The glass, if laid on the ground, would make a walk a square long and ten feet wide. The minute hand will finish each year's journey by completing a 110 mile trip. It is expected that this minute hand will travel 110 miles annually for many years to come. The clock is strong and the minute hand is phosphor bronze and weighs 250 pounds.

Where Hope Lingered.

Negroes are unconsciously humorous. The other day two roustabouts were overheard talking. They met on the levee after one had been absent from the city for several weeks. "Hello, Bill; how is yer?" said the first. "Well," was the reply, "de doctors is give me up, but de police ain't."—Memphis Scimitar.

One of the most obnoxious nuisances in Philadelphia is the littering of the public highways with circulars, handbills and other forms of advertisements. The practice is so common as to immediately attract the attention of visitors; and it not only makes the streets unsightly, but is dangerous in that it frequently causes runaway accidents. An ordinance of March 7, 1882, directed against this evil prohibits all persons from distributing such printed matter by forcing it upon unwilling pedestrians, or by placing it where the wind will ultimately carry it into the street. This measure has long been ignored; but Director English has given the police to understand that it must be enforced, as the department of Public Safety is determined to abate the nuisance. We may now confidently expect that the streets of Philadelphia will be kept clean and clear of all unsightly and dangerous litter.—Philadelphia Record.

Troublous Times

The latest news from Kentucky this afternoon is that Senator Goebel is still living and has hopes of recovery. A reward of $5,000 has been offered for the arrest of the man who shot him. Excitement is at high pitch. Gov. Taylor is still obstructing the Legislature to prevent the recognition of Goebel. It is declared that there will certainly be war between the civilians and the Federal authorities if the latter make any interference with the situation.

A man may completely drown his sorrows in the flowing bowl, but they are sure to come back and haunt him in the morning.

Some Speak to Me, Some to You.

Tap Starkey came in Thursday evening from Norfolk.

J. L. Sugg went to Ayden last night and returned this morning.

Miss Sudie Harding left this morning for Greensboro to return to the Normal College.

Miss Etta Heartt, of Durham, arrived this morning and is visiting Mrs. E. B. Ficklen.

Mrs. T. L. Mayo and Miss Maggie Howard, of Edgecombe, arrived Thursday evening to visit Mrs. D. E. House.

Died

Mrs. Armeta (Hoell) Jones, who had a stroke of paralysis last Saturday night, died Thursday night at midnight. This was the third stroke of paralysis that she suffered. She was born June 1st, 1824, making her in her 77th year at the time of death. A daughter, Mrs. Mary Foley, and four grandchildren are left to mourn her death, and these have the sympathy of the community.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Cherry Hill cemetery, services being conducted in the Methodist church by Rev. F. A. Bishop.

Getting What's Coming.

To use an expressive Americanism, every business man "gets what's coming to him." But what he gets depends upon himself. If he be content with the flotsam and jetsam his fate will be extinction. On the other hand, by advertising continuously he can bring to his establishment a steady flood of trade that will float him to the pinnacle of prosperity. The ambitious man will make a characteristic choice.—Philadelphia Record.

Republicans Want Troops.

The Washington correspondent of the Atlanta Journal gives the following information relative to the visit of Republican Chairman Holton to the national capitol:

"Republican State Chairman A. E. Holton, of North Carolina is in the city to discuss with the administration officials the proposed franchise amendment in that State.

This is the liveliest local State issue in the United States today, and party leaders on both sides are taking a keen interest in the fight. Chairman Holton will talk the matter over with Senator Hanna and President McKinley today, and will intimate, it is said, that Federal troops will be necessary when the vote is taken. He will also urge prominent Republicans to go to North Carolina and take part in the campaign.

The chairman is charging fraud, intimidation, desperation, lawlessness and many other things against the Democrats in general, and Chairman Simmons in particular, and declares that riot and bloodshed will inevitably result as the negroes are determined to fight for and demand their rights.

The North Carolina Democrats in Congress declare the situation is entirely satisfactory, and that a clean majority of not less than 50,000 will be given the amendment.

Chairman Holton met Senators Pritchard and Butler last night in conference."

NOTICE.

This is to state that the firm of Drs. O'Hagan & Laughinghouse has not been dissolved. The only change made is, that for the better convenience of our patrons we have established a down town office.

Dr. O'Hagan will occupy the old stand. Dr. Laughinghouse will occupy the new office situated on Fourth street, just behind Frank Wilson's clothing store in the Perkins block of buildings, where the old post office used to be.
