NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Feb. 14, 1900

W. J. Wyatt went to Raleigh yesterday.

Mrs. F. O. Cox is quite sick with a case of LaGrippe.

The band instruments have come and the boys are practicing on them.

LITTLE BUT LOUD.—Our traveling salesman, M. G. Bryan, left yesterday for the longest trip that he has yet taken, and expects to work the best trade harder than ever. If we are little, shall do our best to be loud.

WINTERVILLE CIGAR CO.

D. G. Taylor, a prominent and well known farmer of Lenoir county, was in town yesterday and bought 1000 yards of wire fence. Farmers of his county are using lots of Winterville fence, and we hope to see more of our Pitt county friends following their example. Those living near here have the advantage of saving all freight.

Wish the lecturer Sunday had given the checker playing and the raffling business which has just started up here a blow which would have knocked them out of existence. Besides being a waste of valuable time, which a man should give to improving his business, it is going to make gamblers of our boys sure as day.

NOTICE.—If you do notice you are the gainer. If you don't notice the following you are the looser. Have never done the like before, but have this offer to make for a few days:—We propose to give as a premium one cart saddle and one backband to every purchaser of one pair of our cart wheels at the regular price until 10 pair shall have been sold. The early bird catches the worm. If you come at once, you get in addition to the best pair of wheels you ever bought, the best cart saddle and back band, worth $1.10. A. G. Cox MFG Co.

Quite a large crowd, considering the weather, were entertained at the Baptist church here Sunday by the noted temperance lecturer, Rev. J. R. Vaughan. In the course of his lecture he spoke of the report from Ayden that we were running several blind tigers here, but added that he did not believe it, and several voices answered "No."

Will add that if there is anything of the kind here we don't know of it, and if a case should ever be found, no doubt it would be backed up by one of those lying rascals of Ayden, whose whole business it is to pull down good morals in every community by building up their bad ones, and some ignorant fellow acting as his tool would have to suffer the penalty of the law. We dare say that the fellow starting anything of the kind here will get his share of tar and feathers.

The body of Elijah Cone, an old newspaper man, was found frozen in the river at Fond Du Lac, Wis.

In a dispute over land, Attorney William J. Jenking was fatally shot by John Wampler at Norton, Va.

The Old Dominion Steamship Company's tug Duryea suddenly filled with water and sank at Norfolk, Va.

BRYAN AT RALEIGH.

He Makes Two Great Speeches.

Special to The Reflector.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 13.—Hon. Wm. J. Bryan made two great speeches here today. He spoke this afternoon in a crowded tent. Tonight, at the Academy of Music, he made the greatest speech ever heard in North Carolina. Arguments against trusts and imperialism were simply unanswerable. He showed the great wrong of the American conquest in the Philippines. Said that the Philippines should have freedom under American protection. Mark Hanna and the Republicans principles were severely arraigned. He said free silver was no dead issue. He strongly advocated an income tax. His speech was greatly applauded.

James Meredith.

A discussion which took place the other day between a well known critic and a far famed American author on the subject of the best book for boys and girls brought out the obiter dictum that by far the best book of the year for young American readers was Mr. Paul Levester Ford's James Meredith. It is without doubt capital reading for sturdy young Americans.

Among the new novels perhaps the most popular are James Meredith by Ford. Richard Carvel by Churchill. When Knighthood was in Flower by Caskoden, David Horner by Wescott, Via Crucis by Crawford and Mr. Dooley in the Hearts of His Countrymen by Daune.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY, 14 1900.

A story is going the rounds to the effect that at a public school in London a notice was posted notifying the pupils that Mr. So-and-so one of the masters, would give a lecture on "Our Eyes, and How We See Through Them." Underneath this some boy wrote: "Or, Our Pupils, and How They See Through Us."

The Siamese Twins Duplicated.

Twins joined exactly as the Siamese twins were, have been to a Innimite woman.

They were placed on exhibition shortly after their birth, and an injunction to prevent their display was refused by the courts. It is proposed to send them to the Paris Exposition.

The South Full of Pluck.

We fancy that our 5,000,000 cotton spindles, our 2,500,000 tons of iron, our 40,000,000 tons of coal, our stupendous contribution to the country's timber and lumber supply, our greatly enlarged products of wheat, corn, truck, fruit—we think these are inspiring respect among the intelligent observers of the world. They see that the South is full of the old-fashioned pluck, that its people inherited from their British ancestors the kind of courage that no adversity can tame, no disaster appall.—Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times.

Sensible Chat.

At a meeting recently held by the alumni of Livingston College colored at Salisbury the following clipping from other resolutions was adopted:

While we are known to be opposed to the constitutional amendment, in view of its studied race discrimination, as shown in the grandfather clause, yet we advise that we, as a race so demean ourselves during the controversies growing out of it as to excite no animosities or bitter prejudices, which would redound to our discomfiture. We must seek to allay feelings and passions avoid reckless statements which can result in no good and in exercising the franchise which is still guaranteed to us so exercise it so as to prove ourselves worthy of its being perpetuated to us.

Character building is a great essentiality. We must not neglect the moulding of the character of our boys. If we neglect this we neglect the most important and sacred duty now enjoined upon us. With character no race can attain to the heights which have made nations great and not worthy.

If this spirit could be inculcated in the hearts and minds of all the negroes in North Carolina there would be prosperity and peace among them.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10, 1900.

Unless public opinions compels a change in the present status of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, it is practical certain to be ratified. A careful poll of the Senate shows 59 declared votes in its favor, whereas only 58 are necessary to ratify. The truth is that Secretary Hay has committed this country to a position where it seems absolutely necessary for it to secure British consent before it can build the canal at all. In other words, he has admitted Great Britain to possess suzerain rights over the United States, the right to supervise its treaties with the sovereign states of Nicaragua and Costa Rica. This is the definition of suzerainty on which Great Britain has insisted in the case of the Transvaal. Secretary Hay has placed the country in this position by formally negotiating for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and thereby admitting that instrument to be in full force instead of void, as claimed by two former Republican Secretaries of State. Having admitted this, the United States cannot take it back, and as the treaty is perpetual by its own terms and cannot be modified except by common consent of both parties, there seems no way of proceeding except by consent of Great Britain. The question of benefit to the United States under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty is a very simple one. Discussing it, a Democrat Senator said: "Under the new treaty the canal is to be a commercial agency exclusively. Great Britain, Germany, France, and all the other countries of the world, will derive exactly the same benefit from it that the United States does—a greater benefit in fact, because, aside from the initial outlay the canal will very probably not pay its running expenses, any deficiency in which must be made good by Uncle Sam. It will therefore give the countries of Europe an advantage over American ships in the rush for the Pacific trade, now largely reserved to the United States, by the distance from Europe. If the United States is to derive no military advantage from the canal why should it invest in a losing commercial speculation for the benefit of its trade rivals? It might just as well agree to hold its dry-docks and battleships neutral for the use of all nations in time of war as to hold a military highway of such tremendous potency open for them." The above fairly represents the views of the Democratic minority in the Senate. The Republican majority, secure in their seats for six years, can afford to uphold the administration in its truckling to Great Britain. Not so the House. Its views are well expressed by Representative Hepburn (Republican, Iowa), Chairman of the Commerce Committee which drew the present canal bill who said yesterday: "This treaty reaffirms the principles of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty; conceding all the claims and contentions of Great Britain and surrendering the claims that Great Britain has by her own action given us the right to at any time abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. It surrenders everything to Great Britain, abandoning our contention of years that we might abrogate the treaty at will. Moreover, it recognizes the right of any foreign power to interfere and dictate with reference to our negotiations with the independent governments of this continent. It abandons the Monroe doctrine. I think the treaty very unfortunate and earnestly hope that it will not be ratified by the Senate."

Three reports have been submitted by the House Committee on Ways and Means on the Porto Rican tariff bill, which will be taken up by the House next Thursday and warmly debated with a result by no means certain. It will be remembered that the Administration after urging free trade with Porto Rico, reversed itself at the behest of the tariff barons, and declared for a duty on the products of that island. The House committee obediently followed suit and prepared the bill now submitted. All the Republican members of the committee but one, favor a duty of 25 per cent on Porto Rican goods claiming that that island, together with Oklahoma and all other territory of the United States, are outside the Constitution. The democratic members, together with Mr. McCall (Republican) of Massachusetts, take the opposite view. The Democratic report says, in part: If the position taken by the majority of the committee be the correct one, it must follow that Congress is not restrained from passing laws imposing customs duties on the minerals and ores of the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico, the furs and fish of Alaska, the lumber of Oklahoma, and also upon all importations of products of every kind into the Territories from the States. The power to pass such laws was never before claimed in our land.

Mr. McCall, whose opinion is of special interest as running counter to his own party, says, in part: If Congress is restrained by the limitation of the Constitution it cannot pass the pending bill. If on the other hand, it is not so restrained, then it follows that it also has the power to pass ex post facto laws, bills of attainde—and to do all other acts prohibited by the Constitution, and the people of Porto Rica are merely subjects without legal rights and can only enjoy lives and property by the grace of Congress. The practical importance of this question becomes still more grave when it is remembered that the powers asserted for Congress will have sway over millions of people so situated as practically to be debarred from admission into the Union and, therefore, from the hope of participation in the government.

WHITE HAD TO MOVE ON.

Negro Congressman Couldn't Stop in Goldsboro.

Information was received here yesterday that the "Hon." George H. White, the foul mouthed defamer, who sits in Congress as a representative from North Carolina, was not given an opportunity to collect Goldsboro dust on his Trilbys last Sunday.

White arrived in Goldsboro Sunday, and it was his intention to stop there a short while. The people of that city did not care to have him as their guest and a committee of one waited on him when he alighted from the train and invited him to move on. The negro Congressman did not take time to discuss the matter. He got back on the train and went to New Bern.

The negro Congressman knows that the Republican leaders are going to make an effort to defeat him for the nomination, and for this reason he got his Congressional committee together at Wilson yesterday and called the Congressional convention of his district to assemble prior to the date of the Republican State Convention.

The white Republicans are determined to defeat the negro Congressman for the nomination if possible.

The above appeared in the Raleigh Post on the 13th inst:

If every town in North Carolina would treat the defamer of her women the same way the State would soon be rid of such cattle and neither they nor their supporters would be occupying seats of prominence in our legislative halls.

WINE OF CARDUI

HEALTHY OLD AGE.

LARUE, BENTON CO. ARK., Aug. 4.

I am 49 years old and have been suffering with Change of Life. I had flooding spells so bad that none thought I could live. My husband got me Wine of Cardui and it saved my life. I am like another person since taking it.

MRS. E. B. TOWNSEND.

Wine of Cardui

It is the devout wish of nearly all people to live to a ripe old age. None of us want to die young. This universal desire can be realized if care be taken of the health in early and middle life. A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. It is for women alone to decide whether they will be healthy or sick. The remedy for their sickness is close at hand.

School Room or Grading Room

MR. EDITOR:—I spend most of my time among the poor and feel for them. Some have a hard struggle. When a man has 6 or 8 children to feed and only two or three of them can give him any help, he sometimes feels compelled to keep them from school a few days. I do not wish to condemn the innocent; but some need watching at this point. I beg your readers to stir up their neighbors. The school term is short. Boys and girls will soon be beyond the school age. Parents sin against their own children, when they needlessly keep them from school. I have lately visited quite a number of schools. Some were right well attended. Some pupils were absent that could have been present. If parents neglect their children, those children will have just cause to blame their parents in days to come.

Democratic Convention.

A convention of the Democratic Party of Pitt County is hereby called to meet at the Court House in Greenville on Saturday, March 31st, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State Convention to be held in the city of Raleigh on the 11th day of April, 1900, for the nomination of candidates for the various State offices.

Township Primaries will be held on Saturday, March 24th, at 2 o'clock P. M., to appoint delegates to the County Convention.

All persons who are in favor of the white people controlling the State and County governments are invited to participate in these meetings.

By order of the Democratic Executive Committee of Pitt County.

Choose Ye This Day Whom You Will Serve.

Now and then one hears a Democrat say that he is not sure about how he will vote on the Amendment question. Why is he not sure? If the question was asked; are you a Democrat? quick and strong would come the answer, yes, and all intimation to the contrary would be taken as an insult. Why then waver on the Amendment question? Does not the Democratic party stand for white supremacy. Does not the Republican party stand for negro rule? Does not the Amendment mean perpetual white supremacy, and does not opposition to the Amendment mean negro domination? Why then should any Democrat, nay more, why should any white man waver one moment as to where he will stand and how his vote shall be cast. Did not we not fight the Republicans to a successful finish in '98 on the white supremacy issue? Then he who votes against the Amendment turns his back on his party promises, and by his action tears down what the good white people of North Carolina strove valiantly to build up in the good old State. This is a government so far as North Carolina is concerned for the people but by the white people.

Sharp Advance Expected.

Price McCormick & Co., cotton brokers, of New York wires us: "Looks like further sharp advance cotton. Everybody sold out."

The Prospect Brighter.

Hon. W. J. Bryan said yesterday in an interview in Richmond that the Democratic party was in better fighting trim than it had been in years. He said the battle of 1900 would be fought out on the three issues, money, imperialism and trusts but he could not say which one would be brought more prominently to the front. He had found the situation in the north and east much improved. Many gold Democrats were coming back to the party and a number of Republicans would refuse to support the old party on account of its position on expansion.

In North Carolina the people may differ on question of money, expansion, trusts, Tariff &c., but there is one issue which comes home to every good white citizen and upon this issue the good white people of North Carolina can and will unite. That issue was raised in 1899, formulated by a Democratic Legislature and defined by the leaders of every political party in this State. The question is shall this State in the future be dominated by negroes or white people.

The gate to success in most elections is the delegate.

FEBRUARY FOLKS.

Come Few and Ear Between

Hill Horne returned from Kinston.

R. E. Lee left this morning for Littleton.

L. H. Pender went to Durham his morning.

Pleasantly Entertained.

"The End of the Century" Club held its regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. Alfred Forbes, Mrs. Mark Quinerly being the hostess. Mrs. Quinerly assisted by her sister, Mrs. Dr. Moye, received the members of the club with easy and graceful cordiality.

Mrs. W. H. Grimes, acting president, occupied the chair. After rather more than the usual routine of business, the subject for discussion, some noted characters of the Revolution, was taken up. Mrs. Arthur gave a brief but interesting sketch of Nathan Hale and John Andre.

Owing to absence for two weeks, Mrs. Jarvis had prepared no special paper, but gave a splendid talk on literary women of the Revolution, mentioning especially Abigail Adams, wife of the President, whose letters to this day are models of epistolary literature. She also mentioned the writings of Mercy Warren. Mrs. Harry Skinner, refreshing her memory with the name of Susanna Rawlson, author of the first American novel, "Charlotte Temple."

The literary program concluded, a most enjoyable repast was served, during the service of which, guessing proverbs were distributed. Mrs. Grimes arranging the first, received the pretty prize. Mrs. Julian Jordan will be the next hostess.
