HOMICIDE IN BELVOIR.

One Man Killed and Two Others Wounded.

News comes to THE REFLECTOR that another homicide is to be credited up to Pitt county. Sunday in Belvoir township Mr. Jesse James went to the home of Mr. E. S. Lewis for the purpose of marrying his daughter. Mr. Lewis objected to the marriage and Mr. James left. Sunday night Mr. James accompanied by his brother, Sam James, and others returned to Mr. Lewis' house for the purpose of taking Miss Lewis away by force and marrying her. The father again objected, a fight ensued and the result is that Jesse James is wounded and Sam James is dead. Mr. Lewis has a cut head and a pistol ball in his hip. How the trouble began or who began the shooting we could not learn.

The affair is to be deplored as all the parties thereto are well known in their community.

The Message.

Washington, March 2.--The President today sent the following message to Congress:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives:

"Since the evacuation of Porto Rico by the Spanish forces on the 18th day of October, 1898, the United States has collected on products coming from that island to the ports of the United States the duties fixed by the Dingley act and amounting to $2,092,455.88, and will continue to collect under said law until Congress shall otherwise direct.

"Although I had the power, and having in mind the best interests of the people of the island, used it to modify duties on goods and products entering into Porto Rico, I did not have the power to remit or modify duties on Porto Rican products coming into the ports of the United States. In view of pressing necessity for immediate revenues in Porto Rico for conducting the government there, and for the extension of public education, and in view also of the provisional legislation just inaugurated by the House of Representatives and for the purpose of making the principle embodied in that legislation applicable to the immediate past as well as to the immediate future, I recommend that the above sum so collected and sums hereafter collected under existing law, shall without waiting for the enactment of the general legislation now pending, be appointed for the use and benefit of the island.

[Signed] "WILLIAM MCKINLEY."

On the Market.

Mr. Jesse Speight, arrived at Greenville Saturday, through the country from Wilson, and expected to leave for some point Sunday. But on account of the river bridge being down he was unable to cross the river and make his train. On his way home, he bought one hundred bales of cotton. Remember he is always in the market.

MONDAY, MARCH 5, 1900.

Anti trust leagues continue to "resolute" against them, but the Republican Congress sits still and takes no action on any of the many bills introduced by Democrats for their suppression.

Just think of it! Four thousand Boers, without artillery, stand off 45,000 British for ten days! Was there ever a more gallant fight! Do not men who can battle and die like this, deserve to retain freedom?

What has become of Otis? With an army as large as that yet engaged on the British side in South Africa, he has for months, reported nothing but lists of killed and wounded. For all the information sent by him, the war might be at a standstill.

Mr. Bynum has been nominated as a member of the Board of Appraisers "as a Democrat," and his confirmation is delayed by some perverse democratic senators who insist that he is a republican. Why not ask him for whom he intends to vote this fall? His answer might throw some light on his politics.

Buller has blundered again, losing 500 men without gaining any advantage. He should be recalled. A general may be forgiven once for sending men into a position which a little scouting would show that they could not hold, but when he repeats such action again and again, something should be done to stop him.

Why is that Great Britain seems more willing to make concessions to the United States in regard to the Nicaraguan Canal than our own executive seems willing to accept? It is stated on good authority that Lord Salisbury is willing to agree to fortifications if he is asked. Why will not Hay ask him?

Governor Leary of Guam sends word by every ship which touches at his for away isle that he wants ice and wants it badly. He should have it by all means, but at the same time, such complaints would come from no other people under the sun except Americans. We are the only nation in the world who consider ice a necessity rather than a luxury.

Captain Carter's case has been settled, by the United States Supreme Court but his accomplices still flourish like green bay trees. What is the matter with Griggs? Is he waiting for the statue of limitation to bar proceedings?

What to do with Porto Rico and what to do for its inhabitants is becoming a perplexing question with President McKinley. Within the past week we see the unusual spectacle of a Republican president, practically admitting that a Republican Congress can be in error, if it can not intentionally do wrong. Since the evacuation of Porto Rico by the Spanish force on the 18th day of October 1898 the United States has collected on products coming from that island to the ports of the United States the duties fixed by the Dingley Act, and amounting to $2,095,455.88, and will continue to collect under said law until Congress shall otherwise act. The result has been that this has worked a great hardship to the Government of Porto Rico, so great has this hardship become even the unwilling eyes of President McKinley has been forced to behold the scene, and views the devastation his party has brought upon the island in the sea.

President McKinley sees the predicament his party has got its new word in; and seeks to connect it as best he may. How? By sending a message and asking Congress to repeal the Dingley act? Not he, but whip the Devil around the stump and recommends that the sums so collected be appointed for the use and benefit of the island.

Why this movement in a circle? If the sums of money so collected are necessary for the welfare of Porto Rico the most practical and economical thing would be to repeal the Dingley act so far as it relates to Porto Rico and let those people keep their money and spend it as to them seems best without its having to make the tour of the President's pocket.

Immense Sums of Money in Cotton Manufacturing.

North Carolina promises to "beat the world" in cotton mill building. Last week there were developments which attracted attention to three new mills (among many others) soon to be built in which about four or five million dollars will be invested, and nearly all of it North Carolina money, too.

One of these mills will be built in Durham and will cost about $500,000. Gen. Julian S. Carr (who has done so much to build up his state industrially, educationally and religiously) is the principal stockholder, and other Durham gentlemen are interested, but some of the stock was sold in New York, I hear.

Another is the "Loray" mill, incorporated last week, to be built at Gastonia by Messrs. George A. Gray and others. The initial capital stock of this company is $1,000,000.

The third one will be built at or near Statesville by the Coolemeec Company composed of North Carolinians, and it is said two or three millions will be invested in this plant. North Carolina already has more mills than any state in the union, and more looms and spindles than any Southern State.

Giant of All Trusts.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 1.—A combination of iron and steel industries, with $1,000,000,000 capital will be completed within six months from April 1. It will include the American Tinplate Company, the National Steel Sheet Company, now forming, and another which is already in existence, and which is as large or larger than any of the concerns named.

The name of this latter concern is withheld for economic reasons till some minor complications concerning capitalization are overcome. The information was given out today by a stockholder in all but one of the combinations, and who with W. T. Graham and Judge Moore, of Chicago, planned the American Tinplate Company and the National Steel Company, and who is to be credited with pioneering the Trust of Trusts idea.

The original plan laid out by this coterie of men was to form a single Trust of all the interests in the country. This was abandoned because they recognized that the people who owned the stock in individual lots and the financiers would be scared by the enormity of the enterprise.

It was then decided to first form Trusts of the various branches of the trades, and after they had been successfully launched to combine them all into one.

The Carnegie interests and the interests controlled by the Standard Oil Company did not prove tractable and efforts to get them were dropped.

The Sheet Steel Trust will elect temporary officers, with John A. Toppin, one of the lieutenants of W. T. Graham, of the Tinplate Trust, as temporary president, to hold office till the final consolidation.

It is said by the promoters that the story will be denied and ridiculed, but that it will be fully verified.—Philadelphia Record.

Thursday evening while Rev. Braxton Craig, of Tarboro, was solemnizing the matrimonial alliance contracted by Miss Sallie Cherry and Arch Thompson, both of the Farrar suburb, the floor of Mr. Cherry's house gave way and for a moment there was intense excitement, and almost a panic. Lamps about the room were tilted over, but fortunately caught. No one was hurt and no damage done, except to the floor.

British Enter Ladysmith.

London, March 1.—The War Office has received the following dispatch from General Buller:

Lyttleton's Headquarters, March 1, 9:05, (morning)—General Dundonald, with the Natal Carbineers and a Composit regiment, entered Ladysmith last night. The country between me and Ladysmith is reported clear of the enemy. I am moving on Nelthrope.

When the news of the relief of Ladysmith became generally known London literally went mad with joy, and throughout England the scenes witnessed have no parallel in the memories of this generation. The Lord Mayor of London immediately telegraphed his congratulations to the Generals White and Buller. When the Queen received the news at Windsor, the bells in the curfew tower of the castle were rung in honor of the event. The Lord Mayor showed himself at a window, out of which hung a huge city Imperial Volunteer flag, and the crowd yelled itself hoarse. Staid magnates grabbed flaring posters from newshoys and brandished "Ladysmith Relieved!" to the roaring throng. All thought of business was forgotten. Nothing could be done in the stock exchange except to sing "God Save the Queen," and cheer. Business on the Baltic wheat market for cargoes closed at 1 o'clock. No one wanted to trade on a day like this. The stores put up their shutters and gave their employes a holiday. The Lord Mayor ordered a holiday for the schools. The great bell in St. Paul's was rung this evening. The stately Foreign Office so far forgot itself as to display large Union Jacks from the windows. A cabinet meeting was held and as the members met at the entrance to the Foreign Office they exchanged the warmest congratulations. Crowds blocked the War Office lobbies, struggling to see for themselves the announcement and cheered the British general in South Africa to the echo. Outside Marlborough House, the London residence of the Prince of Wales, a large and jubilant crowd assembled.

ON THE HIGHWAY.

Held Up Long Enough to Take Their Names.

Miss Sallie Marshall is sick.

Jesse Speight came in Saturday evening.

Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse went to Conetoe this morning.

Miss Lillie Barnhill, of Grindool, is visiting Miss Emily Higgs.

G. A. Clute left this morning for Clinton to see his wife, who is quite sick.

Madam Elrado, the palmist, after a successful weeks business here, left this morning for Washington.

C. E. Stafford, of Belhaven, came in Saturday evening to see his wife, who is quite sick at her father's, Jesse Proctor.

D. J. Whichard returned Saturday afternoon from Greensboro. He came back sick and hardly able to take up his duties at the office.

Jas. L. Harris, editor of the Rocky Mount Messenger, is here confined to his bed at the home of his mother. His family are here with him.

Hon C. B. Aycock Saturday.

Hon. C. B. Aycock will address the citizens of Pitt county in the court house next Saturday at 2 o'clock on the proposed Amendment question.

Mr. Aycock needs no introduction to the people of Pitt county. As a campaign speaker there is no one more entertaining, more forcible, more truthful. Let every body come to Greenville on next Saturday and hear Mr. Aycock.

Pitt County Men Prosperous.

The Mount Olive Advertiser speaking of its business men says:

"The store of Blount & Keel has been doubled in size and improved by the placing of a broad stairway leading from the front of the main salesroom to the second floor. This store is now one of the most convenient in the country."

Messrs Blount and Keel are Pitt county men and left this county about two years ago. THE REFLECTOR, as well as all their friends in this part of the world, is glad to know they are prosperous in their new home.

Profitable Cotton and Southern Prosperity.

Cotton prices continue to advance, and have already reached the highest point that has been touched since 1895. The crop is at least 2,000,000 bales smaller than that of last year; but European spinners were slow to believe in the deficiency in the yield, and delayed buying until the fact of a serious crop shortage could be no longer ignored. European stocks are about 1,500,000 to equal those for the corresponding period last year. Much of the supply at the ports have been sold, and is awaiting transportation; but exporters are still eager buyers in the Southern markets. It is this belated demand from Europe, coupled with strong support from speculators, which has given the recent upward impulse to prices. The latter are 3 cents per pound higher than they were a year ago. The big advance will undoubtedly stimulate cotton planting this season, but increased acreage will not insure a proportionate increase in production unless weather conditions shall prove favorable.

This season's profitable returns for cotton planting have had a good effect upon general business of the South, and the prosperity of that section accentuates the need which "The Record" has persistently pointed out for improved facilities to enable the merchants of Philadelphia to secure a larger share of the the trade of the cotton States.
