MONDAY, MARCH 26, 1900.

The Democrats of the District of Columbia have adopted a resolution favoring the renomination of William Jennings-Bryan, of Neb. President, and the nomination William Sulzer, of New York, for Vice President.

At St Paul, Mo., Lizzie Walsh, the 18-year-old daughter of Patrick Walsh, went into a trance last Sunday night at her home. Everybody supposed she was dead, and her body was prepared for embalming. When the undertaker called she got up in the midst of the mourners, took off her shroud and indignantly asked why they were making such a commotion about her.

The Wonderful Lamp of Advertising.

The public never "discovers" a merchant in the manner in which an author or a musician or an actor is discovered. No friendly hand can drag the merchant from obscurity and make him famous. He must push himself to the front. He must be the architect of his own fortune. With the aid of the wonderful lamp of publicity every shrewd business man can become an Aladdin.—Philadelphia Record.

Never Admit Defeat.

Never admit defeat or poverty, though you seem to be down and have not a cent. Stoutly assert your divine right to be a man, to hold your head up and look the world in the face; step bravely to the front, whatever opposes, and the world will make way for you. No one will insist upon your rights while yourself doubt that you possess the qualities requisite for success. Never allow yourself to be a traitor to your own cause by undermining your self-confidence.

There never was a time before when persistent, original force was so much in demand as now. The mamby-pamby, nerveless man has little show in the hustling world today. In the twentieth century. A man must either push or be pushed.

Every one admires the man who can assert his rights, and has the power to demand and take them if denied him. No one respects the man who sinks in the rear and apologises for being in the world. Negative virtues are of no use in winning ones way. It is the positive man, the man with original energy and push that forges to the front.—Editorial in March Success.

The burglar sometimes becomes a jail bird because he's a robin.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 24, 1900.

The week closes with the Porto Rican situation still undecided. Matters, however, are drawing to a focus and it now looks as though the Republicans may not dare to postpone taking a vote for much more than a week longer. The chances are steadily increasing that the bill will be adopted exactly as it came from the House. The Republican Senators would like to amend it so as to remove the duties on goods exported from the United States to Porto Rico and would like to change the limit to from "two years" to "such time as the Porto Rican legislature shall provide for raising revenue in place of it." But the difficulty with this, as with all other amendments, is that the bill if amended, must go back to the House for consideration, and the leaders of the latter are very doubtful whether it will again vote in its favor, no matter how modified. It was adopted by a majority of eleven votes only, four Democrats being absent and unpaired. If they should all be present next time and as few as four more Republicans should be led by the storm of protest at their homes to vote against their party, the bill would fail. It may be predicted therefore, with considerable degree of safety, that the bill will pass as it came from the House—or, that it will fail altogether. This last, of course, would just suit the beet sugar trust.

The Evening Star of this city, an independent newspaper with strong Republican leanings, prints an interview with a Republican member of the House whose name is concealed for obvious reasons, stating that the Porto Rican tariff bill was strictly a matter of barter and sale, a tariff on Porto Rican goods being traded for huge contributions to the Republican campaign fund this fall. The member says that when the bargain was made it was not expected that there would be such an outcry, and it is now too late to back down. The Star is not in the least sensational in its policy and its assertions are generally accepted as true.

Attorney General Griggs has opened the bids of ten contractors for the construction of the penitentiary at Atlanta and has thrown out one of them—the only Atlanta firm bidding—on the ground that it was not invited to bid. None of the bids have been made public and the Attorney General may award the contract to the highest bidder instead of the lowest, without the public knowing anything about it. This disgraceful state of affairs came about through the omission by Congress, of the usual words requiring public advertisement and award of the contract, in the act appropriating for the penitentiary. How Congress came to omit these words, which are invariably included, no one seems to know—unless perhaps Mr. Griggs or some of the statesmen whose constituents he has favored in the contracts may be able to tell. Mr. Griggs, with his wonderful facility for technicalities, at once took advantage of the omission and allowed no contractors to bid except Republicans who could bring strong political pressure to bear. It is an open secret that it was intended to have no bids at all and to grant the contract to a certain Chicago firm outright, but there was so much protest from other Republican firms that eight more were permitted to bid. As has been said, a tenth firm managed to get hold of the carefully guarded plans and specifications and submitted a bid, but this has been thrown out. It is dollars to doughnuts that the favorite firm will get the contract after all, although, so far as can be learned, it was by no means the lowest bidder.

The Loud postal bill has been killed again, this time by the decisive vote of 162 to 119. As this is the third time that Mr. Loud has been defeated in three successive Congresses, it is improbable that he will again urge his measure.

The democrats very properly claim a large share of the glory in defeating the bill, as the negative vote was made up principally of democratic members.

A Round price for Cotton.

Now is a good time for the cotton planter to assert his independence. Europe is short on cotton. An amateur operator could see that with half an eye. Our contemporary calls attention to the fact that a tremendous effort was recently made by a wall street firm to run down the price of cotton by sending bear telegrams over the country. This was due to the fact that it had received an order from abroad to purchase 18,000 bales at the lowest price possible. The firm had been bulling the market, but this large order caused it to turn a summer-sault. Its telegrams had no effect and it was finally obliged to pay a pretty round sum for the cotton. By purchasing on this side, instead of in the Liverpool market foreign spinners have been able to keep the price down to a lower level than the situation justifies; but they will have to pay for the maneuver in the end.

We agree with the Atlanta Constitution that before the summer is over foreign spinners will have to pay a round price for the staple if they expect to keep their mills running.

If the domestic buyer and the Southern grower will stand together 8 cents is certainly the minimum estimate for the price of next year's crop. Advance sales, such as have been suggested would prevent the rush to market early next fall and would place Europe absolutely at this country's mercy.—New York Commercial.

Our neighbor, Greene county held their primaries Saturday to elect delegates to the county convention. The report of Willow Green township was sent to THE REFLECTOR. They passed resolutions advocating that United States Senators should be elected by the people, and, strongly by indorsed Hon. C. B. Aycock for Governor and J. Bryan Grimes for Secretary of State. They also instructed for Lawrence Morrill for Senator of that Senatorial district.

A Boy Buried Alive.

Philadelphia, March 24—At Mullica Hill, N. J., the startling discovery has been made that a boy had been buried alive. An undertaker was exhuming members of the Smitzer family and found that one coffin contained the skeleton of a boy and its condition bore evidence of an awful struggle after the supposed dead body was buried.—Greensboro Telegram.

The Best and Strongest Man for Sheriff.

If the Democratic party wants to name a man for sheriff who is the strongest and the best man for the place Seth T. Hooker is the man. He is a working Democrat has always been. Never was anything but a straight Democrat. Never scratched a ticket, but always supported the ticket as nominated. Never gave sympathy or countenance to anything that detracted from the white ticket as nominated. He has been a success as a business man in everything he has undertaken. He is intelligent popular and pleasing in his address and in his dealings. He will give more strength to the Democratic party than any man in the county and will make a record as sheriff that will go down in History as the very best. If the party is for harmony, strength and efficiency. He is the man. He has not been an office seeker, but has done valliant service for the party in every campaign since he was a voter. He will add great strength to the whole ticket.
