The Democratic Opportunity.

The restraint and regulation of the trusts; the just, honorable, and patient performance of our duty to the inhabitants of our insular territory, including a wise and virtuous administration; the breaking down of the monstrous Dingley tariff measure, which was enacted through perfidy, and the consequent promotion of an export trade on which the bread of millions depends—these are the living issues which can carry the Democracy to victory.—Philadelphia Record.

WE KNOW OUR DUTY.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

We must bring out the Beaver Dam man. He was one time our man in Carolina township. What has been said suits us in regard to Mr. J. H. Cobb's nomination for Sheriff.

He is the best man we know for the place. We can hand him up 18 votes the day of the nomination and ask our neighbor townships to help us out, for they know no better man.

He has been shown up to you all with the pen, but not half has been told, when you know him in business. But few words will do when we can say he is as strong a man as we have in the county. No one any kinder hearted or more faithful in business than he. H.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

Gathering of Pitt's Unterrified Democracy.

THIRD RESOLUTION.

Whereas, the Democracy of Pitt county realizes the supreme importance and far-reaching results of the political campaign for the year 1900 in its relation to the cause of white supremacy and good government,

And Whereas, they firmly believe that the standard bearers of the Democratic party should be able, bold and courageous men; wise, discreet and self-poised, with characters lofty and pure; who are in close sympathetic touch with the people and inspire their entire respect and absolute confidence,

And Whereas, they believe that Col. J. Bryan Grimes, illustrious in name and noble in ancestry, represents those ideas and qualities that should especially be embodied by a candidate for office in this hour of so great pith and moment to the social, political and industrial prosperity of the State, therefore be it resolved,

1. That the Democrats of Pitt county have sent to the State Convention to be held April 11th, 1900, the name of Col. J. Bryan Grimes for the office of Secretary of State, and ask that he be placed on the State ticket for that position.

2. That the Democrats of Pitt county hereby instruct its delegates to the State Convention to cast the vote of the county for Col. Grimes for the office of Secretary of State, and do all in their power to secure the nomination of this peerless champion of Democracy.

MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1900.

Of the five full Generals of the Confederate Army none survives. There were twenty-one Lieutenant Generals in the Confederate Army from first to last, and of these all were from the United States Army but four, namely, Richard Taylor, who was born in Louisville, Ky.; N. B. Forrest, Wade Hampton and John B. Gordon. Of them the following are living: James Longstreet, Stephen Lee, Early, S. B. Buckner, Joseph Wheeler, and A. P. Stewart, besides two of those not from the old United States Army mentioned above. All of these are expected at the Louisville Reunion May 30-June 3.

The Negro in The North.

Pittsburg, March 30.—The jury in the case of Assistant District Attorney Walter E. Billows, colored, against W. J. McCarthy, a prominent restaurant keeper, who refused to serve a meal to Billows and his companion, Congressman Geo. White, of North Carolina, also colored, returned a verdict to-day in favor of the plaintiff for 61 cents. Billows asked $5,000 damages.

Worth Constant Care.

The old saying that "a watched pot never boils" reflected human impatience rather than a physical fact. Whatever may be worth having is worth constant care. This is especially true of business, which should be closely watched; and every aid to its growth should be employed to the best advantage. The most potent of all such aids is advertising. With proper attention advertising will make any business successful.—Philadelphia Record.

Vagrant Law Needed.

Henderson needs a vagrant law and it needs such a law badly. There are entirely too many lazy loafers about the streets. If these people will not work they should at least be made to keep off the streets out of the way of people who have business to attend to. This way of having to walk around a lot of do nothings who stand and block up the sidewalks is getting to be just a bit monotonous.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

Just have Greenville in your mind as you read the above, as it applies here as well as in Henderson. Loafers are a nuisance anywhere you strike them.

The soil of the city may not be as fertile as that of the country, but it is better adapted to the sowing of wild oats.

Girls in Drug Stores.

"There is a field for girls in the drug business," remarked a Fourteenth street druggist, "as there is constantly increasing demand for their services. I would employ two myself if I could secure them, and I know several druggists who are in the same position. For some reason which I cannot understand, there has been but little opportunity for girls to learn the drug business until the past five or six years. Our experience with them, as far as we could secure them, has been exceedingly satisfactory.

"Though the law and medical colleges opened their doors to young women some years ago, the colleges of pharmacy held out against them, and the only way by which a girl could learn pharmacy was to get employment in a drug store.

Young women have been for some years employed in many drug stores as cashiers and as soda water clerks, but somehow they are never allowed to learn the art of compounding prescriptions. A few of the homeopathic pharmacies broke the ice and instructed young women to compound their medicines, and with this knowledge of the business as a starter many were installed in the drug stores. They proved themselves to be excellent prescription clerks, and there are many physicians who would rather have them compound their prescriptions than men. Of course it is not possible for a girl to learn the drug business unless she has a substantial education and a taste for it. It represents a greater amount of work and many more hours in a day, and every day in the week, than almost any other calling. A fundamental knowledge of Latin is necessary, but after one gets into the inside of the business it will be found that there is more everyday English in it than Latin.

"As far as compensation is concerned, though the salary to learners is small, after a young woman is competent enough to be registered as a pharmacist, which under the law is necessary for all who compound prescriptions and prepare medicines, it will be found that the salaries paid are somewhat higher than those paid to the average store clerk. The only difficulty in the matter is that it means long hours every day and, like preachers, we have to work on Sundays."—Washington Evening Star.

Fighting Joe Wheeler.

One of the greatest benefits of the war with Spain was the cement it poured into all the gaps betwixt North and South left open by the civil war. It was worth all the cost to see once more the veterans of the Blue and the Gray marching together to the front under our flag. With the solidity of the nation firmly established its invincibility was confirmed both in home and foreign estimation.

It would be a further recognition of the pride and sense of renewed strength which the nation feels in restoration of the old time amity and brotherhood if President McKinley should take advantage of the occasion of the return of Fighting Joe Wheeler from the other side of the world, where he has been doing battle under the Stars and Stripes, and appoint him to a Brigadier Generalship in the regular army. General Wheeler has by his conduct and bravery earned the grateful regard of his countrymen. Why should he not have some special token of favor at the hands of the Government?—Philadelphia Record.

AMERICA'S NATIONAL HYMN.

Every schoolboy and school girl has been taught the patriotic hymn:

"My country! 'Tis of thee,
 Sweet land of liberty,
 Of thee I sing:
 Land where my fathers died!
 Land of the Pilgrim's pride!
 From every mountain side,
 Let freedom reign."

Yet how few there are who know anything of its author, Samuel Francis Smith. Born in the first decade of the present century and in that state which the Pilgrim Fathers made their home, it is fitting that he should have given expression to the patriotic sentiment breathed forth in these lines. Dr. Smith loved every inch of American soil and especial was his native state dear to his heart. Why should it not be? The place that gave him birth, was within her borders he was educated, it was for her people he gave his best energies, and in return received from her a people's love and appreciation.

He was a graduate of Harvard College and a clergyman of the Baptist church. In Boston he edited the Christian Review and various other publications of the Baptist Missionary Union, and in connection with this work visited the chief missionary stations of Europe and Asia. He contributed largely to the literature of his time, his work being principally in the line of hymnology. His most noted composition, Our National Hymn, was written while he was a theological student and was first sung at a childrens celebration in the Park street church, Boston, on July 4, 1832. Dr. Smith was a class-mate of Oliver Wendell Holmes who in his reunion poem, "The Boys," refers to Smith as follows:

"And there is a nice youngster of excellent pith.
 Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Smith!
 But he chanted a song for the brave and the free,
 Just read on his medal,
 My country! 'Tis of thee.

WANTS REUSS.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Many good men's names have been suggested for the high office of Sheriff, and many other excellent gentlemen can be mentioned who would fill the office with credit to themselves and with honor to the county. But our people, or at least many of them, warmly support the name of J. M. Reuss.

No more accommodating and polite man lives in Pitt county, and no man has ever yet questioned his integrity.

He is a wage earner and that class of our people has never had a representative on the ticket. He is thoroughly competent to fill the office, and is one of the most independent men in the county, just to all and liberal in his opinions. He is a modest man and in this instance the office is seeking the man and not the man running after the office, and that is what we want.

Give us Reuss for Sheriff and he will outrun any man on the ticket, besides giving strength to every other candidate and his party in this county.

ACROSS THE RIVER.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

The little town of North Holland inhabited almost entirely by Hollanders, has had its name changed to Cronje.

Three children of the family of John Brassill were burned to death at Providence, R. I., the mother rescuing one.

It is often seen in localities where they most need unity that Democrats are most inharmonious. Instances of this are seen in North Carolina this year in Craven and New Hanover, in both of which counties the Democrats, by every argument which could appeal to white men, should stand together as a solid wall. Yet these divisions are not new in either county, certainly not in New Hanover. The New Bern Journal said of the Democratic convention of Craven, last week, that it was a wrangle for two hours and that for this length of time it washed its soiled linen in public view. In Wilmington, preceding the primaries of last week and this, the Democrats carded each other in the newspapers length and violently and secret circulars in opposition to one candidate were stuffed under doors at night. These things ought not to be so anywhere, least of all in communities circumstanced as New Bern and Wilmington are.

End of Century Club.

Perhaps the most interesting program, since the organization of the End of the Century Club, was the presented to its members in the beautiful parlors of Mrs. Harry Skinner on Saturday afternoon; a part of which consisted of sketches of the origin of our anti-bellum national anthems, several of which were exquisitely rendered in song, by Mrs. Walter Grimes.

The President, Mrs. Cotten, read an address on the designers and the adoption of our national flag, a paper which elicited rounds of applause and which she has promised may appear in our interesting Daily during the week.

Mrs. Bowen informed us that the air of "Yankee Doodle" can be traced as far back as the reign of Charles the first. This air was played a great deal in the colonies at the beginning of the Revolution, and various doggerel verses were sung to it mostly in ridicule of the American patriots, especially of the Marylanders who were somewhat fond of display in the style of their uniforms. She also briefly sketched Hail Columbia the words of which were written by Joseph Hopkinson, in '98, and set to the tune of the President's March. Hopkinson was born in 1770 in the city of Philadelphia, attained eminence in the practice of law and was a member of congress. Mrs. Little gave an interesting sketch of the Star Spangled Banner, composed by Frances Scott Key in the beginning of the present century. Mrs. Dr. Moye gave a charming sketch of Judge Gaston, the author of Carolina, which she also has promised the club for publication. Mrs. W. F. Harding read a paper on the National Anthem America, by Samuel Francis Smith, which is also reserved for publication. A difficult puzzle had been arranged by the talented hostess in which the names of some thirty books of modern fiction were represented by pictures. Mrs. Julian Jordan was the fortunate contestant naming all of the books but two. The guests then repaired to the dining room where delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. R. W. King will be the next hostess, on Tuesday afternoon April 10th.
