Happenings in North Carolina.

The Democrats of Greene county will hold a convention to nominate county officers on the 25th inst.

Thomas Tyndall, aged 17 years, of Lenoir county, was killed by lightning Thursday morning. A horse he was riding was also killed.

Dr. Blasingame, president Baptist Female University at Raleigh, has resigned, and his resignation was accepted by the trustees. The resignation was caused by a difference between him and some of the trustees as to the authority of a president of a college.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Apr. 14th.

A. G. Cox is back from Raleigh. Winterville is the place to sell your lightwood posts.

Mrs. Mary Harris died at her son-in-law's, Thos. Nobles, Thursday night.

Manning & Co's. new computing scales are dandies.

Miss Lula Patrick and Mrs. E. G. Cox, of Ayden, were in town Wednesday.

Simon Moye wants to begin selling cold drinks, but the weather won't let him.

Winterville Cigar Co. has plenty of tobacco just come, and fine, to make lots of cheroots, fine too.

Bud Joe says he thinks every man, woman and child in Greenville reads Winterville Items, as everybody he met there Thursday had something to say about his falling out doors.

INVITATION—All are respectfully invited to use freely telegraph and phone wires, also postage stamps, &c., to get their orders to us as soon as possible, as the season is about out for some things.

A. G. COX MFG. CO.

Thousands may read this, and we hope some one will read it and get interested in a cotton or furniture factory here. There are lots of men who have the money to invest in either whenever it is worked up.

Did you ever see a buggy?

I did the other day.

'Twas made by Hunsucker Carriage Co.,

And it shone a great long way.

It's make-up was of latest style,

And solid to beat the band.

If it seems too good to be true,

Come look, and you'll understand.

R. H. Hunsucker will take pleasure in showing you the buggies above referred to, several of which are already completed, each with a different finish, so you can take your choice. The purchaser of the first buggy will be awarded a nice premium.

Election Board.

The State Board of Elections has named Leonidas Fleming, F. C. Harding and Jesse Cannon as a County Board of Elections for Pitt county. The County Board is required to meet not later than the first Monday in May, when they will organize, divide the county into election precincts and fix the polling places.

County Convention.

The Democratic Executive Committee of the county met here this afternoon to select the time for holding the convention to nominate candidates for the Legislature and the various county offices. The date selected for the convention was Saturday, May 19th, the primaries to be held the Saturday previous.

The Free Press says the Lenoir county Populist convention had just twenty-one Populists in attendance.

SATURDAY APRIL 14, 1900.

The South African war has entered on its seventh month with the Boers still holding more British soil than the British do Boer soil.

One thing argued for a long time was conclusively shown by the recent Democratic State Convention, that Raleigh is no fit place for such a gathering. It has neither hotel accommodations nor hall that are at all adequate, and unless these are provided before another convention year comes around that city should not be even considered as the place for holding it.

The Porto Rican infamy has gone through at last with all its criminal provisions on its head. Under it, the executive council of carpet baggers, selected by the President, can loot the island and turn it over to the trusts bound hand and foot. Anyone who doubts what they will do, needs only look back on the time when similar governments prevailed in the South.

It was announced sometime ago that the North Carolina Press Association would probably hold its convention this year June 13th and 14th. A great many members of the Association, as well as all the executive committee, were drawn to Raleigh by the late convention and the matter was discussed among them. All agreed that the editors will have much to occupy them during the campaign and that their meeting should not take place until after the election.

The United States now has parcels post arrangements with most of the countries of the world, but the express companies have so far had sufficient influence to prevent the extension of the system to the United States. In this respect the foreign nations have greater privileges with the United States than its own citizens have within their territory. The Postoffice Department claims that it cannot compete with the express companies, except at a huge loss, unless it charges proportionate rates for different distances, but it fails to explain why it should not adopt such rates, and free the American people from the burdens imposed by the express companies.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13, 1900.

Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who has just returned from New York, ridicules the story that the anti-Bryan democrats, who are behind Dewey's candidacy, would get a Dewey delegation sent from New York to the Kansas City convention. He says that Dewey's candidacy will cut no figure at all in connection with the democratic nomination for President; that Col. Bryan will be nominated by acclamation. And his opinion is shared by practically all the democrats in both branches of Congress. It is said, although your correspondent does not vouch for it, that Dewey's backers have a lot of money to use in buying the support of country democratic papers, in order to try to make it appear that there is a strong democratic sentiment in favor of his nomination. There is one draw-back to this scheme that will kill it. The country democratic editors, although mostly poor men, are not for sale. In fact, the country editors of this country have a record for incorruptibility that any class of men might well be proud of. They are constantly imposed upon, and give more for nothing than any set of men on earth; but they very rarely sell themselves.

Secretary Gage having shown by the figures sent to the House, in answer to a resolution, that the war taxes can be reduced at least $80,000,000 a year without embarrassing the government, the democratic leaders intend to try to make the republicans tell why they will not agree to make the reduction at this session.

The action of the Senate Committee on Elections in deciding by the unanimous vote that Senator Clark, of Montana, was not entitled to the seat he holds, is considered more of a condemnation of Montana political methods than of Mr. Clark personally. Senator Pettus spoke the thoughts of many of his colleagues when he said: "I have more respect for Mr. Clark than I have for those who have been hounding him. I do not think that the use of $100,000 or more in electing Mr. Clark was warranted, but at the same time I have no doubt that Mr. Daly will spend at least $125,000 in prosecuting the case. I want to say, also, that I do not believe Mr. Clark was personally cognizant of the manner in which the money was used." Mr. Clark says he intends to get vindicated, but that is all he will say at this time. There is little or no doubt that the Senate will endorse the report of the committee, if Mr. Clark's resignation does not make a vote unnecessary. Had the report been to expel Mr. Clark a two-third vote would have been required to adopt it. There is a possibility that Mr. Clark may forestall action by resigning and seeking a re-election.

Representative Catchings, of Mississippi, is one of the Democrats who think that the ticket may be Bryan and Dewey. Speaking of that probability he said: "I feel sure that Dewey would take the Vice Presidential nomination, and think that is what he is working for. He certainly must appreciate the fact that he cannot get the nomination for President from Bryan, whose selection is absolutely assured. At present no one is named for second place who would command as many votes as Dewey, and, in fact, no one is suggested whose name is universally accepted. Bryan and Dewey can defeat Mr. McKinley without any question.

L H COX FOR SHERIFF.

JOHNSON'S MILLS, N. C., Apr. 14. EDITOR REFLECTOR:

The people of Pitt county are looking out among their stalwart citizens for an available candidate for Sheriff—not to find a man who wants to be, but the man who is able and competent to be the Sheriff of Pitt county.

Old Swift Creek township has among her citizens a man peculiarly fitted for this high office. That man is Louis Henry Cox, of Johnson's Mills. Mr. Cox, although at present a farmer, has had some experience in the practice of the law; having hung out his law sign some time ago at Johnson's Mills. But preferring agricultural pursuits he again returned to his farm and is today one of Pitt county's most successful farmers, yet his broad knowledge of the law and his legal opinions are freely given to the citizens of his township.

Mr. Cox is a man of striking appearance, splendid physique, strong features, and impressive manners. He is eloquent and forcible in this argument and would lead an aggressive campaign for the Amendment. Mr. Cox possesses a chivalry, gallantry and courtesy that is truly unique, and peculiarly his own.

Mr. Cox is not seeking the office, but the office seeks the man. If he were asked if he would accept the nomination, he would doubtless reply "Well, I don't know for certain, it seems like some one else would do better." But Mr. Cox's friends know full well that no better man can be found. Give us Louis Henry Cox for our candidate for Sheriff, and old Swift Creek will roll up an overwhelming majority. Hurrah for Louis Henry Cox, the next Sheriff of the grand old county of Pitt. A DEMOCRAT.

Before the campaign opens we would caution Democratic speakers against unnecessary violence of denunciation in their discussion of the constitutional amendment. The white people of North Carolina know the negro—he has no business in politics and is soon to get out; but he is not the worst possible laborer or citizens, and he is not a whit worse now than he was before this proposition was made to disfranchise him. The presentation of exaggerated views of his vices and deficiencies will not fool the white people among whom he lives, nor add anything to the strength of the amendment, while it will not improve his temper nor make a better man of him. He is ignorant and misguided—willingly misguided, and for the reason that he uniformly votes against the interest of the white man and his own he should not be permitted to vote at all; but it isn't worth while to paint him as blacker than he is for every effective point in favor of the amendment—and there are many—can be made within the boundary of truth and justice. It is enough that the black man has no due sense of his responsibility as a voter. That is sufficient reason for his disfranchisement without representing him as such a monster as the white people among whom he lives know him not to be. —Charlotte Observer.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.

Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McLREE'S

Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

Warehouse Change.

Evans, Critcher & Co., who the last few seasons have been doing business at the old Greenville Warehouse, will dissolve copartnership at the end of this season. R. S. Evans, and H. C. Cannon, have rented the Greenville Warehouse and will conduct it the coming season, the style of the firm being Evans, Cannon & Co. H. A. Timberlake, who is a good auctioneer and a fine judge of tobacco, has accepted a position with them as auctioneer. We wish them success.

Armadillo.

Mr. F. M. Smith received this morning from his son Ed Smith, who is in Texas, an Armadillo, a peculiar looking animal, about the size of a coon. His body is covered over with a boney shell like an alligator and it has a long tail. Everybody about the depot went in to take a look at the curious animal.

QUESTIONS FOR VOTERS.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

The present year will be a year elections. From the highest position in the Federal government down to the lowest in the counties of the State, the offices are to be filled.

The people have another opportunity afforded them to put their government, county, State and National, in the hands of good and true men. If they fail to do so, it will be fair to conclude that they prefer the rule of evil men. It is their privilege. How any individual man will vote should be to him a matter of conscience. The offices are not intended as mere rewards of good fellowship or of party service. Those who fill them are the servants, not the masters, of the people. There can be no obligations on the part of the people to elect any given man to office. Consideration of the public good is the only idea which of right should enter into the question at all. If such consideration should control in all the elections of the year, there would be grounds for the hope of a return to the simple and honest methods of the better days of the republic. Will they? Not by any means. Not many will give a thought to the public good when they vote and the various government is of the office holders, instead of a government of the people, for the people and by the people. Is not this true?

But according to the prevailing custom the people are possessed of the right of going through the motion of selecting their agents, or their masters, as the case may be, and they will soon be called upon to exercise it. Will they do this as men and patriots or as mere servitors? The question is with them. The responsibility is theirs. They will have done their duty if with the best lights before them they give their voice and their votes for putting the various governments of the country in the hands of good and true men. There is need of elevating the standard of official life in this country. It is only through righteousness in official, as well as in private life, that a nation can be exalted.

When evil men hold sway and shameless methods prevail, the curse of misrule will afflict the country. There is a great cry for reform throughout the entire country. If those who demand it are in earnest they will show it by voting only for good and true men like Mr. J. H. Cobb, for Sheriff at the coming nomination and election. Put this down. CONTENTNEA.
