Man Drowned.

News comes to us this morning of a sad accident which occurred near Grimesland Sunday evening. Lewis B. Elks and Isaac Lewis were in a boat in Chicod Creek examining some nets that had been set when Mr. Elks accidentally fell out of the boat into the water and was drowned. Effort has been made to recover the body but so far has not been successful.

Thinks Should Go Higher

Price, McCormick & Co., of New York, in a telegram to THE REFLECTOR under date of 28th, say: "The visible supply of cotton is the smallest since 1890, when cotton sold at thirteen cents, and the consumption is about fifty percent greater. Extreme prices seem inevitable."

Mayor's Court

Mayor Moye has disposed of three cases during the past week, as follows:

William Hanrahan, disorderly conduct and resisting an officer, guilty, bound over to September term of Superior court.

Frank Forbes, disorderly conduct and resisting an officer, guilty, bound over to September term of Superior court.

Stanley Fleming, Jr., assault with deadly weapon, guilty, bound over to September term Superior court.

We have not heard any May-day picnics announced for tomorrow.

Put on your best talking for the cotton mill and let the amount of stock be over $50,000 when the organization meeting is held Thursday.

Some men have no need for hats—their bumps of self conceit being an all sufficient covering for their alleged brains.

Good Music

An enjoyable feature of the music at the Baptist church Sunday morning was an instrumental selection for the offertory played by Mr. Alf. Forbes on a solo alto cornet, Mr. George Woodward on clarinet, with organ accompaniment by Miss Lina Sheppard. At the evening service Miss Janie Tyson rendered a very sweet solo with full choir chorus.

The Pea Louse Again.

The green pea louse (nectarophora destructor) which damaged the garden pea last year has again appeared in the trucking section. Growers of peas must be prompt and vigorous in fighting this pest or it will ruin the season's pea crop. The pea louse doesn't bite or chew the plant. It inserts its beak into the plant tissue and sucks out the sap. Badly infested plants soon turn yellow and die.

Remedies: Paris green and all other arsenical poisons are valueless against the pea louse. We must use a contact poison. The best insect poison of this class is fish oil soap, dissolved, 1 pound in 10 gallons of boiling water. Use warm. 1 pound of flowers of sulphur to each 10 gallons will add to its effectiveness. The second best remedy is tobacco decoction made by boiling 1 pound of tobacco leaves for 1/2 hour in 3 gallons of water.

Powdered tobacco used as a dust is good. Powdery, acrid, water slaked lime dusted on the plants while wet with dew or rain is very effective. 1 ounce sulphur to each pound of tobacco or lime will increase its effectiveness.

The pea lice chiefly affect the under sides of the leaves. Their bodies must be struck and wetted or powdered by the insecticides here recommended or no good will be done. The vines must be bent down or turned over to expose the lice to the spray or powder. A very good plan is to carry the liquid insecticide in a shallow pan or pail and bend down the infested vines and immerse them in the liquid for one minute. This is sure death to all the insects wetted. If powders are used they may be dusted on with a coarse sack, a flour dredge or a fine meshed sieve, or they may be thrown on with the gloved hand.

Truckers must understand that this insect, unless promptly and vigorously fought, will destroy the season's pea crop. Those who have not a copy of the Department Bulletin for December 1899 should write to the Commissioner of Agriculture for a copy. It contains full instructions for fighting crop pests.

Tobacco, lime, and sulphur can be bought of most local dealers. For fish oil soap apply to Dey Bros., Beaufort, N. C. or to James Good, Philadelphia, Pa. The cost of the soap is 3 1/2 cents per pound in barrel lots, 6 cents in 50lb. lots.

Be Not Over-Confident

In a private letter to The Landmark, one of the ablest, as well as one of the most conservative and safest leaders of the Democratic party in the State, says that our greatest danger in this campaign is over-confidence. Our friend's letter was not written for publication, but inasmuch as we believe that this danger threatens we take the liberty of calling attention to it. He believes that we will carry the State, as we all do, but he says what is apparent to all conservative and thinking Democrats—that it can be done only by the most persistent and united effort; and that in this effort there must be much personal work, for there are many who cannot be reached either by literature or by public speaking.

Continuing, our friend says that one of the prime causes of our defeat in '94, when we first lost the State, was this same over-confidence. This is true, and we here in Iredell are fully prepared to testify to its truth as to our own county. Those of us who were familiar with the campaign in the county that year know and well remember that we need not have lost the county if we could only have convinced our own forces that we were in danger. The great mass of them could not see the danger and we lost, and this was doubtless the case in many other counties.

We are no alarmist but we desire to warn the Democrats at the outset against over-confidence and against underrating the strength of the enemy. Statements that we will carry the State for the amendment and the State ticket by 50,000, more or less, are quite common, and there is an air of supreme confidence in our success pervading the Democratic hosts that is quite encouraging. But we should remember the Scripture which saith; "Let not him boast that putteth on his armor like him that taketh it off." We verily believe—and we say it not for publication merely, but we sincerely believe it—that the amendment and our State ticket will win. But this confidence includes work without ceasing on the part of Democrats and all friends of good government from now 'till the day of election. Without that we cannot win.—Statesville Landmark.

Two Faced Pritchard

In a recent interview in Washington, Senator Pritchard said: "The Populists and Republicans will both oppose the constitutional amendment proposed by the Democrats to disfranchise the negro vote." In North Carolina he says it will disfranchise the illiterate whites. He dares not say that in Senate, and insult the intelligence of the people of North Carolina by telling them that an amendment that expressly takes care of white voters will disfranchise them.—News and Observer.

In the Review of Reviews for May, there is editorial comment on Admiral Dewey's candidacy; on the government of Puerto Rico under the law recently passed by Congress; on the proposed government of Alaska, and on the developments of the month in financial and industrial circles. Other topics treated in "The Progress of the World" are the rush to Cape Nome, fox-breeding in Alaska, the April elections, the epidemic of strikes, the opening of the Paris fair, the military operations in South Africa, and the Delagoa Bay award.

Compare Candidates.

William J. Bryan has opinions and the courage to defend them.

William McKinley also has opinions, but lacks courage and never sticks to them.

Bryan has faith in the people and stands up for their rights, McKinley has no faith in the people and sacrifices their rights at the demand of the trusts.

Bryan opposes imperialism and works for freedom and a republican form of government.

McKinley champions imperialism and works for an aristocracy of money at the expense of the people.

Bryan opposes the trusts which rob the people, enslave working men and kill competition.

McKinley fosters and protects the trusts regardless of the people and uses all his influence to make the rich richer, which has also the result of making the poor poorer.

Bryan has a practical plan to restrain the trusts, and if elected president he will put it into execution.

McKinley has no plan to restrain trusts, and if he did have such a plan the trust managers, who own him body and soul, would not allow him to enforce it.

Which of these two men would best serve the people as president of the United States!

There is no choice between them. Bryan stands for all the people desire in the way of justice and protection. McKinley represents the trusts and imperialism and ignores the people.

The people are going to elect a president next autumn. Will they put a friend or an enemy in the White House!—Orange Va., Observer.

Recognizes New School Law.

The old Fusion Boards of Education in the counties, who refused to recognize the will of the legislature of '99 must walk the board July 1st. According to an opinion from the Attorney General the old boards cannot hold after July 1st.

The law under which they claim to hold office expires then and the new law of '99, providing for County Boards of Education, which has really been operative all the while, must be recognized by the fusion pap suckers.

The following correspondence, which Supt. Mebane has sent to the county superintendents, the ex-officio clerk of the County Board of School Directors, explains itself.

The following letter from the Attorney-General will explain itself:

Hon. C. H. Mebane, Supt. Public Instruction, Newton N. C.

Sir: In reply to your letter of this date I will say that, in my opinion, under section 6, chapter 108, Acts 1897, and section 13, chapter 732, Acts 1899, the board of school directors appointed under chapters 3 and 732, Acts 1899, will go into office on the first Monday in July, 1900.

Very respectfully,
ZEB V. WALSER,
Attorney-General.

You will please inform the County Board of Directors (if the old Board took charge under the decision of Supreme Court,) so that there may be no confusion or delay in the public school work.

Try to have all records full and complete up to June 30th, 1900, and send to me promptly, so there need be no delay on the next educational report.

Very truly,
C. H. MEBANE,
Supt. Pub. Inst.

A Lesson with a Moral.

The killing of Small by Young Sudderth, on Sunday night of this week, carries a lesson of value if our readers would but read it. It is the old, old story—a violated Sabbath spent in drinking, ending at night-fall in a frenzied brawl with the youth's companion, a Smith and Wesson, to finish the day's work with murder. Omit the whiskey and the two men, who were friends, would have continued such; now the one is under ground, leaving a helpless family; the other behind bars, reflecting, possibly, upon a wasted life and the agony inflicted upon his aged mother. Yet we have a law against carrying concealed weapons, which if enforced by public opinion, as well as by solicitors, would have saved money as well as life in this case; and we have a law against selling whiskey in Morganton which if also enforced by the same public opinion would have been equally preventive of the crime. The chain gang for 12 months is the only fit place for pistol carriers and his fellow workman should be the keeper of the speak-easy. The upper ten of society, who affect ignorance of the doings of those below have most to answer for in every case where public opinion does not go hand in hand with the law. After all, law is but the opinion of the governing class.—Morganton Herald.

There will be five issues of The Youth's Companion in the month of May. Among the contributors will be Sir Norman Lockyer, who has written for the May 3rd number an article full of information about the coming total eclipse of the sun; United States Attorney General, John W. Griggs, who tells "Something about Lawyers;" Prof. C. A. Young, who has a timely paper on "Astronomical Photography;" and the Hon. Hannis Taylor, Formerly United States Minister to Spain, who describes the state of affairs "In Madrid Before the War." The fiction in the May numbers will be noteworthy. William D. Howells and Mary E. Wilkins each contributes a short story, there will be at least one serial story, and twenty brief tales of adventure by popular writers.

The word dramatic, which we are accustomed to associate almost exclusively with the theatre, has a wider meaning. "The life we are living today we are living dramatically," declares Florence P. Holden, in the article in the May number of Warner's Magazine, under the title "Dramatic Action as Applied to Painting and Poetry." A comparison of the two methods by which a painting and a poem arrive at the presentation of the same theme: dramatic action, is made by Miss Holden, using Sir Frederic Leighton's painting, "Orpheus and Eurydice," and Miss Browning's poem on the same subject.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO INVESTIGATE the new policies of the Bankers. The Life, Limited Payment Life and Endowment policies contain all the up-to-date features, many of which are original.

Good Things.

Did you ever look for the "good things" in your life insurance policy? Unless it was in the Bankers Life Insurance Company of the City of New York, you probably found side issues labelled "Grace" "Incontestability," "Loans," and the like, made prominent as "good things." Of course we have these features, too, for the "Bankers" is nothing if not progressive; but—

Did you ever see a policy with which the Company keeps an Individual Account?

Or one in which all earnings are guaranteed to the policy-holder?
 Or one which guaranteed both reserve and surplus if surrendered?
 Or one which gives all withdrawable surplus at death, in addition to face of policy?

Or one, in fact, which treats the policy-holder with absolute equity, confiscating no portion of the net premiums, and allowing a policy-holder to control his own money at all times, as far as is consistent with a conservative system which embraces the best points of banking and insurance?

If you have never seen any of these "good things," investigate the new policies of the Bankers Life Insurance Company of the City of New York.

Who are its officers and directors? Among them are many of the best known men in New York financial circles.

The Company's record has been unequalled for economical management, safe investments, equitable dealings with its policy-holders and low cost of Insurance Protection.

SPRING GREETING IN A MERRY MOOD.

Good Fortune Smiles

and you ignore rightful advantages if you do not claim the benefits offered in this

Announcement.

Many are the needs that confront you with the advent of Spring. It is concerning these requirements and how they may be secured with satisfaction and economy that we wish to speak. Our new line is now ready. We present the latest and best Spring goods at a scale of uniformly low figures—so low, in fact, that they may be truthfully called, "price concessions." These goods are fully as attractive in style and quality as they are in price, and we are perfectly confident that they will appeal to your best judgment as a careful buyer in every way. This is a conservative statement regarding facts which can be easily substantiated any time you visit our store. Our great desire is to have you call and see our new Spring line. It will speak for itself—the quality and style will be apparent and the price will present its own argument. In extending this invitation we are not urging you to become a buyer on the strength of our statements but to become a visitor. We do not ask you to buy, but bring your experience and best judgment with you and compare our reasonable attractions with your most cherished memories of cheap buying—we'll leave the rest to your own inclination. Our stock is of the practical, popular kind, that shows in a marked degree the evidences of a careful and judicious selection from the best markets. Variety, new novelties, and a thorough up-to-date quality in all things is everywhere apparent. Our Spring goods are marked for quick selling. It is a time for you to decide quickly as to whether you shall select from our full assortment of fresh, desirable styles, or take chances on perfect satisfaction a little later on, when stocks of necessity, must be more or less broken. We should prefer to see you today or tomorrow; later in the season we should be very likely to please you but now we are certain to do so. Remember, such opportunities do not have to wait long for new comers. A look will convince you these are no idle words—will you call and give it? Yours respectfully,
