The Danger of over-Confidence

We see in various esteemed contemporaries, within the past couple of weeks, warnings to Democrats against over-confidence with regard to the fate of the constitutional amendment. An Asheville lawyer, who is nameless, says in a private letter to a friend in Wilmington: "I am afraid our people are too confident. We will have a hard fight, but I believe we can win." Ex-Judge W. R. Allen, member of the lower house of the Legislature from Wayne, said in Raleigh, a few days ago, that the danger to the Democratic party is in being too cock sure. Candidate-for-Governor Aycock is speaking much the same way. We note this kind of talk with satisfaction—in it lies the safety of the amendment and the Democratic ticket. Months ago, when everybody else was joyous and jubilant, The Observer assigned to itself this position on the firing line and on account thereof established some reputation as a croaker. But it remains a truth that a political victory is never won until it is won, and while the end of this campaign is in view, it will not be attained unless the means are employed. There is work and a great deal of it—close, systematic, diligent work—ahead of the Democratic party, and it stands it in hand to look the facts squarely in the face.—Charlotte Observer.

Yes, the above is every bit true. We have not carried this election yet by a great deal, and there is a possible danger of not carrying it. It is better to be needlessly alarmed than to be carelessly over-confident.

And in the same connection a word of warning to the Democrats of Pitt county, who are just on the eve of nominating a county ticket would not be out of place. We hear some say that "it matters not who is put on the ticket this year, they will be elected." Better not be too sure of that! There is danger of a great mistake along this line. Not the man who makes the most noise and does the most wire-pulling to get delegates in the convention always makes the best run in the field. There are men who could be put on the ticket who would lose votes for the ticket and for the amendment as well. There are men who could be nominated who would cause the party to have to fight over again the battles of four and six years ago, with a danger of meeting the same result.

Don't be too confident in this matter. Don't think that anybody you nominate can be elected just because he is on the ticket. Don't take any chances. Put the best men on the ticket, men whose Democracy is above question and who place the interests of the party above their own ambition.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14, 1900.

The administration programme of hushing up the scandal connected with the embezzlement of a large sum of money from the Cuban postal receipts by C. F. W. Neeley, who has been chief financial agent of the Cuban postal system, and others, will be combatted by the Democrats in Congress, who regard the present as an excellent time for a thorough investigation of all Cuban receipts and expenditures. Senator Bacon says he waited nearly a week to give the republicans an opportunity to propose an investigation before offering his resolution instructing the Senate Committee on relations with Cuba to investigate receipts from all sources since the occupation of Cuba by our troops, and expenditures for all purposes during that period, and report to the Senate at the earliest possible date. Of his resolution, Senator Bacon said: "My purpose is to have a thorough investigation of the moneys which have been received and disbursed in Cuba. We know that there has been some improper disbursements. In view of the fact, it is our duty to thoroughly sift the whole matter. Our only excuse for being in Cuba is our desire to govern the Island for the benefit of the Cubans, and we ought to see whether we are doing our duty toward those people." That a number of Cuban officials, including the director of Posts and the Auditor of postal accounts have been suspended, is proof that the public is being deceived by official statements saying that Neeley is the only Cuban official who has been implicated in the stealing. If a proper investigation is made, it will probably be ascertained that there has been a ring of thieves working on the Cuban revenues, but that is just what the administration doesn't wish to be ascertained.

Senator Teller arraigned the officers of the Ordnance Bureau of the Navy department for incompetency and ignorance, during the discussion of the armor clause of the naval appropriation bill, and the arraignment was indorsed by Senator Allison. Mr. Teller said the ignorance displayed by officers of that board, when they appeared before Congressional committees for the purpose of giving information had been some times absolutely pitiful, and that he could get more information out of a private citizen in ten minutes than he had ever been able to get out of one of those officers in an hour; also that there were engineers in civil life who could make infinitely better guns than any officer on the Ordnance Board, but that the Board would not listen to them.

Adjutant General Hart, of Delaware, who is in Washington on business said of the political outlook in his state: "We will elect every state officer from governor down, and a legislature that will chose two democratic U. S. Senators. The republicans are in a hopeless state of disorganization, and are beaten from the start. If the rest of the country do as well as the rest in Delaware in November, there won't be much left of the G. O. P."

Even the absent-minded man seldom forgets his troubles. The motto of the grass widow is: "Make hay while the sun shines." Some men are always good natured because they have nothing else to do. Instead of making the most of their opportunities, some men permit their opportunities to get the better of them.

A Row Over 30 Cents

In a small colored Baptist church to the southeast of the city, there is trouble—much trouble. There is talk of deposing a minister and there is also talk of a split in a congregation that has been noted for harmony.

Intelligence of the schism came to light yesterday morning, when the pastor, Rev. R. Williams, came before Squire H. C. Severs and swore out a warrant against Deacon Calhoun for disturbing religious worship. Ten witnesses were summoned, eight of them being members of the church, while two were Reverends Massey and White, who were witnesses for the defendant.

The evidence showed that on last Sunday night Parson Williams asked Deacon Calhoun to take up a collection. The deacon passed around the hat and obtained 30 cents. This he deliberately transferred to his trousers pocket. The parson left the pulpit and engaged him in conversation; and it was observed that as the parson whispered the deacon nodded his head negatively.

The parson seemed out of temper. He went back to his pulpit but he announced no theme for discourse. Instead he began to abuse Deacon Calhoun. He said the deacon was not truthful or honest; and he added, in connection, that his congregation also needed to look after their moral welfare. Each one of them had promised to pay him 25 cents a month for preaching and very few of them had kept this contract.

The parson's audience lost temper and filed out of the church almost in a body. The deacon spoke out in meetin' and said that he had retained the 30 cents to liquidate a part of the church debt. At this one old negro woman yelled that she had contributed 10 cents to the parson which she wishes to be returned. With much solemnity Deacon Calhoun handed her the dime and retained 20 cents for the church debt.

Reverends Massey and White, who were visiting clergymen, followed the congregation into the open, and finally persuaded them to return and hear the parson's discourse, which did not fail to leave the text now and then and dwell upon the sinfulness of brother Calhoun.

Ever since the occurrence Rev. Williams has nursed his wrath, and at length he sought recourse at law. The result was a surprise to him. After hearing all the evidence in the case Squires Severs and D. G. Maxwell decided in favor of Calhoun and ordered that Williams pay the costs. Then the parson, after the manner of his race, went out and borrowed the money to pay the fine from the congregation that he had vilified.—Charlotte Observer.

MR COX NOT IN IT.

JOHNSONS MILLS, N. C., May 14. EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Some few weeks ago I had the pleasure of viewing in print the idle vaporings of the frantic brain of some of my misguided friends, or friend as the case may be, placing my name before the public as a candidate for the nomination of Sheriff at the next Democratic convention of Pitt county. Now I would say through the columns of your paper, that it is a pity that my friends, or friend, who got up that communication should have wasted so much time and talent on such an insignificant proposition. I don't take it as a compliment at all because of its insignificance. If I have any aspirations at all, it is something of more importance than such a small matter as the office of Sheriff.

I take this method of saying to all those who are in the woods, and it is full of candidates for the nomination for Sheriff, that they give themselves no uneasness whatever, as I utterly refuse to be one of any party in the scramble for office, therefore I hope, for the present at least, my friends will let my name "requiscat in pace."

Very truly,
L. H. COX.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO INVESTIGATE the new policies of the Bankers. The Life, Limited Payment Life and Endowment policies contain all the up-to-date features, many of which are original.

Good Things.

Did you ever look for the "good things" in your life insurance policy? Unless it was in the Bankers Life Insurance Company of the City of New York, you probably found side issues labelled "Grace" "Incontestability," "Loans," and the like, made prominent as "good things." Of course we have these features, too, for the "Bankers" is nothing if not progressive; but—

Did you ever see a policy with which the Company keeps an Individual Account?

Or one in which all earnings are guaranteed to the policy-holder?

Or one which guaranteed both reserve and surplus if surrendered?

Or one which gives all withdrawable surplus at death, in addition to face of policy?

Or one, in fact, which treats the policy-holder with absolute equity, confiscating no portion of the net premiums, and allowing a policy-holder to control his own money at all times, as far as is consistent with a conservative system which embraces the best points of banking and insurance?

If you have never seen any of these "good things," investigate the new policies of the Bankers Life Insurance Company of the City of New York.

Who are its officers and directors? Among them are many of the best known men in New York financial circles.

The Company's record has been unequalled for economical management, safe investments, equitable dealings with its policy-holders and low cost of Insurance Protection.

CARD FROM EX-CHIEF POLICE JAMES.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Newspaper notoriety I abhor, but, by reason of numerous inquiries made by the public generally concerning the late action of the Board of Aldermen for the town with reference to its policemen, and fearing that my friends may form ill conceived opinions based upon mistaken facts, I deem it my duty to briefly state, through your columns, without unnecessary comment, the true facts as they occurred in the deliberations of the honorable Board.

Seven members of the Board secretly met in caucus on Thursday, the 10th inst. for the purpose of considering, it is said, the short comings of the police force. Charges were preferred against one of the assistant policeman, and it was decided to dismiss him without form or ceremony. Against me no charges were preferred and consequently it was the unanimous verdict of that caucus that I should be retained in my position. The Mayor was instructed to notify me that my conduct as an officer of the town had been investigated with the result as just stated. This information was promptly conveyed to me.

The caucus adjourned to meet the following afternoon, at a call meeting of the Board, to ratify and confirm the decision, at which the different members had arrived without a dissenting vote. To my surprise, chagrin and humiliation a motion was made at said meeting by Mr. J. N. Hart, who attended the caucus, that I should be dismissed from the force, which motion was carried by the votes of Messrs. J. N. Hart, W. R. Parker, J. B. White and E. M. McGowan, all of whom participated in the action of the caucus, and agreed that in the absence of charges, I should not be disturbed.

I politely and respectfully asked for reasons of my dismissal, and insisted that some charge should be preferred to justify their action. I asked for reasons prompting them to a violation of the sacred obligation of a caucus agreement. I demanded to be informed of the causes that led them to such a sudden, arbitrary and revolutionary course. But these demands and requests they refused to yield, and with tyrannous and barbarous power, without indictment and trial, and without reason or excuse, they, under whom I had served nearly eleven months, contemptuously hustled me from the office to which they elected me, and at a time when my term would soon expire. Was it just and fair? Was it done on the eve of the town election, with the idea and hope that it would be a popular political stroke, which would command the endorsement of the public and procure a re-election of these members? Was their action predicated upon sound reason and mature judgment? Would not a polite request for my resignation have been more considerate, and served these purposes in a better way? Let the public judge. W. B. JAMES.
