PROBABLE MURDER.

Dead Woman Found in a Ditch

The body of Nora Vines, a negro woman supposed to have been murdered, was found Sunday evening about 5 o'clock in a gully near the plank driveway which leads to the boat landing. The body was lying in a washout three or four feet deep. Her neck was broken and her face appeared to have been beaten some, and a quantity of blood had run from the nose. There were no other marks of violence. Fifty cents in money was found beside the body. The woman was last seen about 12 o'clock Saturday night in company with a strange negro man whose name none of the witnesses knew, going in the direction where she was found dead Sunday.

One thing rather strange, a number of witnesses testified that they had been in company with this unknown negro Saturday night and had talked with him, but not a single one remembered hearing his name called or could tell where he was from. He has not been seen in Greenville since Saturday night.

The Coroner, Dr. Laughinghouse, summoned a jury and examined the body but the verdict was withheld for further investigation.

It is possible for the woman to have fallen in the washout while under the influence of whiskey and broke her neck in that way, but it is the opinion of those who saw her that she was murdered.

The Eclipse

The eclipse of the sun came along on schedule time this morning, and fortunately this section had perfect weather for viewing the phenomena. It was about a quarter before 8 o'clock when the first shadow of the moon made its appearance on the upper right section of the sun. This shadow continued to increase for about an hour when only a tiny streak of the sun was visible. Then this light streak quickly changed position, seeming to move around to where the shadow first started, and the sun's face gradually cleared up so that by the time another hour had passed it looked as though nothing had ever darkened its face.

The eclipse was not total at Greenville, but came very near to it. It became so dark that stars were visible, and the temperature changed to a twilight coolness. Everybody was out to look at the sun and watched the stages of the eclipse with great interest. No one living today will see another such eclipse in this section. There was a total eclipse of the sun in 1869 that a few of us have a little recollection of.

MONDAY, MAY 28, 1900.

Thirty-eight years ago Augustus Bliss, of Warwick, Mass., quit cutting brush on his father's farm, hung his scythe on a pine tree and went off to enlist in the Union army for the civil war. He never returned, and the scythe has never been taken down from the tree on which he hung it. It has become imbedded in the growing wood, and now it is a fixture.

One of the most encouraging signs of the times is the custom local lodges have adopted of attending church in a body and listening to a sermon specially prepared for their benefit. This shows more than anything the progress the lodge men of today are making. A little religion and lodge matters will mix all right, and the influence is for the general good. This practice of attending church in a body is certainly a good one, not only for the community and the members individually.—Oxford Ledger.

Fish are great gluttons. That is probably the reason why fine looking bait tempts so many of them to destruction. A single bluefish has been known to kill and devour ten cod each as big as himself in rapid succession. Birds are also blessed with fine appetites. The robin can easily devour two-thirds of his weight in earth worms in a day, and the ordinary pigeon can get away with his own weight in grain between sunrise and sunset and then go to sleep hungry.

Our good friends, the Prohibition party insist on maintaining a State organization. They recently held their State convention, and put out a full ticket as follows:

For Governor—Henry Sheets, of Davidson.

For Lieutenant Governor—John W. Long, of Rowan.

For Secretary of State—E. L. Parker, of Johnson.

For Treasurer—N. W. Newby, of Randolph.

For Auditor—D. W. C. Benbow, of Guilford.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—H. C. Stout, of Alamance.

Electors at Large—Edwin Shaver, Jeremiah H. Holt.

They are at least to be credited with the virtue of persistency, for they have nominated a State ticket for a number of years and it has never come within 125,000 of election. Our Prohibition party friends ought to waive their ticket this year, and let their votes swell Aycock's majority.—Charlotte News.

Didn't Allow the Negro Lawyer to Call Him Brother.

A little episode occurred in the court room yesterday afternoon. J. S. Lanier, one of Winston's colored lawyers, representing one faction in the Shiloh Baptist church suit and in his address to the jury referred to the white lawyers as "brothers." Mr. Buxton became incensed at this term and told Lanier to address him as Mr. Buxton. The negro lawyer evidently did not understand Mr. Buxton at first and repeated the word "brother" where upon Mr. Buxton explained himself more fully and Judge Robinson told Lanier to go on with his speech, as he understood what Mr. Buxton meant.—Winston Sentinel.

Of Different Political Parties.

It is being charged that the election law gives the Democrats all the judges of the election. The charge is untrue. The law says that the county board of elections shall appoint two persons "who shall act as judges of the election at each place of holding elections in their respective districts, each of whom shall be men of good character, and able to read and write, and they shall be of of diferent parties."—Progressive Farmer.

To Attract Attention.

The attention of the public must be directed to what is inside a mercantile establishment. What passers-by see in the store window is not always accepted as an indication of the quantity of goods that are sold over the counters. The public has little time and inclination to explore unknown mercantile regions. Therefore, the proprietors of stores should advertise; better the advertisements the more attention will be attracted.—Philadelphia Record.

The 17-year locust was here in 1849, in 1866, in 1883 and will appear again this year, unless all previous experiences go for naught. They will appear by coming up out of the ground, climbing up the first tree or plant they come to. After ascending some distance they will stop long enough to cast off their shell which soon bursts open. When the shell has been doffed they have become dry and the color has been changed from white to a mahogany or dark brown. They then fly away and alight on any new grown twig or tree, the locust tree, seemingly, being preferred. They begin to deposit their eggs in the bark, advancing step by step, singing all the while until they die.—Orange Va. Observer.

The Boston Transcript says that the trees which suffered most from the ravages of caterpillars last summer were the first to bud this year, and their foliage is much thicker than that of the trees which were not stripped of their leaves when others suffered.

The No. 018 Parker jointless lucky curve fountain pen is the very thing for Census Enumerators. You can find them at the Reflector Book Store.

R. L. Humber has taken another move up in the world. He has raised his residence on Fifth street about two feet higher from the ground.

If our people do not want whiskey to rule Greenville they should take interest in the ward meetings, Friday night, and nominate good men for Aldermen.

Dr. J. C. Greene has formed a copartnership with Dr. J. E. Grimsley, of Snow Hill, and will locate in that town for the practice of his profession.

Had a Fit.

An old colored woman, while walking along the street near the depot Sunday afternoon, had an apoplectic fit. She was still unconscious when placed in a buggy and taken to her home in town.

Military Company.

Sixty-five names have been secured for the military company which is about to be organized in Greenville. This is more than is necessary to organize and the blanks have been sent for to be filled out by those wishing to join. As soon as this is done the company will be organized.

Accident to Child.

Saturday evening a little two year old son of Mr. R. L. Humber was playing soldier. The little fellow was marching around the room with a small flag and blowing a tin flute. In some way the child stumbled and fell, the flute punching out two of his teeth. He suffered intensely for a while.

Charter Sent Up.

The charter for the Greenville Cotton Mills has been probated by the Superior Court Clerk of Pitt county and forwarded to the Secretary of State at Raleigh for letters of incorporation, with a capital stock of some over $40,000. As soon as the charter with the letters of incorporation is returned books will be open for further subscriptions.

When a man is his own worst enemy he should be excused for kicking himself.

Poisoned Her Husband.

News comes to us of another murder credited to Pitt county. It seems that Annie Dixon, a colored woman living on Mr. George Venters' place, near Calico, poisoned her husband John Dixon, Friday by putting rough-on-rats in his coffee. From the effects of the poison he died Sunday night. Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, the Coroner, was phoned to go down and hold the inquest, and he and Mr. H. C. Hooker left this afternoon for the scene.

We hear that Sam Dixon, a nephew of the woman's husband, also drank some of the poisoned coffee and has since been in a critical condition.

The Meeting.

There were large congregations at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening to hear the evangelist, Rev. J. E. Hutson, and the close attention he drew from his hearers was marked. The meeting continues this week, and beginning this morning a day service is also being held at 10 o'clock. Go hear him tonight at 8:15.

A Smile in Each.

A message over a phone is not always euphonious.

It isn't always the fly young man who gets up in the world.

Even the color-blind girl can tell when her rival turns green with envy.

The shoe dealer who advertises is the one who makes footprints in the sand of time.

Even the brow of a hill is often furrowed with care when the farmer begins to plow.
