The Meeting Closes.

The meeting which has been in progress at the Baptist church for the past ten days, conducted by Rev. J. E. Hutson, closed Thursday night. Rev. Mr. Hutson goes from Greenville to Kinston where he holds a meeting next week. Before the services closed Thursday night he requested that all the Christians here would pray earnestly for the success of the meeting which he is to hold in Kinston.

The doors of the Baptist church will be opened for membership on Sunday morning.

Meet Monday.

A meeting of the County Election Board will be held in Greenville on Monday to appoint registrars and poll holders for the different precincts in the county for the August election.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

The Legislature meets June 12th in adjourned session.

Beef steak has advanced to 15 cents a pound in Goldsboro.

Dr. J. B. Shearer has resigned the Presidency of Davidson College. Dr. Louis Henry Smith will succeed him.

North Carolina was given the place of honor in the parade at the Confederate Veteran reunion in Louisville.

The Farmers and Merchants Bank of New Bern, has elected a lady, Miss Brownie Hauks, as paying teller.

The Supreme Court, in a case from Henderson, decides that fines and penalties in cities and towns go to the public schools and not to the corporation.

Mr. Ed. Flow and Miss Ida Flow, of Cabarrus county, were out driving. Their horse ran away and smashed the buggy. Both the young lady's arms were broken.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

You can generally have a lot of fun with the girls that are always saying they do so hate spooony men.

A man ought to be made to do his courting, when the girl's folks are having the house wall-papered.

Half the women you see either have some money in their stocking or else have a bill pinned to the inside of their corset.

The children that their parents have got to wishing for a little baby brother would generally rather have a dog after they see it.

When you catch a girl playing the hose on the side yard, she always acts as ashamed as if you had caught her with her shoes off.—New York Press.

Academy Closed

The Greenville Male Academy under Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, closed its annual session today. It has been the best average session in the history of the school, the enrollment reaching upwards of eighty. The work of Prof. Ragsdale in the school has always been for the best order, and the boys who go out of his school, whether to enter college or go into business, always take high rank. The next session will begin the first Monday in September.

Relief from the trust through a Republican congress that openly approves every piece of legislation authorizing these commercial brigands to put their hands deeper in to the people's pockets is as hopeless as trying to bale out the water from the sea with a sieve.—Kansas City Times.

If we could get every dollar of the Philippine trade and every dollar of it were clear profit, and it were doubled several times over, it would not repay us for even the money cost of trying to conquer those islands, and that is one of the smallest items of our Philippine expense account.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

FRIDAY, JUNE 1 1900.

The decision of the Supreme Court of North Carolina in the case of the Board of Education against the town of Henderson, is one that is of interest to every town in the State. In this case it is decided that all fines collected by towns and cities upon prosecutions for violation of criminal laws of the State must be turned over to the school fund and not go into the municipal treasury. It may be that many towns will not only in future lose such fines from the treasury, but also have to pay over to the school fund money so collected in the past. This is an important matter and will effect the finances of many towns.

A Romance in Real Life.

About a year ago one of Gray's Creek's (Cumberland county) most popular young ladies, answered the advertisement of a young man in California, who stated he would like to marry a Tar Heel girl. They began a correspondence which continued up to two months ago, when the young man made the journey across the continent and unexpectedly made his appearance at the girl's home. The young lady was thought to be on the point of death from pneumonia, but she rallied, and the Californian remained through her long illness and convalescence. A few days ago when she got well enough to see him, they became engaged, and when he returns from a business trip South, on which he started Monday, they are to be married. Another interesting circumstance in the case is that the young man's father was born in Fayetteville, and is now a physician in Massachusetts.

It Will Breathe Easier.

Congress will adjourn on June 6. The Senate agreed to the House resolution fixing that date for bringing the session to a close. The Democrats made a show of opposition to adjournment, but, as a matter of fact, both parties were willing. The Republicans stand pledged to the adoption of measures which they are not prepared to defend, and to the introduction of measures which they have not the desire to adopt. The Democrats are well satisfied with the shuffling policy of their opponents in refusing to lessen war taxation; in committing themselves to a system of subsidies; in neglecting protective legislation against the Trusts, and in adopting an imperial policy in dealing with the acquired Spanish islands. And the whole country will breathe easier with Congress adjourned than with Congress in session.—Philadelphia Record.

The Foreign-Born Population and the Census.

Few questions asked by the Census Office are of more importance than those regarding the place of birth of the individual and his parents. There is no great country which has received so many immigrants and lost so few immigrants as the United States. It is doubtful whether more than 200,000 Americans by birth are living outside of the United States, while the number of persons of foreign birth living in the United States is probably ten million.

In the coming census the enumerators will endeavor to ascertain where each person, and the parents of each person, were born; and, if the person was not born in the United States, in what year he came to this country, the number of years he has been here, whether he has been naturalized or not, and if not, whether he has taken out naturalization papers.

The tables made from the answer to the inquiries respecting birth place show the number and distribution of the foreign-born residents in the United States, the number of them born in each of the great countries, the amount of intermarriage between these foreigners and the natives, the proportion of the foreigners who settle in the cities and those who seek the country, their ability to read and to speak English, and the law-abiding character of the population.

To the several foreign-born elements of our population it is a matter of pride and interest to know the number of persons of their nationality in the United States, and their general economic condition. In 1890 there were more than 9,000,000 residents in the United States who were born in foreign countries. Of this number about 30 per cent. were born in Germany, 20 per cent in Ireland, and about 10 per cent in Canada and Newfoundland. From 1821 to 1890 the United Kingdom contributed 53 per cent. of the total immigration to the United States, and Germany 35 per cent. In the decade 1881 to 1890 the immigrants from the United Kingdom constituted only 28 per cent. of the total immigration, the proportion from Germany being slightly less. In the ten years 1861 to 1870 the combined immigration from Austria, Hungary, Russia, Poland, and Italy constituted only 1 per cent. of the total immigration. In the decade 1881 to 1890 this proportion rose to 17 per cent, and in the nine years 1891-1899 to more than 64 per cent.

We of the United States are all immigrants or the descendants of immigrants. A proper pride on the part of recent immigrants in the land of their birth, and a reasonable desire to secure that recognition which is due to their numbers and importance, should lead all persons of foreign birth to welcome the census enumerator and to answer his questions willingly and accurately.

Family Living in a Tree.

A family named Hobgood, consisting of father, mother and two daughters, has been discovered near Richmond living in a hollow oak tree. The tree was not large enough to accommodate the whole family, and they seemed to have been taking turns, some sleeping under the tree and others inside its decayed trunk. They made their living by foraging and begging about the country. The county authorities have taken them in hand.

"Mendsall" mends everything and will stand hot water.—10 cents a bottle at Reflector Book Store.

It Will be Done.

The church courts of the colored race always have more or less politics in them. Here is a sample in a Washington dispatch of the 22d:

The General Conference of the A. M. E. Zion Church closed yesterday. The principal matter considered was a report submitted by John B. Dancy on the state of the country, which dealt principally with the work of the Church, the bravery of the negro soldiers in Cuba and the Philippines, pointed to the strides made by the colored race along industrial and professional lines, condemned the proposition to take away the franchise of illiterate negroes and allow illiterate whites to vote, and denounced crimes against women of wrongdoing of every kind. Editor Thomas Fortune, of the New York Age, speaking with reference to that portion of the report relating to negro suffrage, denounced Senator Tillman, of South Carolina.

"It has cost tons of blood and money," he said, "to place the fifteenth amendment in the constitution and it would cost tons of blood and money to get it out."

John Dancy, colored, belongs to this State and is collector of the port of Wilmington. His resolution was of course aimed at the suffrage amendment of this State. Editor Fortune is a negro agitator who lives "up North" and talks big at long range, taking care always to keep his carcass out of reach of danger. The fifteenth amendment was forced on our people when they were helpless and the negro given ballot in order to punish us. This amendment may not be repealed soon, but there is a strong sentiment in favor of its repeal now and the sentiment is growing. But whether or not this amendment is ever repealed the ballot is going to be taken from the great majority of the colored race in one way or another, with any cost of "tons of blood and money." This has already been done successfully in States to the south of us. North Carolina will follow suit this year and Virginia and other Southern States will follow later. The sensible negro will see the hand writing on the wall and make the best of the conditions which confront him.—Statesville Landmark.

The Drum and the Statesman.

This is a story which Representative Eddy, of Minnesota, tells on himself:

"In making the campaign in my district one year," said Mr. Eddy, "I took along as an attraction a veteran of the war of 1812 and of the civil war, who was a famous hand in beating the drum. He was a drummer from away back and could arouse the whole township. Drum music is an incendiary kind of thing anyhow, and the old captain's drumming was particularly stirring.

"Well one night, after the captain's drum had given the usual overture, I commenced my speech to the populace which had been lured to the scene by his drum. I noticed at the foot of the rostrum, the same being a big dry goods box a bright eyed little fellow about 12 years old, who sat through the speech, following me with great attention. It pleased me very much. Any fool can interest an audience of adults, but it takes a genius to hold a child.

So after the speaking I went down and spoke to the little fellow and after shaking hands with him asked him how he liked my speech. 'Oh, it will do,' he said, 'but if I was you I would keep the captain a drummin all the time.—Washington Star.

First Get Your Customer.

It is often said that "the best advertisement is a pleased customer." But the customer must first be induced to deal with the man who hopes to please him. To the advertiser that is not difficult. The merchant who chooses a leading newspaper as a medium of communication with the public addresses a million people daily, a fair proportion of whom surely give him their custom. Pleasing them then becomes a mere matter of detail.—Philadelphia Record.

FELLOW CITIZENS.

With Some Fellow Travelers Along.

Rev. J. E. Hutson left this afternoon for Kinston.
 L. E. Fountain has moved his family to Tarboro.
 B. S. Sheppard returned this morning from a trip down the road.
 Miss May Dail, of Snow Hill, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse.

Mrs. H. L. Carr and children left Thursday evening to spend some time at Seven Springs.

Miss Addie Taft returned Thursday night from Oxford, where she has been attending school.

Claude King went over to Parmele this morning and returned on the freight train.

Johnnie White returned Thursday from Raleigh, where he has been attending school at the A. & M. College.

OVER THE COUNTRY

The Women's International Press Union Congress is in annual session at Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Lillie Gardner shot and killed Mrs. Mamie Caddell, wife of her lover, at Blocton, Ga., while Caddell himself looked on.

Which?

Tonight will prove whether you have enough interested in the town to want to see it well governed, or whether you are only interested in getting somebody in office, regardless of his fitness for the position. Which shall it be?

Pitt Gets a Delegate

Governor Russell has appointed Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, of Grimesland, and Mr. J. B. Coffield, of Everetts, delegates to the Farmers National Congress which meets at Colorado Springs, Col., on August 21st to 31st, 1900.

The opponents of the amendment falsely allege that it is a scheme of the Democrats merely to work "the nigger racket," and that they try in every campaign to carry the election by crying "nigger, nigger, nigger."

Well, if this was true or even if the opponents of the amendment believe it to be true, they certainly ought to be glad of the chance of putting an end to it by adopting the amendment and thereby eliminating the Negro entirely from politics!

Yes, if the opponents of the amendment really believe that the Democrats use the cry of "nigger" for campaign purposes or for political capital only, the most effective way of putting a stop to it would be the adoption of the amendment and the elimination of the negro from politics.—Pittsboro Record.

A Smile in Each.

The one vice that all men are addicted to is advice.

The man who is above reproach must walk on stilts.

A woman is a secret sufferer when she can't find anybody to tell the secret to.

No, Maude, dear, the horse show does not resemble the dog show, for you can't hear the tan bark.

The barber is addicted to cutting remarks.

The fellow who has a boil usually gets it in the neck.

When a man is as hungry as a bear he is just about as cross.

The more some fellows set up the drinks the more the drinks upset them.

The good die young, which accounts for their being so many old reprobates in the world.

Some men seem to think the world is against them just because they have dyspepsia.

Coming to Light.

Louisa Bryant, one of the witnesses before the Coroner's jury at the inquest over the body of the negro woman Nora Vines, has mysteriously disappeared. Since she left it is reported that a pool of blood has been found on the ground right at her house. The witness was seen with the murdered woman at a late hour the night that she was killed.

LATER.—Since writing the above Louisa Bryant has been found and as we go to press this afternoon she has been taken in custody and the Solicitor and Coroner are making investigation as to how the blood came at her door.

In the Selection of a Wife.

The old-time Puritans, who merit admiration despite their strictness, had these quaint rules for the selection of a wife:

"A good wife should be like three things, which three things she should not be like. She should be like a snail, to keep within her house; but should not be like a snail to carry all she has on her back. She should be like an echo, to answer when she is called; but she should not be like an echo, also to have the last word. She should be like a town clock, always keeping time with regularity; but she should not be like a town clock, speaking so loud as to be heard over all the town."

Masons Annual Meeting.

Greenville Lodge No. 284, A. F. & A. M., will hold its annual meeting on Thursday, June 21st, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Besides the election of officers, some business is to come before this annual meeting that is of special importance to the craft. Every member should take notice and be present if possible.
