Mrs. Marshall Dead.

Mrs. Sallie Marshall, one of the oldest ladies of Greenville, died this morning about 11 o'clock in her seventy first year.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. Gould Hoyt. She leaves four daughters, Miss Sallie Marshall, of Greenville, Mrs. Thos. McGee, of Goldsboro, Mrs. J. B. Hinton and Mrs. Hiram Henry, of New Orleans.

She was a member of the Methodist church and a faithful christian until death.

The remains will be buried tomorrow at 10 o'clock in Cherry Hill Cemetery. Friends of the family are invited.

It takes the average woman less time to change her mind than to change her bonnet.

BROUGHT OUT THE VOTE.

They Went Hurrying to the Polls.

If there is anybody living who loves a joke it is ex-Senator A. A. Forbes. "Old man Pig" was Registrar over in the Fifth ward for the town election. The colored people in that ward have a majority of voters, but a year ago they took the idea that it was best for their interests to let the ward be represented by a white man on the Board of Alderman, hence put out no candidate of their own.

For this election the Democrats renominated present Alderman J. S. Tunstall, and some of the leading colored people said they were satisfied with him and would support him. Things went on quiet at the polls until along late in the afternoon, when the registration book disclosed the fact that several white men of the ward had not taken enough interest to go out and vote. Mr. Forbes took a notion that he was going to "wake 'em up." He telephoned down town that the colored people had rallied and were running one of their number, and that every white man had better come on and vote quick. That was enough to do the work. Here they went a-hurrying and hunting up the tardy voters and they gave the Senator a rush for a little while. No one enjoyed his "wolf story" more than himself.

SELLING ON SUNDAY.

Makes One Bar-room Less in Greenville.

W. A. Bright was up before Mayor J. G. Moyer this morning charged with selling whiskey on Sunday. One witness in the case testified that he was in Bright's bar on last Sunday and bought a bottle of beer, paid for it and drank it in the bar. Upon this evidence the Mayor fined Mr. Bright $50 and cost and also revoked his license.

Mr. F. G. James, who appeared for the defendant, appealed to the Superior Court and Mr. Bright was placed under a two hundred dollar justified bond for his appearance.

Later Mr. Bright through his attorney went to Mayor Moyer and waived the appeal and requested a reduction of the fine. Mayor Moyer agreed to reduce the fine to $25 with the understanding that Mr. Bright should close his business at once and sell no more liquor in Greenville. The Mayor's terms were accepted.

Mayor Moyer is to be congratulated for giving Greenville one bar-room less, as is also Assistant Policeman Seba King who caught Mr. Bright violating the law and brought in the case against him.

Will Rebuild Factory.

Mr. R. A. Tyson has decided to rebuild his tobacco prize house for M. P. Jordan & Co.

It will be a much larger and better fitted up factory than the one recently burned. It will be three stories high and be equipped with the latest improved machinery for handling tobacco.

M. P. Jordan & Co., will occupy the factory. They are large buyers on this market and will be better able this year to handle their stock than ever before.

TUESDAY, JUNE 5, 1900.

The result of the town election in Greenville Monday gives cause for congratulation both to the town and to the gentlemen who have been elected as Aldermen. A few weeks ago the present Board of Aldermen dismissed the Chief of Police and Assistant Police from service. From then until the holding of the ward primaries on last Friday night war was waged against the Board of Aldermen (at least those who favored dismissing the policeman) by a certain element of the town, almost the entire issue of the local campaign being who should be the next Chief of Police. It was noticeable that when the primaries were held every Alderman who had favored the dismissal of the policeman were renominated by fully a two-thirds vote of the citizens of their respective wards, and at the election Monday they received every vote cast. In view of all that was said and done about the action of those Aldermen THE REFLECTOR feels that attention should be directed to this splendid endorsement to show how thoroughly the people of the town approve of their course.

Jim Crow cars will be on all the Virginia railroads early in July, and, from the experience in this State, we are enabled to say to our Virginia friends that these cars are apt to work well in that State. There was some difficulty in the application of the law in North Carolina at first, chiefly due to the fact that too much space was given to the colored passengers and, consequently, too little to the white. This led to attacks upon the railroads upon the ground that they were seeking to make the law odious; but in point of fact the division of compartments was at first experimental, it being impossible to foresee what space in each car would be required for either race. The change of division was made as necessity arose, until now, a basis having been reached, the space in the car is equitably apportioned between the races and everybody seems to be satisfied.—Charlotte Observer.

It Was Odd.

Considerable excitement was created at Fork Church last week on account of some unaccountable freak of nature. On Wednesday night there was a hard rain and on the land of James Carter there was a spot about 13x18 feet that did not get a drop of rain and was perfectly dry though the ground was wet all around.—Davie Times.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

The People of North Carolina Waking Up to the Importance of Industrial Education.

Special Correspondent of Reflector. RALEIGH, N. C., June 4th 1900.

In talking today with Chairman Simmons, who keeps in touch with every locality in the State, I was told that the political conditions are satisfactory and the prospects bright "wherever the Democrats are at work." Mr. Simmons then intimated that our folks are not working as they should in some counties, and steps will at once be taken to improve the conditions in such localities. Still, it is necessary to appeal to the patriotic white men for more individual effort in behalf of the cause of White Supremacy. As was stated in this correspondence last week, personal effort is needed, and it is hoped that wherever there has been a lack of it in the past will be made up by unusual zeal in the future on the part of every champion and friend of the Amendment. To work.

THE GREAT WORK AT THE A. & M. COLLEGE.

The last week has been a week of college commencements here—Peace Institute, St. Mary's and the A. and M. College. There is no institution to work more important to the young men of North Carolina, especially of the rural districts, and their parents to-day than that now being carried on at the latter institution, and what follows ought to interest your readers as much or more than anything else I could write about this week. The closing exercises of the College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts were very interesting, and this excellent college never had a more successful "commencement." There were 25 graduates, out of a total enrollment of 302 for the schoolastic year, representing 75 North Carolina Counties and seven States, every trade and occupation being represented.

LATE NEWS NOTES.

While in Raleigh a few days ago gubernatorial nominee Adams (Rep.) took occasion to state that he had no intention of withdrawing in Cy. Thompson's (Pop.) favor. He might have added, with propriety, "not yet."

One of the ancient political rumors is to the effect that Spencer B. Adams will probably be named to make the race for Congress in the 5th district again—if there is enough of him left after Mr. Aycock gets through with him.

Secretary Bruner, of the Agricultural Department, who has just returned from Paris, says that, with the exception of California, North Carolina has the most attractive exhibit at the World's Exposition there.

The first brick of the first of a series of cottage buildings for the new Methodist Orphanage here was laid last week. Others will be added as fast as the funds can be raised to pay for the same.

LLEWISAM.

Republicans Ruled in Both Instances.

How much better off are the white people in Philadelphia, lorded over as they are by blackmailing officials and buried as they are on election day under the weight of 80,000 fraudulent votes, than were the white people of South Carolina or Mississippi during the black dominance in carpet-bagging days! This is a conundrum which some few solicitous citizens are now trying to solve.—Philadelphia Record.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4, 1900.

Members of the administration are breathing freer now that the end of the session of Congress is in sight—adjournment will take place this week—with no more investigations of official crookedness provided for. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, threw administration circles into consternation fits several days ago by his speech demanding an investigation of how the $50,000,000 voted by Congress to prepare for the war with Spain was spent, and expressing the opinion that Mr. McKinley should be pleased to have an opportunity to clear himself of the fearful stories in circulation. Mr. McKinley was pleased to escape that opportunity.

Representative De Armond, of Missouri, told the republicans some disagreeable truths in his speech against their make-believe proposition for a constitutional amendment authorizing Congress to control trusts, which was defeated by democratic votes. After telling them that the proposed amendment bore upon its face irrefutable evidence that it was not intended to be placed in the constitution to control trusts, but to be placed in the campaign to delude voters, Mr. De Armond said: "To what chapter of your republican performances can you turn and hope for approval from the people? I do not chide you for trying a last desperate effort as a final resource to get something out of this amendment. If you get anything out of it, it will be because the American people are far more stupid than I think they are, and because delusion is much more attractive to them than plain conduct and honest acts. Can there be anything in the proposition that because you label this anti-trust, we shall not look beyond the label? You have labeled many things other than they are. There is not a package of your political nostrums that will bear inspection. It may be taken by label, but it cannot be by sample, much less by tests of reasonable quantities. The power of the people to meet and overcome trusts would be less if this amendment were in the constitution, than it is today. I am willing to amend the Constitution, but I am not willing to amend it so as to take from forty-five states the power they now possess to create and control corporations. You propose to say which one of them you will denounce and destroy, if you destroy any of them, and which you will shelter and protect. I am opposed to that kind of legislation. Trusts have grown within the last three years as they have never grown before. They are mightier, they have invaded new fields, conquered new provinces, made new slaves and are mightier today than ever before. And yet you say to the people wait until we get a constitutional amendment!

Notwithstanding the promotion of Gen. Otis for ending the war in the Philippines, and numerous denials that more troops were needed over there, Secretary Root now acknowledges that regular troops are to be sent to reinforce Gen. MacArthur, who has been asking for them ever since he succeeded Otis.

Has His Good Point.

Fuge—There's no satisfaction talking with Mumser. He is so dull that he can't appreciate sound common sense.

Judge—That's so; but, on the contrary, when you talk nonsense he doesn't tumble to it.—Boston Transcript.

Hanging for Burglary.

It is observed that a good many of the leading newspapers of the country, notably the Washington Star and Cleveland leader, are agitating for laws making burglary a capital crime. The argument is that burglary is "carefully planned in cold blood;" that the burglar is prepared to commit murder in case he should be discovered in the commission of the lesser offence and that, being a murderer at heart and a desperate criminal in intent and purpose, he should receive the murderer's punishment. The proposition is opposed in some quarters upon the ground that it looks to a return to the barbaric age when the death penalty was inflicted for a number of comparatively trifling offences. But burglary is not a trifling offence, but one of the very gravest. Few things could be more horrible than the entry of one's room, when one is asleep, by an armed ruffian, intent first upon pillage and then murder if necessary to accomplish his purpose or to escape detection. North Carolina has for years had a law making burglary a capital offence, and upon our statute books there is no better law. The worst that can be said on the subject is that in recent years it has been so much modified that conviction for burglary in the first degree has now become difficult.—Charlotte Observer.

Making a Bargain.

The old adage that "it takes two to make a bargain" does not always apply. In mercantile affairs three principals are necessary in the making of a bargain—the dealer, the customer and the advertisement. The dealer is enabled to sell by reason of the publicity which advertising gives his goods, and the customer learns through the same medium where his wants can be supplied. Advertising brings the two together, and helps to make the resultant sale.—Philadelphia Record.

An Economical Buyer of Shoes is the woman who recognizes the fact that it is true economy to purchase nothing but the highest grade shoes for her own wear, as well as for the children. We will fit mamma and the misses, as well as the boys and girls, with elegant, durable and comfortable shoes at prices that no one can touch, when quality is considered.

There's Great Comfort

at foot where our shoes are worn. They adjust themselves to what they cover so easily, yieldingly and coolly that they meet all the conditions of ideal foot wear. TOWN ELECTION.

Ward Nominees Get Entire Vote

There was no opposition to the ticket in any ward at Monday's election and the voting was all one way. Even the colored people who voted cast their ballots for the Democratic nominees. The result was as follows:

First Ward—E. M. McGowan received 75 votes.
 Second Ward—J. B. White and O. E. Warren each received 33 votes.
 Third Ward—B. F. Patrick and J. C. Albritton each received 57 votes.
 Fourth Ward—W. R. Parker received 71 votes and J. N. Hart 70.
 Fifth Ward—J. S. Tunstall received 38 votes.

The new board will go into office the first of July. Five of the new board are members of the present board. They all will make excellent Aldermen and the people may expect a wise town administration at their hands.

Training the Pups.

W. C. Hines has received from the State farm at Tillery a blood hound which he will keep for a month or so, until he can train his three bloodhound puppies. He has already had his puppies out training them several times and they run a trail remarkably well for such young dogs. All the puppies are about five or six months old.

Falkland Club.

We failed to mention Monday the organization of the White Supremacy Club in Falkland township.

The club was organized by Solicitor L. I. Moore and had the largest membership of any club in the county. John H. Smith was made President, John King Vice President and R. Williams secretary. This club will hold its next meeting Saturday, June 16th.

"Down with rum!" exclaimed the temperance orator. "That's what I say, muttered the man with a red nose; "ten cents a drink is too high."

NOT MUCH JOKE.

This Will Yet be a Fact.

The story runs something like this:
 A man from the country who was in town Monday wanted to know what was the trouble that all the bar rooms were closed. A bar keeper who happened to be idle asked the countryman with assumed astonishment: "Why hadn't you heard that there had been an election here and prohibition had carried the town?" "No, I hadn't heard it" replied the countryman, "but I expected this crowd was going to play the devil before they got through."
 We heard the bar keeper telling the above and laughing over it as if it was a fine joke. But come to think about it, there is not so much joke in it after all, for we venture the prediction right here that this bar keeper himself is going to see the day when there will be no bar rooms in Greenville. Let him think that it is "playing the devil," but he will see it.

Died.

This morning about 5 o'clock William H. Long, aged 18 months, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Long, was taken from earth. The child had never been in good health and this morning he was taken very much worse and died a few minutes after the doctor reached the house.

The remains will be buried tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in the Episcopal cemetery. Rev. N. Harding, of Washington, will conduct the services.

It was their only child, and the sorrowing parents have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their bereavement.
