TRIBUTE TO G. B. HUGHES

When the telegram announcing the death of Geo. B. Hughes was made known here this morning, while his friends were not altogether unprepared for it, there were many sad expressions of genuine, heart-felt regret. About six weeks ago he was taken sick at his father's in Chase City, Va., with what the doctors thought was typhoid fever. A few days ago it was determined that an operation for abscess of the liver was necessary. The operation was performed and doubtless had he not been so weak from fever he would have recovered but the tax was too great and Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock, just as the last shimmering sunbeams of the day were dancing among the oaks that stand like sentinels of old in the spacious grounds of the old Virginia homestead, there passed from earth one of the noblest men that has ever been my pleasure to know.

To me he was a true, loyal friend and partner, and in his death I feel very keenly a severe personal loss. He always made friends wherever he went and he seemed to take great pleasure in scattering sunshine and flowers among those with whom he came in contact. Doing all the good he could for his fellow man, rendering every act of kindness within his power, wishing even his enemies, if he had any, no ill will, he was the typical ideal of the true Southern gentleman that he was. Around the death bed scene of this good man when it was known that life was extinct and the cold damp dew of death had gathered on his manly brow, surrounded by his devoted wife, relatives and friends, I know it was a sad, heart-rending scene. Words are not adequate to express our feelings but the emotions of many hearts go out to the bereaved ones in this their saddest and most desolate hour.

MARTIN COUNTY VINDICATED

PAMELE, N. C. Aug. 6th, 1900.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:

The following item appeared in your weekly issue of Aug. 3rd in the Bethel items:

"Another man killed, but not in Pitt county. Bill Jack Whitehurst shot Thad Jones Saturday night and the latter died Monday night. Jones was shot with three balls."

Jones was shot twice instead of three times. While the item does not state where the killing was done it was known to be done in Martin county, and I wish to state in vindication of my county that the man who did the killing does not belong to my county, but belongs to Pitt county. In fact both parties were from Pitt county. Jones moved to this county last winter and Whitehurst a few weeks ago.

In publishing the above in your next issue you will greatly oblige.

Yours very respectfully,
C. T. PEASE

[This letter does not change anything our Bethel correspondent said about it.]

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., August 4.
Mrs. Dora Alligood, of Hobgood, is visiting relatives here for several days.

A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. have just received an order for three Tar Heel wagons and one single horse wagon to be delivered this week.

You may talk about your green horns and back woodsmen mistakes, fodder stacks and oversights, but the biggest oversight, and one that was clear out of sight, occurred here Sunday night when one of our young men went to church, forgetting all about having an engagement with a young lady. After remaining comfortably seated for some time, upon being reminded of the fact a swift gallop soon brought him to her home and they were back without being much late after all. His absent-mindedness may have been due to the fact that he had just been to see his "tother girl" Sunday.

Mc. G. Bryan left yesterday for Washington, Bayboro, Aurora and other places on a route of about two weeks.

if they did we would plant a lot of them in order to raise the buggies as fast as they are wanted. We are working night and day however, and shall do our best to supply the demand.

HUNSUCKER COGE. CO.

Masters Zeno Brown and Billie Patrick, little sons of W. L. Brown and B. F. Patrick, of Greenville, spent a few hours here Saturday.

Ed. Smith is assisting B. F. Manning & Co. in the store this week.

N. S. Fulford, of Washington, came up Saturday afternoon, and returned to Greenville same evening where his wife is visiting her parents.

We Welcome Him

Greenville certainly gains an excellent young man in the person of Rev. F. H. Harding, who is located here as Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. He is a son of the Rev. Nat. Harding, of Washington, a man most highly esteemed and beloved, and the son is indeed a worthy representative of the father. This is the young man's first charge, and we trust that there may be such cordial relationship between Rector and parishoners that his years in Greenville may be many.

Tent Meeting.

Watch for the big hand bills and circulars that will further illustrate the big tabernacle and Gospel tent religious services that will be held in Greenville, N. C. the latter part of August or the first of September under the auspices of the A. M. E. Zion church. Rev. A. J. Warner, known as the Swamp Angel, of Alabama and Rev. A. McCreese, known as the black Sam Jones will be invited. The meeting will be held under a cloth tent with a seating capacity for 2,000 persons.

Tarboro Wins Pennant.

The series of games played between the clubs of North Carolina Baseball Association has closed, and Tarboro comes out winner. Below is the standing of the clubs at the close of the series:

A Chip of the Old Block

Among those entitled to special mention in connection with the great work for the white man's cause in Forsyth is Archie Joyner, the young son of Chairman Joyner, of the county executive committee. Although but a lad, Archie was of great assistance in type-writing, etc., and he feels mighty proud of the victory which he had a part in winning.—Winston Sentinel.

ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS

Made by the Orange Va. Observer.

Kind words can never die and kind deeds are written in the sky. How worthless is religion's creed when all is talk without a deed.

It is said that love never dies, but it sometimes gets sick nigh unto death.

The prayer of a hypocrite never reaches the steeple or touches the ears of hearing people.

A political drouth doesn't have any effect on the Prohibition party, which is always dry.

Running a Newspaper.

Many people think "running a newspaper" all fun and but little expense. To show the contrary, says the Raleigh Post, we give the experience of a gentleman in London:

The Director of the London Daily Express, the latest metropolitan newspaper venture, reports that he is now losing $1,250 a day on it; that the cost of the plant and the preliminary work made the first issue cost $500,000, that to establish the Express will cost $1,250,000 and two years of very hard work, and that the next one who wants to establish a daily paper in London must start with $2,500,000.

The said defendant will further take notice that the said action is brought by the plaintiff to obtain a divorce from the bonds of matrimony.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1900.

Halifax comes ahead for the claim as the banner county of the State. Her Democratic majority last Thursday was 5,740.

Alabama follows in the wake of North Carolina. That State held an election Monday for State and county officers and members of the General Assembly, and rolled up a 50,000 Democratic majority. The Populists and Republicans together only get 12 out of 133 members of the Legislature. The State also voted to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of dealing with the disfranchisement of the negro.

If there is any man in Pitt county who deserves and ought to have a season of rest and recuperation, it is Mr. A. L. Blow, Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of the county. He has held this position since 1883 and has always performed his duties well. The campaign just closed was about the hardest in the history of the county. Mr. Blow began work on it early in the year and opened headquarters in February. He tells us that the cost of the campaign in the county is approximately $400 and it closes without a cent unpaid. Besides the vast amount of literature distributed, he sent out hundreds of personal letters and did much personal work. He says further that the people of the county had more speaking and better speaking than any former campaign.

During the campaign Mr. Blow had to almost entirely neglect his personal business. A few days before the election he was taken sick, but by great effort kept at his post until election morning when he had to take his bed. He was literally worked down, but all are glad to see him out again.

Now THE REFLECTOR has a suggestion to make on its own responsibility. While it could not be regarded as a compensation for his services to the county and party, we believe it would be but a just recognition of what he has done for a popular purse to be made up and send him to Morehead a week or two to let him rest and recuperate. Many would no doubt be glad to join in this. Let the elected candidates and their friends start the matter, and all others interested give it a hand.

We have had a great victory and Mr. Blow was a large factor in bringing it about.

North Carolina's Election.

Below we give a comment of a number of leading papers in other States upon the recent election in North Carolina. A reading of these will show that out of all classes—Democratic, Populist and Republican—the New York World, claiming to be Democratic, is the only paper that throws an insult at our State.

New Orleans Picayune (Dem.): It is important to note that the educated and intelligent negroes voted for the constitutional amendment which disfranchises the ignorant and thriftless of their race.

Louisville Courier-Journal (Democrat): One of the pleasing prospects to be looked forward to from the North Carolina election is the succession of a Democrat to the seat in the senate occupied by little Marion Butler.

Augusta Tribune (Populist): Hon. Marion Butler got it in the neck heavy, and he is now wondering where he is at, or where he might have been if he had not listened to the seductive voice of Chairman J. K. Jones and old Senator Stewart.

Chicago Times-Herald (Rep.): It may be safely assumed that the amendment will be rigorously carried out. The ultimate consequences of its enforcement will be the degradation of the white voter and the development of a desire on the part of the negro for education which the state cannot ignore and the Democrats cannot repress.

Columbia State (Dem.): Now that the negro is to be eliminated from the problem the Populists and white Republicans of the state will probably fuse, and in time they will be joined by a growing element now nominally Democratic, but at heart for the Republican policies. With the negro out of the way North Carolina will again become debatable ground.

Nashville American (Democrat): We congratulate the people of North Carolina on their great victory. We doubted the wisdom of the "grandfather's clause" of the constitutional amendment, but, as we have said before, the people of North Carolina know their business and understand the management of their own affairs better than any one else.

New York World (Dem.): In so far as it permits white illiterates to vote, the amendment is as frank a violation of the federal constitution as the methods of intimidation and violence by which it was carried were a frank violation of the usage of civilization. The benefit of the amendment is that it will exclude a great mass of wholly unfit illiterates from the polls. The evil is that it is a monument to violation of law and justice.

Birmingham News (Dem.): With Butler but a memory and Pritchard laid on the shelf two years hence, as he surely will be, North Carolina will be prepared to resume the proud place which it held in the sisterhood of Southern states when Vance and Ransom were its representatives in the United States senate, and men like Fowle and Carr sat in the gubernatorial chair and white rule held sway. The Democrats of the Tar Heel State did a splendid day's work.

Memphis Commercial-Appeal (Democratic): With restoration of Democratic supremacy should come a period of lustration and cleansing when the time-servers who have been smirking at and courting dominant Populism may be extirpated and only those grounded in the faith, those who have proven true and who have never wavered or made compromises, during the dark days, be permitted to full membership without probation. There are many who have preached Democracy and practiced Populism.

Baltimore Sun (Dem.): There is no disposition in North Carolina to treat the negro unkindly. His best friends in that State are among the most ardent advocates of the amendment adopted yesterday. He will be educated and cared for in the future, as in the past, by those who voted to disfranchise the illiterate of his race.

Philadelphia Times (Independent Democrat): Thus South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana and North Carolina have simply followed in the footsteps of the Republican national leaders, who first made the experiment of indiscriminate negro suffrage and who were compelled to make the first experiment absolutely revoking the franchise by placing the District of Columbia under a government entirely removed from the power of the people. It is simply the inevitable that has come to North Carolina, and that it has come in violence and lawlessness only proves how supreme was the necessity for eliminating the race issue in North Carolina.

Richmond Times (Dem.): Once more we ask what good things has Mr. Butler accomplished, either for himself or for his state? He has gained notoriety enough to satisfy any politician's ambition, and he has gained position, but he is today the most cordially hated man in his state, if not in any state of the Union. The great body of North Carolinians despise him and hold him in contempt, and there is such rejoicing as has rarely been known in the old North State that Marion Butler has been defeated and retired. Marion Butler has a "talent for turbulence," and he has employed it against his own kith and kin. He has succeeded in making strife in his native state, he is responsible largely for the race troubles that have existed, and the blood of black men who trusted him is upon his hands. He arrayed race against race, and even brother against brother, and he aroused the Red Shirts of the state to the fighting point. He tried, what other shrewd politicians tried in this Southern state and that, to organize the negroes and through them to govern the whites. He succeeded for a time as his predecessors in other states succeeded for a time, but the day of his triumph was short and the punishment was sure. Let others who would attempt this damnable thing take warning from the rise and fall of Marion Butler.

New York Commercial Advertiser (Republican): The certain discouraging fact is that nearly all local public opinion of a quality that would be taken into serious account in the North supports negro disfranchisement, openly or tacitly, without regard to party. This becomes more evident as the issue flows over into border states, where negroes are fewer and Republicans more numerous. This practical race unanimity is assurance that neither federal legislation nor judicial decisions will check the spread of negro disfranchisement into every state where the negroes are a political factor. Then the question of basis of representation will become a burning one.

Norfolk Landmark (Democrat): This restriction of the franchise in North Carolina will do the negro good as well as the white man. All who are familiar with the history of the past decade in that State know very well that the colored voter has not voluntarily made himself obnoxious, but that he has been a tool in the hands of designing politicians who played the iniquitous game of fusion to get the government of the State away from those who had the State's interests at heart. The colored vote was the stiletto with which these schemers wounded the Commonwealth. In itself, the stiletto was not very dangerous. It was the force that wielded it that was to blame.

The adoption of the amendment will prove beneficial to North Carolina in more than a political way. With the friction between the races reduced to a minimum and white supremacy assured, the material development of the state will be greatly promoted.

Richmond Dispatch (Democrat): The result, when the franchise amendment eliminating the negro vote adopted, and the state Democratic ticket returned, and when the party secured an overwhelming preponderance of the members of both branches of the legislature—and all by a majority of upwards of 50,000—was but the sequel to the Wilmington revolution of 1898. We say revolution, for that demonstration was nothing else. It was not a riot or a sporadic uprising on the part of the whites, as it has been frequently and loosely misnamed. It was armed protest against a tyranny worse than the tyranny of kings and princes.

Chicago's postmaster is very proud of the "tremendous" business done by his office. The total for July was $476,940.80, an increase of $100,748.78 over 1898, and of $55,338.46 over last year.

There will be 1522 polling places in the Greater New York this year. There are 1583 in Nebraska and 1513 in North Carolina.

An American young lady, a missionary in China, writing to her brother in this country in June, said: "The Chinese idea of war is to kill and torture women and children, burn property and murder pianos, organs and other monstrosities."

Reflections of a Bachelor

It's a rare love that has no waning.

Probably if women knew what a rare delight it is for a man to be able to respect them, more of them would try to win men's respect.

The average woman would rather have you to tell her you love the way her hair looks than to have you admire her for a noble deed.

About the keenest pleasure any woman can know is the wretched trick of taking a man away from her friend just to make her miserable.

Saved by a Bird Dog

Durham, Aug. 6.—At an early hour yesterday morning the home of Mr. W. E. Turner, in the northern part of the city, was burned to the ground and the family, consisting father and three sons, had a narrow escape from being burned to death. A bird dog gave the alarm and woke Mr. Turner after a portion of the roof had fallen in.

Thieves entered the store of Mr. J. O. Highsmith last Friday night by forcing a rear window. About thirty pounds of meat and a small quantity of flour were the only articles missed from the stock.—Mt. Olive Advertiser.

The ideal lover to the practical girl is one who is rich.

It's funny that the heaviest drinkers live in the temperate zone.

One of the greatest pleasures of the poor is to criticize the pleasures of the rich.

One Eighth Enough.

Two citizens have told THE RE-FLECTOR they are ready to make a contribution, (the two amounting to $3) to build the band stand for the Osceola Band. It will not take many more liberal as that to make enough. The stand could probably be built at a cost not exceeding $25. If a few more will subscribe we will print the list of names. You get pleasure as well as help the band by building the stand.

Wrong Twice

It is not often that we get wrong twice in one short paragraph, but that seemed to be our luck Tuesday. Here is what we said:

"Mrs. S. A. Charlotte has purchased from Mr. J. B. Cherry the house and lot known as the Pearce property, corner of Pitt and Second streets."

Where the two errors come in is,
first, the house has not been sold.
Second, the house and lot are not
Mr. Cherry's but belong to Mrs.
Cherry.

Mr. G. B. Hugnes Dead.

A telegram received here early this morning announced the death of Mr. George B. Hughes, at Chase City, Va., Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Mr. Hughes was a to-baccoist in Greenville two years and partner with Mr. O. L. Joyner at the Farmers warehouse. He married Miss Willie Ficker while living here. Last winter he moved to Danville.

George Hughes was a great favorite in Greenville, and there are many here who feel deeply saddened at his death. A tribute from one who knew him will appear in this issue.

No. Maundy Thursday a condition is not confined to the human new.

would be chronic murderers.
