RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

HALL OF COVENANT LODGE No. 17 I. O. O. F.

GREENVILLE N. C. Aug. 14, 1900.

BRETHREN:—Once more we are called on to "weep with those that weep," this time one who bid fair to live long and continue to be a useful man in the affairs of this life. Truly have we seen one in the strength of young manhood cut down and wither as the rose, teaching us that all that is born must die. But we thank God that Odd Fellowship teaches us that we can look through the tomb and see the mortal take on immortality; it also answers the question "if a man die shall he live again?" Therefore be it resolved:

1. That we extend to the wife and family of Bro. G. B. Hughes our deepest sympathy in this sad hour. We can only direct her and them to the One who is too wise to err and too good to be unkind. He has promised to be husband to the widow.

2. That a copy of these resolutions be spread over our minutes and a copy sent to the family of our Bro. Hughes, and to the orphans Home and REFLECTOR for publication.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., August 15
The A. G. Cox Mfg. Co's. Tar Heel, tough, thorough, complete wagons and carts have grown so rapidly in popular favor that the demand for them far exceeds the capacity of the company to fill the orders as they come in. No wonder! For there are numbers of them that have been in constant service for 30 years. They are of good material, good work and honestly put together. Therefore they sell.

Our Mr. Bryar on a short trip last week brought in orders for from 35,000 to 50,000 cigars. The force in the factory are kept busy early and late.

Below you will find a clipping from The Sewanee Daily Purple, published at the University of Tennessee. Read what it says about a Pitt county boy. The young man referred to is a son of the late Calvin Cox, Esq., and we take it is destined to make his mark way up in the world.

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

A most spirited and interesting contest was held last evening in Convocation Hall, for the Louisiana medal, for oratory Bishop Sessums presided, and his graceful and entertaining presence contributed not a little to the pleasure and success of the occasion.

After making the opening address, he introduced Mr. William Edward Cox, of Pi Omega, as first speaker. "Church and State" was his subject, and he delivered his well-written oration with earnestness and dignity. His delivery was powerful, graceful, and controlled, and was in complete accord with his theme.

Bishop Johnston was then presented to the audience, and announced that Mr. Cox, of Pi Omega, had won. He made a very happy speech of presentation, after which the meeting was dismissed with appropriate words by Bishop Sessums.

The date set for holding the meeting of the North Carolina Press Association at Hendersonville was Aug. 22nd and 23rd, next week. A telegram from Secretary J. B. Sherrill announces that as Hendersonville is at present overrun with visitors it will be necessary to postpone the convention two or three weeks.

Said a leading business man to THE REFLECTOR, "you have talked and agitated knitting mill and hotel until they are a certainty. What will you work for next?" We told him that the cotton mill is the next enterprise that ought to be secured. He agreed that this was so, but expressed the fear that the people of the community had lost interest in it and that it would take a long time to arouse them to the requirements for such an enterprise.

Speaking about other things the town sorely needs he said water, electric lights and a graded school were almost necessities, and he would be willing to see the town issue bonds, say to the amount of $50,000, to secure them.

It is not a secret that THE REFLECTOR heartily concurs in the suggestion made by this business man. Greenville is not going to be much of a town until it gets some of these modern advantages that nearly every town of any consequence is enjoying. This town has labored against more odds and more old fogyism than any town its size in the State. There are those here who held up their hands in horror at the mention of bonds or municipal debt, but until the town takes a move in that direction it will have to do without modern improvements and conveniences.

With the streets ankle deep in sand, not enough water to put out a brush heap fire, and a few smoky lamps for street lights, the town presents an inviting field for investment.

It is time we were waking up on matters of this kind and not be dragging along half a century behind everywhere else.

Bryan's Boy Saved By Gen Wheeler

Chicago, Ill., August 13.—General Joseph Wheeler, commander of the Department of the Lakes, today saved the life of William J. Bryan, Jr., the 12-year old son of the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. The lad visited General Wheeler and the latter, after his first greeting turned to his work and allowed the youngster to amuse himself as best he might. Young Bryan found a loose chair caster and a big bundle of rubber bands. These he tied into a long string and then securing the castor to the bottom went to a window and began bouncing the piece of iron up and down on the sidewalk seventy feet below.

The General being engrossed with his labors, paid no attention to the boy, who gradually became so interested in his play that he leaned farther and farther out of the window. "Fighting Joe" happened to glance up a few moments later and was horrified to see the lad hanging with his whole body over the sidewalk, and only the toes of his shoes clutched the angle of the window. He sat agast for a moment and then rushed to the window he pulled the lad in by his legs and landed him safely on the floor.

Speaking of the occurrence afterward General Wheeler acknowledged that young Bryan was within an inch of being dashed to death on the pavement below when he caught sight of him.

Big Family on $1.30 a Day

Monroe Falls, O., Special to Chicago Record.

To have 20 children to support is enough to make the strongest man faint at heart, but to do so upon $1.30 a day and even less seems an impossibility. Such has been the problem with which Henry Moore, of this place, has been confronted and has solved. Death has cut the number down to 16 living children.

Mrs. Moore gives the following chronological list of her offspring: Norah, 23; Bertha, 21; Lucy, 20; John, 19; Harry, 17; Delia, 15; Hazell, 13; Maud, 14; Deffany, 12 (dead); Austin, 8; Roger, 5; Evelene, 4; Russell, 3; Chester, 1 (dead), and the baby boy two weeks old. The family, not being large enough, a little one named Bernice, aged 3, was adopted. Nora was married two weeks ago and Bertha is in Akron. Mr. Moore says:

"Yes I have found it a little close to bring up a family on $1.30 per day, and even $1.20, but I managed it. I go to Akron and buy my corn and flour by the wholesale. It takes a snug sum to shoe my family, and the last merchant I purchased of threw in shoe buttoner. But things are getting easier. My boy gets nearly as much as I do, and two girls work here, too. Every one in the family is insured, and when Chester died in March enough came to the family to provide a proper funeral."

The Treasury statement to the end of July last shows that the interest-bearing debt of the United States at that time was $1,021,125,160.

Her Dress Lined With Money.

In the Harlem court yesterday Augustina Levin, a wretchedly clad woman about 32 years old, was sentenced to three months on Blackwell's Island for vagrancy, Policeman Woolsey, of the East Sixty-seventh street station, reported to the magistrates that he had found her sitting on a doorstep in Seventy-third street between First and Second avenues. The woman became sick before it was time for her to be taken to the island, and it was decided to send her to Bellevue Hospital. On her arrival at the hospital she refused to have her clothing removed. Several nurses had to hold her while she was undressed. To their surprise they found that her clothes were lined with paper currency. The bills were sewed to her garments with neatness. There were two $10 bills, two $5 bills and 910 $1 bills.

There was also $10.40 in coins sewed into her pockets, making $950.40 in all. The woman refused to tell anything about herself. She said she had no home and no friends.—New York Sun.

Merited Praise.

The State press is paying some warm and merited tributes to Hon. F. M. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, for his tireless work and able management of the campaign which ended in such a blaze of glory for the Democracy of this State and for white supremacy. No man ever worked harder, more persistently, faithfully or zealously than he did from the day the campaign opened until the result was announced, and the glorious victory won is in no small degree attributable to his watchful alertness and superb management, in organizing the lines and selecting the leaders. There are thousands who deserve praise for good and patriotic work, but there can be not too warm tribute paid, or too free recognition made of the eminent services rendered his people and the State by this tireless, able, matchless organizer and leader, whose record of valuable services has culminated in this grandest of victories.—Wilmington Star.

How It is Done in Delaware.

We are informed by the Wilmington (Del.) Evening that the new constitution provides that no person shall vote in that State unless he can read and write or was a qualified voter when the educational qualification went into effect last January. It will be seen at once that this Delaware suffrage restriction discriminates in favor of such illiterates who could vote last January in much the same manner in which the North Carolina restriction discriminates in favor of those

By a Statesman who will soon be Out of a Job, position as Party Czar or Leader. Has dealt with the Democratic, Republican and Populist parties, and is the inventor of a party arrangement called Fusion, by which elections may be carried without the aid of principles or platforms. Has had unlimited experience and is prepared to work for any party that will give him a fair to medium place. Has studied law three months and can tell whether a measure is constitutional at sight. Reasons for change, signator desires change of air and scene. The North Carolina Climate does not suit him. Address Marion Butler, care Yarborough House, Raleigh, N. C.—Charlotte News.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "There is, unfortunately, too much disposition in all parties to fool some of the people some of the time. Among the Republicans, however, there is a pretty general disposition to fool all the people all the time. They fail in this, of course but it is not for want of a willingness to deceive nor of strenuous efforts to that purpose." This statement of the disposition of politicians to fool the people deserves consideration. There are few of them who are not in this business, more or less. The surprise is that the people permit themselves to be deceived so often and so long. There is a saying, "If you fool me once it is your fault; if you fool me twice it is mine." The cure for this political credulity is in more reading and more thought. When each citizen comes to realize fully that there is an individual responsibility resting upon him as a voter to think out political problems for himself, in the light of all the facts upon them that he can obtain, instead of taking his opinions at second hands, the country will have better politics and the government be more representative of the sentiments of the governed.—Charlotte Observer.

One of the town horses gave out Tuesday and had to be taken off the street. The street sprinkler is very heavy for the horses on the kind of streets we have.

Mr. Joyner's Surprise.

Mr. Andrew Joyner, the efficient chairman of the Forsyth County Democratic Executive Committee, was tendered a genuine, but pleasant surprise last night.

About 8:30 a number of his Democratic friends visited his office and presented him with a handsome solid silver salad dish and spoon—(both lined with gold) as a token of the party's appreciation of the splendid and successful service rendered by him during the recent campaign.

The presentation speech was happily made by Mr. Clemert E. Anly. In his response, Mr. Joyner acknowledged the surprise, but assured his friends that the beautiful gift was duly appreciated.

It is admitted by every Democrat that the party has never had a more faithful, energetic or systematic manager in this county than Mr. Joyner. Many Republicans have said as much since the election.—Western Sentinel.

First In War.

Where the fighting is hottest there you may count on finding a North Carolinian, whether on his native heath or in the land of the almond eyed heathen thousands of miles away. The record made by the North Carolinians in the war between the States is known of all men. It has never been surpassed in the world's history, and what is more, it never will be surpassed. When the Spanish-American war came on North Carolinians quickly went to the front, and it was a North Carolina boy who was first among the officers to lose his life in that conflict. The clash of arms is heard in China and thence around the world, and among the first to be wounded is a North Carolinian—Capt. Lemley of the marine corps—whose part in the fight at Tien Tsin was told in the Citizen's Associated Press dispatches Monday. The Old North State—"Heaven's blessings attend her!"—is represented wherever the sun shines upon the white man, and her sons are ever ready to respond to the call duty. Calm and conservative in peace, she is terrible in war, and her sons have the same qualities "bred in the bone."—Asheville Citizen.

It is a dull subject upon which Mr. Edward Atkinson, of Boston, cannot furnish a few statistics, generally of an alarming character. He has addressed himself lately to the subject of potash, of which he finds the world's supply growing short, there being in sight only enough to last some 3,000 years. His figures and findings are alarming, if true.—Charlotte Observer.
