STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

The grand encampment, I. O. O. F. of this State, met at Wilmington Wednesday in annual session. There was a two days session.

At his home near Wakefield about 20 miles from Raleigh, Roscher P. Chamblee committed suicide Sunday by shooting himself through the head. The deed was caused by ill health and the depression arising from intense suffering. He was a graduate of Wake Forest college, was 35 years of age, and had bright prospects in life until the hand of disease was laid upon him.

William Allen, a Confederate veteran, died in Davie county Tuesday. His death was caused by a kick in the head from a mule. Allen was 95 years old; had owned the mule 15 years, and it is said this was the first time the animal ever attempted to kick him.

A white man was arraigned before the courts at Monroe Saturday for beating a negro. The negro had cursed him for voting for the amendment. He submitted to an assault and was taxed with the costs. In fifteen minutes several Democrats chipped in and paid the costs, so the defendant was out nothing.

The Great Eastern Railway is really under headway. Mr. John E. Dail, of Snow Hill, informs us that several hundred hands are at work on the road, and this year will see Snow Hill in touch with the world. Greene county has long wanted a railroad, and has stood many disappointments, so there is much rejoicing throughout the entire county now that the road is assured.—Kinston Free Press.

Improving the Service.

F. C. Toepelman, of Henderson, General Manager of the Carolina and Virginia Telephone Co., is here looking after making some improvements in the telephone system here. A new switch board will be put in at the central office as the one now in use is too small for the number of subscribers.

Without Fraudulent Intent,

Goldsboro, N. C., August 15. The case against W. H. Taylor and J. M. Murchison, two prominent citizens of LaGrange for using the United State mails for fraudulent purpose was tried here today before United States Commissioner Hugh Humphrey. After hearing all the evidence which showed they had formed themselves into an association for the purpose of trying to secure employment with cotton dealers for any one paying five dollars fee, the commissioner dismissed the case without argument, stating that there was not any evidence tending to implicate them with any fraudulent intent.

District Attorney C. M. Bernard, represented the Government, and Governor Chas. B. Aycock and Hons. F. A. Daniels and W. C. Munroe, represented the defendants. The demeanor of Messrs. Murchison and Taylor impressed all present with their innocence.

Verily the country must be turning around. It used to be, if the Northern papers were taken for information, that lynchings and mob violence occurred only in the South, and those same papers would vilify this section at every opportunity. But what do we see now? Why in the great city of New York, where they hold up their hands in holy horror at things happening in the South, something like this has occurred: A policeman was stabbed by a negro and the officer died. A mob of fifteen hundred or more white people formed in the vicinity of the dead policeman's home and indiscriminately attached every negro they could find. They were not satisfied at dealing with the murderer, but used violence towards every innocent negro who happened to come in their way. And even women joined in the cry "kill the negroes." It took four hundred policeman to check the mob. Now if those Northern papers have any decency they will stop lying on the South and go to washing their own dirty linen.

How It May Be Settled.

Many of the State papers are discussing the question of the race issue in the national campaign. It is very evident that the people of North Carolina do not wish negroes in office. They have spoken very emphatically on this subject in their home affairs. It seems to us that the question will very readily settle itself, without further discussion, if the people who voted for the amendment will vote for Col. Bryan, then there will be no need for another heated discussion on the negro question.—Durham Sun.

A crying need—a handkerchief.

The Worst in Ten Years.

The Crop Bulletin for the week ending Monday, August 13, 1900, says: With an experience of over ten years the author of the Crop Bulletin of the North Carolina Section does not remember conditions more unfortunate for agricultural interests than those prevailing throughout North Carolina since August 1, 1900. The weather during the week ending Monday, August 13th, is characterized by severe drought and intense heat. The maximum temperatures ranged from 90 degrees near the east coast and in the mountain regions to over 100 degrees in the central section and Piedmont Plateau, while the daily means have averaged nearly eight degrees above normal. The sunshine has been almost uninterrupted, and there was practically an entire absence of precipitation during the week the light showers reported August 11th being quite insignificant. The effect of the prolonged and severe drought has been very unfortunate; crops generally have deteriorated rapidly and all vegetation has been parched by the withering heat. The leaves of young deciduous trees have turned yellow, and the foliage of the forests looks dull and sickly from the accumulated dust. Crops have suffered more because the previous drought in July lessened their vitality and drought resisting power. Farm work has been suspended; stubble land is too hard to plow; the second crop of Irish potatoes cannot be planted nor turnip seed sown, since the absence of moisture prevents all growth.

Even cotton is unable to withstand the drought much longer. Late cotton that was plowed early in August is still doing fairly well and is heavily fruited, but older cotton is failing rapidly; leaves are turning yellow, forms are shedding, and bolls drying up or opening prematurely. Old corn has been practically ruined, many fields are completely dried from the tassels to the ground, and a small yield only can be obtained from early matured ears. Young corn will also be a failure without rain very soon; much of it will not silk as growth has ceased; only crops on low or rich lands with abundant humus to retain moisture are still good. Tobacco is drying up near the bottom and ripened too rapidly; curing is progressing with only fair results; as a small crop was planted the yield will be short. Minor crops, especially peanuts, rice, and sweet potatoes have deteriorated considerably. Pea vines and pastures have dried up. Fruit and mellons are very abundant and a fine crop of grapes is expected. Shallow wells and streams have become dry and stock is suffering in some places.

An Operators Mistake

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 15.—The most terrible wreck in the history of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad occurred about 5 o'clock to-day at Pierson, 29 miles north of Grand Rapids. The north bound Northland Express collided head on with passenger train No. 2. Seven lives were lost, and many passengers were injured, one fatally. Both engines and the baggage cars were completely demolished. When the trains met day was just dawning and the fog was so thick that the engineers could not see more than 100 yards ahead. The accident was due to the error of an operator, who wrongly reported that one of the trains had not passed his station, thus misleading the train dispatcher into giving the orders which brought about the collision.

Paddling 3,000 Miles.

Somewhere down along the Atlantic coast is a big birch bark canoe. It is occupied and paddled by two Indian chiefs. The leader is old Big Thunder, head chief of the Penobscot tribe, who owns Old Town Island in Maine. Big Thunder is nearly 80 years old, but he is still a giant in stature and in strength. Early this spring the old chief made up his mind that before he died he would like to visit the Great White Father at his big wigwam in Washington. Accordingly, a huge birch canoe was built for the trip, and several weeks ago Big Thunder, whose other name is Frank Loring, and a minor chief, Peter Nicola, started down the Penobscot river to the sea. From the mouth of the river they intend to paddle down the coast to the Potomac and thence up to Washington. The trip they have undertaken is a trifle over 3,000 miles long, and they intend to take their time about it. The canoe has already been sold to a man in Washington, who will pay the Indians $1,000 for it, with the idea of presenting it to the Smithsonian Institute. The two Indians will live on the fish they may be able to catch on the way, and both expect to pay their respects to President McKinley in the White House.

Big Fire at Windsor.

Windsor, N. C., (Via Ahsokie, N. C.) August 15.—A disastrous fire consumed fifteen buildings here last night. It originated in Goldstein's clothing store, on Granville street. The spread of the fire was then rapid, and in one hour all of the buildings were burned. The loss is about twelve thousand dollars.

Splendid work by white and black saved the town. There was some insurance. The cause of the fire was unknown. It originated on the inside of the store.

The most successful merchants of any city are those who use advertising space in the daily newspapers. There may be exceptions but they are not one in a hundred.—Wilmington (Del.) Every Evening.

The hotel "with home comforts" is common enough; a hotel "without home discomforts" would make a hit.

There are predictions that the next Legislature will be called upon to elect two United States Senators—one to fill Butler's place and one to fill Pritchard's unexpired term. The latter contingency is conditioned upon Pritchard's resignation to accept the Federal judgeship now held by Boyd, whose appointment is said to be temporary. We are of the opinion that Pritchard's resignation will depend whether or not McKinley is re-elected. We have an idea that Pritchard is looking to a soft, lifetime place from McKinley and if the latter is defeated he will accept such a place and resign the Senatorship before McKinley goes out. Otherwise, we think Pritchard will hold on to the Senatorship until the end of his term.—Winston Sentinel.

Originality in "Adds."

The art of advertising has a few fixed rules. People read "ads" not for amusement, but to secure information; and the man who has a house, a medicine or any kind of merchandise or services to offer to the public does the most essential thing when he says so simply, directly and persistently. Still, there is always room for originality, and if he have a new idea as to how to display and arrange his announcements so as to arrest people's attention and make an enduring impression he is bound to profit thereby. New ideas in advertising will be in demand so long as they shall not violate the rules of simplicity and lucidity.—Philadelphia Record.
