OUR RALEIGH LETTER

Craig Law Held Unconstitutional.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH N. C., Sept. 18.

U. S. Judge Purnell has decided the "Craig law," regarding the domestication of all "foreign" (non-resident) corporations doing business in North Carolina, so that they shall submit to the trial of a fact which will practically make it inoperative hereafter.

The South Carolina Supreme Court, a month ago declared the same law in that State to be unconstitutional—the North Carolina law having been modeled on the South Carolina law, being almost an identical copy, except that "insurance" and other companies were incorporated in the North Carolina bill. The effect of this latter provision has been to deprive the State of North Carolina of thousands of dollars of revenue annually derived from a number of the leading companies—enough each year to pay the salaries of every State official having offices in the capitol building—while the State gains nothing in return, the regular insurance law (known as the companies and the protection of the insured and the insurable public.

Several of the best and most conservative insurance companies withdrew from the State on account of the Craig law, and I am told that these companies paid in taxes to the State about $15,000 annually, which now is diverted elsewhere. It is understood that the Insurance Commissioner of the State will recommend to the Legislature a modification of the Craig law, by which all insurance companies will be placed under the control and supervision of the Insurance Department of the State, where they rightly belong, with a provision that it may immediately revoke the license of any company operating in the State, if it comes to his knowledge that it is attempting to defraud or cheat the people of North Carolina, either by the removal of causes or otherwise. The insurance people claim that the law is unnecessary so far as it applies to insurance companies, as the companies seldom have any law suits of any kind and whenever they do they always submit to the State Courts. They claim that they are not opposed to the object of the Craig law, and they do not believe the law was intended to unjustly discriminate against them but the companies don't understand what is involved in the term "becoming domestic companies."

They say that it is a novelty in the way of the insurance legislation and may be more far reaching than to prevent the removal of causes. Some of the most conservative companies viewing it in this light though it best to retire from the State until the law could be construed properly by the Courts. The legislature, in view of the decisions mentioned above, will next winter probably take such action in the premises as is best for all concerned.

LLEWXAM.

At Galveston.

The latest conservative estimate places the loss of life in and about Galveston, which was struck by a terrific hurricane a week ago, at the enormous figure of 8,000.

The property loss will reach a total of more than $15,000,000.

Reports coming in from outlying districts tell awful stories and many bodies are yet unburied.

Fear of pestilence has subsided, but conditions are still serious.

Relief in form of money and all kinds of supplies is at hand and the injured and sick are well cared for.

Small towns near Galveston need immediate relief and efforts are being made to reach them.

Hope is coming to relieve despair, and the sanguine residents are dreaming that a new Galveston will arise from the ruins of the old.

Unremunerative Trains.

The Railroad World asserts that American railroads, as a rule, get no profit on their passenger business. "Every railway," it says, in order to furnish a reasonable accommodation to the public, must run a great many of its passenger trains with too few passengers to pay the actual train expenses. It must make enough profit on its better patronized trails to make up for this loss and leave a margin of profit besides, else its passenger traffic cannot be said to be on a satisfactory basis. Taking the United States as a whole, only a little over one-fifth of the total earnings of railroads are derived from the passenger traffic. A large proportion of American railway lines are conducting their passenger traffic at a loss, while others are merely paying expenses and deriving no profit proportionate to the investment and the volume of business done." With regard to the roads in our own section, we have heard it said that the Seaboard conducts its passenger business at a heavy loss and that that of the Southern barely pays expenses. If this is true as to the latter, then its branch lines must be poorly patronized, for surely the passenger business of the main line must be tremendously profitable, since nearly all of its trains run crowded. We do not know how it is, but it is noticeable that when a railroad adds a new train, to accommodate increased business it rarely ever takes it off. But there are many things about the business that seem odd to a layman—for instance that a railroad company should pay the Pullman Company for the privilege of hauling its cars, instead of the Pullman paying the railroad company for this service.—Charlotte Observer.

HORTICULTURAL, GRAPHIC ARTS, FORESTRY AND MINES BUILDINGS AT BUFFALO.

Copyright, 1900, by the Pan-American Exposition Co.

At the Pan-American Exposition, which is to be held in Buffalo from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901, the Horticultural building, 220 feet square, is flanked on the south by the Forestry and Mines and on the north by the Graphic Arts buildings, each 150 feet square. The whole group is connected by arcades, forming a semicircular court, in which will stand the "Fountain of the Seasons." The Horticultural building will be about 240 feet high. The Graphic Arts and Forestry and Mines buildings are companion structures of the same size and style, having four corner towers. Two colored compositions above the eastern entrance of the Horticultural building will represent Ceres, goddess of the harvest, in a chariot drawn by three lions, led by Flora and Primavera.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17.—

Ohio democrats in Washington held a meeting Saturday night for the purpose of talking over the situation among themselves. No reporters were present, and no person was allowed to attend who was not a voter in Ohio, and whose democracy was not unquestioned.

Those who attended the conference of democratic leaders in New York, several days ago, say it was the most important meeting of democrats held during the campaign, and that its effects, already beginning to be felt, will be far-reaching.

Boss Hanna is frightened about Ohio. That is the alarming news whispered in inner Republican circles. That is why Mr. McKinley is now at Canton, instead of being in the White House.

Train on the Scotland Neck Branch Road leaves Weldon 3 55 p. m., Halifax 4 17 p. m., arrives Scotland Neck at 5 08 p. m., Greenville 6 07 p. m., Kinston 7 55 p. m. Returning leaves Kinston 7 50 a. m., Greenville 8 52 a. m., arriving Halifax at 11 18 a. m., Weldon 11 33 a. m., daily except Sunday.

There is a clash between the administration and Minister Conger. The latter has dared to telegraph to Washington that Mr. McKinley allowed himself to be gold-bricked when he ordered the American flag hoisted over Li Hung Chang, long known as the creature of Russia, while he is in Pekin for the purpose of negotiating terms of settlement with the powers.

ister in Washington, who is one of Li Hung Chang's most devoted followers, has had more influence with Mr. McKinley than the American Minister in Pekin. The sequel may show why.

SCHOOL BEGINS.

Wow! Ten million "wows!" Or more, Rise o'er the land. Oh youngstess, You're up against it, sure; You know the gall Of government Without the consent of the governed, And we tender you Our earnest sympathy. September is a slob, That's what it is, Or it would never loose the key To lock the fetters on your limbs And give your brains A chance to boom. What's brains to you When all you want is room and time To let your bodies have full sway? The grown-up [folks may feel the need Of books and brains— Your work and world and wisdom Call for different stuff. If it were so That two times two were hopscotch, And two into eight went fishing, Or do g spelled "I spy," Or geography were a description of the Earth's swimming holes, Or grammar were the study of the parts Of a boat, How much more gladly would you seek True wisdom In the schoolhouse walls, Or if the young idea were taught to shoot With a shotgun, How silently you'd "wow" When sad September Shoved you into school. The grown folks ought to go to school Because they do not like to play, And you, who do, Should be let run Until you, too, have grown beyond The playing age To find the need Of what is taught in school—] Ain't that so?

Rocky Mount, N. C., Sept. 15.—Governor Jarvis spoke to a large audience in the opera house here last night. The speech was a very strong one, and aroused considerable enthusiasm.

The main part of the speech was confined to a discussion of the dangers arising from trusts and the aggregation of corporate wealth. The tendency of the present administration towards imperialism and the subversion of the first principles of our government that was involved in it was effectively pointed out. The Governor was in fine form and measured fully up to his reputation as a vote-making, logical speaker.
