WHY BRIGHTS ARE LOW.

Correspondence Between a Prominent Tobacco Grower and the Vice-President of the American Tobacco Company.

There has been considerable discussion relative to the low prices of bright tobacco, especially of that class known as "cutters," or cigarette tobaccos. We know of no two gentlemen better qualified to handle this subject than those whose signatures are attached to the following letters:

Greenville, N. C., Aug. 29, 1900
Mr. J. B. Cobb,

New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—Since 1891 I have been connected with the warehouse business on this market. At that time tobacco was selling at prices sufficiently remunerative to encourage our people to extend its cultivation which was done at an amazing ratio. At that time, also, cotton, which prior to the introduction of tobacco had formed the principal money crop of the farmers, was selling, and continued to sell for a number of years thereafter lower than ever before, and this of course stimulated tobacco culture as nothing else could. But, mind, you, our people principally, the price of tobacco and cotton being the same, had much preferred to grow cotton, as they understood cotton culture and it was much less laborious. As time went on with the increased production of tobacco the price of this product has declined, and the short cotton crop of last year caused the price to advance and contrary to the predictions of many wisecracks last spring the tobacco crop in eastern North Carolina in particular, was reduced in acreage not less than 25 per cent. and it is very probable 33 1/2 per cent. On account of extreme seasons I am firmly convinced that the condition of the crop is not more than 75 per cent. as compared with last year. I have gained this information from actual observation and from most reliable information from my section of the east. As one who has spent his time and a very liberal share of his meager substance for the upholding and development of the tobacco industry here, I write to you as one of the heads of the largest tobacco concerns in the world, to ask your views of the situation as regards the prospect for better prices. I know this, sir, that with the present prices of the better grades prevailing throughout this season, with cutters selling at a fair and prospects for even better prices, there will not be enough tobacco planted in eastern North Carolina next year, if it were all sold on the Greenville market, to give the warehousemen a good year's work. There are hundreds of idle barns standing now in the fields of Eastern North Carolina, and with the condition as above outlined in force throughout the season, when the next season comes around there will be thousands of them standing as sad reminders of a past dream. I have written you not because I think your company any more responsible than many other factors but because I know you are a broad gauge business man, and a North Carolinian, and I trust you will regard my letter as seeking information on a subject in which we are virtually interested. With best wishes, I am yours truly,

O. L. JOYNER.

New York, Sept. 7, 1900.

Mr. O. L. Joyner,
Greenville, N. C.

Dear sir.—I have received and carefully considered your letter of the 29th ultimo.

The price of leaf tobacco in Virginia and North Carolina has been closely observed by me for a number of years past. The low price at which it has sold since the fall of '96 is due in my judgment to a number of causes chief among them being over supply. The causes for this over supply are well set forth in your letter, and are due, as you say, to conversion of cotton farms into tobacco farms.

Along with this large supply of tobacco has come a largely decreased demand for this particular class of it which has been grown in Eastern North Carolina and South Carolina, and which is used for the manufacture of cigarettes. I need only cite you that the output of manufactured cigarettes in the United States during the past fiscal year was a little over 1,500,000 short of the output in 1899. This decrease in output of manufactured cigarettes is due mainly to discrimination against the cigarette itself on the part of Congress and the legislatures of the different States. Tobacco which is used to-day in the manufacture of cigarettes is taxed fifty cents per pound, whereas that used in plug and smoking tobacco is only twelve cents per pound, and that used in cigars taxed from twenty to thirty cents per pound, according to the size of the cigar. A majority of the Western and Southern States have inaugurated additional taxes on the sale of cigarettes, and this is also largely done in towns and cities in the West and South.

I believe there are more cigarettes consumed in the United States today than at any time in its history, but a large portion of them are made from granulated tobacco by the consumers themselves out of such tobacco as "Bull Durham," "Duke's Mixture" and "Cameo."

Among other causes which have contributed to lower prices may be mentioned the fact that consumers of tobacco have through experience that a ripe lug of ordinary color smokes just as well as a fine center, which sells at two or three times the price. A large quantity of bright tobacco is being exported annually for use in foreign countries, and if the supply be curtailed for two years, prices would in my judgement go to a point where the raising of tobacco would bring profit to the farmer. It would be of great benefit if the sections interested in raising bright tobacco would give more attention and make greater effort in the direction of having Congress impose no heavier tax upon leaf grown in say, North Carolina, and used in cigarettes, than it does on leaf grown in that same State and used in plug or smoking tobacco, or grown in Pennsylvania or Connecticut, and used in cigars.

You will pardon me for affirming in this connection that our company is earnestly desirous that the farmers shall make a profit upon the tobacco crop, and for two or three years past we have purchased more freely than was actually required, in an effort to maintain prices. We are carrying today over 100,000,000 pounds of leaf tobacco, whereas a fair supply would be, say 60,000,000 pounds.

Yours very truly,
J. B. COBB.

OUR NOMINEES

National Ticket.

For President:
 WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President:
 ADLAI E. STEVENSON, of Illinois.

For Presidential Elector, 1st Dist.
 CHARLES L. ABERNETHY, of Carteret.

For Congress, 1st Dist.,
 JOHN H. SMALL,
 of Beaufort.

Here it is getting right close to a Presidential election and there seems to be hardly enough interest to make it seem like a campaign at all. In this section all parties seem indifferent. There may be a change later.

No Walk Over.

It is clear that the Republicans no longer expect to have a walk-over in the presidential race. Their candidate finds himself very much handicapped by the strike of coal-miners in Pennsylvania. When the administration's stump-speakers get up and declaim about McKinley prosperity, and the "full dinner-pail," they tremble less the miners' strike should be "thrown up" at them.

That's a condition, not a theory, and it must be observed that the strike is in a boss-ridden Republican state, which has profited greatly by protection, and that the mine owners are, for the most part supporters of the administration, and are friends of McKinley, Hanna and Quay.

In dealing with this particular subject, the Republican orators must either confess that McKinley prosperity has not reached the coal regions, or else that the strikers have no grievances. There is no other course for them to pursue.

The Democrats are making a powerful fight in Indiana. Trusts and "combines," the latter especially, have thrown thousands of men in that State out of work, and the contemptuous manner in which Hanna has treated the subject has angered them greatly. If the vote were taken to-day, we believe Bryan and Stevenson would carry Indiana.

Illinois we regard as hopeful. Maryland is, too, but our friends there ought to make it certain.

One of the fiercest fights now going on is in West Virginia. While both sides claim that State, the Dispatch cannot but regard the Democrats' chance as the better. The Pennsylvania strike cannot help the Republicans; it may improve the prospects of the Democrats very much. Kentucky seems all right for our party. And in New York city and State the outlook appears to be improving steadily.

So we say McKinley and Roosevelt have no walk-over. That is admitted to be a fact, not only by numerous intelligent Republicans, but by many icily non-partisan, but selfishly calculating operators in Wall street. Thus, it may be that Dick Croker's $40,000, which he has put upon the election of Bryan, may bring him in $100,000.—Richmond Dispatch.

Violating Revenue Act.

State Treasurer Worth receives at frequent intervals letters from business men making inquiry as to what sewing machine companies have paid the $35 license tax imposed by section 26 of the revenue act of last Legislature. It seems that a small number of companies which manufacture machines and have not complied with the law in the matter of license to do business will at intervals consign machines to dealers and others in different parts of the State and the consignors probably ignorant of the fact that the company has no right to do business in North Carolina, will sell them and the violation of the law is not discovered until the agent of some duly licensed company calls at a home where one of the machines has been sold and reports the violation which they invariably do. For the information of the general public Mr. Worth has had prepared the following list of licensed companies and the dates on which their licenses expire.

White Sewing Machine Co., Cleveland, Ohio, February 23rd, 1901.

Singer Manufacturing Co., Richmond, Va., April 18th, 1901.

New Home Sewing Machine Co., Orange, Mass., June 4th, 1901.

Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Co., Atlanta, Ga., July 15th, 1901.

New Domestic Sewing Machine Co., Newark, N. J., July 1, 1901.

Illinois Sewing Machine Co., Rockford, Ill., January 23rd, 1901.

Standard Sewing Machine Co., Richmond, Va., April 18th, 1901.

Household Sewing Machine Co., Richmond, Va., January 6th, 1901.

W. B. Belknap & Co., Louisville Ky., August 18th, 1901.

The license of W. B. Belknap & Co., covers the "Eldredge," "New England Queen," "Dixie," "Olympia," "Blue Ribbon" and "Excelsior." The license of the New Home Sewing Machine Co., covers the "New Home," "The Climax," "The New Ideal," and "Natural Hand." The license of the Standard Sewing Machine Co. covers the "Standard," "Paragon," and "Norwood."—Raleigh Post.

Business Enterprise.

Enterprise is essential to success in any undertaking. The people recognize the fact that they will obtain the fullest satisfaction by dealing with the merchant, manufacturer, professional or other man who is known for the energy which he puts into his business. There is no other way by which evidence of enterprise can be given as well as by newspaper advertising.—Philadelphia Record.

Prospect of Paper Mill.

Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, chairman of the committee appointed to organize a campaign to operate a paper mill, has ascertained that it will require $50,000 to build the mill and that an additional $10,000 in running capital will be necessary. It will be remembered that when the matter was broached at the press convention Gen. Julian S. Carr offered to take stock to the amount of $10,000. The Wilmington Dispatch says a gentleman in Raleigh, whose name is withheld, has offered to subscribe $5,000. This gives already in sight one-fourth of the capital necessary, and Mr. Whitehead is in correspondence with parties in the north in hope of finding a northern paper manufacturer who will become interested in the enterprise. It would have the patronage of the North Carolina papers without the cost of soliciting and that would be a big business from the start.

To show the increase in the price of white paper since the organization we may state that it is a tax of $6.60 per day on the News and Observer alone. All other papers are taxed in proportion.—Raleigh News and Observer.

A 30-Ounce Mite.

The tiniest mite of humanity in New Jersey, perhaps, is the newborn baby, boy of Mrs. William Leighman, of Cedar Brook. Though a physically perfect child with fully developed power to emphasize its feelings in the way that babies do, this newcomer weighed two ounces less than two pounds when he was ushered into the world.

The usual preparation for the coming stranger had been made with motherly care but the mite disappeared entirely in the immaculate white slips in which the nurse enfolded him. An ordinary tea cup engulfed his tiny head, and his mother's wedding ring made him a bracelet which lay loose about his arm above the elbow. His tiny pink toes were like tea-berry, and his wondering, dark eyes like glistened glass beads.

The little fellow quickly developed a normal appetite and is flourishing, but his fond mother says she cannot realize that he is a real, live baby. Both parents are of the average size.—Philadelphia Record.

For Union of Farmers.

Christian Becker in Southern Farm Magazine, of Baltimore, for October says:

Let the farmers stand in with each other and take care of themselves first. Business would then turn toward them, cotton would never sell less than ten cents a pound, the merchants would not need half their clerks, and a great many people would have to leave the town and go to raising their own bread and meat on the farm. If the farmers would stay at home and board at the same place they would have no mortgage forced on them; they would owe nothing; they would sell what they have to spare when prices suited; they would no more be indirect slaves to the merchant and the cotton buyer and would be bosses of the world, instead of its slaves, as they are today. The world does not care how the farmer gets along just so the world gets all the farmers make for as small a price as possible. That is the nature of people. But if the farmers live at home they need not sell cotton to pay for their bread and meat.

The Young Man's Manners.

Society asks little of a young man except to behave well. If he is manly in looks, if he has a good manner, is civil to his elders, if he has any little gift of entertaining—any "parlor tricks"—if he sends a few flowers occasionally, looks pleasant and is polite, his way will be smooth to success—always providing that he is really a gentleman.

He never joins her on a thoroughfare unless the friendship be an established one and only with her permission—nor will he stand and converse with her.

It is provincial to walk "sandwiched" between two women, to stare, or look after any one who has passed.

In public conveyances a man does not pay a woman's fare unless he is her escort except in emergency, when he must ask if he may.

Introductions are rarely made in public places or conveyances.

A man precedes a woman when entering a theatre or public place. In a church the lady goes first. He may precede her up a public staircase, but in a private house in ascending and descending, he follows.

In picture-galleries, elevators in public buildings, hotel and theatre corridors, they being thoroughfares, a man retains his hat. In a hotel he removes it if women are present.

If a lady bows to a man in a restaurant he rises slightly from his seat in acknowledgment. When he is with a party, if a lady with her escort stops to speak to his friends he rises and remains standing until she passes on. He also rises if a man is introduced to him when with a stag party.

If a bachelor shows some little hospitality it advances him much in favor. If he has attractive rooms, or has anything to show, he may give an afternoon tea or a chaffing-dish supper. Simplicity is in order. A bachelor's entertainment is usually regarded in the light of a frolic and his efforts indugently considered.

A bachelor may live where he likes without loss of social position, if he belongs to one good club, which he may only use for the address on his cards and note paper.—October Ladies' Home Journal.

Former Governor Thomas J. Jarvis has made it a quartet for the United States senatorship race, his letter having been issued a few days ago. He is an able man and one who would look well to the interest of the people of North Carolina, if he were chosen to that position.—Asheville Citizen.

A STEP AT THE TIME.

Begin; With the Shorter Ones and They Get Longer.

Knights of Pythias meet tonight. Daughters of Rebekah meet tonight.

The sewer from the new hotel is being laid.

There was nothing cold about Thursday night.

Court will probably adjourn for the term this evening.

Vertical copy books 5 cents at Reflector Book Store.

Just received—a new lot of Sour Krout at J. S. Tunstall's.

S. M. Schultz's store will be closed on Wednesday Oct. 3rd, Holiday.

I have calls for Standard Sewing Machines. That's satisfaction, cheap, at S. M. Schultz.

Parker Fountain Pens recommend themselves. Best made. New supply at Reflector Book Store.

Horse shoeing by a first-class white workman, at W. O. Barnhill's shop on Dickinson avenue.

These four for Greenville—water, electric lights, better streets, graded school. Is anybody opposed to them?

Leave your laundry at J. S. Tunstall's store. Best work guaranteed. FRANK SKINNER. Agt. Wilmington Steam Laundry.

You do not lose your fountain pens and pencils when you wear one of those leather double pocket holders, sold at Reflector Book Store.

Lost Part of Finger.

Thursday while working about his printing press, Mr. H. T. King editor of King's Weekly, got his right hand caught in the press and lost the end of his middle finger.

Not Tried this Court.

The James murder trial is still going on at Greenville.—Southerner.

Mistake, brother. The trial has not been going on at all and will not be until January.

Notice.

A meeting of Pitt County Tobacco Association will be held in Greenville on Saturday, October 20th, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the State Tobacco Association to be held in Raleigh October 24th and 25th, 1900.

J. J. LAUGHINGHOUSE.

Light Infantry.

Capt C. T. Lipscomb had the Greenville Light Infantry out for drill again Thursday night. At every meeting the boys show more proficiency, and they expect to rank with the best drilled companies of the State.

The following non-commissioned officers have been appointed for the company:

Sergeants—1st, A. D. Johnston; 2nd, Paul Metrick; 3rd, J. R. Corey; 4th, S. M. Dauel; 5th, J. B. Jarvis.

Corporals—1st, Thomas Duke; 2nd, B. E. Patrick; 3rd, Edward Greene; 4th, C. E. Rountree; 5th, J. H. Cheek; 6th, E. H. Foley.

Baseball is in its last throes. A person may fall into money without hurting himself, even if it's hard cash.

The literary tramp probably refuses to cut wood because he dislikes hack work.

Some men don't realize that they need a rest until they come home from their vacations.

When a man takes too much rock and rye to break up a cold it's the rye that makes him feel rocky.

The woman who is continually giving her husband a piece of her mind is not conducive to his peace of mind.
