SEEN AND HEARD IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, N. C., Oct. 4th
Rebuilding a part of the burnt district has been commenced.

E. M. Short Lumber Co., Eureka Lumber Co., and Kugler Lumber Co. have started up, but the purchasers are not moving lumber on account of the congestion of their yards and should this continue for long it will necessitate another long period of shut down.

The surviving partner of A. S. Kelly & Co. has bought the stock, name and good will, and will continue the business.

The sheds on main street are to come down. Public opinion appears to be divided on the question. The order seems from one standpoint to be a good one, and from another it seems to be working a hardship.

Rumor has it that Mr. J. R. Bishop, of Bishops, and Miss Gradeless, of Pantego, were married on last Sunday, or that they will marry on the next, the 7th inst. Mr. Bishop is on the shady side of sixty, and she on the sunny side of 25. It is also reported that his son will marry her sister.

The Alleghany Co. have moved their store back from the street at Belhaven and the little "city by the sea" is taking on airs. Its growth is rapid and phenomenal. It is possible that another planing mill may go up at that place. Very many buildings are going up.

The Hyde Union of the Disciples church was held near Leechville on the 29th and 30th of September. Quite many were in attendance. T. L. and Leroy Satterthwaite, of Brunswick Ga, made their many friends glad by their visit to their old home. The preachers present at the Union were C. L. Davis, H. S. Davenport, W. Davis, Greene, A. Latham and Smith from Baltimore, Md. The next session will be held at Scranton, Hyde county.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Latham, Jr, are quite ill at their home in west Second street.

Rev. J. D. Waters will begin on Sunday next, a series of meetings at the Christian church in this town.

Seth Bridgman and wife are spending a few days at Ocracoke.

The negro woman who was charged with killing her infant babe was too ill to be jailed, and she has taken "French leave."

The Freeman & Hodges Lumber Co. will erect a saw mill on the Bryan property near Kugler Lumber Co's. mill.

We would say something of the fire in Hyde, but prudence forbids my saying more than that the smoke is so dense at times that objects cannot be discerned at a distance of 200 yards. This is no estimate of pecuniary loss.

Concocted plots to assassinate President McKinley are being sent out by the Associated Press again. We believe such reports are just a scheme to try to work on the sympathy of the people and make votes for him.

Bryan and Stevenson come in for very little thought in the approaching election in this State, the Senatorial question seeming to monopolize the attention of everything and everybody. The wrangle over the senatorship is beginning to border on the disgraceful, and it is about to become the prevailing opinion that a mistake was made in deciding to hold a primary. We believe, as a rule, that primaries are a good thing, but a bad time was selected to inaugurate them in this State. That is the fault of the friends of the aspirants for the Senate, however, and not of the primary idea.

The Woman On The Throne.

The literary people speak of our times as the Victorian age. Queen Victoria has thus put her impress on the times we live in. Since the assassination of the King of Italy, His royal widow, Margherita, is said to be the dominant force in Italian politics, and will mould the new King, her son, with her maternal will. Spain, what there is left of it, is ruled by a woman, the Queen Mother, during the boyhood of the King. The fair little Queen of Holland, Wilhelmina, is a strong force in governing the men of her realm. She is said to have put her neat, small foot down firmly on every proposition for her marriage until a good Prince was picked out for her—the kind of youth who doesn't drink, say bad words or smoke cigarettes, etc. Her mother, before her attainment of her majority, was Queen Regent of Holland. One of the conductresses of a woman's department in a big New York newspaper comments on these facts and then asks why it is that the men raise such a racket if a woman is elected mayor of some little town out West where female suffrage goes. Perhaps the men think the women ought to be satisfied with home rule and not want to run the town or the State or the government besides.—Charlotte Observer.

Looking Backward.

It is a great thing for a man to have a good family record. To bear an honored name is a great heritage. But it becomes a calamity when one depends upon what his ancestors did rather than what he can do himself. Several gentlemen were discussing the old worthies in their families one day, and putting a little extra coloring on their ability and worth, when a member of the party who had previously spoken remarked, "Well gentlemen, I have nothing that I can say about my decent; my ascent is all I can boast about." Charleston lives largely in the past, Atlanta in the present. The bottom rail, since the war, has risen to the top. It cuts no figure now for a man to tell the number of negroes his father once owned. We rejoice that this is so. In this country more than in any other in the world the man rises toward the top who has a will to work, while he gravitates toward the bottom who leans back on the old days when his grandfathers used bank notes for gun wadding and spent his money free. A man should build on the foundation of a good name—not simply brag about it.—Charity & Children.

A Bright Collection.

The usually quiet and careful Mr. Hanna has been doing an unusual amount of talking during this campaign and a collection of some of his sayings makes rather interesting readings. Here are some of the gems:

I would like to tear the mask from the face of that hypocrite, William J. Bryan.

I believe there is not a trust in the United States.

This so-called trust issue is the veriest rot.

There are no trusts in the meaning of the law.

The Democratic newspapers garble everything I say, as they garbled Roosevelt's St. Louis speech.

I don't know how many Cabinet positions Bryan has promised, but I guess he will have to create several new places if he expects to make good his promises.

I don't know that Bryan has promised Croker one of the Cabinet positions, and probably more than one.

Roosevelt started out by declaring that all Democrats are cowards but it doesn't matter much what Teddy says.—Charlotte News.

The six big armored cruisers for which bids have been invited by the Navy Department will compare favorably in magnitude and engine power with most modern ocean passenger steamships. A ship 502 feet long, 70 feet beam, 13,500 tons displacement and 23,000 horse power in her engines is bound to be a flyer, and no mistake. With such an equipment the speed limit of 22 knots per hour assigned to these vessels should be surpassed without much difficulty. These fast cruisers will also carry unusually heavy batteries, beginning with eight inch guns, and this armament will be protected by Krupp armor ranging from three and one half to six inches in thickness. Panoplied like battleships, the new cruisers will sail like modern steam packets, and need fear no attack of an enemy on the high seas. These ships will represent the latest achievements and last work of science is applied to modern vessels of war.

TOWN MATTERS.

As Attended to by Board of Aldermen.

The Board of Aldermen met in regular session Thursday night, five members being present and three absent.

The standing committees and officers made their usual monthly reports. That of the Chief of Police showed the largest amount collected by any police officer of the town in one month.

Forbes, Joyner & Co., who are conducting two warehouses as one firm, were on petition required to pay one warehouse license.

J. S. Tunstall was released from boarding house license for boarding school teachers.

H. L. Coward was also released from boarding house license for boarding a relative without profit.

The motion was adopted that no private family who takes school teachers and pupils exclusively to board shall be subjected to boarding house license.

E. B. Ficklen requested that Elizabeth street, in West Greenville, be extended to Fifth street. The matter referred to the street committee for investigation.

The Board discussed the matter of requesting the next General Assembly to pass a bill to permit the town to vote on the question of issuing bonds to provide the town water works, electric lights, street drainage, graded school building and market house. No definite action was taken at this meeting, but it was the sentiment that such a step will be taken.

License to run a pool table in Harrington building on Fourth street was granted to John Tucker.

Restaurant licenses were granted to the following parties: W. J. S. Clark & Co., in building next to Forbes' bar on Fifth street; R. M. Moye, in one store of Bernard building on Evans street; J. H. Murphy in Edwards & Cobb building near Flanagan coach shop, and to Stanley Hopkins in same building.

Delia Plummer was given permission to move her restaurant business from tobacco town to the Tyson building on Fifth street.

BARGAIN FINDING,

And These Bargains Are Yours For The Asking.

The great markets like New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore have been searched for Bargains and we have them. We are going to sell for less money than anybody else. Why? Because we buy more goods than any other store in town and get larger discounts; and we sell for the smallest possible margin of profit, depending on a large volume of business and no rents to pay.

Not Caught.

There has been a report that the young man, Bennett, who shot Miss Jennie Moore, at Williamston, two weeks ago, had been captured in South Carolina, but the report is without foundation. Miss Moore is yet in a very dangerous condition not being able to sit up a moment or even turn herself in bed.

Largest Sale Yet.

We do not believe the Greenville tobacco market ever had a larger sale, or that there was ever more tobacco here at one time, than today. We have six large warehouses, and there was more than enough tobacco to fill all of them with scores of wagon and cart loads that could not get in the houses at all.

His Brother Dies

Mr. C. A. Bland, who was so terribly cut with a knife by his brother, Mr. W. B. Bland, while they were engaged in a fight at Grifton on Wednesday, died today from the effect of his wounds. Coroner Laughinghouse went down to hold an inquest. Mr. W. B. Bland fled as soon as he saw he had cut his brother so seriously and has not been captured.

Mrs. Dr. Edwards Dead.

News was received here by telegraph early this morning that Mrs. Sallie Edwards, wife of Dr. G. C. Edwards, of Hookerton, died Thursday evening. She used to live near Greenville and was a daughter of the late Mr. B. W. Brown. Two brothers, Messrs. W. M. and J. W. Brown, live near here and a sister, Mrs. H. H. Wilson, lives at Kinston. Mrs. Edwards had many other relatives and friends in this section who are deeply saddened to learn of her death. She leaves a husband and several children.
