OUR RALEIGH LETTER

No Postponement of the Primary.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH N. C., Oct. 8th, 1900.

The proposition of Judge A. C. Avery, of Morganton, that the Senatorial Primary be deferred a month subsequent to the national election, as outlined by him in several of the daily papers last week, attracted much attention and elicited a great deal of comment from all classes of people here about—unfavorable for the most part, it should be added. After hearing the subject discussed or commented on by hundreds of people, I took the pains to obtain the views of a number of leading party men, including some who are pronounced and prominent in their support and advocacy of one or the other of the aspirants for the Senatorship—gentlemen who prefer Simmons, others who support Carr, some who favor Waddell and a few inclined to Jarvis—and there is no mistaking the concensus of opinion, viz., that it would be unwise and impracticable to attempt to sidetrack the senatorship matter at this time, in the "interest" of Mr. Bryan or for any other reason; that, in fact, it would be impossible to stop or suspend the contest now, as it has proceeded too far.

SENATORIAL PRIMARY WILL HELP BRYAN.

I find that, with very few exceptions, it is the general belief that the primary will help, instead of "hurt" Mr. Bryan and the Democratic congressional candidates, in that it will very materially assist in bringing out a full vote, especially as it is believed many (Populists especially) will "qualify" themselves to participate in the primary by first voting for Mr. Bryan's electors. Let me quote the language of an astute and sensible Democrat along this line. He said:

"There is no disputing the fact that there is a great deal of apathy prevalent among our folks, so far as the national ticket is concerned. It is seen and felt in a greater or less degree all over the State, but in some localities including whole counties it is so apparent as to be a source of anxiety. Right here in Raleigh, even, I have never known Democrats to be so unconcerned and inactive a month before election in all my experience. This state of affairs is, at least partly, due to the excess and surfeit of 'politics' this year, and the reaction natural after the excitement of the State campaign. But there appear to be some other reasons, too, among certain classes. It is my belief that just some such incentive as this Senatorship question was desirable, if not necessary, to get the white people out on election day, and, my word for it, if the primary were postponed Bryan and our congressional candidates would suffer the loss of thousands of votes which they will now receive."

LLEWEXAM.

Soon our people will all be "stove up" from wrestling with the misfit joints of pipe.

Brass and blow are poor substitutes for brains. The former may triumph for a time, but the latter will eventually win.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE.

Interesting Day with The Baptists

Sunday was a joyous day for the members of the Memorial Baptist church of Greenville, as well as very interesting to all who worshipped with them. It was the occasion of the anniversary of Rev. J. N. Booth's pastorate, and report of the different departments of church work for the past year was made. The programme as previously published was carried out.

From the reports made at this service THE REFLECTOR takes a synopsis that we believe will be of interest to all our readers:

The total collections of the church for various objects was $1,125; of the Sunday school for various objects $78.20; of the Woman's Missionary Society $25.95; of the Ladies' Aid Society $25; of the Sunbeams Society $23.90, making a grand total of $1,278.02.

This shows good work for a church of 120 members, and it was gratifying to them when the report on finances was made to know that all their obligations for the year had been paid in full.

It is quite natural that the cannon should be numbered among the big guns of the church.

When the new Judge ascends the bench it is a trying moment for him.

Some people don't believe half they hear, and others don't hear half they believe.

The man who makes his own money isn't nearly so important, from a social point of view, as the man who spends what his grandfather made.

Sales For Two Months.

Mr. H. W. Holcombe, Secretary of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, handed THE REFLECTOR the following figures showing the sales of tobacco on the Greenville market for the months of August and September, and the comparison of the same months last year:

	1900.	1899.
Pounds sold	2,724,231	4,337,496
Average price	$6.80	$5.90
Decrease	1,616,265.

While this shows a large decrease in sales for this year the average price is 60 cents per hundred higher, and the quality this year is much below last year also.

The sale last Friday was the largest the market ever had, there being so much tobacco here that only three of the warehouses could finish, though the sale started at 9 o'clock and continued all day. The fourth house had its break on the floor, but was blocked out, while the fifth and six houses, seeing the sales would block, would not unload their break. There was enough on the market for two big days.

A Smile in Each.

Dull care isn't in it with a dull razor.

The forger goes wrong when he begins to write.

It stands to reason that the court room is a fine place.

Not even the shoemaker can measure time with a foot rule.

Some folks are so refined that they object to common sense.

The manager of a theatre can't complain that he never gets a show.

"Bear" Facts.

Are the only we deal in. No exaggerations, no word trickery to get your dollars, nothing but good wholesome truth. When we advertise a thing you may stake your faith on it as "Bare Facts" nothing more, nothing less. We assert without fear of challenge that the same money will buy more sterling worth of clothing at our store than any other place in Greenville. No matter whether it is a $5.00-7.50, 10.00 or 12.50 one. This is a sweeping statement but we will prove it at your pleasure.

Our Fall Display of Men's Suits

Was never better, either in point of variety or style. We emphasize the fact that our goods are not bought in the ordinary way. We select the cloths from which they are made up especially for us, you may depend upon it, we get the best. There are suits that will please every man, and our guarantee goes with every garment. We have reliable ALL WOOL SUITS as low as $5 and high as $25.

It would be wise to hold on to your suit money until you find out what we can do for you this fall.

Judge Shaw who is now holding court in Charlotte, has decided to sit down upon the professional juror. We do not suppose there is a county in the State where there is not always a certain crowd hanging around the courts anticipating jury service, and while many have remarked upon it, Judge Shaw is the first man to attempt to stop it and he deserves the thanks of the whole State for it.—Durham Herald.

The Superior Court of Michigan has been called upon to settle a curious case arising out of the illegal imprisonment of a man named Thompson. The latter was sent to the penitentiary at Jackson, and was put to work for the Bronk-Buffington Shirt Company as a leased convict. After having worked 567 days he was discharged on a writ of habeas corpus for the reason that his sentence was clearly illegal. Now he claims that the shirt company refuses to pay wages for the time he was in prison and forced to work for the contractors.

Additional reports of fatalities during the Galveston hurricane afford no silver lining to the cloud of gloom resting over the flood-swept region. Even now, as the city streets are being cleared, corpses are disclosed in ghastly profusion, and the aggregate estimate of loss of life has been advanced to 7000, at least three months work—fortunately under favorable weather conditions—will be required to clear away the debris of Galveston's general wreck, and during this critical period the charity of the nation must minister diligently and generously to the bereaved sufferers who have taken up the struggle for new homes and a restored city by the Gulf.—Philadelphia Record.

Love isn't as comfortable as laziness, but it's a lot cheaper.

Another View of the Case.

One tale is good until another is told. Against the election table put out by the national Republican committee, claiming 266 votes for McKinley in the electoral college, the national Democratic committee opposes one in which 326 votes are claimed for Bryan, 88 conceded to McKinley, and 22 classed as doubtful. If the Republican claim is a bluff the Democratic claim is a bigger one. For our part we have learned to place little reliance on the ante-election figures of political committees or partisan newspapers. The only estimates that are worth their space are those of the great independent papers, which have ample facilities for learning the truth and no interest in suppressing or perverting it. The Washington Post, by the by, has a remarkable election table in its issue of Thursday. It names States having 107 votes which are conceded to McKinley, States with 112 votes which are conceded to Bryan, McKinley States with 170 which are contested by the Democrats, and Bryan States having 58 votes which are contested by the Republicans. The Post's conclusions is that the result of the election hinges upon New York—which it classifies as a McKinley State tested by the Democrats—and that whichever party carries New York will win out.—Charlotte Observer.

Rouss' Sunday Evenings.

The Associated Press dispatch this morning announcing that Chas. Broadway Rouss, the eccentric millionaire, has withdrawn the offer of $1,000,000 for the restoration of his sight, brings to mind the report which Mr. H. C. Eccles gives of the evening which he and Mrs. Eccles spent at Mr. Rouss' home, last Sunday. Every Sunday evening from 9 to 10 o'clock, Mr. Rouss has a literary, musical and social function at his house, at which a dozen actors, musicians and artists appear. Rouss sits back like a king and calls upon one after the other to play, sing or recite, and after that all are invited to the dining room, where there is a great spread. Mr. and Mrs. Eccles were Rouss' guests of honor last Sunday evening. Mr. Eccles details the different performances and says that after dinner there is another round of amusements, after which the guests and artists are again ushered into the dining room to devote their attention to ice cream, wines, etc. Mr. Rouss has a habit of giving each performer a $5 bill. In addition to this, they get the dinner, and it goes without saying that the New York artists always accept Mr. Rouss' Sunday invitations. The millionaire, Mr. Eccles says, is totally blind, but gets a good deal of pleasure out of this life and gives pleasure to others.—Charlotte Observer.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

A woman's heaven would be a dead failure without it had a little funny dog in it and a big garret. A woman gets most of her happiness out of remembering how miserable she was some particular time before. A woman is considered bright by the other women by the number of kinds of a fool she can make of a man in five minutes. Every time a woman sits up half of the night acting sweet to a lot of men she wakes up next morning and acts ugly to the one she is married to.—New York Press.

Old Time Honesty.

"Put that back!" exclaimed President John Quincy Adams, when his son took a sheet of paper from a pigeon hole to write a letter. "That belongs to the government. Here is my own stationery, at the other end of the desk. I always use it for letters on private business." This conscientiousness in regard to what many would consider a mere trifle may appear excessive. But the dividing line between vice and virtue is so fine that the boundary is unconsciously crossed, and it is just as dangerous for a young person to dally with conscience as it is for a child to toy with a dagger, or to play with fire. He who is honest in small things can always be trusted in great. There is truth not to be ignored in the old-fashioned rhyme:

It a sin to steal a pin.
Much more to steal a greater thing.
No matter how little value the thing we appropriate from another may possess, the fact that it does not belong to us should make it sacred.

A nickel is so small a sum that many people think they are not defrauding anyone or acting dishonestly if they retain the fare which the street car conductor has forgotten to take. These people would indignantly resent any imputation of dishonesty, yet they have not the shadow of a right. They would feel themselves injured and defrauded if they knew that their grocer, in weighing tea, or coffee, or any other commodity, had knowingly deprived them of even the most infinitesimal part of their just weight, or that their milkman had held back for his own benefit but one spoonful of the milk for which they paid. The virtuous indignation of these people against the fraudulent grocer, milkman or other tradesman, would be fully justified if they themselves observed the golden rule. But if we are not strictly honest ourselves have we any right to demand or expect that others will be so?—J. Lincoln Brooks in Success.

Runaway Marriage.

On last Saturday afternoon Mr. Ed. Harris and Miss Rosa Manning, both of Beaver Dam township, were married. The bride is only about 15 or 16 years old. It was a runaway marriage.

It seems that the license for the marriage was procured Friday, the applicant for them representing that the girl was twenty years old. Her father seemed to anticipate that she and Harris were going to try to get married and he came to town Saturday to prevent any license being issued, but found out that he was a day too late. He then hurried an officer back home to prevent the marriage taking place, but found that he was too late again, as while he was in town the young man went after the girl and took her to a neighbor's where they were married.
