STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina

The Moravian Home church, in Salem, will be 100 years old next month. The Moravians will celebrate the event on November 9th, 10th and 11th.

Mrs. Charity Bowers, who lives near Bethel, is 94 years old and is still an active energetic woman. She still does her own work about the house and has been the mother of sixteen children.—Tarboro Southner.

It is going the rounds of the press that Rev. I. A. Canfield, of Snow Hill, recently murdered his wife and child in that town. The truth of the matter is, Rev. Mr. Canfield left Snow Hill several weeks ago for Washington, D. C. Since then a report reached Snow Hill that he had killed his daughter in that city. Later the report was denied.—Kinston Free Press.

Wilbur Steele, a young man of Eagle Mills township, Iredell county was found dead in the woods not far from his home Wednesday morning. He had left the house about an hour before his body was found. Death had occurred only a short while previous to the finding of the body as it was still warm.

The man who borrows trouble is a fool. Most of us have trouble enough already.

GOV. J. S. CARR FOR SENATOR

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

When the primary system was adopted by the Democratic State Convention in Raleigh last April, as a proper means of indicating the will of the Democratic voters of the State in regard to the election of a United States Senator to succeed the present incumbent Marion Butler the people of Pitt county were presumed to be, with some few exceptions, practically solid for Gov. Jarvis, and when his announcement appeared as a candidate, the Democrats of Pitt county were ready to cast their ballots for him. Not one was more anxious for his election than this correspondent. I was for him, first, last and always, against the world, for Senator or for any thing else he desires.

Gov. Jarvis has withdrawn from the Senatorial contest in a strong, manly communication which expresses sentiment worthy of its distinguished author and his supporters must now turn to one of the three remaining candidates, to-wit Hon's. F. M. Simmons, A. M. Waddell or Gen. Julian S. Carr.

One of the three gentlemen named will probably be North Carolina's next Democratic Senator. They are all Democrats, and North Carolina will be safe with her destiny resting in the hands of either and this communication is not intended to detract anything from the public or private character of either, Mr. Waddell or Mr. Simmons, but simply to advocate the candidacy of Gen. Julian S. Carr.

General Carr has been ever alert to every interest of North Carolina. As a private citizen he has given his time, his talent and his money, to advance any interest, political, religious, educational, commercial or social, in North Carolina, where it has been shown to him to be necessary.

He cannot be said to be an office seeker because of the money it will bring to him in the way of a salary, for he is financially above such a motive. He has said he wants to be Senator, he has said it in a manner that is open, frank and manly. He believes he can do more for the good of North Carolina as a member of the United States Senate than he can as a private citizen.

He has always shown himself to be in line with the Democratic party on every issue—local or National, and if elected he will in the United States Senate stand first for North Carolina, and represent her interests in that body as a Democratic Statesman.

He is opposed to trusts—he has been fighting trusts—no man within the State has had a better chance to unite with them, and make himself richer than he is than Gen. Carr. Yet he has said no—he has felt that the trust power is an unjust one, and though he has had the opportunity he stood off with clean hands and said no.

There has been a great deal said about the rainy day skirt, but no man has yet dared to say there was "nothing in it."

The Third Man Found Guilty

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 20.—

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty and fix his punishment at life imprisonment." This verdict was returned by the twelve men who were selected to try Henry E. Youtsey, formerly Governor Taylor's stenographer, on the charge of being a principal in the shooting of Governor Wm. Goebel, in front of the executive building of Frankfort on January 30. When the jury entered the court room, a few minutes after 9 o'clock this morning, Judge Cantrill asked: "Gentlemen, have you made a verdict?" For-mar R. H. McCade nodded his head. "Pass up the papers to the clerk," said the judge. The sheriff passed them up and the clerk read the following verdict: "We the jury, find the defendant guilty and fix his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for life."

"Gentlemen, is that your verdict?" asked the judge.

"It is," was the reply.

"Gentlemen, you are now finally discharged and you can call on the trustees of the jury fund for your pay," said Judge Cantrill. The jury filed out of the room and the most dramatic trial in the Kentucky courts for many years was at an end. It was learned that no ballot was taken last night, although it was practically agreed that a verdict of guilty would be found. This morning the vote was unanimous that Youtsey was guilty. Then the degree of punishment was taken up. On this question the jury was somewhat divided, but finally agreed on the life sentence.

Henry Youtsey is the third man to be found guilty in connection with the Gobel shooting. Caleb Powers, tried on the charge of complicity, was sentenced to life imprisonment, while Jas Howard, tried on indictment, with being a principal in the shooting, was sentenced to death.

During the early days of Youtsey's trial the prisoner exhibited signs of breaking down. While Arthur Goebel, brother of the dead man, was on the stand testifying, Youtsey rose in the prisoner's dock and denounced the witness in wild exclamations while Youtsey's wife screamed that Goebel had sworn away the life of her husband. Later the prisoner became unconscious, and, according to attending physicians, has since practically been inanimate. His bed has been carried to the door of the jury room, where it stood in plain view of the court, its occupant apparently oblivious to his surroundings.

Motions for a continuance was over-ruled by Judge Cantrill, who declared that he was powerless to stop the trial unless the defendant be adjudged a lunatic. Youtsey, on yesterday showed considerable improvement, however, and his physicians stated that he had resumed taking nourishment in the regular manner, while his respiration was rapidly becoming normal. The defense filed a motion for an arrest of judgment and Sudge Cantrill set it for hearing on the 2nd day of the February term. Therefore, Youtsey will not be sentenced until next year. Youtsey was ordered removed to Frankfort jail.

A Revolution in Politics.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Simmons Club last night, Mr. James D. Johnson, president of the Highland Park Democratic Club, made a motion that the club adjourn to hear the speech of Senator Jeter C. Pritchard, and this motion was unanimously carried. Thereupon Mr. E. S. Williams, president of the club; Mr. Lotte W. Humphrey, the secretary, and the twentyodd other members who were present, walked over to the court house and patiently listened to Republican doctrine as expounded by the Senator from the west.

It never occurred to President Williams or to the other officials or members that they had done anything extraordinary in adjourning their club that it might become part of the audience of a Republican senator, and the strongest Republican in the State. Afterwards, in explanation, Mr. Williams said he considered the adjournment a proper courtesy. It was remembered too, that week before last Mr. Augustus H. Price of Salisbury, one of the Republican State electors-at-large had postponed his speech in Charlotte because it would conflict with the speech delivered by Chairman F. M. Simmons.

The action of the Simmons Club caused a good deal of comment last night, and most of the talk was altogether complimentary. Among other things, it was said that the spirit of toleration and liberality in politics is spreading in the city of Charlotte, at least. Ten years ago, five years ago, two years ago, the condition of last night would not have admitted the compromise effected. The democratic forces would have stayed in camp, and Mr. Pritchard would have preached to his own crowd.

But now, while the Democrats and Republicans continue to fight under the same old flag, they have discarded venom and bitterness and narrow-mindedness, and whether a speaker talk anti-imperialism or McKinley prosperity, if he be able and fair, he will be heard, without prejudice, for the sake of the tale he brings.

Less This Year For Pensioners.

Preliminary estimates by the State Auditor show that a number of pensioners on the State pension roll, under the general pension law has reached the 6,000-mark, the actual number being 6,072. This is an increase over 1899 of 108. The pensioners are divided into five classes, the number in each class for the current year being as follows:

First class, 111, a decrease of 10 from last year.
 Second class, 358, an increase of 17 over last year.
 Third class, 619, an increase of 98 over last year.
 Fourth class, 2,326, an increase of 91 over last year.
 Widows, 2,658, a decrease of 16 from last year.

The amount of pension fund available for 1900 is $113,900, of which $112,230 will be distributed. The amount of pension for each class is:
 First class, $58.
 Second class, $43.50.
 Third class, $29.
 Fourth class, $14.50.
 Widows, $14.50.
 In 1899 the pension fund had $5,000, which amount was transferred to this fund by act of the legislature from the accumulated "land-grant fund." Nothing of this kind is available for this year in favor of the pension fund, and the fund is therefore smaller for 1900 than for 1899. A decrease in the amount of the fund, with an increase in the number of pensioners, causes a reduction of the amount for each pensioner for 1900.

John McDonald, a Kansas journalist who is touring Scotland, says in a letter to one of the papers of the Sunflower State that he recently went into a store in a little Highland town and inspected the goods displayed for sale, finding among them the following American products: Corn flour, canned beef, canned peaches, canned apricots, canned pears, soap, rolled oats, washboards, churns, cheese, hams, flour, salmon, apples, forks, hoes, axes, hammers, saws, joiners' tools, braces and bits. "This partial list of things used in a Scotch mountain village," says Mr. McDonald, "will give some idea of the immense trade between the United States and Great Britain."

Texas Storm Damage.

Washington, October 16.—The statistician of the Department of Agriculture has completed his investigation of the agricultural situation in those counties in Texas that were visited by the West Indian hurricane of September 8th.

The area under cotton in the counties in which serious damage resulted from the storm was approximately 1,300,000 acres, with a promise on September 1st of a crop of about 640,000 bales. The reduction of the crop is estimated at about 68,000 bales, or 10.6 per cent. On a basis of $50 per bale, the amount destroyed would represent a value of $3,400,000.

Exclusive of the damage to farm buildings, machinery, etc, the total loss may be estimated at $5,000,000.

It should be stated that all the counties visited by the storm were included in the crop report issued October 10th.

It is shrewdly surmised that the rich man Dives was the ancestor of the goldbug of to-day
