To J. W. Wilson, Jr., Morganton, N. C.:

Any statement that I have resigned manager for Simmons is false. He will be elected Senator, notwithstanding the unfair assaults that are being made upon him by a majority of thirty to fifty thousand.

GENERAL CARR THE MAN.

[Contributed.]

To THE EDITOR: The senatorial primary is but a short time off, and therefore, let us come together, as one man, and elect the most useful, most influential and best fitted man for the place—Gen. Julian S. Carr. He has done more for the success of the party, given more for campaign purposes than any man in the State, and as this is the first position of honor he has asked of the party, let us rise in our might and give him a handsome majority.

While I know a great deal has been said in regard to successful campaigns being managed by Mr. Simmons, please tell me who is it that could not conduct a successful campaign when he has the means with which to carry on same, and it has been mainly due to Gen. Carr's contributions that we have had the means with which to successfully conduct these campaigns. In the one recently closed, Gen. Carr, instead of sending his entire contribution to the State chairman, he distributed it among the various county chairmen.

Gen. Carr has done more for the party than Mr. Simmons could or would do, were he to live to be an hundred years old. Right here let me say, that in justice to the other candidates, Mr. Simmons should have resigned as State chairman when he announced his candidacy; this is generally customary in all such cases. As it is, it gives him every advantage over the other candidates.

What we want, is to send a man to the United States Senate that has influence with all classes of people, and will benefit them, and not for the sake of paying a man for being a Democrat (!)

Gen. Carr is a man that has the true stamina of character that fits him for this high and exalted position, and, if elected, will go to the Senate without the influence of any trust or combine. His hands will not be tied, and he will be in a position to do the people of his native State more good than any man we could send. He is a man of the people, and can be relied on at all times. Ex.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina

Mrs. Holt, mother of the late Governor Thomas M. Holt, died suddenly at Graham on Saturday. She was 92 years old.

A colored Bryan, Stevenson and Thomas club was organized yesterday in this city. The organization is composed of 40 members and are said to be the leading business men of the race in this city.—New Bern Journal.

Several weeks ago a box of soap was found by fishermen on the Lockwood's Folly beach buried deep in the sands of that salty shore. It is thought that this box was taken from a wreck near the Lockwood's Folly inlet sometime between 1860 and 1865 and concealed from the rightful owners and finally lost. The article had lost its odor, but retained its saponaceous properties, and the finders congratulate themselves on finding a thing of value as well as the novelty.—Southport Standard.

Tobacco Growers Convention.

The general committee of the North Carolina Tobacco Growers' association met in Raleigh Thursday morning and sent out the following resolution:

"We recommend a vigorous pushing of the plan of organization adopted at the State meeting in January last, until every county in the State that grows bright tobacco shall be organized.

"We further recommend that as soon as a county is organized, that books of subscription for manufacturing, merchandising shall be opened to the members of the association, and that we urge each member to take stock in same. The price of a share is to be $5.00.

"We further recommend that our legislative committee shall formulate acts, charters, etc., and present to the legislature; giving authority for carrying out the above provision in an authoritative and lawful manner.

"We further recommend that the county organization forward to the State treasurer, or secretary, dues as fast as collected. This is necessary to meet expenses incident to organization throughout the State."

Persons interested in the movement and desiring to see it furthered will correspond with the State secretary, T. B. Parket, Hillsboro, N. C.

Raleigh Horse's Record.

At the opening meeting on October 22nd of the Empire City Jockey Club at Yonkers, New York the world's record for a mile and a quarter running race over a circular track was won by Charentus in the remarkable time of 2:04. In this race Charentus broke the record and beat. "Inp;" noted as a great racer and the winner of so many racers.

This is of special interest in Raleigh because of the fact Charentus is well remembered here having been bred born and raised on the Tucker "Waverly Farm" near Raleigh. Though Charentus left Raleigh only a short while ago and has been on the track but a short time he has already won both a great reputation and prizes supposed to aggregate about $30,000 and has before him a still brighter future.

The brilliant career of this now noted horse shows what Wake county farmers can accomplish in the stock raising business. Raleigh Post.

The Spartanburg Herald says: The Charlotte Observer stops the press long enough to say that a little life has finally been injected into the senatorial campaign in that State. North Carolina will never get exactly right until she adopts the primary system in full, including the traveling menagerie with a Walt Whitman bringing up the rear.

That's what we are working to—to legalized primaries with Democratic candidates going over the State, as they do in South Carolina, holding joint discussions, calling each other liars and scoundrels and things, and varying the entertainment with an occasional fight. But we must crawl before we walk. We have made a brave start toward the South Carolina plane, and when we get our legalized primaries, as our sister State has them we will have the present primary experience every two years, with additions, enlargements flounces and frills.—Charlotte Observer.

A woman of Danbury, Conn., died recently, leaving quite a little property to various persons. To him who was supposed to be her favorite nephew she bequeathed "my set of false teeth, which will be found in the upper right hand drawer of my bureau." The young man at once concluded that his aunt must have concealed some diamonds or other precious stones in the set of teeth. Accordingly he smashed up his bequest, but found no jewels. He will now contest the will.

WORKING FOR HIS STATE.

W. E. Porter Wishes to Have It Well Represented at Buffalo.

Each county in North Carolina should vie with the rest in making preparations for a display of their products at the Pan-American Exposition. The Exposition authorities will have prepared a very large bound book, which will be put in a prominent place for the purpose of giving every province, county or territory of each country or state the privilege of entering therein descriptions of geographical position and the adaptability of soil, climatic advantages, water, water power, timber, important rivers traversing territory, and manufactures. In fact, everything will be included in that book that would be of interest and general advantage for the county or province making application and taking advantage of this liberal offer. This book will be placed in a position so that visitors at the Exposition may examine its pages, thus bringing before them at a glance the advantages of the counties that are so fortunate as to secure space in this valuable book. We understand from the authorities that the cost will not be exorbitant for the insertion. It will be for the people to say whether they will take advantage of this liberal offer or not.

We can see at once the great good that might be accomplished, at small cost for our different sections of the state, in presenting the advantages and resources of North Carolina. We could truthfully say that our state possesses a variety of soils, productions and climatic advantages not possessed by many other countries.

We would first present to the reader the adaptability of our soils for the different crops and products. Reference could be made to the western portion of our state and its suitability for all kinds of grasses, grains, stock raising, etc.; the Piedmont section for tobacco, cotton and all the different cereals; and the eastern section for turpentine, rice, lumber, manufactures and fisheries. We would thus present to a very large clientele our various advantages and enterprises, thereby encouraging the most desirable class of immigration to our state. We could easily show that North Carolina would be as desirable a country to live in as any state in the Union, and it is as easy a place in which to procure a good living and a competency as any country on the globe. Shall we take advantage of this offer? I cannot think that our grand old state will take a single step backward, but it will try to keep pace with or in advance of our sister southern states. We notice that some of our southern states are putting forth every effort in this direction, and we should not for a moment think of permitting our state to lag. "Progression, onward and upward," should be our motto.

I have had the pleasure of being in the city of Buffalo for some time, and have been in close touch with the Pan-American officials. I find that they are exerting every effort within their power to make this Exposition a grand success. Every official is a man of the highest character and ability and of high social standing, and not one stone will be left unturned to make the Exposition what it purports to be—a great and grand Exposition. And as your representative here I have been doing all in my power to arouse an interest among the leading citizens of our state by correspondence in reference to this opportunity to display our products to such an advantage that it will prove to be a fine thing for our state. I have written letters and mailed maps, circulars and prospectuses into nearly every county in the state, and any one desiring any of the literature descriptive of the Pan-American Exposition can procure it by advising me at 22 Dart street, Buffalo, or by writing to the director general direct. I will be pleased to hear from any one in my state in reference to the matter.

W. E. PORTER, Vice President for North Carolina, Pan-American Exposition.

One Thousand Million Stamps.

The government will print one thousand million of the Pan-American postage stamps, in two colors. They will be oblong, and on the one cent stamp will be an engraving of a large steamship. On the two cent stamps a railroad train will appear coming nearly head-on. On the four cent stamp will be the picture of an automobile. On the five cent stamp the picture of the suspension bridge at Niagara Falls will appear. On the eight cent stamp will be a picture of the Soo locks, with ships passing through them, taken from the heights. On the ten cent stamps will be an American eagle, with a stand of flags on either side, representing the flags of all nations of the western hemisphere.

Japan's Children.

From one end of Japan to the other a child is treated as a sacred thing. Be it one's own or a stranger's. Each one carries its name and address on a ticket round its neck, but should it indeed stray from home food and shelter and kindness would meet it anywhere.

It may well be said that life is monotonous. In 50 years we undress for bed no fewer than 18,250 times, dressing again after each night's repose with cheerful resignation.

A Matter of Temperature.

The little one's mother had said, "Now, doctor, if there is any rise of temperature"—she was great on temperature, by the way—"I will send for you at once. As you know, I have a clinical thermometer and can take the temperature myself without troubling you to come in for the purpose." Just as I was going to bed I was startled by a violent ring at the bell and, hastening to the door, saw a terrified domestic, who gasped: "Oh, sir, please, sir, do come round at once! Miss Marjory is worse. Missus said I was to tell you her temperature is 108 and is rising fast."

Scarcely waiting to put on my hat, I rushed round to the house of my little patient and discovered the whole family assembled in the sickroom awaiting the end of poor little Marjory, the mother wringing her hands in agony and crying dreadfully.

"What's the temperature now?" I almost shouted in my agitation.

"Oh," sobbed the mother, "I haven't dared to look since! My poor darling! It was 108, and they say that 105 is always fatal." And she broke down completely.

Without wasting any more time I turned down the blanket and—found that the thermometer had been thrust between the child's side and arm and the bulb imbedded in a freshly applied hot poultice!—Chambers' Journal.

On the Menu in Chile.

For several days I noticed the word "panqueque" upon the bill of fare at the hotel and did not know what it was. There is a brand of wine from one of the Chilean vineyards with that name, and I supposed it was perhaps the same thing referred to, although it was difficult to understand why it should appear among the desserts on the menu at the dinner table and on the bills of fare for breakfast. The best way to find out about such things is to try them, and the next morning, being in an experimental mood, I ordered a "panqueque," which, to our amazement, was an ordinary griddle-cake. Then it dawned upon my dull perceptions that "panqueque" spelled pancake. I called the attention of the head waiter to the discrepancy, and he seemed quite astonished. He could speak English well and claimed to be familiar with the cuisine of America. Therefore he did not see anything unusual in my discovery. But I rather think he wrote the end of this blunder for he remarked in a surprised tone: "What do you call a pancake in America?"—Cor. Chicago Record.

High Pumpkin.

Cesar Canady, a colored man who lives on Cotanch street near the river, has the highest pumpkin to be found. A pumpkin vine on his place took a notion to climb a peach tree, and he let it climb. The vine blossomed and bore a pumpkin up about ten feet from the ground. Cesar was rather struck with the novelty, so he put props under the pumpkin to keep it from breaking off, and he now has a full grown pumpkin up the peach tree.
