GRIMESLAND ITEMS.

GRIMESLAND, N. C., Jan. 30, 1901

Rev. Mr. Tingle, of Ayden, was in town Sunday and Sunday night and preached us two able sermons.

W. E. Proctor made a flying trip to Washington yesterday.

The price of cotton advanced so it makes our merchants smile when you say cotton to them.

Misses Vina Ward, Lena Harris and Lillian Nobles, who have been visiting Dr. C. M. Jones, left for their homes Monday. Boys look sad now. Come again, young ladies, to cheer them up.

F. Powell is very sick with grip.

J. J. Mason, who has been working for E. Peterson Co., Washington, came home Saturday very sick but is up again. He will leave today for Washington to go on the road for the firm.

Drummers are so thick in town we can't shoot hawks to keep them from catching chickens.

John W. Mayo went to Washington yesterday.

L. E. Elks went out to see his best girl Sunday. Ed is a clever boy and a young merchant. Look out girls.

The Mayor and Commissioners of this place have been working on the streets and opening up new ones. It makes the town look much better. Grimesland is not so large, but she does the business.

W. S. Galloway is on the sick list this week.

Miss Annie White left Friday for Ft. Barnwell where she will visit her many friends and relatives.

ACCIDENT AT AYDEN.

Mr. W. H. Basden Mortally Injured.

A terrible accident occurred at Ayden this afternoon at the saw mill of Mr. W. H. Basden. The governor belt to the engine broke and the engine "run away". This frightened the fireman so that he fled. Mr. Basden started to the engine with the intention of stopping it by shutting off the steam. By the time he reached it the engine had gained such terrific momentum that the drive wheel burst all to pieces. One of the spokes from this wheel struck Mr. Basden in the abdomen and almost disemboweled him. Physicians were quickly summoned and they pronounced his injuries of a fatal character, saying it would be impossible for him to live longer than a few hours.

A telephone message about 4 o'clock stated that Mr. Basden was dead.

Married.

Yesterday, at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Fannie D. Andrews, of this place, to M. F. Jefferson, of Fayetteville.—Tarboro Southerner.

Married.

Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. H. C. McGowan, in South Greenville, Mr. Henry F. Keel and Mrs. Mary E. Cox were married. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Winterville.

If Congressmen are to follow the suggestions of the President and do just as he and his cabinet says, what is the use being burdened with the expense of having a Congress? Why not let the President and his cabinet be the "whole thing" and be done with it!—Charlotte News.

Sanitary policeman Wiley Keith gives The Sentinel a piece of news that is "out of the ordinary." Thieves broke into the smallpox hospital, two miles north of town, Saturday night, and stole all of the provisions. A fresh supply was put in Saturday for the inmates, seven or eight in number.—Twin City Sentinel.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

What The Law Makers are Doing.

TUESDAY, 29TH.
SENATE.

Among the new bills introduced were the following.

By Sugg, to authorize any city or town along the line of the Great Eastern Railroad to subscribe to its capital stock.

By James, to establish a graded school in Greenville.

By Speight, to establish a board of examiners for barbers.

HOUSE.

These were some of the new bills introduced:

By Reinhardt, to issue bonds in aid of insane and to pension soldiers.

By Carr, to incorporate the Snow Hill Banking and Trust company.

And Still it Grows.

The New York Sun, a Republican organ, publishes the following facts about pensions "without comment."

"The annual pension appropriation bill now before congress carries $145,245,280. This is the largest appropriation on record.

"The amount to be appropriated this year for pensions, 36 years after the close of the civil war, to which the enormous charge is chiefly due, exceeds the aggregate payments on the same account during five years from 1879 to 1883 inclusive.

"It is more than double the appropriation for 1890, eleven years ago.

"It is more than double the expenditures of the Federal government, for all purposes, in 1861, the first year of the civil war.

"It nearly equals the total expenditures of the Federal government, excluding interest on the public debt, in 1871, only 39 years ago.

"It is more than five times what the republic was paying for pensions in 1878, 13 years after the end of the civil war.

"The total number of the pensioners now on the roll is 993,529. Ten years ago there were 537,944, twenty years ago there were 250,702.

"The total number of the new claims allowed last year was 40,015, exceeding by more than 2,000 the reduction occasioned in the roll by the deaths of old pensioners, 36 years after the end of the civil war."

A Treasury deficit is to be far less dreaded by reasonable men than is an enormous Treasury surplus. In a deficit is, at least, some defense against extravagant expenditure. In the enormous accumulation of Treasury surplus is the chief temptation to an expenditure which threatens in this session of Congress to reach $750,000,000. The Treasury surplus is both an incentive to extravagance and an obstacle to reduction of taxation.—Philadelphia Record.

Some of the Massachusetts towns are starting wood yards where tramps have to saw for food and lodging. A quarter of a cord of wood is the price of lodging and two meals. The average tramp who is averse to tackling wood piles, gives these towns the go by.

Railroads and Banks.

The State Corporation Commission made their report, for the last fiscal year, to Governor Aycock. The report gives some interesting figures as to the operations of railroads and banks, from which we take the following:

The railroads in this State have had a most profitable year, as will appear from the examination of the annual report of each railroad company. The gross earnings of all the railroads from operation in North Carolina were $14,919,832, against $12,995,725 for 1899; $11,543,516 for 1898; and $11,252,359 for 1897; while operating expenses were $9,336,881 against $8,186,500 for 1899; $7,395,548 for 1898; and $7,657,786 for 1897; income from operation was $5,589,950, against $4,809,535 for 1899; $4,147,968 for 1898, and $3,594,575 for 1897.

Sixty three miles of railroad were added to the railroad mileage of North Carolina during the year. There is not a railroad in the State in the hands of a receiver.

There were 26 new banks organized in 1900, so that there are 52 State banks in operation in the State, as follows: Fifty-six under charters with general banking powers; ten savings banks and twenty-six private banks.

These banks have a capital of $5,686,383.47, against a capital for 1899 of $5,307,297.80, making an increase of $379,085.67. They have deposits amounting to $8,674,655.50, against $6,511,640.71 for 1899, an increase of $2,163,014.79. The total resources of the State banks, as shown by their last report, was $14,617,859.64. We have had the banks to make five reports during the year and have had each of them examined by the examiners, and we have compared the reports with each other and with the reports of the bank examiners and with pleasure can report that they seem to have had a prosperous year.

Outlook for Strawberries.

The strawberry crop of 1901 will not be as large as that of 1900. Mount Olive will probably ship 80 per cent as many crates as last season; the Faison and Warsaw sections will market about 75 per cent of a crop; the points below Warsaw will be fortunate if they manage to secure 70 per cent of their usual output. The plants around Mount Olive are in splendid condition, and if the season should prove favorable, it is very probable that the crop may be very near a normal one; however, the estimate of a 20 per cent shortage will no doubt be more in accord with results.—Mt. Olive Advertiser.

Some of Our Doctors.

The overplus of doctors of medicine has been subject of comment for many years, and young men have been urged to seek some pursuit which would offer better rewards and a more certain living to conscientious workers. The phrase "There is always room at the top," however, has upheld thousands of bright young men whose natural bent is for the practice of medicine or surgery. That there is, in truth, room for thoroughly educated physicians and surgeons is suggested by the revelations of ignorance on the part of some of our doctors who have succeeded in making a living by private practice or in the public service. For a great many years the leading medical colleges of the country, particularly those in the Eastern States have required or have seemed to require a high degree of preparatory knowledge or those who have applied for entrance; and the examinations required for graduation have been regarded as exacting. In spite of this college elevation of the standard of medical education, it is undeniable that some of the business which should go to the efficient has fallen into the hands of block-heads.

In the Snell will case, now before the Court in Chicago, "a physician of prominence" was placed on the witness stand as an expert on insanity. He expressed such obviously absurd opinions that the attorney for the other side exclaimed to the Judge: "Why, this man doesn't know what insanity is! Doctor," he shouted, turning to the witness, "do you know what an adverb is?" The witness admitted that he did not. "Well, then," justly observed the lawyer, "what can this expert know about medical terms if he doesn't know an adverb from a noun?" The attorney then mentioned the best known works of the leading writers on insanity and nervous disorders—works which are used in the medical schools as text-books—and asked the expert if he had read any of them. Again the witness answered in the negative. Only sudden adjournment of the session saved the expert from the astounding confession, in reply to a question, that he had never read any work on insanity.

This display of ignorance had its parallel in the results of Judge Goff's examination of a New York police surgeon. Finding the medical official ignorant of the simplest facts in relation to his profession, the lawyer asked him if he had read the work of Esculapius. "Not all of them," was the modest reply. "Of course," said the lawyer, "you know that Esculapius is a German and the highest authority on nervous diseases?" "Oh, yes," replied the police surgeon; "but I read a translation of some of his books." It should be said that the medical profession in New York has had nothing to do with the choice of police surgeons. This particular shining light admitted that he owed his appointment to politics.—Philadelphia Record.

A movement is on foot to secure the 1902 session of the National Press association for North Carolina. The session for this year will meet June 10th, at Buffalo, N. Y., during the progress of the great Pan-American exposition. It is probable that the general assembly will adopt, within the next few days, a joint resolution inviting the association to come to North Carolina for their 1902 convention.

The people who are always short never get along.

There isn't a shipyard in this country which hasn't as much work as it can do, and yet the subsidy boomers say one of their objects is to encourage the ship building industry.—Wilmington Star.

MUNFORD'S BIG NEW STORE.

Well may the good people of Greenville and surrounding country be thankful and proud of their Big Store and the wonderful bargains that come from that great institution. For the third time this season has the buyer been north, picking and scouring the New York, Boston and Philadelphia markets and quickly snapped up all the "Juicy Plums." This was securing a leading manufacturer's fall shipment of fine clothing for men and boys intended for a clothier in Galveston, Tex., but which was countermanded on account of the flood. The result is, we can offer mens and boys highest grade clothing at just one-half the old time clothier's price. They will be ready and placed on the tables

ON SALE EVERY DAY

Four Car Loads of Merchandise Bought

Our Popular Store.

We leave it to you if there is not a snap, vim or go, about this business not perceptible in any other business in Greenville. It is no secret. The "old fog" dry goods and clothiers are sleeping, waiting for you to come in and pay them their 50 per cent. profit. Will you do it? Or will you trade with a live, hustling, progressive concern that is working like a Trojan and making your dollar buy two dollars worth. We have doubled the business since we are in our new build ing already, and now want to tripple it.

Holiday Goods.

BLACK JACK ITEMS

BLACK JACK, N. C., Jan. 29.

Mrs. L. C. Mills (nee Miss Lula Dixon) is quite sick.

Henry White, Misses Wessye and Lucy White accompanied by Linier Dixon returned Sunday from Dover where they had been visiting relatives.

W. H. Wynne's school at Shine-Eye closed Friday. He is now teaching at Black Jack.

Don't be surprised if you hear of another wedding in town soon.

Dixon-Sutton.

Miss Bruce R. Sutton was married to Mr. D. W. Dixon yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sutton, about six miles from Kinston. Rev. W. G. Johnston performed the ceremony.

The attendants were: Miss Pearle Herring and Mr. R. E. Cox, Miss Mary Moye and Mr. J. H. Mewborne, Miss Hennie Ragsdale and Mr. L. O. Moseley, Miss May Faireloth and Mr. Sol Dixon, Miss Mattie Edwards and Mr. Burt Albritton, Miss Rosa Creech and Mr. Alfred Warren, Miss Ava Gray and Mr. Robt. Hodges, Miss Fannie Dixon and Mr. Carl C. Harper, Miss Ora Sutton and Mr. Frank Dixon. Soon after the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the groom at Dixonville, Greene county, where a reception was given last night.

There were many handsome wedding presents.—Kinston Free Press, 30th.

We are informed that the popular impression, which we shared, that our asylums for the insane are burdened with the care of inebriates, is mistaken. These institutions are crowded with genuinely insane persons;—and, moreover, though some of the families represented are more or less well off, the great majority are not able to stand the expense required to maintain insane persons. There appears to be no way out but to increase the capacity and the maintenance of these institutions. Being so, it should be done with no reluctant spirit, but cheerfully.—Biblical Recorder.

A Law That is Wanted.

There is a growing demand for a law that will make people pay their debts. Some people are becoming so near sighted that they cannot see the difference between a man who can pay his debts and will not and an ordinary thief.—Durham Herald.

Waiting to Be Taken.

The wasp is not a vegetarian, like the bee, and so the wasp mother has before her the problem of supporting her young with meat. As her eggs are laid out in the weather and no food enough must be stored in the cell with the egg to mature the young insects, the question is how to preserve the meat fresh for so long a time.

After a tube is finished except one end, which is left open, she flies off on a hunt for spiders. She finds a fat, healthy one, pounces upon it, stings it, carries it off and places it in the mud cell. She repeats this process until she has placed as many spiders in the tube as, according to her judgment, will be needed. She then lays an egg in the cell and walls up the opening.

Whether it is the result of a subtle poison or whether it is a special spot in the spider's nervous system where the sting is inserted we do not know, but certain it is that after being thus stung the spider lives on in a paralyzed condition for weeks and even months. It can move only slightly and remains helpless in its mud sepulcher until the wasp egg hatches into a voracious grub, which at once falls to and eats with great relish the meat thus miraculously preserved.

Whether the spider can feel pain in this paralyzed state is not known, but it certainly retains its sight and so watches the wasp grub growing, and a spider's natural fear of a wasp would cause ample suffering to atone for its own onslaught on flies.

Peter Cooper Met the Spirits.

During Peter Cooper's lifetime he was a frequent visitor at the home of S. J. Pardessus, on Pacific street, Brooklyn.

At one time Mr. Cooper became greatly interested in the spirit manifestations of the Fox sisters and was anxious to investigate their rappings personally, but he did not like to attend one of their public seances, for he feared recognition and consequently a great deal of talk. Finally it was arranged that one of the sisters should spend a night at Mr. Pardessus' house and the doughty Peter be invited to meet her.

Miss Fox came, and the spirits came too. The family retired early, Mr. Cooper occupying a bedroom on the opposite side of the hall from that of the fair ally of the supernatural. He was just settling himself comfortably for "a long winter's nap" when a rapping began on the headboard of his bed which sent shivers to his very marrow. It was only the beginning of a "rat, tat, tat," that kept up at intervals during the night in all parts of the room, and before daylight came Mr. Cooper had listened to enough spirits to last him a lifetime. He never said much about the experience, but he never asked to have it repeated.—New York Mail and Express.

Don't Give Up the Ship.

Somewhat more than 50 years ago it happened to me to meet at the house of a mutual friend a daughter of the late Major Benjamin Russell, for many years editor of the Boston Centinel. She was a bright, interesting woman and a brilliant raconteur, and she told me a number of anecdotes of her father, who was a strongly individualized and notable character for a good many years. Among them was the following:

The battle between the Chesapeake and the Shannon took place just off the Massachusetts coast, and a sailor in some way got ashore and hurried to Boston with the news. It was in the night, and he went straight to The Centinel office, where he found Major Russell, to whom he told the story, including the death of Lawrence.

"What were his last words?" said the major.

"Don't know," said the man. "Didn't he say, 'Don't give up the ship?'"

"Don't know," said the man. "Oh, he did!" said the major. "I'll make him say it." And he did—so much for history.—Hartford Courant.

The Effect of His Face.

An amusing story is told at the expense of Winston Churchill, the author. An old man, seeing the picture of Churchill displayed in the window of a Baltimore bookseller, inquired of a bystander whom it represented.

"Winston Churchill," was the reply.

"Where does he preach?"

Being told that Mr. Churchill was not a preacher, he asked: "Ain't he? What did you say his name is?"

"Winston Churchill. He writes novels."

"Does what?"

"Writes novels."

The man shook his head with a look of pity and declared: "Too bad! Too bad! He has a good face."

At the Examination.

Teacher (to little Isidor, who is very poor at fractions)—If I need 3½ yards of cloth for a suit and the cloth costs 2½ gulden a yard, what will the suit cost?

Isidor—To begin with, teacher, 3 yards would be enough for a suit, and you could get it at our store for 2 gulden. The suit would cost you 6 gulden.—Fliegende Blatter.
