FROM JERUSALEM TO JERICHO.

Fell Among Thieves Who Left Him Half Dead.

We have had almost a reproduction of a Biblical narrative right here in Greenville, the principal character in the tragedy being an unknown colored man. Whether he was from Jerusalem can't be told now, as the man himself is not able to tell anything, but that he struck a neck of Greenville with almost as unsavory reputation as Jericho, his condition best tells.

About day light this morning the man was found in the railroad cut between Fourth and Fifth streets. He was unconscious, almost frozen, covered in blood, his face showing that he had been terribly beaten. Those who found him built a fire to keep him from freezing until the police could be notified. Chief of Police J. T. Smith went out to look after the man and had him hauled down to the Mayor's old office near the market where he could be cared for.

The negro is a stranger and nobody has been found who knows anything about him. As he is yet unconscious nothing can be told as to who assailed him or how he got in his present condition. It is not at all unlikely, though, that he got in with a tough set who inhabit the ruins back of the cemetery, and that they beat him up and dragged him to where he was found. However, there are no facts yet to verify this supposition. But his condition shows that he has been badly handled.

A Grundy county (Kan.) physician recently sent to the address of one of his patients a bill for professional services, and within ten days received the following letter written on the back of his memorandum: "Dear Sir this note was put in my box by mistake I han't the man here dead and aint any relashun of mine anyway. I don't see how your consens will let you dan the dead. Why don't you live a better criston live and let live and try to meat that man who dide in heaven which is worth more than forty ollars to enny doctor."

SEEN AND HEARD IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, N. C., Feb. 6, 1901.

An affray on Thursday last came near to result in one negro less. Wallace and Slade disputed about a difference of 5 cents. Wallace settled the dispute, also Slade, with his knife, stabbing him in the neck and dangerously wounding him.

An Unusual Mental Anguish Suit.

Capt. George F. Bason, who returned from Concord yesterday, gave particulars of an unusual mental anguish suit that was disposed of at the present term of Cabarus Superior Court. On the 16th of a month a telegram came to a young man in Concord announcing the serious illness of his mother, in Anson county. The telegram was not delivered until the 25th of the month. The young man's mother got well and he did not go to see her for two months after the receipt of the telegram. The telegram was sent collect, Capt. Bason said, and was finally paid for by the operator at the other end of the line. Judge Brown was unable to see just where the mental anguish came in and ordered a non suit.—Charlotte Observer.

The School War in Wilkes.

The school war up in Job's Cabin is still wagging along slowly. We mentioned some time ago that certain hot headed fools had tried to run away a young Democrat teacher by burning the school house and the school books. This Democrat worked and talked in favor of the constitutional amendment and this aroused the ire and wrath of fellows who don't know what constitution means.

Well, the teacher did not scare and is going ahead teaching a good school in a house that he rented and had insured. The latest now is that one Rev. William Church, who has more Republican cussedness than religion, has made demands on the committee that they refuse to sign the voucher of this teacher, because it would be wrong to pay a man for teaching "who voted for the amendment." Well, the teacher is still teaching and the committee will sign his vouchers, and the Rev. Church can crawl back into his hole.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

The great trouble with favors is that they are loaned and not given.

Youtsey In Prison For Life.

Georgetown, Ky., Feb. 5.—Henry E. Youtsey, stenographer to Governor Taylor during his incumbency, and who was tried as a principal in the shooting of Governor William Goebel, and found guilty, was arraigned before Judge Cantrill late this afternoon and sentenced to life imprisonment.

When sentence was pronounced Youtsey exclaimed: "I am innocent. I have been convicted by base and infamous subornations of perjury."

Everything indicates that the trucking season of 1901 will be one of the most prosperous since the industry assumed anything like commercial importance.

Don't Leave North Carolina.

The Wilmington Messenger says: "It is to be regretted that so many young men go West, leaving their native North Carolina." A few years ago the cry was "go West young man, go West," and many were the young and old men who left their native State and went to seek a new life in the great West.

We are surprised to learn that the Judiciary Committee of the House is unfavorably disposed to the very conservative and just libel law proposed in the measure which passed the Senate some days ago, by which newspapers may be protected from malicious prosecution.

The London bill as it is called, is drawn with great care, affording every protection necessary against a depraved press, only aiming to protect the honest press from vicious prosecution.

We hope if the committee has reached such conclusions as reported it will reconsider the matter and report it favorably.

Uniform Divorce Laws.

Uniform Divorce laws is a reform that presses upon public attention. During the past ten years the privileges of the divorce court have been so abused that the institution upon which depends the sacredness and happiness of the home has suffered degradation.

It's peculiar that the product of the still makes men noisy: Politeness, like beefsteak, is better underdone than overdone.

Compulsory Education.

Our governor in his splendid inaugural address emphasized what was the keynote to the memorable campaign waged by the Democratic party in North Carolina in the year 1900, when he declared for better educational opportunities for the masses.

Our legislators are endeavoring to make good the pledges of the campaign. One fact seems to have been lost sight of. In many counties of our state we already have four or five months' school term. What is puzzling us is the problem of getting the people to make use of these advantages after they get them. Superintendent Mebane reports only 34 per cent of the children of school age attend school. The country districts do not average so much. The regular attendance does not exceed 20 to 25 per cent. Why issue bonds and vote large amounts of money to maintain schools in empty school houses?

"Is your remedy compulsory attendance?" you ask.

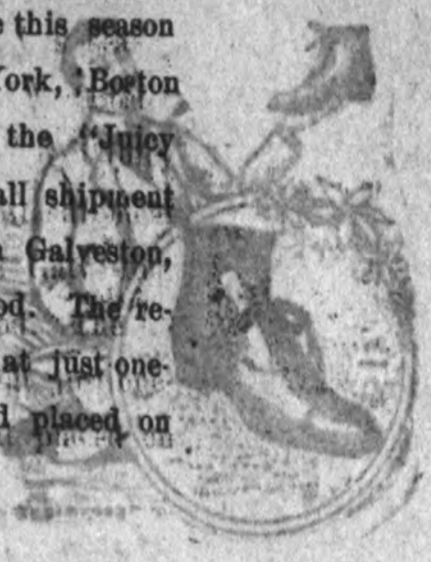

It is and it isn't. I think a law should be made giving power to township trustees to compel attendance, when children arrive at the age of twelve years without being able to read and write. No legislator need to be afraid of that mild form of compulsion, even in a state as noted for conservatism as North Carolina.—Martin H. Holt, in the News and Observer.

Dorothy Dix is pretty hard on our modern college athletics. Her latest is "The poor boy who isn't a bona student should be kept at home every time, instead of being sent away to a university. He can get just as much exercise, with less danger, in calling hogs and splitting as he can in acquiring a college yell and playing football. And it won't come so hard on his poor old parents."

Editors lose their heads sometimes in this country, but, the Wilmington Star says, they don't stay lost as many do in China where 1900 have had their heads snipped off for writing stuff that the Government bosses didn't enjoy.

MUNFORD'S BIG NEW STORE.

Well may the good people of Greenville and surrounding country be thankful and proud of their Big Store and the wonderful bargains that come from that great institution. For the third time this season has the buyer been north, picking and scouring the New York, Boston and Philadelphia markets and quickly snapped up all the "Juicy Plums." This was securing a leading manufacturer's fall shipment of fine clothing for men and boys intended for a clothier in Galveston, Tex., but which was countermanded on account of the flood. The result is, we can offer mens and boys highest grade clothing at just one-half the old time clothier's price. They will be ready and placed on the tables

Or will you trade with a live, hustling, progressive concern that is working like a Trojan and making your dollar buy two dollars worth. We have doubled the business since we are in our new building already, and now want to tripple it.

The Democratic party owes the newspapers of this State a debt of gratitude it can never repay. The newspapers have worked hard for its success at actual cost to themselves, and the last two campaigns
were waged through their columns
even more than through orators on the stump. There are few members of either House of the present Legislature that do not owe their election in a large measure to the newspapers that supported them so faithfully. It was done for love of State and without hope of reward. But this is a notorious fact that as soon as the campaign is over the newspapers are forgotten.
What would the campaigns for white supremacy have been without the press? And yet we understand that the House committee that has under consideration the bill giving the State a fair libel law
one that removes the injustice
under which the newspapers now
labor, will report the bill unfavorably if at all. That committee should not be allowed to smother
the libel bill. If they kill it, the newspapers ought to know the name of every man who voted to refuse them Justice. They demand the new libel law as an act of justice, and they think they should be able to get this rights in this Legislature.—Raleigh Times.
