The American Style.

Austin, Feb. 6.—A dispatch from San Luis Potosi, Mexico, says the first train robbery on the American style ever committed on Mexican soil occurred on the Mexican Central Railway, near there. The news of the affair has just reached the city. A passenger train was held up by masked men, who entered the Pullman sleeper and robbed the passengers of money, valuables and baggage. The train crew was held up with pistols. The bandits were five in number. The leader, and it is believed, all the other robbers, were Americans. The bandits are being pursued by a force of troops and their capture is almost certain. The robbers will shortly be put to death if caught, as the Mexican law is very severe on such criminals.

There will be no negroes in the next Congress, and the north is weeping profusely over the fact. Why doesn't the north elect a few darkies itself and see how it likes it.—Durham Sun.

Remember there will be services in the Baptist church Sunday morning and night.

As reported to the Adjutant General at Washington, the total available strength of organized militia in the United States foots up 113,967 officers and men, about 85 per cent. being infantry. How slight a proportion of the fighting strength of the Republic is denoted in this service is apparent from the returns to the Adjutant General's office of the unorganized available force—10,432,043 men. It is apparent that in a season of grave emergency the Government would be enabled to set from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 soldiers in the field without seriously embarrassing the commercial and industrial demands of national existence. No nation on earth can boast such enormous reserved military strength.—Philadelphia Record.

Red Clover Seed.

Farmers' Bulletin No. 123 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, gives information to the purchasers of red clover seed. It treats of the determination of quality of the seeds (depending on its cleanness, vigor of germination, etc.) their adulterants, the best seeds to buy, and so on. It describes a method by which any farmer can find out what proportion of his seed will grow. This bulletin will be sent free to any one who applies for it to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

TOWN MATTERS.

Two Aldermen Resign—Another Suit Institute.

The Board of Aldermen held their regular monthly meeting Thursday night. For a while it looked like no meeting could be held, through failure of a quorum to be present, but after a bit of waiting enough of the members arrived to transact the business.

The Finance Committee reported the following amounts on hand; general fund $947.65, white cemetery fund $25.34, colored cemetery fund $10.

The Street Committee reported that only general work had been done the past month. The committee recommended that the hill approaching the river bridge be planked, and the Board instructed them to go ahead and do such work as they deemed necessary.

The lights and wells committee and market committee had no special report to make.

One lot in the colored cemetery was reported sold during the last month.

The Board decided to take no further action relative to opening a street between Fourth and Fifth streets in West Greenville.

The Chief of Police, assistant Police and tax collector made their monthly reports which were accepted.

The resignation of Alderman O. E. Warren, of the Second ward, who has moved away, was read and accepted.

Alderman J. C. Albritton, of the Third ward, tendered his resignation which was accepted.

Charles Cobb was elected to fill the vacancy in the Second ward, and the election of an Alderman for the Third ward was deferred to next meeting.

J. H. Cox was granted permission to transfer his barroom from the Bernard building on Evans street to "Buzzards' Roost" on Fifth street.

License to conduct a restaurant at Carolina Cafe was granted to B. W. Kleibacker.

A summons was read to the Board in a suit instituted by McG. Bryant against the town, and Mayor Moye and Alderman Hart were appointed a committee to confer with the attorneys for the town relative to preparing the answer to the complaint. This suit grew out of the refusal of the Board to pay a bill for $25 which Bryant presented at last meeting claiming that his horse had been damaged by breaking through a sewer bridge.

Accounts amounting to $292.33 were audited and orders for the same drawn.

Coughed Up His Pipe Stem.

Northfield, Vt., Feb 5—After carrying a pipe stem in his body for nearly a year, Charles Ferris, of Waitsfield, has coughed it up and got rid of a chase of persistent and inexplicable indigestion.

Ferris recalls that in the winter of 1900 he fell asleep one evening with his pipe in his mouth, and upon awakening was unable to find the stem. The other day he had a severe coughing spell, and he coughed up the missing article. It was of rubber, 1 1/2 inches in length.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1901.

The House Committee held a long session Thursday night considering the matter of impeaching two of the Supreme Court Judges. After midnight a vote was taken and it stood twenty-three to ten for impeachment. This vote is different from what many people had expected in the matter, but no doubt the committee had sufficient evidence and reason to warrant their action.

Last week a colored servant in the house of Mayor W. S. Cook, of Fayetteville, contracted small pox in a mild form and was carried to the pest house. A day or two after a member of Col. Cook's family broke out with something like varioloid, and as a matter of precaution the family moved into the country. Mrs. Cook has also broken out in the same way since going to the country, but the doctors have not yet pronounced the eruption varioloid. There is not a single case of smallpox in Fayetteville.

A day or so ago The Raleigh Post contained a dispatch that a Philadelphia judge had decided that a man could not be required to support a wife who smoked cigarettes. Now we have it that up in Wisconsin Mrs. Beatrice Tracy sued for a divorce on the ground that Rolly Tracey was a "cigarette fiend." He accepted the soft impeachment, whereupon Judge Purnell allowed the plea and granted an absolute divorce. A Florida exchange asks the Legislature of that State to pass a law that license to marry shall not be granted in that State if the man concerned indulges in the cigarette. As our Legislature is still on the subject of divorce we submit the above for their prayerful consideration.—Greensboro Record.

The Legislatures of several States have undertaken to regulate the lobby. The lobbyists have been driven out of the House chambers in Indiana and Texas, and one branch of the North Carolina Legislature has passed a Lobby Registration act similar that of Wisconsin.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

A woman begins to be an old maid when she begins to be afraid she is going to be one.

You can tell the size of a woman's heart by her muft, and the size of her soul by her hat.

After a girl gets to be 25 without getting married, her heart looks like the second day of a rummage sale.—New York Press.

The Drunken Lieutenant. The Terrible took a prominent part in the bombardment of Odessa. Our second lieutenant, Mr. S., was not a temperate man. Before the bombardment began he sought for courage in a square faced bottle, and when the drum beat to quarters he was in his cabin in a drunken sleep, from which he could not be awakened. As I was midshipman of his quarters, I had to fight his guns. In the evening, when he came to himself, he was put under arrest, and we midshipmen speculated whether he would be shot or hung at the yardarm. Either would have been a thrilling episode, but I am not sure that his fate was not even more tragic. As soon as the anchor was dropped in the Golden Horn, off Stamboul, the captain ordered, "Man the second gig." We all wondered. Then he said, "Tell Mr. S. I want him."

Poor S. came up at once, greatly astonished at the summons. "The second gig is manned, Mr. S.," said the skipper sternly and turned away.

S. took the hint, stepped at once into the boat and was landed at the nearest shore. From that day no soul ever heard what became of him. Whether he committed suicide, whether he got other employment (not a difficult matter in those busy times), whether, under another name, he won for himself the respect of his fellow men has never been known.—Contemporary Review.

John Bull and the Lion.

What could be more absurd than the conventional types of the nations—those types which we see and accept almost every day? England is peculiarly unfortunate. To express our national characteristics we have a choice of two figures, either a burly farmer or a lion. The British lion gets some little support from heraldry, and the national vanity is flattered by the analogy of our powers to those of the king of beasts. But otherwise how little appropriateness there is in representing us by an animal which most Englishmen have only seen in the degrading captivity of a menagerie, which has never within historical times inhabited their islands and about which they know almost nothing.

Considering also the chronically depressed state of British agriculture, it seems an ironical thing that the British nation should be typified by a farmer. If he were a manufacturer or a merchant or a seaman, there would be some appropriateness, but the stout eighteenth century John Bull with whom we are so familiar from allusion and picture is a being quite unknown to us in the flesh. He is just a good example of the time honored, inaccurate, conventional type. All vigor and suggestiveness have long departed from the figure. But we are too indolent to replace him.—London Globe.

New York Hospitality.

The hospitality of smaller places is rare if not unknown in New York. Hospitality there is different and tends to be swamped by numbers and even chilled into an apparent indifference that is really compelled by circumstances. Often it makes a brave fight and never wholly gives up, but it is a struggle against great odds. Not seldom it happens that the enormous aggragation of social and intellectual opportunities that confronts country people who come to live in New York so discourages them that they end in living narrower lives in the great city and seeing fewer people than in the smaller town from which they came. And if it does not discourage them it is apt to drive them too hard. A New Yorker who already had a house in town and another in the country near by excused himself for building a third in New Hampshire by saying: "In town or near town I never get away from engagements. I want a place where I can have some leisure, and leisure to a New Yorker means, of course, a chance to do some work."—Scribner's.

How He Makes Friends.

A Missouri paper says that Senator Cockrell keeps in closer touch with the people of his state than any other man in the senate. One of his habits, according to capitol gossip, is to read in the senate the name of every constituent who sends him a petition. Other senators content themselves with presenting petitions in an indefinite bunch, and in this impersonal fashion they are noted in The Congressional Record. Cockrell's way is different, and when The Record appears there are the names of his constituents, looking very large. "Forthwith to each person thus distinguished goes a copy of The Record, which is shown with much pride at the country store or postoffice, and the voter is a friend of Cockrell for life.

The Government's Building.

The Government buildings at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo are being built by Rasmussen & Strehlow of Omaha. The contract calls for a group of three buildings connected by curved arcades. The main structure is to be 400 by 130 feet, with a dome 250 feet high, and the smaller buildings each 150 feet square. All departments of the government will make up to date exhibits, which the members of the Government board are now busy collecting and getting into shape.

Tobacco Raising Curtailed.

"The high price of cotton will evidently induce the farmers in the cotton growing districts of the Carolinas to plant more cotton and less tobacco which will curtail the production of bright tobacco. The farmers in the bright sections of Virginia speak of diversifying their crops by planting some cotton instead of making a full crop of tobacco. If this should be the case of course the crop of 1901 will be largely curtailed."—Danville, Va. correspondent, Tobacco Journal.

"It is thought the tobacco crop in this county will be cut down at least one-third for this season. I am informed that in one small community, which is one of the finest tobacco sections of the county, the tobacco crop will be cut short 100,000 pounds this year. There may be two reasons assigned for this namely: the leaving of so many of our tobacco growers for the towns, and the tobacco trust buying out the principal factories at our nearest marketing town."—Danbury, N. C. Correspondent Charlotte Observer.

And Lawyers Slip Up Too.

One would think that an attorney at law would know the common "rudiments" if no more, but sometimes one is found who is about as ignorant as a man who never saw a law book. The other day the Clerk of the Court here, Jno. J. Nelson, had a card from an attorney to at once issue an execution in a certain case where judgment had been obtained at the present term of court. He threw the letter aside with disgust, for the law is plain that no execution can issue during the term at which it was secured. This morning he had a letter from a firm of well known attorneys in another town making the same request, or rather jerking him up for not doing it, the writer remarking that when he was in Greensboro he paid him for the execution and instructed him to issue it and he wanted to know why he had not done it, for the sheriff of the county had written him that he had not received it. Mr. Nelson dropped him a line to read a certain section in one of the law books. The term at which the judgment was obtained is still going on and if it lasts a year no execution can issue—Greensboro Record.

There is no question but that there is need for a better law for collecting debts in North Carolina. Almost every man, if indeed not every one, we have spoken to on the subject agrees that the State needs a new law along this line. The business men especially are highly favorable to it. All classes of our citizens need it. The morals of the people demand it. The law is urgent if we are to be a progressive people.—Ex

Surely women can no longer complain that they are denied opportunities to distinguish themselves.
It is said that there are only nine colleges left in the United States that refuse to give them degrees.
Doubtless they will find, however,
as thousands of men have found before, that the possession of a college degree is neither distinction that lasts along in life nor the certain precursor of other distinctions.

Miscreants Shoot at Passengers.

Last week an unsuccessful attempt was made to wreck the Mocksville-Mooresville passenger train near Mocksville. Saturday night another diabolical attempt was made to commit murder. Just after No. 35 had left Spencer, and on good time, some one fired a pistol into the car window, which narrowly missed a passenger. A small hole made by the bullet, showed what had been done. Then another of the wretches threw a coupling pin into the door of the Pullman car, but no damage was done. An investigation was made but no trace was found of the rascals.—Lexington Dispatch.
