STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina

The State Sunday School convention is in session at High Point.

The State Council Jr. O. U. A. M. will meet next year in Wilmington.

Durham is very much disturbed over smallpox, several cases having been found there.

The Tarboro dispensary bill has passed both branches of the Legislature and is now a law.

The Raleigh & Gaston division of the Seaboard Air Line railroad has placed an order for twenty-five new freight engines to be delivered in July and August.

Franchises Belong to the People

"The general principle that all special rights, privileges, and franchises in, over, or under the streets and highways of a city are the property of the corporation and the people," says Bird S. Coler in Everybody's Magazine, "has at last obtained general recognition in public opinion and at the hands of lawmakers. It does not follow, however, that any considerable number of municipalities will shortly undertake to provide transportation, lighting, or other modern conveniences; but proper government will not prevail until every franchise and special privilege granted to individuals and private corporations is made to yield a revenue based upon its actual earning value. The granting of perpetual franchises must remain an unpleasant memory of the days when American cities were ruled and robbed, not governed. No fixed law or rule can be made for the proper regulation of this important feature of municipal business, but in future the grant of any special privilege will be restricted by contracts and limitations to protect the rights of the people and secure a portion of the general income that may one day supersede all direct taxation."

Of two evils some people choose the least; others choose neither, and still others choose both.

Lawyers in the Case.

The managers on the part of the House of Representatives who are to prepare and prefer the articles of impeachment against the Supreme Court judges are getting down to work.

While no meeting was held yesterday, the members conferred with each other.

It was decided to employ counsel, and so far it has been virtually agreed that Gen. T. F. Davidson and ex-Judge Merrimon, of Asheville, Mr. James H. Pou, of Raleigh, and Maj. W. A. Guthrie shall be retained to conduct the prosecution.

The managers had hoped to get the services of Hon. C. B. Watson, of Winston. Mr. Watson has written a letter saying in substance that his engagements are such that he cannot appear in the case.

Maj. W. A. Guthrie is already in the city and is engaged in drafting the articles of impeachment, which will be submitted to the House managers. Major Guthrie is entrusted with this part of the work.

It is not known who will appear in behalf of the judges. It is stated that ex-Governor T. J. Jarvis and Hon. F. I. Osborne will appear for the defence. The judges have received the tender of the services of a number of leading lawyers in the State.

Judge Allen, the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said yesterday that he did not think it would need an extra session of the Legislature to conduct the case. While it will require much extra work on the part of members, he believes that the trial can be finished and public business transacted during the present session.

The managers believe that the articles of impeachment can be completed Thursday, and they may be presented to the Senate Friday. —Raleigh Post.

A Tennessee statesman proposes to solve the egg problem of whether eggs should be sold by weight or count, as they are now sold. He has introduced a bill giving the required dimensions of a regulation egg and making it a misdemeanor for a hen to lay anything smaller.

One tobacco firm of Wilson has made a shipment of 500 hogsheds of the weed direct to Europe. This is probably the largest single shipment ever made in this State by one firm.

New Postoffice Ruling.

A new postoffice ruling has gone into effect, imposing a fine of $2,000 or one year's imprisonment on any one who carelessly or otherwise takes mail not belonging to them from the office and fails to return it immediately. This applies to newspapers as well as letters and other valuable mail. People, when taking mail from the office, should examine it before they leave the building; it will only take a moment and save a great deal of trouble. To say it was the postmaster's fault will cut no figure in this ruling.

The Governor Level-Headed

Governor Aycock, in his Morganton speech, said there was nothing prettier than a sixteen-year old girl. He has evidently carried his gallantry in the Executive Mansion, as we see he has complained that its walls are not brightened by the pictures of enough ladies, there being only the picture of the wife of ex-Governor Jarvis. No unworthy policy can issue from a room ever watched by the eyes of our good women. If our Governor decorates the Executive Mansion with the pictures of more women, this editor will want to run for governor next time. —Morganton Herald.

Foes To Tobacco.

The young ladies of Springfield, according to an exchange, have organized an anti-tobacco club and proposes to make it pretty warm for the young men who chew the weed. The more poetical members of the society have commenced writing rhymes, the following being a few specimens:

He who chews the nasty plug
Shall never have my waist to hug.
Here is one that repels the tobacco chewing lover with scorn:
He who will tobacco spit
Shall be my own true loved one, nit.

Another one, who no doubt has read Tom Moore, handed in the following:

You may rinse, you may gargle
your throat like a jug,
But the scent of tobacco still clings round your mug.

Social Philosophy.

Every bargain you pick up at an auction sale must be knocked down to you.

An irreverent writer says that Satan's fall was probably due to his having slipped on a peal of thunder.

Sentiment is changing. When a minister calls, there is no longer consternation when he sees a deck of cards on the table.

As people grow older they begin to grow more alarmed over the brief time in which a family looks serious after there has been a death in it.

Our heart goes out to a certain Atchison woman who was saving money to give a big reception, and when she had just half enough her cow died.

An Atchison girl is having her revenge. She is a collector, and one of her bills is against a married man who left her to marry another girl, and whose domestic expenses have made him "slow pay."

SPRING NECKWEAR BEAUTY.

IS IN FULL BLOOM.

The great trans-atlantic liners that came across the water last week brought to us neckwear fresh from the sunny shores of the old country.

SPRING NECKWEAR

in profusion may be seen almost anywhere, but the quality we show today cannot be found anywhere else at the price

50c

Even we never saw such elegance for so little money. Designs and colorings entirely new. Get a look at the new styles. No other store ever offered qualities as good as these for less than one dollar and we could probably get that for these neckties too if we should ask it, but the price is 50c.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1901.

It is said that a bill has been introduced in the Connecticut Legislature which contains the following provision: "Every bachelor who shall remain unmarried at the age of forty shall not thereafter be allowed to enter into any matrimonial alliance except upon the payment to the State of Connecticut of the sum of $100."

The weight which should be attached to the average petition was well exemplified by a story told by our Salisbury correspondent a few days ago. It appears that many petitions, on various subjects, have been in circulation in Salisbury, recently, and a practical joker conceived the idea of getting up one in favor of burning the court house. He did so and got it numerously signed. The average man will sign almost anything that is presented to him except a promissory note.—Charlotte Observer.

In a letter to his parents a Missouri boy who is with the army in the Philippines writes of having seen some "wild monkeys playing about among the orange blossoms" near Laguna de Bay. "I have seen many Monkeys in the country," says the Missourian, "but my fancy had never associated them with orange blossoms. It reminded me of a negro I once saw in Cuba selling bottles of fiery rum from a basket made of goldenrod. A certain quartermaster sergeant of Rough Riders bought a quantity of the liquor for which he gave the 'ombre' an order on the commissary written on the reverse side of a pledge which he had signed before his captain to abstain from drink for six months."

Whether they will or no, the plain people must in some fashion observe the Lenten season. They may not put on figurative sackcloth and ashes, nor emulate the penitential gloom of remorseful devotees, nor mortify the flesh by fasting and prayer and self denial. In outward appearance the conditions and routine of living may remain unchanged, and the forty days of penance may seem like a mere formal division of the calendar. But in our complex social fabric—especially in highly organized and populous communities—the disposition and practice of any considerable number of the population finds an echo and reflection from every level of the social scale. Fashion's imperious demands are abated; the varied programme of public and private entertainment is ostentatiously pruned and curtailed; works of charity and beneficence command the general attention, and the unending procession of humanity marches mechanically to the music of repentance and re-trenchment. None may escape the impress of these Lenten influences except by putting away civilization itself.—Philadelphia Record.

The Common School System Engulfed in Experimental Instruction.

"Cities having undertaken to supplement the work of the States in the matter of free education have assumed a grave responsibility, and the character of the citizenship of the future, as well as the quality of government, depends upon the correct solution of the problem involved," says Bird S. Coler in Everybody's Magazine. "With millions to spend for free schools, there opened a wide field for experiments. The education of the masses in such a popular thing that any person who proposes to contribute a plan or a suggestion to the scheme is certain of a hearing, and too often of opportunity for mischief. A wave of fadism has swept over the country in recent years, and in many cities it has almost engulfed the common schools, that were originally the means of the free education for which property was taxed. The proper government of any municipality requires a prompt return to a system of thorough instruction in the public schools in those studies that are the true base of all higher education. Municipal income does not justify the maintenance of any general system of so-called higher education or the teaching of fads and experiments. If there are high schools, they must be maintained to provide rewards of merit and industry in the common schools, and they ought to include a special course of study preparatory for service in the city government. But the real function and duty of good municipal government is to provide a thorough course of practical study and teaching that will enable the children of the poor to acquire the true foundation of higher education before they are compelled to go to work. The boys and girls who are forced to work at fifteen may, with a little assistance, educate themselves as they toil if they have been thoroughly taught the rudiments of a practical English education. For supplement knowledge the city can provide the means with night schools free lectures, libraries, and reading-rooms."

One of the great problems that confronts a woman is that she doesn't know if her husband will come home feeling poor, and scold because she has so much to eat or feeling rich, and scold because there is so little.—Atchison Globe

One Woman's Ruling Passion.
 "There goes a woman," said the girl, "who hasn't a thought on earth except dress. I know that superior man attributes this particular weakness to all women—but it's a canard, as of course are nine out of ten of male estimates of women."
 She conquered a refractory button on her glove before she continued: "But that woman who passed us is, without doubt, the most dress-crazy woman I have ever met. She knows no topic save dress—can speak of no other subject. She spends one half of her time at her dress-maker's, and the other half is used in exploiting the handicraft of the modiste. Goodness only knows when she manages to get anything to eat. She's dead to every feeling. I believe, except that which has to do with dress. And what do you think she said Saturday? I met her as we were going out of a house of mourning. A young woman whom we both knew had died, and we had been at the funeral. Coming down the steps I noticed my friend, but the feeling of sorrow was too fresh upon me to permit anything more than a nod of recognition. For half a square we walked side by side. Then I said, 'Poor, dear Clara—alive and well one week ago, and now—and she's gone!'
 "Yes," answered my friend blandly, "but wasn't she dressed beautifully? Really, it was a treat to see her!"—Philadelphia Press.

Will Power.
 "As a lawyer Quibb's success is due largely to his great power of will."
 "Yes, I understand he has broken more wills than any other man at the bar."—Philadelphia North American.

Every woman who owns a sack is wearing sackcloth.
 A fitting occupation for women is that of dressmaker.
 Some people's shortcoming is that they are so long going.
 Even the professional strong man can't always raise a beard.
 It's funny that the girls who don't fancy work do fancy work.
 Love usually isn't so blind that it can't distinguish a dollar mark.
 Some women seem to think that there never was secret worth keeping.

School Term and Solvent Credits.

The Legislature is pledged in the most sacred manner to give a four-months school to every school district in North Carolina.

If it does well in everything else and fails there, it is a failure and will not meet the approval of the men who elected its members. In addition to the pledge, the passage of the constitutional amendment makes it the supremest duty of the State to educate the boys because they will be deprived of the ballot after 1908 if they do not learn to read and write by that time.

The pledge cannot be kept unless the Legislature provides the necessary revenue. The Legislature cannot provide the necessary revenue unless it puts machinery in motion that will secure the listing of property that is not now listed at all. The solvent credits of the State escape taxation. This species of property belongs to men amply able to pay tax on it, but many do not list at all, or if at all, not at its true value. They lock the notes and mortgages up in their safes and do not give them in. A gentleman in Raleigh, talking of this matter yesterday, said: "I know a man who has $5,000 worth of solvent credits. He claims to owe about $4,500 and only gives in $500 for taxation. It is not believed he owes $1,000. He ought to be made to show under oath how much and to whom he owes the amounts that he deducts from the $5,000. If that were required, he would pay tax on $3,500 or $4,000 instead of on $500."

There is but one way to secure the payment of tax on solvent credits, and that is to insert in the machinery act that the note not listed for taxation can be collected by law. That could be done without prejudicial publicity and it is done in other States. Solvent credits will never be listed for taxation until some such thorough and efficient method is provided.—

If a recent report from Chicago is to be believed that city is the home of one of the strongest men in the country. The dispatch referred to asserted that two burglars drove up to the door of the residence of a millionaire banker in a cutter, and while one of them held the horse the other climbed up the front porch, pried open a window and carried out a 300-pound safe. Chicago may well be proud of a man who could hold a 300-pound safe under one arm while sliding down a verandah post.

The improvement noted in recent numbers of Everybody's Magazine is still more conspicuous in the March issue. This is a first-rate magazine, brim-full of individuality, containing remarkably strong stories and articles of distinct interest and readableness. Among the ten-cent monthlies it is rapidly forging to the front, and it bids fair to contest the supremacy of its most widely circulated contemporaries.

THE FOLKS YOU SEE

Coming and Going This New Century.

J. E. Williams returned to Raleigh today.

W. J. Rollins went to Bethel this morning.

Dr. E. S. Willard left this morning for Norfolk.

W. S. Atkins returned Thursday evening from New York.

Mayor J. G. Moyer returned Thursday evening from Raleigh.

W. B. Brown returned Thursday evening from the northern markets.

Mrs. Bettie Taft and daughter, Mrs. Daniels, left this morning for Tarboro.

Mrs. W. H. Long left this morning for Raleigh to visit her sister, Mrs. Russ.

Miss Nancy Moore left this morning for Norfolk to visit the family of G. M. Tucker.

Miss Nannie Moyer, of Kinston, came over this morning to visit her sister, Mrs. R. W. King.

Miss Addie Johnson, of Griton, came up this morning to visit her sister, Mrs. C. D. Rountree.

E. L. Brooks and bride (nee Miss Aylmer Sugg) arrived Thursday evening to visit the family of R. J. Cobb.

Nicholson--Edwards.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Nora Lavine Nicholson, of Vaughn, to Mr. Washington P. Edwards, of Greenville, Thursday morning, February 28th, at 11:30 o'clock.

Judge Moore Resigned.

Judge A. M. Moore, one of the criminal Court Judges of the State, has sent his resignation to Governor Aycock. Judge Moore was led to this decision because of his feeble health, the work necessary to attending and holding his courts being too arduous for him. He has made a good Judge and given general satisfaction wherever he has held court. As the Legislature has abolished the criminal courts, to take effect the first of July, it is doubtful if the Governor will make an appointment to fill the unexpired term of Judge Moore.
