WEATHER BULLETIN.

Occasional rains tonight and probably Saturday, southerly winds fresh to brisk on the coast.

Kind Hearted Editors.

A subscriber to a certain paper died and left 14 years of subscription unpaid. The editor appeared at the grave as the lid was being screwed down for the last time and put in a linen duster, a thermometer, a palm leaf fan and a recipe for making ice. Editors, as a rule, are not prosperous, but are kind hearted and considerate.

Be Vaccinated.

Compulsory vaccination is in vogue at several places in the eastern section of the State. It may strike this way yet, and if it does about the most foolish thing people can do is to resist it. When there is danger from smallpox the best safe-guard is vaccination, and it looks like everybody should want to take the safest steps for their own protection.

Express Promotion.

Mr. O. T. Boney, who for a long time has been express messenger between Weldon and Kinston, has been promoted to the agency at Weldon and took charge of that office today. There is no man in the express service more worthy and deserving of promotion than Mr. Boney and we are glad this has come his way. Mr. W. D. Farmer takes the position as messenger on this road.

Eastern War Relics.

This week Mr. R. R. Cotten received from his son, Capt. Lyman Cotten, who has for sometime been amid the Oriental war scenes in the Philippines and China, a box containing some of the weapons used by the people over there in their warfare. In the box were two rifles of different pattern, a pistol with a barrel as large as a shot gun, a sword, and some bullets. The sword was the most modern in appearance of any of the weapons. Mr. Cotten says he also has a Chinese flag, which his son sent him, that was captured at Tein Tsin. He is getting quite a collection of relics.

The man in business who fails to advertise is like a flying fish. He may soar into the air for a brief space, but eventually must drop out of sight.—Charlotte News.

A Dog's Advantage.

A gentleman of this city received a note from a niece who lives out west the other day, and it contained the following written in type on a slip of paper:

"A Dutchman, addressing his dog, said:

"My dog, you have a schnapp. You vas only a dog and I vas a man, but I vish I vas you, You effry way haf the best of it. Ven you go mid the bed in, you shust durn round tree times and lay down. Ven I go mid the bed in I haf to lock up de blace und vind up the clock und put the cat out und andress myself und my vife vakes up und scolds me; den de baby cries und I haf to vawk him up and down; den maybe ven I shust go to schleepi ts time to get out again. Ven you get up you stretch yourself and scratch yourself a couple of times and you vas up. I haf to light the fire und put on the kittle, scrap some mid my vife already, and maybe I get some breakfast. You blay around all day and haf plenty of fun. I haf to vork all day und haf plenty of trouble. Ven yous die yous dead. Ven I die I haf to go to hell yet!"—Charlotte People's Paper.

Arrested for "Borrowing" a Newspaper.

B. A. Vance, a well to do business man in New Belford, Mass., was fined $10 by a police magistrate for taking a copy of a daily paper which had been left at the store of H. B. DeWolf. Mr. DeWolf missed his paper frequently, complained to the police, and they arrested Mr. Vance in the act. Mr. Vance said he had simply borrowed the paper and did not intend to steal, as he was well able to buy his own and was, in fact, a subscriber to the paper. He had to pay his fine just the same.

The people of Sweden are dissatisfied with their national anthem, which is antiquated and does not appeal to the emotions of modern Scandinavians. Consequently an organization formed for the purpose has issued invitations to a select number of song writers to compose a new anthem to be sung at concerts which will be held in all the principal towns on a fixed day. The song which shall be received with the greatest approbation at these concerts is to be adopted as the new national anthem.

BETHEL ITEMS

BETHEL, N. C., March 1, 1901. Rev G. W. Green, a returned missionary from China, delivered a very entertaining, instructive and appealing lecture in the Baptist church last evening. He gave a description of the field and the work in China, and told of the great necessity of our aid over there.

B. W. Moseley is here buying up the "held-for-high-prices" cotton.

Prof. McWhorter has sold his cotton. Look out for higher prices.

Misses "FE" and "Mat E" Grimes went to Tarboro this week to take a special course in music—one of a series of visits.

Little Jesse Bulluck is down with typhoid pneumonia.

Henry Staton is present for the (sick) roll call.

Master Marvin Blount is at Rocky Mount being treated for rheumatism by Dr. Smith, Osteopathist.

Mrs. M. O. Blount went up to Conetoe yesterday on a visit.

The Misses Rose were around shopping yesterday.

Is this the largest hog? He weighed 836 gross and 752 net. He was sold here by Rufus Carson, the owner. The hog was 2 years and 7 months old.

J. W. Chadwick will go to Rocky Mount Sunday and will leave there Monday for Baltimore, Washington and New York.

A. Ward, J. W. Thomas and others of this place, were in Tarboro this week at the bedside of Mr. Jim Barnhill, who is seriously ill.

In the 20 round bout before the Bethel Athletic Club Wednesday night, a draw was declared between Van Staton and Junius Chadwick. It was the cleverest and fairest boxing this reporter ever witnessed.

Rev. J. W. Rose was ill with grip Tuesday.

It is remarkable how well Uncle Betts stands everything that comes along. Why, he plodded through the deep snow Saturday like an Esquimo, receiving no more injury therefrom than one of these people reared in the land of snow.

Miss Geneva and Master Woodie Gardner, of Greenville, are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. W. G. Keel has returned from near Greenville, where she visited her sick brother.

Harry Freemond's aunt, Mrs. —, of Pittsburg, Pa., is visiting the former here.

A pound party was managed at the hall Wednesday night. Among the pounds was a valuable package, containing one pound of Railroad Mills snuff.

Misses Alice Carson and Essie Albritton went to Baltimore Monday.

Misses Leggie Moore and Bettie Manning are visiting here.

Runaway.

On Thursday a horse belonging to Mr. Jesse Proctor, west of the depot, run away. The horse was being hitched to a cart when he dashed off. He dashed across the railroad and came down Dickinson avenue, took a circuit around town and run back home. All of the cart but the shafts left hanging by the hames chain was lost in the journey. The horse was considerably hurt.

SPRING NECKWEAR BEAUTY

IS IN FULL BLOOM.

The great trans-atlantic liners that came across the water last week brought to us neckwear fresh from the sunny shores of the old country.

SPRING NECKWEAR

in profusion may be seen almost anywhere, but the quality we show today cannot be found anywhere else at the price

50c

Even we never saw such elegance for so little money! Designs and colorings entirely new. Get a look at the new styles. No other store ever offered qualities as good as these for less than one dollar and we could probably get that for these neckties too if we should ask it, but the price is 50c.

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1901.

The committee on the election law have agreed on some important changes. The most important is the appointment of four poll holders at each voting place, and not more than two of them shall belong to the same party, and they may be selected by their respective parties. Another change is to allow ballots to be counted when deposited in the wrong box, unless it is proved that they were fraudulently so deposited by the voter. There will be no more elections in August.—Pittsboro Record.

A very large number of bills have passed, and a number will yet pass, the Legislature, empowering municipalities to issue bonds for various necessary purposes. If a citizen of the State—let him or her be a widow or guardian—invest in these securities, he or she must pay State as well as county, tax; also town or city tax, if resident of such. Of course a non resident purchaser of such bonds cannot be taxed. Ought not our own people be placed upon an equality with the non-resident in this matter? As it is, the resident will not buy the securities because of this discrimination, and thus the State would lose nothing by encouraging the home people to invest in home securities. The interest is low enough, too, to justify this consideration. If it were capital invested in enterprises or stocks paying a higher rate of interest, then it would be taxed as such. But we submit that a low interest-bearing public bond should be non-taxable, whether issued by county or town, let it be held by whomsoever it may. Let us encourage the accumulation of capital at home, and specially encourage its being kept at home.—Raleigh Post.

Good For All.

Many successful men have borne testimony to the efficacy of newspaper advertising in the exploits of medical, food, patented and other articles, all manufactures of such commodities agreeing that without the liberal use of newspaper space the measure of success which they have achieved would have been impossible. That the same mediums of publicity are equally important to merchants and to others whose business is confined to a community or section has been proved by the practical experience of thousands. For example Mack & Co., of Ann Arbor, who started with a small stock of dry goods, have built up the largest trade in general merchandise in Southern Michigan, and the manager has declared that the chief element in the success of his firm has been a larger use of newspaper space than has been employed by any rival establishment.—Philadelphia Record.

A Dream of the Future.

One hundred years ago our forefathers would have stood aghast to witness a vestibule train fly by at the rate of sixty miles an hour.

They would have stamped the man who would have dared dream of the possibilities of electricity as ephemeral and visionary.

Had the phonograph given out its records of melody; its reproduction of the human voice, they would have doubtless have pronounced it some uncanny production of witchcraft.

The bicycle, the horseless carriage and a hundred other modern inventions that makes living in this old world of sin and pain, love and laughter, smiles and tears, more endurable, were further from the possibilities of their lives, than talking with Mars, is today.

Who shall gainsay the prediction that fifty, aye twenty-five years hence, the milk man will ring an electric bell from the dashboard of his milkomobile at our doors each morning in the week, and measure out his lacteous product by simply pressing a button.

The farmer, will no longer have to be troubled by breaking girths and twisting traces, but will bring his butter and eggs and chickens; his lambs and calves, his turnips and apples to market in a hill-climbing, valley-splitting automobile.

Telephonic connections between the city and country will be complete, and the up-to-date farmer will take his orders from his city customers over the 'phone, and huckstering and peddling will go out of existence, and the cry of "fresh feesh" will no longer arouse the belated sleeper from his morning snooze.

But to make these dreams come true, there is one important matter that must be looked after.

These modern inventions, these devices for the saving of the nerve force, both of man and beast, must have the way prepared for them.

We must have good roads for these milkomobiles, automobiles and what not to travel over. And it might be well for our present legislature to remember the possibilities of the future for the farmer—if we have good roads.—Charlotte News.

The Kissing Bug.

The Clifton, (Tenn.) News, which is edited by Miss Jennie King, says: "For the protection of our girls and not to interfere with their rights, we will state that there are two kinds of kissing bugs—the fatal and non-fatal. The non-fatal is entirely harmless and is known by having two legs, while the fatal has six legs. Just keep cool and count the legs and you'll know when to submit and when to fight." Query: Is this a case of experience speaking what it knows?

The Wilmington Messenger hits the nail on the head when it says the smallpox is now in 12 counties after two or three years of its prevalence in North Carolina. It looks as if it will never again disappear, and all by reason of the carelessness, uncleanness, and roaming disposition of negroes who "tote it around" and distribute it. It is steadily spreading.

A bridle path—the church aisle. No, Maude, dear; opera singers should not be referred to as operators.

The careful housewife who saves money on eggs feels like crowing about it.

The man behind the gun doesn't seem to be in it with the man behind the pull.

A RESOURCE OF Strength and Energy.

Paine's Celery Compound

Harry D. Elks, Glens Falls, N. Y., writes:

"Early last spring I found that I was tired and languid, my appetite was failing, and I was becoming run down generally. I was advised to take Paine's Celery Compound, and after using it I never felt so well in all my life as I do now. It braced me up, gave me strength and vigor and made a new man of me. I recommend it to all persons who have tired and languid feelings, to all athletes, and to all who work hard mentally."

Paine's Celery Compound restores, strengthens and sustains vital energy and muscular force.

GREENVILLE KNITTING MILLS.

A Mad Buffalo.

The fates are sometimes kind to the news gatherer. While seated in our office yesterday bemoaning the condition of things generally, while the compositors were yelling, "copy," a red headed man rushed right into the sanctum, and after glancing around he said, excitedly.

"I am a Buffalo."

"Well, that's alright," we replied.

"Well, say, who's the head of the order?"

"The last man initiated, generally."

"Well, say, I gave a man 11 cents to put me in and he told me there was going to be a big meeting tonight. Do you know any thing about it?"

"How much did you give him, did you say?"

"Eleven cents."

"You're lucky."

"How's that?"

"Didn't he give you the first rule?"

"No."

"Didn't he give you the grip and pass words?"

"No, he didn't give me anything. I did the giving. I want my 11 cents back."

"What's your name?"

"My name is Smith and I want my money."

"Why don't you initiate some one and get it back?"

"How do you initiate them?"

"Give me 11 cents and I'll show you."

Now, you look here; I want to know what kind of game this Buffalo business is, any how. Ain't there any way that I can get my money back?"

"Yes."

"What is it?"

"Initiate some one else?"

"How am I going to do it?"

"Find out the rules, grips and pass words and make them pay you 11 cents."

"I'm no sucker, I'd have you to understand."

"But you are a Buffalo—"

"Buffalo be—" he exclaimed, growing red in the face. "I am going to have that swindler arrested if he don't give me my money back." And hestalked out of the office as if he meant what he said.

been spending some weeks with relatives around Falkland, took the train here this morning for Washington City enroute to his home.
Mr. Taylor is a native of Pitt county and left here when but 14-years of age for the west. He is now in his 70's, but very hale and hearty.

Card of Thanks.

I return thanks to every one who assisted me in trying to save my goods and property during the fire of last Friday night.

One Boy Kills Another.

At Rocky Mount on Wednesday
two boys, one white and one colored, both about 13 or 14 years of age, became involved in a quarrel.
The colored boy struck the white boy over the head with a stick and the latter died from the injury inflicted by the blow. The colored boy was arrested and has been placed in jail at Tarboro to await trial for murder.

The white boy was named Richard Dickens and the colored boy
George Bay.

Died.

At her home near Farmville Pitt
Co. N. C. Jan. 20, 1901, Mrs.
Betty Barrette, wife of E. A. Bar-rette passed from earth to Heaven at the age of forty-two years. She was ever ready to minister unto the poor and afflicted, a kind wife and devoted mother. We shall miss her as a friend and neighbor, though God in His Wisdom hath seen fit to take her unto Himself and release her from the sufferings which she had so patiently endured for several months. She leaves a husband and five children, the youngest four years of age, a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn their loss. F. B.

Cut His Throat Again.

This morning Mr. Paul Metrick, the tailor, made another attempt to take his life. This time he cut a gash on his throat again and also took laudanum. He had been drinking hard for some days past and his rashness is due to this cause.
Some months ago while on a spree he cut his throat. Poor fellow, it seems that whiskey has got the advantage of him. Yet there are people of influence who will do nothing to put the great evil out of reach of men who are too weak to resist it, but, on the other hand, use their influence to keep it where it will blight men's lives and send them to destruction.

A man must have the key to the situation before he can wind up his affairs.
