ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS

Made by the Orange Va. Observer.

Congress did one good thing—it adjourned.

Clerical errors are sermons more than an hour long.

The farmer is now turning up something—with his plow.

The miner in choosing his profession always takes his pick.

Stolen kisses smack of vice—their naughty flavor makes them nice.

Of course our girl is the sweetest in the State, because she is made of Orange.

Now that the bees have commenced to hum, you may know that Spring has come.

The grumbler will complain of the small amount of fire they have when he reaches hades.

The river and harbor bill was stranded on the Congressional bar and the life savers could not rescue it.

Such is Life.

A newspaper man was asked to publish an article roasting a citizen. "Certainly," he said to the caller, "what shall I write?" He was furnished with an outline of what was wanted, and wrote an article that was a scorcher. "That's splendid," exclaimed the man, delightedly, when the article was read to him. "That is right; that'll make his old hair crinkle." "All right," said the editor; "let me see, what are your initials?" "Good heavens," said the citizen, "you are not going to sign my name to that?" "Why not?" asked the editor. "I wouldn't have anyone know that I had anything to do with that for the world; I can't afford to get into a fray with my neighbors." The editor smiled benevolently and said: "Why should I get mixed up in a scrap that does not concern me? Why should you expect me to assume the blame of all publication of such an article to which you are afraid to sign your name?" The man stopped his paper and went away mad. And such is life.—Durham Sun.

LIVERY STABLES BURNED.

J. F. King Burned Out Again.

Early Sunday morning the livery stables occupied by J. F. King, on the corner of Second and Reade streets, another stables near by occupied by E. B. Ficklen, and a one story dwelling house were destroyed by fire.

The fire originated in King's stables and must have started after 4 o'clock. When the people in the neighborhood were first aroused by the fire it was 4:30 o'clock and the stables were then a mass of flames and almost ready to fall in. Five horses perished in the fire, and beside these Mr. King lost all of his vehicles and everything else he had in the stables, nothing at all was saved.

Mr. Ficklen had three horses in the other stables to which the flames spread so quickly that they were narrowly saved. All the feed stuff in his stables was destroyed.

The dwelling house belonged to a little orphan boy named Jack Teel. It was occupied by some women who took care of the boy for the rent of the house. They got their furniture out. There was no insurance on the house.

The stables buildings both belonged to Mrs. H. E. Daniel, but there was only $200 insurance on the one occupied by Mr. King.

This is the second time Mr. King has been burned out in a month. On the night of the 22nd of February his stables on Fifth street were destroyed, and after this he located at these other stables. He had $1,000 insurance on his stock which but little more than half covered his loss.

The total loss of this fire Sunday morning is estimated at about $2,750 with $1,200 insurance.

Owing to the distance from the heart of the town and the dead hour of night it was some time before the alarm was heard. The fire department was all out but it was too late to save anything. The engine only threw water a short while on the fire to deaden it.

It's an ill wind that blows the doctor good.

Some people are so lazy they get tired resting.

It's generally the man with well shaped legs who goes in for golf.

MURDER AT AYDEN.

C. C. Braxton Cut to Death.

Whiskey is responsible for another murder being added to the criminal list of Pitt county.

At Ayden Saturday night several parties got to fussing in a bar-room when C. C. Braxton received a terrible cut on the side of his neck from which he bled to death in about five minutes.

Coroner Laughinghouse went down Sunday to hold an inquest, but the evidence developed failed to fix the responsibility of the killing. Braxton, Lewis McLawhorn, Lewis Griffin and a negro were all mixed up in it, and Griffin was also badly cut.

It seems that there had been trouble between some of the parties during the day, and it was renewed after night. Not long before the killing McLawhorn went before the Mayor to have a warrant issued for one of the others. The negro who was connected with the trouble has disappeared.

It is an unfortunate affair and the people at Ayden very much regret its occurrence.

Trinity College Notes.

The catalogue which will be out in a few days will show that there has been a marked growth in library additions. A great many books have been purchased, and there have also been several highly appreciated donations of books. During this week Dr. R. A. Moore, of Durham, has donated 105 bound volumes, and 335 pamphlets. Mr. John Kirkland, of Durham, presented 8 volumes, and Mr. J. C. Thomas, of New York City, 7 bound volumes of the New York Christian Advocate, and 18 valuable pamphlets. All these donations are very valuable, and the generosity of the donors is very highly appreciated.

Prof. Shailer Matthews, Dean of Chicago university, delivered a lecture in the college chapel, Monday evening on "The Christian Scholar in an Age of Transition."

The Junior class has elected the Archive staff for next year as follows: Editor in Chief, H. R. Dwier, of Winston, N. C. Manager, E. S. Yarbrough, of Locust Hill, N. C. The Archive is under the supervision of the Senior class, and the newly elected staff will take charge of the magazine at the beginning of next college year.

Arrangements have been made for a series of lectures to be delivered in West Durham on Thursday evening of each week. The first of the series was delivered this week by President Kilgo.

The extension of the limits of the city of Durham takes in only a portion of the college campus. Only a small part of the athletic field is inside the incorporation. The municipality of "Trinity Park" will not be continued.

Ex Sheriff Joseph Cobb, of Edgecombe, died last week. He was 70 odd years old and an excellent man. Ex-Sheriff Allen Warren tells us years ago he was a deputy under Sheriff Cobb in Edgecombe and got his first knowledge of the business of a sheriff's office from him.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

Closing Scenes of the Late Session of the General Assembly.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

Raleigh, March 18.—The Legislature of 1901 is now but a memory, final adjournment having been reached at 11:30 o'clock Friday morning last. As the dying notes of the swan are always the sweetest so were the closing scenes of this General Assembly the most pleasant and enjoyable.

President of the Senate Turner and Speaker of the House Moore were each presented with a magnificent silver service, and Sergeant-at-Arms Smith of the Senate (and no man ever holding that office has had more friends) and Doorkeeper Bennett of the House were presented with handsome gold-headed canes.

"Father" Justice of the Senate and "Father" Jenkins of the House made feeling farewell addresses—that of the latter having been one of the most eloquent and emotional ever heard within the walls of the House, of which he was first a member forty (40) years ago. Indeed, this venerable minister of the Gospel of Christ on more than one previous occasion during the session proved himself to be by far the most eloquent member of the General Assembly, when it came to appealing to the hearts and emotions of men, and his superior anywhere is not known to this writer.

THEFT OF PENITENTIARY FUNDS.

The sensation of the week came on the day preceding adjournment when the Governor announced in a message to the General Assembly that the State Treasury had been robbed. The loss occurs through the defalcation of Maj. W. H. Martin, clerk under Treasurer Worth (fusionist) and in charge of the State Prison funds—who admits taking $3,800 of the $4,000 shortage so far discovered. Those who knew the man were astounded by the revelation, and the defaulter voluntarily delivered himself up to the authorities and confessed his crime as soon as he learned that it had been discovered—making no effort to escape.

A woman is said to be the cause of his downfall—a young, pretty woman, not residing here, if reports are correct. Maj. Martin is past 60 years of age. He is a northern man by birth, was an officer in the Union army during the civil war, but has resided in Raleigh for 35 years, and leading an honest and upright life, had drawn many friends to him during that time. But he is now in jail and a legislative committee is investigating the books of the State treasurer—having begun their work today (Monday) and it is feared that even a larger deficit may be discovered.

BILLS THAT FAILED.

Over 4,000 bills were introduced in the houses during the legislative session, and several hundred failed, most of those lost being rejected by committees.

But some important bills that not only received favorable reports but passed one branch failed in the other, and among the later were the following:

To restore to the legislature power to prescribe and regulate terms of public officers, their duties and their emoluments. To prevent guaranty companies from requiring deposits to be deposited in national banks. To expunge from the record the resolution of expulsion of Josiah Turner from the House. To regulate the sale of cigarettes (Brown's bill from the Senate). To furnish books to indigent pupils in the public schools. To prevent the State from hiring farm laborers. To carry out the constitutional requirement as to public schools. To prohibit the sale or gift of intoxicating liquors to minors, idiots and sane persons. To make the Commissioner of Agriculture State game warden and promote the propagation of game birds and animals. To make it a misdemeanor to keep whites and negroes in the same cell in jail. To provide for county farms and the working of convicts thereon. To change the design of the State flag. In regard to jointers. To instruct the Attorney General to sue ex-Treasurer Worth and sureties. To give the Superior Courts jurisdiction of bastardy. To provide for compulsory attendance at school in Mitchell county. To establish a State Normal school at Winston. To allow the State Board of Education to appoint three supervisors of public schools. To reduce the price of school books.

COURT OF IMPEACHMENT.

The trial of the Supreme Court Judges is now in full swing.

Owing to the press and importance of delayed legislation the Court on Monday last, adjourned till Thursday, when Representative Allen for the prosecution opened the case by a speech that made seventeen columns in the Raleigh morning papers.

On Friday the taking of testimony was begun, and continued all day Saturday, Clerk of the Supreme Court Kenan and clerk of the Perquimans county Superior Court and lawyer J. C. L. Harris being the witnesses examined.

Gov. Jarvis and other counsel on Saturday arose and complained of editorials in the News and Observer, and stated that they hoped Senators would not allow that newspaper to try the case for them or any paper but would be guided and governed by the law and the evidence alone.

To-day the trial was resumed and the taking of testimony for the prosecution continued. It looks now as though the trial will last at least the balance of this month. Perhaps longer. LLEWXAM.

government in its whole constitutional vigor as the sheet anchor of our peace at home abroad.

A jealous care of the right of election by the people.

A mild and safe correction of abuses which are lopped off by the sword of revolution where peaceable remedies are unproved.

Absolute acquiescence in the decisions of the majority, the vital principle of republics, from which there is no appeal but to force, the vital principle and immediate parent of despotism.

A well-disciplined militia, our best reliance in peace, and for the first movement in war till regulars may relieve them.

The supremacy of the civil over the military authority.

Economy in the public expenses that labor may be lightly burdened.

The honest payment of our debts and sacred preservation of the public faith.

Encouragement of agriculture and of commerce as its handmaid, the diffusion of information, and arraignment of all abuses at the bar of public opinion.

Freedom of religion, freedom of the press, and freedom of the person under the protection of the habeas corpus and trial by jurors impartially selected.

These principles form the bright constellation which has gone before us and guided our steps through an age of revolution and information—Pittsburg Post.

An Indiana man thrust his hand into a horse's mouth to see how many teeth the animal had. The horse closed his jaws on the man's hand to see how many fingers the man had. The curiosity of both was satisfied. Now if it just had been a hen instead of a horse, how much better off that man would have been.—Orange Va. Observer.

A Weather Legend.

It has been said by many old students of weather "that every year must right itself," that is, there must be a certain amount of all kinds of weather; a certain amount of dry weather, a certain amount of rainy weather, etc. In line with this, Mr. J. Van Lindley tells us that his experience has been that "every pound of dust in the month of March is worth a pound of gold to the farmers during the summer-growing season," in other words, if it be dry in March and earlier it's quite sure to right itself later on and give the tiller of the soil plenty of rain to assist the growing of his crops. So judging by the amount of dust we are having now, the outlook for the coming season is very good.

There is probably no better judge of the matter in the country than Mr. Lindley, whose long and successful experience in the nursery business has well fitted him to be a true weather prophet.—Greensboro Telegram.

Miss Sallie Cotton accompanied by Miss Bessie Henderson, of Salisbury, came in Saturday evening. They spent the night and Sunday here with Miss Pattie Skinner and went out to Cottondale in the afternoon.

One Boy Cuts Another.

Sunday afternoon several boys went to the pump in the yard of Mr. Alfred Forbes to get some water. They had a contention and used some cuss words over the dipper and a fight followed between Hill Horne and Hassell Daniel. Hassell stuck his knife in Hill's breast, making a right severe wound. Fortunately for Hill the knife struck the centre breast bone which prevented it penetrating to the hollow. Jim Anderson went up to separate the other boys and got a hole cut in his coat.

Mayor's Court

Mayor J. G. Moye has disposed of the following cases in his court since last report:

Charles White, colored and Ned Spell, riotous and disorderly conduct. White not guilty. Spell guilty, fined one penny and costs, $3.16.

Ethel Foley, riotous and disorderly conduct, not guilty, case dismissed.

Noah Hardy, offering fish for sale outside of market house, not guilty, case dismissed.

The fewer families, the fewer family feuds.
