Won't Marry Drinkers.

Philadelphia young women are about to organize for a war on the saloons. They will not adopt the Kansas methods, for they have no desire to achieve notoriety. They are going to put the social screws on the young men to force them to be good.

Two Sundays hence, at great meetings to be held in Industrial hall, a temperance league of young women is to be formed. The members will solemnly pledge themselves not only to abstain from strong drink themselves, but also to have no social relations with any man who uses intoxicating liquor, or who even frequents places where it is sold. They are also to oppose all other social evils. But particularly they promise not to marry saloon young men.

The movement, though it is led by the Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton, a Baptist clergyman, is undenominational. Its originator was long associated with Dwight L. Moody in evangelical work and adopts his methods. The church-going young women of Philadelphia are warmly supporting his new temperance league, and it is likely to secure a large membership at the outset.—Charlotte News.

Wilkes Bond Case.

Washington, March 18.—In the Supreme Court today an opinion was announced in the case of the Board of Commissioners of Wilkes county, North Carolina, against W. N. Color and Co. The decision is that Wilkes county had no authority to issue the bonds in question.

The bonds referred to above were issued for the purpose of constructing the railroad to Wilkesboro. The contention was that the act allowing the issuance was never properly voted on during the time the measure was before the general assembly—the aye and nay vote not being called for three times, the requisite number.

The Washington Light Infantry will have a reunion on the night of the 21st inst., at the opening of their new armory.

AUXILLIARY POLICE FORCE.

Citizens Appointed to Assist in Fire Protection

By the request of Hope Fire Company, and at the suggestion of Chief A. J. Griffin, I hereby appoint the following citizens of Greenville as an auxilliary police force to patrol the fire lines and look after the care and protection of property during fires, and also to keep out of the fire lines all persons who are not permitted to enter them. In future it is the intention of the Chief of Fire Department to rope off the territory which he deems advisable during the prevalence of a fire. As Mayor of the town I hereby call upon the hereinafter named persons to act in accordance with Hope Fire Company and do all in their power to carry into effect the above suggestions:

Rev. Augustus Latham Dead.

It is with much sorrow that we learn from Monday's Washington Messenger of the death of Rev. Augustus Latham, which occurred Sunday morning at his home in Washington. He was sick only a week, being taken with the grip which developed in pneumonia. He was fifty four years of age.

Rev. Mr. Latham was a minister of the Christian Church, a man of high character and sterling qualities. Not only was he strong as a minister but he was an excellent writer as well. For some time he was the Washington correspondent of THE REFLECTOR, writing over the name of "Jim Nastic." His letters were always full of interest and afforded much pleasure to our readers.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., March 20. Miss Carey Tuttle, of Kinston, came up Saturday morning and after spending a very pleasant day with her friend, Miss Dora Cox, returned home on the evening train. Some of the young gentlemen seemed to have had a nice time, too.

The Winterville Wire Fence Co. have filled several large orders during the past week. They have many orders yet to be filled. It is getting to be no unusual occurrence for them to sell as much as a mile or more fencing to one party. Their fencing is the best, most durable and lasting, as well as the cheapest made.

The Democrats of this town held their primary last Monday evening and nominated the following named gentlemen for the various town offices to be voted for on the first Monday in May: Mayor, J. R. Johnson. Commissioners, J. R. Cooper, J. F. Harrington and R. Cooper. Police, Simon Moye. This is an excellent selection and each and every one of them will be elected and make good officers.

10,000 good second growth white oak spokes wanted by the A. G. Cox Mfg Co.

Mr. Pittman, of Robeson county, and Mr. Sutton, of near Greenville entered our school this week. We believe there is something like 125 pupils in attendance upon this session.

Misses Mollie Bryan, Mattie and Lula McLawhorn, of Hanrahan, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting friends here.

Mrs. John D. Cox spent the day in Greenville, Monday.

J. A. Jarrell, an old resident of this place, who has lately been living at Roanoke Rapids for some time, returned home last week. He couldn't stay away. There is an attraction here that he can not find elsewhere.

Miss Vida McLawhorn and little brother went to Ayden Monday and returned yesterday.

1000 good lightwood cart hubs wanted by the A. G. Cox Mfg Co.

Hon. Johnson Nichols and his brother, Heber Nichols were here Sunday.

We regret to learn that Mrs. W. B. Wingate is so seriously ill that grave fears are felt as to her recovery.

J. W. Harper and family, who have been on a visit to Grimesland came home Sunday.

W. C. Daney, of Greenville, has accepted a position with the A. G. Cox Mfg Co.

We had quite an exciting runaway Monday. The horse of Henry Harrington became frightened and ran right down the railroad track. When caught there was nothing to tell the tale, save the horse, says Bob Little.

A. G. Cox still pays the highest price for cotton seed.

After a man has by hook and crook kept in office for a long time, drawing a bigger salary than he could get outside, people begin to talk about him as one who "has dedicated his life to the public service."—Chicago Times Herald.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1901.

THE BACTERIOLOGY OF HOG CHOLERA.

BY GERALD MCCARTHY.

The annual loss caused by hog cholera in the United States is above $100,000,000. The direct annual loss by this disease in North Carolina, and the indirect loss by discouraging swine breeding, have been very heavy. Hog cholera is a zymotic or bacterial disease. It is to the hog kind what typhoid fever is to human. The two diseases and the germs which cause them are very closely related. Both diseases are transmitted by infected food, or drinking water. The bacterium, or germ, which causes hog cholera, is able to live in water and moist soil for eight or ten months. It is therefore a very difficult operation to disinfect a pig-pen or lot in which diseased hogs have been kept.

Several States, notably Iowa, which State loses annually from hog cholera not less than $12,000,000, have tried State inspection and slaughter to stamp out the disease, as has already been done over the entire United States for pleuropneumonia of cattle. In Page County, Iowa, in 1897, such an attempt was made. During the preceding six months that county had lost by cholera 12,849 hogs, worth about $38,000. During the next six months, under State inspection and slaughter of suspected animals the loss was reduced to 1,111 hogs. The total cost of inspection, slaughter and remuneration to owners of slaughtered hogs was about $10,000. This left a handsome profit. But the cost of an efficient inspection and slaughter law for an entire State is so enormous that it must be considered at present as impracticable.

In Kansas, in 1900, the following experiment was made by the Jensen Creamery Company, at Beloit, Kan.: Twelve shoats were inoculated with anti-toxic hog cholera serum. They were then turned into a pen where a hog had just died of cholera and whose carcass still remained. The inoculated hogs showed not the least sign of disease. They thrived as well as any hogs could, and after being kept in the infected pen for 93 days, under the most favorable circumstances for contracting the disease, they were sold for pork. The hogs had gained an average of 196 pounds each, showing that their health was of the best during the entire period.

The above experiment is published and vouched for by the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station.

It must be understood, however, that the anti-toxic treatment, can not be expected to act favorably in every case. No medicine or method will do this. But experiments in different States show that the anti-hog cholera toxine renders inoculated hogs immune in about eighty or ninety per cent of treated cases. When well hogs are inoculated they never afterwards contract hog cholera. But if a pig which has contracted the disease is inoculated as soon as the first symptoms appear, in above sixty per cent of such cases the pig will be cured and will not again contract the disease. The anti-toxicine is both a preventative and a curative.

Anti-toxic hog cholera serum is prepared by injecting into the arteries of healthy cows or horses a virulent culture of the hog cholera germ--Bacillus cholerae suis. Cows and horses do not contract the disease. The injection is repeated several times at intervals of a few days. In a month or so the blood of the injected animal attains its anti-toxic quality. A little of this blood--sixteen to thirty-two drops--injected under the skin of a pig, will render that pig immune against future attacks of hog cholera. There is no danger attending the inoculation of the pig. The anti-toxic blood does not contain the hog cholera germ, but an enzyme or ferment.

At present the anti-hog cholera blood serum is being prepared in large quantities by the United States Department of Agriculture. Small trial quantities are sent free of charge to those who wish to treat the serum on their hogs. It is not sent to physicians or those who charge for inoculating animals. Enough to oculte two pigs cost about thirty cents. A hypodermic syringe, such as is used in making injections of morphine, is used to inject the anti-cholera serum. Anyone who can inject morphine can inject the serum.

This method of preventing loss by cholera should be tried by every swine-grower in the State. By its use four-fifths of the present annual loss by cholera can be prevented. A chicken law has been passed by the Legislature for certain counties. It makes it unlawful for any person to allow his or her chickens, or any other domestic fowls, to trespass upon the lands of another. This bill, as passed by the House, applied only to Cleveland county, but in the Senate many other counties were added by their Senators. Chatham is not one of them. It is rather hard on an old woman to arrest and punish her, if her chickens should fly into a neighbor's field or garden.--Pittsboro Record.

But how about the field or garden which is trespassed upon? There is hardly a worse nuisance in any neighborhood than a lot of chickens running at large to annoy everybody. Pitt county was not included in this law, but we wish it had been.

A Massachusetts man who had smoked 25,000 packages of cigarettes, sent the empty boxes to the manufacturers and asked what reward they would give him. They declined to give him a reward for that, but to show that they were not entirely unappreciative of his industry wrote him that if he would smoke 25,000 more they "would present him with a handsome metallic casket."--Wilmington Star.

The Free Press says there are between 25 and 35 new buildings now in course of erection in Kingston. This shows what manufacturing enterprises will do for a town.

An Act Of Heroism.

Green Bost, a colored man about 35 years of age, saved a child's life at Newell yesterday, and the residents of that village now look him as a hero.

As a north-bound freight train was leaving the station, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, a number of people who were in the vicinity of Newell & Wallace's store which is close to the track, were horrified to see Fannie May, the two-year-old daughter of Dr. W. W. Pharr, toddle on the track in front of the engine. She had escaped from her father's house, and, before her flight had been noticed, she stood between the rails laughing at the train and unconscious of her danger.

Bost was standing in front of the store and was the nearest person to the child. The instant he saw the little one he sprang forward.

To the spectators it seemed that he would lose in the race, for the engine was almost at the child, who stood motionless with no intent of leaving the track. But Bost ran swiftly in a straight line and was at the child's side and had her in his arms when the engine was within a foot of her. And as he jumped to the other side of the track and to safety the front of the engine grazed his back.—Charlotte Observer.

Woman's Horror

Modest women dread to consult a doctor about diseases peculiar to their sex. They have a horror of private examinations and surgical operations. For this reason treatment of dangerous derangements is neglected. But the Wine of Cardui treatment, which can be adopted at home without the knowledge of any one but the patient herself, is now coming into general use. Women who take Wine of Cardui do not have to submit to a physician's local examination nor to a surgical operation. Wine of Cardui cures in the privacy of the home. No publicity, no cutting and torture and no physician or examination, while Wine of Cardui is quietly building up and strengthening the female organs. Menstruation is regulated, the drains of leucorrhoea stopped and the fallen womb restored to its place. The terrible pains which rack the body are but results of the ailments, which yield so readily to the soothing properties of Wine of Cardui. The medicine that cured Miss Garlen will certainly help you.

Wine of Cardui

Rockford, Tenn., Aug. 16, 1899.
I have suffered from womb trouble for five years. Last spring a year ago I was bedfast for six months. I paid $22 to one doctor, and he said he had done all he could for me. I had about given up, but called another doctor, who said I would have to have surgical treatment. I decided I might as well die a natural death as that. I happened to get hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and decided to try your treatment. In nine days after I commenced taking Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught I could walk across my room, and in three weeks I made myself a dress. This was after my neighbors, and even my brothers and sisters, said I would never be any better. I am now in good health.
Miss S. B. GARLEN.

Our Folks.

We get these three items from the Ayden Free Will Baptist:

Mr. White, of Greenville, an insurance agent gave us a call last Thursday.

Rev. J. N. Booth, of Greenville, dropped in to see us Tuesday of last week. He was working in the interest of THE REFLECTOR, of Greenville. THE REFLECTOR is bound to get on a boom with Bro. Booth in the field.

Rev. J. N. Booth preached an excellent sermon at the Baptist church Tuesday night of last week—Text: Phil. 4:8. You are bound to think, but think properly and upon proper subjects, was the leading thought.

Hands Off.

If the Republican party in the nation thinks it can gain a foothold in the South by snapping, snarling and biting at us it will find itself mistaken. Many prominent men as well as influential papers are discovering that we have a problem down this way to deal with in the adjustment of our home government and if let alone we will work it out. The man who thinks this means a solid Democratic South forever hereafter is off his base. Compare the Democratic majorities in the State election last August with those of the presidential election in November. The discrepancy in the figures shows that the intelligent white man in the South says he is going to have local self-government, free from ignorance and vice, but when it comes to national affairs he is going to vote as he pleases but he will not be induced to follow the dictates of his own brains if he sees that he is to be hounded and persecuted for his opinions and ideas regarding the management of home affairs.—Greensboro Record.

Good Roads.

In discussing the "good roads," or rather, the "bad roads," question, the Danville Free Press says:

"It may be true, however, that many of our people do not realize as yet that good roads are worth all the money that may be expended upon them, and are really a wise investment.,

And the Richmond Dispatch thus comments:

"There's where the trouble comes in, we think. That is to say the execrable condition of the roads in many parts of the State is due to the failure of the people to appreciate that money and labor put into the highways would constitute one of the best investments that could make."

But the people are coming to realize the importance of good roads. In this county, after agitating the question for ten years or more, an election is finally to be held—date not yet set—for issuing bonds to the amount of $300,000, which will put about all the most used roads under macadam. And it is shown all this can be done without increasing the tax rate one cent.—Greensboro Record.
