WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6. Congress is again in session and democrats and republicans appear eager to grapple with the knotty problems with which they are confronted. The news that the Panama Canal Company's property can be bought for $40,000,000, which, by the way, bears out the prediction I made some time ago in these letters, that the prompt action of the canal committees in both the Senate and House was taken with a view to bringing the French company to reasonable terms, was extensively discussed by the members in the lobbies but it seems probable that the leaders will press for action the Hepburn bill in the House and leave to the Senate the final discussion and decision. There is an evident growing inclination, always discernable when the republicans are in control of Congress, to treat the House of Representatives as a more or less irresponsible body which must be given its own way like a spoiled child and with reliance on the fact that the Senate has power to reverse all its decisions and render futile its actions.

Illinois promises to contribute her full quota to the difficulties of the party this session. Senator Mason, who is prone to be a little unruly, told me yesterday that he was heartily in favor of reciprocity with Cuba. "To what extent?", I asked. "To whatever extent is necessary to insure Cuba's prosperity", he replied. "I voted against the Platt amendment" he continued "and I warned the Senate that by its adoption we were laying our selves open to embarrassments which would surely follow. We adopted the amendment and now we are face to face with the results I predicted. We have tied Cuba hand and foot by so doing we have made ourselves responsible for her prosperity. That is what I propose to tell my friends in the Senate as soon as the opportunity presents itself and I further intend to vote and work for reciprocity with Cuba." That the position taken by Senator Mason is logical no one can deny, but it is not at all the one favored by the leaders of his party who would even be glad to vote for any kind of a junket that would take the Illinois senators off their hands.

The President's latest ammunition is made up from some figures on Cuban imports. A caller who was just leaving the White House permitted me to copy some figures, of which he had made a note, and which are as follows. During the last fiscal year Cuba bought from the United States cotton goods to the amount of $464,000 and from other countries cotton goods to the amount of $5,600,000. She imported a total of $8,300,000 worth of livestock and live stock products of which but $2,000,000 worth was sold her by the United States. She imported $686,000 worth of woolen goods of which but $22,000 worth came from the United States. Out of a total import of nearly $3,500,000 worth of rice less than $9,000 came from the United States. These are but a few of the figures given but they are sufficient to illustrate what the high protectionist wing of the republican party would sacrifice in order to retain the favor of Mr. Oxward and his confederates.

has been a great one for this store. Prosperity has thrived on merit. Thousands of new patrons have been added to our list. Our business has more than doubled, and a grand start made to begin the New Year. Thanks and best wishes to you—our patrons. A Happy New Year with a full measure of health and happiness, we are, very truly yours,

THE KING CLOTHIER.

F. M. F. I. Association.

The seventh annual meeting of the Pitt county branch of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Association of North Carolina, was held in the Court House Monday. John S. Harris, President, called the meeting to order and stated that the purpose was for the election of officers and the transaction of such other business as might come before it.

The election of officers resulted in re election of John S. Harris, President, J. L. Little, Secretary and Treasurer, the entire old Board of Supervisors, and R. Williams, agent.

R. Williams was also appointed a delegate to the State Association which meets in Raleigh on the 21st inst.

It was ordered that J. L. Little, Secretary and Treasurer, be paid $25 for each assessment levied and collected.

A report of J. L. Little, Secretary and Treasurer, was read which showed there had been two assessments since the last annual meeting, amounting to 24 cents on each one hundred dollars of insurance in force, which is a little less than one fourth of one percent. All losses accruing in said Branch since its organization, over six years ago, have been satisfactorily adjusted and paid.

The amount of insurance in force Jan. 1st, 1902, was $535,270. It was ordered that an inspection of all buildings insured be made during the year and insurance reduced on all that had depreciated in value.

An Odd Fellows regalia that was captured somewhere in this section of the State during the civil war, has been sent to Mr. J. G. Shannonhouse by a lady in Washington City. Her object is to have the regalia restored to its rightful owner. It is a regulation Odd Fellows regalia and was captured by Federal soldiers. On the regalia is the name of J. W. Leland. This should be sufficient to locate the owner.—Charlotte Observer.

Smallpox in the State.

The Bulletin of the State Board of Health scores the County Superintendent of Health of Wilson, who, it says, persists in calling smallpox "chicken pox," in the face of a contrary opinion expressed by the State smallpox inspectors and leading physicians.

Smallpox was reported in twelve counties last month as follows:

Buncombe 14; Cabarrus 46; Duplin 8; Durham 3; Gaston several; Henderson six; Iredell many; Mecklenburg 20; Nash 12; Rockingham 5; Sampson 1; Wayne 25 and Wilson.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The Charlotte Observer says: In our Wadesboro correspondence is mentioned the interesting experience of Mr. George W. Huntley, of Anson, in cotton-raising last year. It was the worst year for cotton in the history of the county—the crop was almost a complete failure in Anson, Richmond, Scotland and Robeson, ordinarily great cotton counties. Some of Mr. Huntley's neighbors did not make a bale to six acres yet, on twenty five acres he made eighteen bales, and the reason for his greater success, he says, is that while others were saying it was too wet to plow he was plowing and hoeing, thus keeping the land stirred and, of course, keeping down the grass. It is perhaps worth while for farmers to think over this explanation.

How Fires Start.

People often wonder how fires originate. A house is burned up, perhaps with the occupants in it in broad day light and how it started often remains a mystery. Half the time if it occurs in the night, suspicions are aroused that it was burning purposely, especially if there is good insurance on it.

At a certain place in town this morning—it is unnecessary to mention where—three gentlemen were sitting in a room before a blazing fire in a big fire place when they smelled something burning. It kept getting stronger and finally smoke was seen coming from a corner of the room. Investigation showed that a large broom was on fire and was making very good headway. The hearth had been swept up and some of the coals from the fire had adhered to the broom. They were red hot, no doubt, when the broom was set away in the corner. Had it been at night a big building would have been burned up or badly injured.—Greensboro Record.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Dead Johnny's Sister After All His Christmas Presents.

Missionaries to faroff lands, and especially those who have labored among people whose principal article of diet is rice, are apt to refer to their lukewarm converts as "rice Christians," because the converts so termed care much more for the material than the spiritual food that the missionaries dispense. Something of the same spirit animates Christians, young and old, in this corner of the world, particularly at holiday time, and among the younger element when Christmas trees and gifts are in order. The story told recently by a Sunday school teacher is an illustration.

A couple of weeks before Christmas one of the small boys in this teacher's class contracted pneumonia and died. He was much beloved, and his death was felt by his classmates and the workers in the school. His name was on the list for a handsome gift at Christmas, and the superintendent of the school decided that it would be a graceful thing, and the boy's family would doubtless appreciate the act, if the gift set apart for the boy were sent to his home, to be given to a younger brother or disposed of as his parents thought fit. When the gift distribution was in progress, a sister of the little fellow, also an attendant at the school, was asked to take his gift home. She received it in silence and stood around with an expectant air. At last the teacher remarked: "What is it you are waiting for, Lucy? You have received your gifts and Johnny's also." "Yes'm, I know; but doesn't Johnny get a box of candy too?" Johnny's sister got the candy.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Too Much Faith.

"So the glasses don't help your eyes at all?"

"Not a bit. And the fellow that sold 'em to me told me they surely would."

"And you believed him?"

"Of course I believed him. What do you think I'd better do about the matter?"

"Oh, there ain't anything to do about the glasses you've got, but before you buy any more you'd better take the faith cure."—Chicago Post.

The Way to a Woman's Heart.

First Tramp—Why, 'ow did she come to give you so much as a shillin'?

Second Tramp—She arst me 'ow old I wuz, and I told her I wuz old enough to be her grandfather.

Pure Sympathy.

"That Mr. Berrien you introduced me to is a very sympathetic man."

"Think so?"

"Yes, indeed. I was telling him about a neighbor of mine who is dangerously ill, and he said he'd call right away and leave his card."

"Yes, Mr. Berrien is an undertaker, you know."—Philadelphia North American.

Alluring.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I wish you would let me go where the bookmakers are."

"Into the betting ring?"

"Yes. I saw it from a distance. The way those people are hustling and jamming one another makes me think that there must be some splendid bargains there."—Washington Star.

Her New Recipe.

Mrs. Brownley-Boggs—Mary, the salad was particularly delicious tonight. What did you use in it?

Mary—I used them new kind o' yaller cabbages that Mr. John sent home, mum.

Mrs. B.-B. (faintly)—Heavens, those were chrysanthemums!—Chicago News.

Really Very Simple.

"Teacher says that 'boom' can't be compared," said the little one.

"Can it?" asked her mother.

"Why, of course," was the reply.

A MEAN LOOKING LETTER-HEAD

Has lost many a dollar for business men. If a man is judged by the coat he wears, he is also judged by the letter-head he uses. An artistic, nicely printed letter head may be looked on as a good investment.

It will be done right.
The price for doing it will be right, too.

Value of Water Works.

Hotel Marriott, of Rocky Mount, was damaged to the extent of $2,500 by fire Saturday night. The entire building narrowly escaped destruction, and it being saved was due to the excellent system of water works that town recently put in. Other towns might profit by the example of Rocky Mount in making ample provision against fire.

Bound Over to Court.

Today Justices C. D. Rountree and L. A. Mayo had a shooting case from Belvoir township before them. There is some bad feeling between certain families up there and two or three shooting scrapes have resulted. All the parties in the trial were bound over to Superior court. It is a pity but what they could "bury the hatchet" and declare peace.

An old fellow residing on Long Island has fallen heir to $10,000. He sports the unique name of George Humbug, and now there are about a dozen or more unmarried women in his neighborhood who are doing their level best to become Humbugs.
