mourning, and the members wear
the usual badge of mourning for a period of thirty days, as our expression of grief for the loss of our deceased brother.

tions be spread upon the records of the Lodge, a copy be sent to the

We Fit Any Form.

Mr. STOUT MAN

AND

Mr. SLIM MAN.

This way gentlemen, here's your winter Clothing. Many stout men, slim men and men who require different clothes from the average man give up "ready-made" clothing in despair. We bring them hope. We promise to fit every one directly from our clothing tables—with perhaps a little alteration in some particularly severe cases. We'll surprise you with the clothes; possibly more with the prices—for, being abnormal in shape, you've had to pay a penalty to your taylor, so to speak. We do away with that and charge you no more than we do the ordinary man. Never mind how peculiar your shape may be, bring it in here and we may surprise you by fitting you, as well as by saving you quite a sum of money. Come, see at any rate.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1901.

Chilpancingo, the capital of the State of Guerrero, Mexico, was almost devastated by earthquakes last week. A severe shock occurred on Thursday, demolishing many buildings and killing several hundred people. A second shock visited the same section on Saturday and more houses that escaped the first were rased to the ground. As most of the inhabitants had fled the city and were living in tents the fatalities were fewer from the second shock. Great distress has followed the seismic trouble.

The Indifferent Citizen.

One of the great dangers of our government, especially our municipal government, is the indifference of a very large proportion of the people.

Among those whom we are accustomed to regard as the best class of citizens there is a great and growing neglect of duty to take an active part in politics. In fact we often hear men of intelligence and property boast that they know little and care less about public questions. These men would be indignant if you should tell them that they are not good citizens, and are largely responsible, through their sins of omission, for the ills and abuses of which they are often the first to complain, but you would be telling the truth. No man is a good citizen who has the capacity to help the cause of good government, and fails to do so. He is a stockholder who neglects his duty to himself and to others.—Atlanta Journal.

A Busy Small Store.

There is a feeling among some merchants whose establishments have not yet reached the magnitude of the great department stores that regular and persistent advertising does not pay. A comparatively small house in New York surrounded by big stores has been recently advertised steadily in the newspapers, however, and the result, according to the manager, is that "we are as busy as the busiest large store."—Philadelphia Record.

It requires far less effort of the intellect to utter a falsehood than to advance a truth.

The person who suspicions evil and wrong doing in others thus correctly tells of himself.

There is a tide in the affairs of some men which, taken at the flood, carries them over the dam.

The young man who can shoulder a sack of flour with ease nearly kills himself in his efforts to raise a moustache.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.

The most adroit leadership in both the Senate and the House has alone prevented the development of serious factional disturbances in republican ranks during the week just passed and it is only a question of time when they will break out in a violent form on the floors of those bodies. It is difficult for one not actually on the scene to appreciate to what an extent the House of Representatives has ceased to be a deliberative body. For a time the republican members felt themselves repaid for their loss of power by the example of perfect discipline which they set to the country but, now that they are in so great a majority as to believe themselves relieved from the danger of democratic aggressions, they are longing for the birthright which they bartered.

Smarting with a sense of their loss of influence the representatives are humiliated by the arrogance of certain Senators who today openly say that the attitude of the House towards any of the important questions which Congress must answer is of no importance as the Senate can and will rectify the errors of the "impulsive and irresponsible" lower body. Senator Cullum is today preparing a speech in support of his contention that the house has no right to be heard in the matter of reciprocal treaties which are, the Senator alleges, a matter for the Senate and the President alone to consider. In view of the very important subject of reciprocity with Cuba which must soon be determined the position of the senior Senator from Illinois and a large number of his colleagues is particularly exasperating.

The Senate Committee on Commerce has authorized a favorable report on the Hanna Frye ship subsidy bill by a strict party vote, every democrat on the committee voting against it. Senator Frye makes the most extravagant claims for the bill and in the main his colleagues are obliged to take his word in the matter as there is probably no other man in the Senate who can tell just how the bill will work when put in practice. It now seems probable that the bill will pass the Senate under pressure of the party lash but it is very doubtful if it can get through the House. Every democrat in the House will vote against it and there are said to be a number of republicans who regard a vote for the bill as political suicide.

"The anarchy bills are going to make trouble in the House," said a democratic member from New York, when I asked him why Congress was doing nothing in a matter on which all the members seemed to be much of one mind. "There is little difference in the minds of the members as to the necessity of passing a bill to prevent anarchists coming into the country but there is great jealousy in the committees in regard to the matter. General Shattuc, chairman of the Committee on Immigration, does not consider that the Judiciary Committee has the right to pass on any measure which deals with immigration. The members of the Judiciary committee themselves are jealous of Chairman Ray because they think he desires to arrogate to himself too large a share of the glory that will pertain to the authorship of the bill that finally passes. As to the democrats, they are not involved except in so far as they may be called upon to protest against any measure which violates state rights."
