A Dream Revealed a Pot of Gold.

Rutherfordton, Jan. 22.—A remarkable find was made yesterday
by a young man near Caroleen.
For several generations it has been believed that somewhere on the William Morrow plantation was buried a pot of gold and for years
people who have lived in that locality have dug for the hidden treasure. Mrs. Morrow, a widow, who is a very aged lady, dreamed
out the mystery and directed her grandson, Tom Tones, where to dig for the long talked of pot of gold. The young man went immediately and excavated an old soapstone pot, which will hold about one gallon, and found it filled to the top with gold. There is one large nugget in the pot. The balance seems to be old coins hammered out and without date or device. There was also with the pot an Indian flint tommyhawk.

Young Tones was in town today
but refused to talk about the amount of his find except to his cousin, Virgil Tones, who is a clerk in the Levi store, from whom this information was gathered.—
Charlotte Observer.

Is it wisdom and economy to go
in debt through bonds or large loans in order to make improvements? This is a question which agitates many minds when the matter of floating bonds to secure money for town improvements comes up. Perhaps a short recapitulation of the financial condition of the colony of New Zealand will be interesting alike to those who advocate and those who oppose town or city bonds to improvement.

During the past ten years the debt of the colony has increased $54,000,000, or $300 per family.
In these circumstances of indebtedness the population of the country has increased 19 per cent., the exports 49 per cent., and bank deposits 60 per cent. The wealth of the country per family has increased from $5,700 to $7,400, a figure said to have been exceeded no where on earth.

Indebtedness for the proper kind
of improvements is sometimes wise.

This way gentlemen, here's your winter clothing. Many stout men, slim men and men who require different clothes from the average man give up "ready-made" clothing in despair. We bring them hope. We promise to fit every one directly from our clothing tables—with perhaps a little alteration in some particularly severe cases. We'll surprise you with the clothes; possibly more with the prices—for, being abnormal in shape, you've had to pay a penalty to your taylor, so to speak. We do away with that and charge you no more than we do the ordinary man.
Never mind how peculiar your shape may be, bring it in here and we may surprise you by fitting you, as well as by saving you quite a sum of money. Come, see at any rate.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1902.

Scotland Neck is taking time by the forelock and has taken steps early in the year to be relieved of a dangerous nuisance when the next holiday season comes. We see from the Commonwealth that the Commissioners of that town have adopted an ordinance making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $50, for any person to bring any fireworks within the town, and $25 additional for each and every day such fireworks are allowed to remain in the town. It is also made a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $10, for anyone to explode or cause to be exploded any fireworks within the town. Other towns desiring to be rid of the danger and annoyance of fireworks at Christmas might well follow this example of Scotland Neck and go at the matter early.

Can't Reform an Indian.

The newspapers are having fun with the commissioner of Indian affairs on account of his recent order to Indian agents to make the red men have their hair cut, to stop wearing blankets and painting their faces. Short hair, coats and breeches tend to civilization, he argues, while the paint runs down the Indians' foreheads when they perspire and gives them sore eyes. These reforms are to be instituted in certain cases, when necessary, by pains and penalties—as for instance by cutting off the rations of the refractory or locking them up. But it is hard to reform an Indian, buck or squaw. A former United States marshal for the Western district of North Carolina, whose business carried him a good deal among the Cherokees of our Western counties, tells of the case of a bright young Indian girl who had been educated in the reservation schools up to their limit and was then sent out of the State to college. She remained away four years, came back highly educated in literature, art and music, and dressed in the height of fashion. And in three months her fine togs had been discarded and she was again going barefooted and wearing a blanket. That's an Indian for you.—Charlotte Observer.

In a recent investigation of a murder case in Ottawa, Kan., one of the witnesses, a woman, was asked how long she had known the accused. "Ever since roastin' ear time," she replied. "And when does roastin' ear time begin?" asked the city bred lawyer. "As soon as they're fitten to," answered the witness and the attorney didn't pursue that line of questioning any further.

ADDRESS AT WINTERVILLE.

Reported for The Reflector.]

On Jan. 22nd, Rev. Livingstone Johnson, of Raleigh, visited Winterville High School and delivered one of the best addresses we ever heard. We will give his thoughts as best we can. After congratulating the school he said:

There are things we ought to know. You may educate a hog and he will still be a hog. I once thought I saw an educated horse but after thinking I knew it only acted on account of certain signs given by his master and to dodge the lash, but a child can improve with education.

There was once a notion that only professional men needed an education. If a boy was to be a lawyer, doctor or preacher, he must be educated but to farm, no education was needed. This notion is dying out and fathers realize that every child needs an education.

Education may be a blessing or a curse. An engine stands on the track, the steam is raised and a crazy man leaps to the throttle. Then there is danger for power is in the hands of a mad man, but let a good man be at the throttle and great good to the people is the result. The Bible is the foundation of all education. I would rather my children should always be ignorant than to be educated by godless men.

Education means to know something about everything and everything about something. Today brings great opportunities. A few years ago only the log school house was found and if a young man went to college he became a curiosity when he again visited his home, and the visit of a college Professor was an event of great importance in a community. Now they are common.

Schools now come in touch with living issues. Some men graduate and then have little save a diploma. Book knowledge alone is not education. Today we get a part by reading. The press is filling the land. Pick out only the good when you read. The daily paper lives only for a day and should be read for the news, such as that about the Panama canal, but never allow it to kill the influence of good papers. The best Literary productions are found in books as they are written for time. Read some fiction by standard authors but not the trashy kind. This however may kill your taste for more solid reading and if it does quit it. But you may read until you may smell of books and not be educated.

Learn by observation. Many men with eyes live blindly. Two men may travel to the same place, one sees nothing, the other is delighted with many things he has seen on his trip. A preacher may see a sermon in a bush or flower.

Learn by talking to those who know more than we do. We love to talk to those who know less. I used to love to talk to the little negro boys and when I took my first trip to Wilmington I told them all about it just to see their eyes look white and shine. If a tank doesn't receive and water is continually pumped out it becomes dry, so we unless we receive by talking with more intelligent people. The truly educated will not look down on you but pity and instruct.

You must know how to do something. A girl should know how to keep house and cook, a boy how to farm. I pity those who have never come in touch with nature. I pity the girl who is raised in a band box, who plays one air on the piano and puts on a thousand more. Don't be like the girl who was scared almost to death at see-by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and hearing in the affected ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain ing a smoke in the smoke house, and when the mother went to kill it she found it to be only a piece of black pudding which had fallen from the loft. No matter how many servants are in the house, learn to work, and if you never need to all right, and if you have to you know how. I have no sympathy for the boy who comes home from college to lie around in the shade while his poor old father works in the field. I was raised on the farm and every summer I send my boy off to the country to work on a farm. I don't intend to raise a boy who can't hitch a horse to a plow. Don't think father, who had no opportunity, not your equal. He is your equal. Sign your name, with all of your flourishes, to a check and it may be worthless while your father's signature looks like a fly crawled over the paper, yet his check brings the money. A mother took washing to earn money to educate her boy and when he graduated at the head of his class and received many beautiful bouquets he stepped off the stage and gave them to his mother. She deserved credit for his success.
Very truly yours,

You should know everything about something. Nobody knows everything about everything. Some think they do and can't be taught. You can't tell them anything. In factories each man has a trade and learns his part. He has a general knowledge of all the work in the shop and a special knowledge of his part. Paul said one thing I do. Teachers now have certain grades and don't have to teach all studies. Doctors specialize one for the eye, one for the ear, etc. Don't be "Jack at all trades" but master one. We largely determine our positions in life. School orators used to grow eloquent and say they might be speaking to a future Governor or President, you may be greater. A Governor may be as mean as the devil wants him to be, while you may be a true man or a noble, pure woman. A Congressman once getting the best of his opponent in an argument received the taunt that he once blacked boots. The quick reply came; Yes, and no man will say I didn't do it well. Train your minds so that you may be something in life, ever basing it upon the Divine teachings of the Bible and may God bless you in your noble efforts.

A New Jersey man says he has discovered that the bite of a mosquito will cure rheumatism. If that is true, Jersey State and some parts of North Carolina have a bonanza on sites for Rheumatism Sanitariums. You can get a bite while you wait.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The people who sit before the fire and dream of the future have grate expectations.

An Ancient Bit of Cheese.

An object of considerable interest was sold in London the other day—no other than a preserved fragment of a "Protestant cheese." From the inscription on the base of the glass shade we learn that in gratitude for his able vindication of the Protestant ascendancy in parliament on April 25, 1825, H. R. H. the duke of York was presented by the inhabitants of the county palatine of Chester with the largest cheese ever made—149 pounds in weight—of their own producing. The duke gave a small portion of this cheese to Mary Isabella, duchess of Rutland, and it is this fragment, preserved by Professor Cumming, which came under the hammer, realizing $9.

Those Who are Passing This Way.

Dr. D. T. Taylor, of Washington, was here today.

C. T. Munford returned Thursday evening from Tarboro.

J. W. Higgs returned Thursday evening from a trip up the road.

Adrian Savage and R. L. Smith returned Thursday evening from Norfolk.

J. F. Joyner came over from Kinston this morning and spent the day here.

Mrs. J. H. Prince, of Greensboro, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. H. McLamb.

Good Shot.

Mr. W. J. Hemby tells us that this morning, at his home in the county, he shot and killed a large hawk with a pistol, the distance being about 250 yards. That was a good shot to make with a pistol.

Another Shipment Coming.

The Cable Company will have another shipment of pianos here Monday and will remain here until February 15th. Don't fail to see them next week. They sold four pianos yesterday at same old stand.

It Will Pay.

Every business man in Greenville ought to have an advertisement in THE REFLECTOR. A paper well filled with advertisements shows to the outside world that the town is composed of enterprising business people. Money invested in advertising is wisely spent. It will pay you to let the people know you are in business and want their patronage. In this busy age the man who advertises his business thoroughly is the man who meets with success.

"Dollars and Sense."

J. Robert Jordan, impersonator and elocutionist, will appear in the opera house Tuesday night, 28th, under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Speaking of Mr. Jordan the Charlotte Observer says:

"He is easy and graceful on the stage and looks, as he is, the cultured gentleman. In striking contrast to the Shakespearian selection was the comedy scene, an original arrangement from 'A Gilded Fool.' These two selections antipodal in style, allowed full scope for Mr. Jordan's versatility. As an encore he gave a capital thing—a production of a Delsartian lecture he heard out west. Mr. Jordan is an artist. It is hoped that this is not his last appearance here."

Population Increase in the South.

For the first time in the history of this country, as a special report from the Census Bureau now sets forth, the population of the Southern States has relatively increased more rapidly than that of the North and East, making the rate of growth more nearly the same than ever before.

The increasing attractiveness of the South as a field for investment and settlement accounts for this marked increase of population. Outside capital is being drawn to the development of the South's natural resources. The section's industrial growth has been amazing during the past few years. The demand for labor has been very stimulated as a consequence. The inevitable result of these changed conditions is now apparent in the census reports.

The Southern States have every reason to look forward with confidence to a period of growth such as has not heretofore been known. The attention of capitalists is most favorably secured. Where capital goes, the labor necessary to industrial development follows. Within the next ten years the South will unquestionably take the lead in the rate of population increase if present indications possess any value as affording a basis for estimate.—St. Louis Republic.
