

The Great

Inventory is completed. Many things have been laid out and marked down. We are not crying out cost, but have reduced prices on all winter goods. It would be impossible to all profits and continue to be of service to ourselves and you. The store that is all the time crying cost and less than cost, must some day meet the inevitable. After the smash the store is of little service to any body. This knows when to begin sacrificing its profits, knows how long to continue and knows when to stop. Every department has suffered the severest cut in prices. Our object is to make room for Spring Goods.

We take occasion here to thank our many friends for their patronage in the past, and invite them to continue their visits to our store when they want bargains in up-to-date goods.

3,546 MILLIONAIRES.

The New York World Almanac for 1902 contains a map which pretends to give the number and geographical distribution of millionaires in the United States.

The editor of the almanac does not guarantee that the list is absolutely complete and accurate, but says it must be approximately so, as it is the result of a very careful, systematic effort.

The total number of men and women who are worth $1,000,000 or more is given at 3,546, and they are distributed by States as follows:

Maine, 15; Vermont, 15; New Hampshire, 17; Massachusetts, 313; Connecticut, 72; Rhode Island, 70; New York, 904; New Jersey, 114; Pennsylvania, 369; Delaware, 17; Maryland, 106; District of Columbia, 49; Ohio, 162; Indiana, 30; Michigan, 111; Illinois, 275; Wisconsin, 77; Minnesota, 79; Iowa, 36; Missouri, 161; Kentucky, 19; West Virginia, 18; Virginia, 17; Arkansas, 2; Tennessee, 19; North Carolina, 9; South Carolina, 5; Georgia, 5; Alabama, 5; Mississippi, 3; Florida, 7; Louisiana, 27; Texas, 31; Kansas, 10; Nebraska, 16; South Dakota, 2; North Dakota, 1; Montana, 26; Wyoming, 2; Colorado, 57; Utah, 19; Idaho, 7; Arizona, 2; Nevada, 4; California, 110; Oregon, 15; Washington, 18.

It will be seen that the South has very few millionaires in comparison with the East, the Middle States, the Central West and the Pacific coast.

More than half of the whole number in the United States live in the States that border the Great Lakes.

It is somewhat surprising that Louisiana is credited with more millionaires than any Southern State this side of Texas, which has 34 against Louisiana's 27. Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama have 5 apiece, while Florida has 7.

Comparatively few great fortunes have yet been accumulated in the South, but the number will probably increase rapidly in the next ten years.

The estimated total of 3,546 millionaires in the United States is probably none too high. There are more millionaires in this country than in all Europe and yet there were only three or four until considerably after the first decade of the nineteenth century.

The world has never seen anything like the accumulation of wealth in the United States in the last thirty years.—Atlanta Journal.

Legislators may enact laws unfavorable to railroads and courts may gouge them for damages, but the railroads are going to operate at a profit and this profit will come out of the pockets of their patrons.—Durham Herald.

The stopped-up geyser is an expert in its way.

"If I Could Get Rid

of this abominable cold," exclaimed the sufferer, when the end of a spasm of coughing gave him a chance to talk. The way out of the trouble is plain. Take Allen's Lung Balsam before the merciless grip of the cold has fastened upon throat and lungs. After a few doses the cough is easier and less frequent, and a complete cure is but the question of a little time.

AT THE CLUB.

On the street, at social gatherings, anywhere, where ever a number of good dressers are gathered and the clothes question is the topic of conversation, you will learn, if you lend an attentive ear, that we are quoted as being the store that always has snappy toggery for the up-to-the-hour man. The store that he looks to for new things; the store to which he first turns for a new cut in a suit, a new shape in a hat or tie. In short, the store where the good dresser always finds the thing he wants without paying an extra price for style. If you are interested in Clothing and Haberdashery with character, come in.

Don't Talk About Your Aches and Pains.

As soon as possible dismiss from the mind every suggestion that has to do with illness. If you have had an operation, and it is over, let it glide into the shadowy background of memory. Do not dwell upon it, do not talk about it. Cultivate thought about others, about the great round world, about its heroes and its martyrs, its battles and its victories, its happy homes and loving hearts, but utterly turn from the night side of suffering, except as you may relieve it, and dwell in the blessed sunshine. There is no sweeter thing on earth than to be one of God's light-bringers, and to make those about you stronger because you are uncomplaining.—February Ladies' Home Journal.

Cotton Consumed South.

The consumption of cotton in southern cotton mills begins to bear a large proportion to the total consumed in the United States and Canada. Mr. Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, reported, for example, a taking by southern mills in 1901, up to December 13, of 601,196 bales, as against 828,751 bales taken by northern and Canadian spinners. The gain over the preceding year in southern takings was over 100,000 bales. This is as it should be. Cotton can be best manufactured where it is grown and at the largest profit. In periods of high prices badly located mills—mills far from the cotton fields—can continue to run, but in hard times they will be frozen out by inability to compete with mills down south. Thus, little by little, the logic of the situation will compel the transference of the cotton industry to the south.—Baltimore Sun.

A Magazine's Immense Mail.

Few persons have any idea of the enormous amount of mail received during the busier seasons of the year by so large a house as The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, which publishes The Ladies' Home Journal and The Saturday Evening Post. With this company the month of December usually brings the heaviest daily mails, and on a Thursday last December all previous records were broken. On that day the actual number of letters received was 9080. These contained 18,177 subscriptions to the two periodicals mentioned, and $15,498.44 in express and money orders and in cash. To open, receipt for, tabulate and file these letters, and acknowledge each one separately, requires the work of a small army of young women, who, needless to say, have no time to spare.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan. 29. SPECIAL ATTENTION TOBACCO GROWERS.

Last season we made about 500 Tobacco Trucks, mostly of the Tyndall pattern, and we have not heard of a single man who bought these trucks that does not speak in praise of them. We found many farmers who wanted to use them, but could not, because they had not arranged their rows properly. We advised the farmers last season to consider the use of tobacco trucks and prepare their rows so they could use them when they began to house their tobacco. Many of them took our advice and were glad of it. Others did not, and some of them regretted the fact. We had one customer who said he had rather chop every eighth row of tobacco down and throw it away than to house his tobacco without the trucks. We still advise every tobacco grower to prepare his land with a view of using these trucks in housing his crops during the coming season and our experience is, they will never have cause to regret it.—A. Having purchased about one hundred thousand pounds of iron at very close figures we wish to announce that we expect to be headquarters for tobacco flues during the coming season.—A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted by Winterville Council No. 37 Jr. O. U. A. M.

We the undersigned committee, appointed to draft suitable resolutions of respect to the memory of Bro. J. R. and Mrs. Johnson's infant daughter, beg leave to report.

Whereas the all merciful God in His infinite wisdom saw fit to remove from our midst Katie, the little daughter of Bro. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson,

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS: Baltimore, Md., March 30, 1901. Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,

3. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minutes, that a copy be sent to the parents, and a copy be sent to THE REFLECTOR for publication.

Wants Things as They Are.

Some amusing stories are being told which illustrate Kaiser Wilhelm's preference for having things represented as they are rather than as they might be. When the Berlin sculptor, Schost, was commanded to model a statue of Friedrich Wilhelm I. of Prussia to be placed in the imperial palace, he made the mistake of idealizing the monarch in his desire to produce a fine work of art, and the consequence was that the first sketches laid before the kaiser represented a majestic and calmly dignified figure which totally lacked the characteristics of Friedrich Wilhelm. "My dear Schost," was Kaiser Wilhelm's criticism after closely inspecting the sculptor's production, "you must represent the king more forcibly—as inexorable simply. After all, he was a bearish fellow. Well, make him one." Schost followed the advice and produced a cast of the statue of the king which was full of energy, powerful and blunt. "Famous!" exclaimed the kaiser on beholding it. "Make him thus, only take his hat off. Where court customs rein one doffs the hat even when one is inconsiderate and a king."

Not Her Ideal.

Rudyard Kipling tells this story against himself: He had been presented to a young lady, who almost immediately began to whimper and whose eyes were so full of tears that he felt compelled to ask if she were ill or if anything were the matter. Looking at him between her sobs, the disappointed maiden broke out, "Oh, I thought you were so tall and so handsome!"

"OH, I THOUGHT YOU WERE SO TALL AND SO HANDSOME!"

Partisan Arithmetic.

An arithmetic published in Richmond during the civil war contained the following example: "If one Confederate soldier can whip seven Yankees, how many Confederate soldiers will it take to whip forty-nine Yankees?"

How Millais Secured Unconventional Trelawney as a Model.

J. G. Millais in his life of his father, the famous artist, tells of the immense pains and trouble taken by the latter to secure good subjects and good models. The best of these is the tale of the painting of "The Northwest Passage." Millais was determined to have a real veteran adventurer as his model and knew that the fittest person was that unconventional character Trelawney, the friend of Byron, privateer, pirate and the author of that extraordinary work, "The Adventures of a Younger Son." But Trelawney, while retaining all the willfulness and temper of youth, had become businesslike and a teetotaler in his old age. He was not going to sit for nothing, and he would not be painted with a glass of grog! Lady (then Mrs.) Millais made fresh advances. At last Trelawney said: "Well, I have some shares in a Turkish bath. If you will take six tickets at 2s. 6d. each, I will give your husband six sittings, one after each time you patronize the bath." So the matter was arranged. But Trelawney refused to have any grog painted in the glass. Millais put it in afterward to give a needed bit of light and color. Trelawney was angry, but the grog is still in the glass.

Two From Pitt.

Among the young ladies of the State appointed by the Governor as maids of honor to represent North Carolina at a Mardi Gras ball to be held in Charleston, Feb. 11th, are Miss Pattie Skinner, of Greenville, and Miss Sallie Cotten, of Cottondale.

Barr-Forbes.

There was a pretty home wedding at 8 o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. A. A. Forbes, father of the bride, in West Greenville.

To the inspiring strains of the wedding march rendered by the skillful touch of Miss Mary Moye, the attendants, viz: Miss Della Forbes with Mr. E. G. Barrett and Miss Emily Higgs with Mr. E. T. Forbes, entered the parlor, followed by the contracting parties, Capt. James S. Barr and Miss Helen L. Forbes.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. N. Booth in the presence of several friends and relatives of the couple.

After the ceremony they boarded the morning train for the Charleston exposition, attended by the good wishes of the entire community.

Capt. Barr is a conductor on the Atlantic Coast Line and the couple will make their home in Weldon.

Got His Girl.

The Free Press published an account yesterday of a young man who with friends and a preacher went to the home of his prospective bride and found she had fled. The couple were Mr. Derwood Outlaw, of South West township, and Miss Rachel Hill, daughter of Mr. Everett Hill, of Neuse township. They are now Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Outlaw, and they were married yesterday by Rev. J. L. Burns. We learn that the young lady's brothers opposed the marriage and used every effort to prevent it, and a last resort carried her away on her wedding day. Yesterday the groom went to the house of the bride's parents. He must have known that the determined brothers were away, probably had been watching his opportunity. At any rate he was successful in his attempt and at length sped away with his lady love as fast a fleet-footed horse could carry them to where the minister was waiting and were made husband and wife.—Kinston Free Press.

Observations.

A good husband is but the evolution of a good son.

The talent of reservation is little cultivated. To reserve a little either of confidence or money works excellently well.

There never was a man whom an artful woman could not persuade that he was unappreciated, nor a vain woman who ever felt that she was quite understood.

The woman who goes crazy over a love affair was foredoomed. Love only furnishes the opportunity.

As soon as we are quite content with ourselves others begin to notice marks of degeneration.

IS THE CASH WHAT YOU ARE LOOKING FOR?

Then you want the attention of the people who have cash to spend. They are the people who read and you can attract their attention and their cash in no better way than by putting your advertisement in this paper.

Advertising

in THE REFLECTOR will bring you success. Don't lag behind in the race, but let the people know what you are here for.

The easiest, quickest and best way to sell anything is to advertise it in THE REFLECTOR. Such an advertisement goes straight to the people, they learn what you have to sell and you reap the benefit.

We have just purchased a large supply of bright and attractive cuts to illustrate REFLECTOR advertisements, and you are at liberty to use them. If you don't know just what you want to say, we will help you get up your advertisement. That is our business, to help you talk to the people.

The cost of an advertisement in THE REFLECTOR is the easiest part.

Southside Market.

I have opened a market on the Haskett property in South Greenville, just beyond town limits, and will handle fresh meat, beef, poultry and eggs. Will sell lower than can be had elsewhere. Nothing sold except for cash.
