New White Goods Welcome.

Color is eliminated from the card today. White goods first in store displays as they will be in your thoughts, we trust. Ten years ago—yes, four or five years, even—who would have dreamed of the beauty to be brought out in fabric art without a touch from rainbow tints? Pure white, but so varied have been the dreams of designers, so cleverly have loom wizards wrought, that there is hardly a limit to variety. White has only been thought of as a repellent for summer's heat. The sheerest effects have been sought, but now however white fabrics—cheviots madras and piques are brought out in rich style assortment. White has overstepped the limits of summer months and hereafter will be an all the year round factor

WHITE PIQUES in a large variety of the up-to-date styles and designs in Imported Piques that are worth your while to inspect at 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

WHITE LAWNS in Lace Striped and Hemmed Stitched Pattern at 10, 12½, 15, 18, 20, 25, 35, 40 and 50c. Such a line has never before been your pleasure to see in Greenville at the above price.

WHITE DIMITIES in all of the newest designs and weaves, dots, stripes and lace stripes, at 8 1/3, 10, 12½, 15, 18, 20, 22½, 25 and 30c.

WHITE MADRAS in Crepe De Chine designs with Satin stripes that will retain its luster after it is laundered at 30 and 35c.

Col. W. J. Pope's new residence on Main street is getting its finishing touches.

Rural free delivery has a department string to it in the guise of an order compelling the ruralists to buy one out of fourteen specified mail boxes, or in default thereof to suffer exclusion from the free delivery privilege. Each jolly farmer must have an iron mail box, and must buy it from one or another of the favored fourteen manufacturers. This is regarded by the department officials as a beneficent arrangement all around; but a Senate amendment has upset it, and the fur will fly in conference committee accordingly. Think of making the free delivery privilege contingent upon a reluctant purchase of some petty contractor's patented mail box!—Philadelphia Record.

To get rid of a bore give him advice.

TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1902.

The Bayboro Sentinel is the name of a new paper started at Bayboro last week by W. T. Caho. It is small but makes a newsy beginning.

Only two weeks more in which to pay your poll tax if you want to vote in the next election. Have you attended to this? Do not wait too long.

One thing that impressed us very much with Charleston, last week, was the antiquated appearance of the town. It is one of the oldest towns in the South, and in point of architecture seems never to have progressed very far. The streets are good, but most of the buildings are back numbers. Handsome business houses are very few in number. Still there is some attraction about the old style buildings, and it may be their quaintness in which the residents of the city take pride. There is the appearance of a large volume of business there, but more modern houses would better impress visitors.

A DEADLY DUEL.

An unholy love and a sinful desire for vengeance caused the death of two near this place Saturday.

A Miss Harris, living with one of her brothers-in-law on Sheriff Knight's place between here and Old Sparta, became infatuated with a married man, Will Burroughs, of Pitt county, and he with her. They determined to elope and Burroughs came up Saturday morning for that purpose. He went out for the woman and the two endeavored to take the train for Norfolk at MacNair's Crossing, but were too late for it. From 3 o'clock till the fatal shooting, nearly 5, they must have been hiding or skulking about in the woods beyond W. L. Barlow's about a mile from town.

Her people became apprised of the intent of the guilty couple and came up here to ascertain if a warrant for their arrest could be issued. Will Harris, who was the spokesman, was told that no warrant could be issued, but was advised to take his sister and carry her home, this he said he would do. He was advised to use no force, to carry no weapons and to this he assented, but the advice was not acted upon, for shortly after 3 o'clock Harris, John Wade, Rube and Will Roberson and Dixon, were seen on road between MacNair's crossing and Thorne's store, Harris with a shot gun and Roberson with a pistol inquiring to settle the question whether food is fuel or merely the conductor of so much necessary electricity. What you are after is the right food—clean, pure, inviting and wholesome at the right price, with as little annoyance of service as may be. We propose to meet you half way on this proposition.

HEARNE & COMPANY,

for a man and a woman. Later about 4 o'clock, or somewhat later the same men were seen near the corporate limits of the town on the Wilson road. Their conversation to a passerby indicated that they were hunting rabbits.

Soon after this the hunters had made their way to a cemetery for colored people, at the forks of the road near Barlow place. Here the eloping couple was found, and the shooting began. Roberson, was shot through the abdomen, Burroughs dropped shot in the head.

Both were brought here to the hospital, but surgical skill was of no avail, the wounds were fatal and both died during the night.

Roberson made a statement before he died in which he said that Burroughs shot first and only once; that he then shot at him several times; that he had no idea that Burroughs intended to shoot, that no one else fired a gun.

Dr. Harrell, as coroner, Sunday began inquest but did not complete then, adjourning over till Wednesday for additional evidence.

Dixon say he was with the party only to help them take the sister, but not to violate the law.

Harris, it is said has run away.

When one of the wounded men were being brought to town in a cart John Wade stopped the vehicle and said it should not pass. He backed up his declarations by drawing a pistol. Finally he was persuaded to let the procession pass.

He was tried this morning by Squire Howard on two charges, assault and carrying concealed weapons.

On the first charge judgment was suspended upon payment of costs.

On the other he was held in default of $50 bond to answer at the next term of the Superior court. Wade says at the time he was so much under the influence of liquor that he has no recollection at all of what he did. Those who arrested him say he was much intoxicated.

Wade and the two Robersons are from Pitt county. Rube Roberson married a sister of the misguided woman. From what is told of him he has been a turbulent character. Recently he served a turn on the roads for forcing a minister of the gospel to drink and then dance and sing.

The woman was with Burroughs when the shooting occurred. The hunting party hastened to make provision to have Roberson brought to town, but did nothing for Burroughs, who lay where he fell shot through the head unconscious and so remained till death.

Miss Harris paid a colored man $5 to bring him to town and then she disappeared.

The wound which Roberson received shows that Burroughs must have been sitting down and Burroughs' wound indicates that he was shot while in the same posture.—Tarboro Southerner, 14th.

MAKING BETTER AMERICANS.

The President is a robust American. Whatever may be his virtues or his faults, his love of country and admiration of American institutions is a characteristic that all applaud. Upon his return to Washington he said:

"I think I was a pretty good American before I made the trip, but I am a better American now than before I went to Charleston."

If the people of both sections could know each other better, the fuller knowledge would make better Americans of them all. The people of Boston would be more patriotic if they could come in touch with Charleston thought and Charleston sentiment. Fortunately the people of the South have been in the habit of going North on business ever since the war, while few Northerners comparatively have visited the South. Therefore the South knows the North better than the North knows the South. There cannot be too much knowledge, and when it is diffused all will be made better Americans.—Kaleigh News and Observer.

Truth may be as clear as a bell, but it is not always tolled.

Miss Maud Lassiter, of Winterville, who spent Saturday and Sunday here with Miss Emma Starkey, returned home Monday evening.

Not Dead.

Superintendent J. W. Smith of the county home, tells us it is a mistake about George Mayo, an inmate, being dead, as was reported Monday. George is paralyzed, but his condition showed some improvement today.

Going to Washington.

Mrs. A. L. Blow will take the Greenville Amateurs to Washington Friday to present Hazel Kirk there that night. We can assure the people of Washington that they will have a good show and one worthy of a full house.

Arm Torn Off.

Jim Higgins, at the Shiloh Oil Mills Saturday, met with a most distressing and painful accident. He was in the act of putting a band on when his right arm was caught in the belting and almost torn off at the elbow. The lower part of the arm was only hanging by a few tendons. He was taken to the hospital where it was amputated, and the wound dressed.—Tarboro Southerner.

Don't Miss This Treat.

The Sock Party in the opera house Thursday night will be unique and full of interest. There will be songs by a chorus of ten young ladies, special selections by "Susan Jane Accommodation" of Old Maid's Convention fame, and delightful music by a picked orchestra. At the conclusion of the program refreshments will be served. You can't afford to miss it.

Splendid Club Rooms.

While stopping over a short while in Rocky Mount, the other day, Mr. Harry Abram showed us through the rooms of the Saga more Club, a recent organization among the young men of that progressive town. They have a splendid building with nicely furnished reception, reading, writing and game rooms. It affords an ideal place for the young men to spend their evenings and leisure hours, and besides finding instruction in the literature at hand and enjoying the intercourse of friends, the temptation to visit barrooms for recreation is removed. THE REFLECTOR would like to see Greenville have a good social club and reading room.

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING AT IT.

To some the attraction in these suits may be the price. It certainly is low. Others may be induced to purchase by the quality. That certainly is excellent.

"All my people, black and white—God bless them."

These were the last words of Gen. Wade Hampton, save those sacred only to the inner circle of his family. It was a great utterance. It breathes the spirit of forgiveness. The old soldier who delivered his people from the horrors of reconstruction had seen them turn against him in a time of political upheaval. And yet his last utterance on earth is a prayer for them and for his enemies, their leaders. Again, Gen. Hampton, as his fathers before him, had been a large slaveholder. He had fought most conspicuously in a great war that means the perpetual enslavement of the negroes. He had freed his State from their domination under the leadership of unscrupulous white aliens. And yet he includes them as he breathes that last benediction, and furnishes a beautiful proof that the white man of the South is the black man's best friend.—Charlotte Observer.
