New White Goods Welcome.

Color is eliminated from the card today. White goods first in store displays as they will be in your thoughts, we trust. Ten years ago—yes, four or five years, even—who would have dreamed of the beauty to be brought out in fabric art without a touch from rainbow tints? Pure white, but so varied have been the dreams of designers, so cleverly have loom wizards wrought, that there is hardly a limit to variety. White has only been thought of as a repellent for summer's heat. The sheerest effects have been sought, but now however white fabrics—cheviots madras and piques are brought out in rich style assortment. White has overstepped the limits of summer months and hereafter will be an all the year round factor

WHITE PIQUES in a large variety of the up-to-date styles and designs in Imported Piques that are worth your while to inspect at 12½, 15, 20 and 25c.

WHITE LAWNS in Lace Striped and Hemmed Stitched Pattern at 10, 12½, 15, 18, 20, 25, 35, 40 and 50c. Such a line has never before been your pleasure to see in Greenville at the above price.

WHITE DIMITIES in all of the newest designs and weaves, dots, stripes and lace stripes, at 8 1/3, 10, 12½, 15, 18, 20, 22½, 25 and 30c.

WHITE MADRAS in Crepe De Chine designs with Satin stripes that will retain its luster after it is laundered at 30 and 35c.

They All Quit.

Years ago printers were accustomed to drink a good deal of liquor. One who did not drink was a rarity. However, in recent years in Greensboro especially, the craft has kept up with the morality procession and the exact reverse is true. But it is too much to expect them to break away from all bad habits at once and many of them chew tobacco. In this print shop are several who have been buying a certain brand at wholesale and getting it cheap. It is a well known make, but it might not be advisable to name the brand. Last week one of the men went over to the "alley" where another chum was at work and remarked—"Look at this stuff," holding up a chunk of it, and, gently stripping it back, there he beheld two or three long, fuzzy worms, fat and sleek! The other man remarked that perhaps this piece was an exception, so he yanked his hunk from his pocket, stripped it back and there were the worms just the same. A third man came up and sampled his with the same result.

And now all three of them have quit—swore off. The thought that they had been chewing worms for months if not years was too much for them. All of which shows there are more ways than one to cure a dog of sucking eggs. It is amusing, however, to see the boys chewing gum, sucking the end of a cigar and otherwise trying to keep from chewing. May be they will hold out, but it will be hard work. Certainly if they fall from grace they will not take up with the same brand they formerly used.—Greensboro Record.

Negroes Held for Murder.

Suffolk, Va., April 14.—To save the prisoners from being lynched, two magistrates held court almost all day yesterday at Kelford, N. C. John Stephenson, Junius Bishop and John Belfield, all colored, were charged with the murder of Thomas Stephenson, white, a clerk in Peel Bros' store at Kelford. The negroes are said to have cursed Stephenson and had been put out of the store. Later Stephenson was shot several times in the back and one man fired at close range at his neck when the clerk was lying helpless, face downward. Milton Belfield, who was captured and shot by officers at Weldon, N. C., implicated the others in what was supposed to be a dying declaration. The men were kept under strong guard Saturday night. All were held for indictment. Belfield is reported from Weldon as likely to recover.

The Sock Party

Tonight is the time for the Sock Party in the opera house, given by the ladies of the Baptist church. There will be a select program of music and tableaux, at the close of which a nice supper will be served. Invitations containing tiny socks in which to place the price of admission were sent to grown people. None of these were sent to children but the children are invited, the price of admission for them being 25 cents which gets a ticket for both the concert and supper. There should be a large attendance.

SPRING SUIT STYLES

Any particularly nice thing to wear that you want you will find right here. There will be just the correct number of buttons on your coat—just the right roll to the lapels—just the correct curve on your trousers.

They will be just the right width and shape. It will be a hard matter for you to find fault with your Spring Suit if you get it here, for we believe that our suits are just right in every way—as well as being just right in price.

Not a link is missing in our chain of Attractive Suits.

THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1902.

Raleigh is considering the matter of building a railroad from that city via Wilson and Greenville to Washington. This end of the line believes such a road would be a paying enterprise. It would go through a splendid section of country.

The Kinston Free Press is preparing to do itself proud. A stock company has been organized to conduct the business, the plant will be considerably enlarged, and ground has been purchased upon which to erect a splendid building of its own. Nothing is too good for the Free Press and we wish it continued prosperity.

The negro convention which assembled in Raleigh on Tuesday was attended by a large number of delegates representing nearly all of the counties in which there are many of their race. It was, more orderly than such conventions have been heretofore and therefore speaks better for them. There were a few of the boisterous present but their howling was generally cut short by the more thoughtful. The object of the meeting was to consult in reference to the future good of the negro. They were outspoken as to the fact that they should no longer support men for office who only wanted to use them and then to kick them. They realized the fact that the Republicans have disfranchised them in respect to holding office or attending conventions as delegates. Their place as assigned them by their Republican friends is to stay at home and vote the Republican ticket. The convention said in their resolutions that they would not do this. They passed a resolution unanimously condemning Senator Pritchard and his actions toward them and it was suggested to send the news to him at once by wire.

One of the resolutions called upon the negro to be industrious, save his earnings, buy homes and beautify them and thus become more independent citizens. Some few seem to realize that they had better vote for better men. It will be worth something to the negro when he learns to seek the advice of the better class of white people.

The Multicaulis Mulberry and Silk Culture.

About fifty-five years ago there was quite an excitement in regard to silk culture. In almost every garden in New Bern morus-multicaulis, or white mulberry, was planted, the leaves of which were fed to the worms. There is no more trouble in raising this than there is in raising fig bushes. It can be raised from the roots or from cuttings. An ordinary bush will furnish a large number of cuttings. The first and most important thing to do is to start the planting of the bushes so as to have food for the worms.

There is but little skill required in raising the worms. They only require attention to feed them by placing the mulberry leaves near them. Any child of ten years old can attend them. At the time alluded to above there was no demand for the cocoons which were made by the worms, and consequently the business ceased. No one went into it extensively, but a great many persons had more or less of them. Now silk mills have been established and a demand has sprung up for the cocoons, and it will be a source of profit to go into the business. Possibly some of the morus-multicaulis bushes may be found growing in the State. If so they will furnish cuttings for a large number of plants. I think every eye in the bush will furnish a cutting to be planted.

Mr. McCarthy, of the State department, states that after the worms have been fed for some time on morus-multicaulis then they can be fed on the leaves from the ota-heite as there are many of the ota-heites now growing and ready to furnish an immense quantity of leaves. This is a most important advantage. Fayetteville now has a silk mill, and in my opinion, at least one thousand persons can make a support by paying some, to the raising of silk for the mill. There is no experiment in it as the above is from my own personal knowledge and experience.

Advice as to Good Behavior.

Ladies, it is considered a breach of good breeding to loiter around the streets in free conversation with young boys or men. It one of them approach you for a conversation have him to ask your permission to walk with you till he has finished. —Scotland Times.

The Ways of the walking Stick.

An excited controversy is raging among the young swells of Paris as to the disposal of one's walking stick when making a call. M. Le Bargy, the well known actor, declares that a walking stick is a vital necessity to help out conversation. "In the play," he says, "you may see it swinging backward and forward when I am anxious, affectionately caressing my collar when my mood is endearing, vibrating with menace when I am angry, trailing in melancholy fashion behind me when I leave the room dejected."

Every day shortens the time left in which you can pay your poll tax and be entitled to vote. Will you neglect it and disfranchise yourself?

All Belgians Qualified Must Exercise the Elective Franchise.

The Belgians have made an important discovery. They have found out how to accomplish something that no American Commonwealth accomplishes. They have found out how to compel citizens to vote. They do not send the non-voters to jail, but the conservative means employed is so effective that at a recent election out of 1,058,165 eligible voters only 5,551 failed to vote without giving previous notice to the courts as required by law, and of this number 2,621 when summoned before the magistrates were able to present acceptable excuses, such as age, illness or unavoidable absence. The number punished for not voting at that election was 2,000, or exactly 2.76 out of every thousand.

How has this wonder been achieved? In the case of first offenders, the state is far from being harsh. The magistrates simply admonish the negligent citizens that the habit of staying away from the polls will cause him trouble if persisted in. He has begun to make entries on the wrong side of his account with the state. If he fails to vote a second time there will be a penalty. In that event he hands the magistrate $5 and if he still continues to refrain from voting as the elections recur his political rights are suspended for ten years.

If men will not vote, why let them call themselves voters?

Before the year 1893 in Belgium it is said that 16 per cent of the voters remained away from the polls at every election in spite of all that the party workers could do to get them there. But as soon as the law making voting compulsory was passed the rate of abatement fell below 5 per cent.—Hartford Times.

The Death Penalty.

Two murders occurred in Detroit recently within a day or two of each other, which appear to have greatly stirred the city. Michigan does not punish murder with death, and these murders have raised the question in the press of that State as to whether this fact does not encourage murder, and is not responsible for the two just committed. Those States which require the death penalty often suffer from just as many murders as those which do not. The theory is that punishment restricts criminality. It does to some extent but it never has and never will prevent it. "Out of the heart proceedeth murders," and the whole troop of crimes that fill the courts with defendants and the penitentiaries with convicts and that from time to time place upon the scaffold the wearer of the black hood. Nevertheless, the certainty of knowledge that he will be put to death must frequently have some effect in deterring from capital crime the man who premeditates it. But away and beyond these considerations, full justice demands that "whosoever sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood also be shed." It is a false pity, that does not work out for the best interests of government, that asks for the abolition of the death penalty, although that spirit of humanity which seeks to substitute for the repulsive neck-breaking gallows and noose the quicker and easier mode of the electrocution chair is to be commended.—Charlotte Observer.

Duplin County Giant.

Prince Grady, who resides in the lower part of Duplin, is attracting considerable attention on account of his tremendously large frame. His wrists are 8 1/2 inches round and his second finger is almost 4 inches long. His legs are already 3 feet and 11 inches, and Grady is still growing. He is now 17 years of age and the sole of his foot measures 14 inches and Grady reaches up into the air just 6 feet and 3 inches. By the time he becomes a man—or rather by the time he stops growing—Duplin county will have the distinction of being the home of the State's largest man.—Duplin Journal.

A Southern Writer Worth Watching.

It is not at all implorable that before many years have passed the South will be pointing proudly to a new writer in the field of fiction; a writer whose present work along another line gives promise of something enduring interest if she turns to fiction when more mature—Hellen Keller. This wonderful girl from Alabama, blind, and deprived of all sense of hearing, is putting so much poetic feeling, sentiment and deep thought, and is showing such marvelous descriptive power, in her story of her life now appearing in The Ladies' Home Journal, that one cannot help wondering what she would do if she were to try her hand at a romance. It is too early yet for her to think of it, as she is only twenty-one, and still in college; but it requires no stretch of the imagination to conceive of her as becoming one of the South's most famous authors by and by.
