R. M. KENNEDY

From Our Regular Correspondent WASHINGTON, D. C. May 2.

As all of the appropriation bills, with the exception of the general deficiency bill which will not be reported until the last of the session have been reported, it is possible to make an approximate esti mate of the total appropriations of the session and to a certain extent of this Congress. The general appropriation bills so far reported, some of them already laws, aggregate $658,851,208. This is with-000,000 appropriated on Tuesday other special appropriations. As bill will approximate several mil. lions it is considered safe to pretory as a "billion and a half dollar Congress," for it is safe to assume short session will at least equal those made this year. Should the Nicaraguan Canal bill become a law that would add $180,000,000 more to the aggregate. In this connection, too, it is worth remembering that, by the repeal of the war revenue taxes, the annual receipts of the government have been curtailed by a sum estimated at $70,000,000. The greatest incentive to lavish expenditure at this session of Congress has been the apprehension on the part of the protectionists that a surplus in the Treasury would lead to tariff reduction and their object has been to expend the surplus, irrespective of necessity, in order to obviate any revision of the tariff schedules.

The methods employed to secure the passage of the Omnibus public building bill this week serve as an excellent example of the manner in which the dominant party effects its ends. This bill contained many appropriations for worthy objects and some long needed public build ings, but it also contained provisions for others which were little short of "looting the Treasury." In order to secure the passage of the unworthy bills the republicans consolidated all bills for public buildings into one measure. Opposition to one would mean opposition to all. They went even farther and included in the bill a provision for some public improvement in almost every state in the Union so that any Representative who voted against it would be voti gagainst the wishes of his constituents A special rule was adopted which made it impossible to amend by strking out any of the notoriously unworthy provisions jects so numerous and diverse. 1 cite this case merly as a sample of methods in the House.

The President has determined to appoint Henry Clay Evans Consul general at London, vice the recently deceased William McKinley Osborne. The appointment will not meet with the approval of Bethel, N. C. the G. A. R. as it is very much in the character of a promotion, the position carrying several times as large remuheration as that of Commissioner of Peusion. Mr. Roosevelt believes. however, that Mr. Mr. Evans administered his office with exceptional justice and that he deserves great reward.

BARBERS AND CHRISTMAS.

"Our trade suffers more than that of any other during the Christmas There is a five-year-old boy in holidays," said a Thirteenth street Massachusetts avenue who is of the | barber. "Contrary to all rules, we make less money within the ten days of the Christmas season than in the dullest lull of the summer months. About 20 per cent of our regular customers who are shaved three LeaveTarboro times a week suddenly drop off about three days before Christmas and do not return until early in January. It's nothing new. You see, it's like this: The tipping habit Ly Goldsboro about Christmas time has grown so in America that a man seems to think that he is forced to give his room adjoining his mother's, and as barber at least a dollar around Christmas. Instead of keeping on and feeling the pangs of a pricked pride hundreds just change places for a week or so. The thing has become so evident to us that we expect it. When we hear the perfunctory phrase, 'Well, I guess I'll go out of town for eight or ten days,' or one customer say to another, I "Just remember the angels are think I'll take a run up to Maine near you and caring for you," re- for a week's shoot,' we are on."-

Then to the astonish-One day as I was passing under | meut of the bank officials he opened an evergreen tree a whippoorwill | the pail and showed that it was full fluttered down in front of me and of soiled and crumpled bank notes ran along on the ground as if! of an almost forgotten issue. There was a little less than $1,500 in the pail, and every dollar of it was of the old war issue of thirty-five years ago and worth a hundred cents. The bank retained the greater part of the money, but some of it was in such condition that it had to be sent to Washington to be exchanged. Long, who is about seventy years old, refused to make any explanation of how he came into possession of the money. Crumpled up in some of the bills were small feathers and bits of straw, which gave evidence that the money had been at one time concealed in a bed. - Indianapolis
