This is Greenville's

Fastest Growing Store.

WHY?

BECAUSE no other store Anywhere is so diligent in the interests of the buying public to which it looks for support.

BECAUSE nothing but absolutely reliable merchandise is admitted here at any price--that point is of vital import.

BECAUSE the prices we ask are the lowest known to the merchandise world for goods of the quality we sell.

BECAUSE every sale that we make is backed by an absolute personal guarantee of satisfaction to the smallest detail.

BECAUSE every thing is done to promote your personal comfort while shopping, and to fulfill the most exacting requirements.

And so we might continue to name reason after reason almost without end. No really careful buyer will pass the offers we make without investigating them. Look at this double column full of Economy opportunities for this week:

White India Linen, White Persian Lawns, White Piques. The prices start at 5½c and by an easy rising scale run up as high as 75c.

TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1902.

Today, May 20th, is the anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, and Charlotte is becomingly celebrating the occasion.

The Greenville Light Infantry is talking of disbanding for want of interest in the company by the people of the town. This should not be the case. A good military company is a necessity, and there should be enough interest manifested to maintain its organization. The people should think about this.

Two subjects that Greenville people ought to keep warm until secured are the hospital and the change in passenger train schedule. Of course the town should secure the hospital with such favorable opportunity as is offered. As to the train schedule, the advantage of having a morning connection from Raleigh and the west has already been pointed out in these columns. These things can be secured, and our people should not let them rest until they are secured.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 19.

Tomorrow or the next night the republicans of the House expect to call a caucus to consider the advisability of passing the Fowler banking and currency bill. There is no hope that the bill will be passed or even considered at this session by the Senate and there is little likelihood that the Senate will pass it at the next session but it is the belief of the House leaders that it will "draw" the democrats in the fall campaign and it is with the intention of stirring up the advocates of free silver that the leaders wish to pass the measure. The bill provides for the retirement of the greenbacks and the conveyance to the national banks of almost unlimited powers and responsibilities. The Western republicans are seriously opposed to its passage as they believe it would be another instance of the sacrifice of their interests to the general good of the party and they consider that they have already been seriously injured by the absolute rejection of tariff revision. Whether the leaders will be able to whip the insurgents into line in the caucus remains to be seen.

The House spent all last week considering the Naval appropriation bill, which passed on Saturday. The debate at times was most spirited and amusing. Representative Williams, of Mississippi, read to the House some doggerel concerning the appointment of Crowninshield to the European station which concluded with the lines;

"Great Crowninshield's the greatest far That ever stayed ashore."

The verses were received with shouts of laughter. At times the debate swerved to include the Philippine question and some decidedly acrimonious passages ensued.

Apropos of the Hanna-Frye ship subsidy bill the last issue of Lloyd's Register states that the Steel Trust is the largest owner of vessels in the United States and the fifth largest owner in the world. It is not surprising the bill was passed by the Senate.

A Plan of Action.

The King's Daughters, who have undertaken the noble work of establishing a reformatory for the State, have not yet decided upon plans for raising the necessary funds. A ways and means committee has been appointed to settle this important point of the undertaking.

It strikes us that the ladies should first enlist every newspaper in the State in this good cause, by requesting each to open a subscription list, money so collected to be forwarded to the properly appointed person each month. Then when the Legislature assembles, go before that body and request an appropriation. We believe that plan will accomplish the desired end in the shortest space of time.

It is a splendid work and deserves the support and encouragement of every man, woman, and child in the State.—Charlotte News.

Mrs. W. N. Beaver, of Concord, was struck and killed by a passenger train Saturday. She was standing near the track talking to a friend when the train came along, and it is thought she became confused and attempted to cross the track.

Newspapers in Schools.

A newspaper of the right sort, a good and wholesome newspaper, contains a record of the world's daily doings, and the older boys in our public schools ought to be encouraged to take an interest in the daily occurrences of the wide world. They ought to be familiar with important events as they happen, events of solid interest; yet some among them, possibly many, might be prone to give their chief attention to what Emerson called "the spawn of the press on the gossip of the hour," or to those reports of sensational happenings that attract the attention without enlightening the mind. Perhaps the teacher would be able to direct their choice and guide their task.

Assuming this to be the case, see what the pupils would gain by reading a good newspaper. It would be the means of cultivating the habits of reading that would extend beyond the newspaper to the rich stores of literature. It would make them familiar with passing events, but with the names of those who are prominent in the public eye; the men and women who are making history; who are conspicuous in life's activities, who are writing books, making inventions, enacting our laws, delivering orations, or devoting their lives to useful and beneficent work, and whose example have an alluring and inspiring influence. You might mention the names of a dozen prominent people, living or dead, to as many pupils in some schools, even of the higher classes, and some of them would look blankly at you, indicating that they know little or nothing about these dozen prominent people, or, at least, some among them. This ought not to be, but how could they know without being informed?—Ex.

Mrs. Fred Vnrath,

No. 228 Territorial Street, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"I am pleased to give my experience with Wine of Cardui as I am very grateful for its help. After my first baby was born I could not seem to regain my strength, although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband came home one evening with some Wine of Cardui and insisted that I take it for a week and see what it would do for me. As he seemed to have so much faith in it I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Mrs. Fred Vnrath.

MOTHERHOOD is the noblest duty and highest privilege women can achieve or aspire to. Without this privilege women do not get all there is in life—too often they go through the world discontented, wrapped up in their own selfish cares and troubles. How different is the happy mother, watching her children grow into manhood and womanhood. A mother lives as many lives as she has children—their joys and sorrows are hers, as are their ambitions, triumphs and defeats. Healthy women do not suffer miscarriage nor does a woman who is healthy suffer tortures at childbirth. It is the woman who is ailing—who has female weakness—who fears the ordeal of becoming a mother. Wine of Cardui builds up the womanly in a woman. It stops all unnatural drains and strains—irregularities which are responsible for barrenness and miscarriage. It makes a woman strong and healthy and able to pass through pregnancy and childbirth with little suffering. After the ordeal is passed the Wine prepares a woman for a speedy recovery to health and activity.

Wine of Cardui, in re-inforcing the organs of generation, has made mothers of women who had given up hope of ever becoming mothers. Wine of Cardui will cure almost any case of barrenness except cases of organic trouble. How can you refuse to take such a remedy that promises such relief from suffering? Wine of Cardui simply makes you a strong woman, and strong, healthy women do not suffer. They look forward to motherhood with joy.

WINE of CARDUI

A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

Those who are teaching the young men today that success no longer depends on character, intelligence and hard work are sowing the seeds that produce anarchists. The doctrine that no man can achieve success unless he surrenders his self-respect, stoops to low means or has some "pull"
does more damage among the youth than the naked fatalism itself could accomplish. To tell the truth, have grave problems, but men never had such equal opportunities as they have in the twentieth century, and there is less difference between the millionaire and the pauper now than there was between the feudal baron and his lowest vassal in the middle ages.—Raleigh Times.

ance. If he knew anything about race horses he'd realize that there never was one that could keep

Greenville on the Programme.

The official programme of the Teachers' Assembly, which meets at Morehead June 10-15, has been issued. Prof W. H. Ragsdale, of Greenville, is down as one of the speakers.

Married.

This morning at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. L. W. Lawrence, on Washington street, Mr. H. M. Snuggs, of Albemarle and Miss Lillie Baker, of Greenville, were married by Rev. J. N. Booth.

The couple left on the morning train for Charleston to spend a few days at the exposition before going to their home at Albemarle.

Both are very popular and have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Died.

Mrs. R. A. Forbes died at 2 o'clock this afternoon at her home here. She was only 21 years of age and leaves a husband and two small children, the youngest an infant two weeks old. The burial will take place Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Noah Forbes grave yard, three miles from town. The bereaved husband, and two little children deprived of a mother's care, have the sympathy of every one.

Shaft Broken.

Monday evening the passenger train left Parmele on time, but between that place and Greenville met with an accident that delayed it an hour in getting here. When near Grindle creek the shaft to the drive wheel on the right hand side of the engine broke in two, which greatly disabled the engine. The train continued its journey with only one shaft of the engine at work which caused it to make slow time. A new engine, coal burner, was sent down from Rocky Mount last night to take the train out this morning and the broken engine was taken to the shops for repairs. We wish a coal burner could be kept on this run all the time.
