Our Raleigh Letter

Notes from the State Capital

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 6.

The joint canvass between Senator Pritchard and Hon. Locke Craig, which was called off for a "breathing spell" after the speeches at Lenoir last Thursday, will be resumed on Wednesday of this week, beginning at Statesville.

Efforts are being made to induce ex-State Senator George E. Butler, a brother of ex-United States Senator Marion Butler, to run as an independent candidate against Congressman Thomas in the Third District.

Trinity College celebrated "Benefactors' Day" on the 3d instant. The gifts to the college during the year just closed amounted to $130,000, most of which was given by the venerable Washington Duke, who has done so much for this great institution, and his sons.

Secretary Root has approved a project for a survey between Norfolk, Va., and Beaufort, N. C., to determine the most advantageous route for the establishment by the government of an inland water route between the places named.

Figures furnished from the office of the State Superintendent of Education state that the Democrats spent $847,000 more than the Fusionists during the last four years' administration of each—the Fusionists spending, from 1895 to 1898 $3,413,594 and the Democrats, from 1899-1902, the sum of $4,260,877; that there has likewise been a gain of ten weeks in the length of the term of the white public schools of the State, being nearly 16½ weeks this year. Good showing.

The State Prison officials, after a meeting of the directors a few days ago, declared that its affairs are in such good shape this year that the institution will not only meet all its expenses and obligations, but have a balance of about $50,000 to its credit after all liabilities are met. This is certainly refreshing news.

It's an ill wind that blows good to nobody—the Southern farmers are getting 50 cents per cord more for wood on account of the coal strike and famine. It may go higher, now that President Roosevelt's attempt to bring about an adjustment of the troubles has failed.

The registration books are now open and every man who had a daddy or granddaddy voting up to 1867 can get his name on the "permanent roll" and never be required to register again—whether you can read and write or not. But you can't vote next month unless you do register anew by October 25th. So, you'd better hurry!

Mr. Overman Speaks.

Hon. Lee S. Overman, of Salisbury, spoke to a large crowd in the court house here today. He made an able speech, touching both State and national issues. His comparison between the administrations of the Republican and Democratic parties in this state was strong and convincing, and his argument of national affairs unanswerable. A finer speech has not been heard here.

Mr. Overman was introduced by Mr. J. L. Flemming.

Our stock was never prettier than this season. These goods will be on display for a few days at the millinery store of Mrs. M. D. Higgs, where all are invited to call and examine them.

FRED W. MAHLER, of H. Mahler's Sons, Raleigh.

Meeting Closed.

The meeting in the Baptist church which had been in progress for two weeks, conducted by Rev. J. T. Edmundson, of Littleton, closed Sunday night. Mr. Edmundson is an earnest preacher, and a close adherent of the Bible, relying upon the Word to prove every assertion. The present result of the meeting were about twenty professions, and of this number twelve have applied for church membership. It is hoped the good seeds sown during the meeting will continue to bear fruit.

During his stay here Rev. Mr. Edmundson greatly endeared himself to the people of Greenville, and he spoke frequently of his love for them.

Seven Up and Nine Down.

The city police force was detained beyond the usual business hours Saturday night. There were several little scraps, of more or less importance. That between Martha Peyton and Paul Webb, colored, of which a lamp and Martha's head bear grievous evidence, resulted in an embarrassing interruption of an interesting game about 2 o'clock Sunday morning; in Little Washington. While Capt. Smith and policemen Dudley and McGowan were noising around after sporty Paul, they had the good fortune to stumble over a red-hot card and crap joint. The game in progress was a fast one, and the players enjoyment was evidently little restrained by fear of a raid at that hour. But the game was a tame affair compared to the proceedings immediately following the Captain's gentle knock upon the door. The light went out of course, which was a bad thing for the furniture of the room. With nine bucks waltzing over chairs and tables, some seeking the under side of a bed, others making for a window, and a few trying to climb the wall to the loft overhead there was something to remind one of Mont Pelée in its palmiest days. The first fellow that struck the window found the muzzle of Sam's Colt and changed his mind about exposing himself to the night air. When a match was struck there was found to be nine of the boys. Mayor Whedbee sent them on to the Superior court.

Birds Dash Out Lives.

Washington, Oct. 3.—About 75 birds lay dead on the ground on the north side of the Washington Monument this morning. Yellow and black throated warblers, thrushes and many other varieties of the feathered tribe which migrate to the land where no anthracite is needed for heaters were among the number.

This is the season for the southward journey and the huge white marble shaft which rises for more than 500 feet into the air forms the stone wall against which the tiny creatures batter out their lives at night. In the spring the south side of the monument is the graveyard of the feathered tribe, and so plentiful is the harvest during the spring and fall that Washington cats and dogs have come to learn of the "open-game season" and fatten on the work of the relentless marble.

Each morning during this time of year the number of dead birds at the bottom of the monument ranges from a quarter to a half hundred, and, this morning the record was broken by the figure of three score and 10 or more.

He found the band, but it wasn't loaded.

It isn't good form to introduce the carnival in conversation with a Kinstonite.

The action of the Supreme court was probably worth more to the State than to Wilcox.

It is generally conceded that Senator Pritchard and Mr. Craig are still on speaking terms.

A remedy that doesn't remedy is but little better than an illustration that doesn't illustrate.

As a rule, trust magnates don't worry much over trust remedies that can't be made to work.

The people who have been prophesying the end of the world year-before-last might hazard a few on the coal strike.

One hundred yards of macadam between the court house and Five Points would convert more people than seventeen volumes of "Wherein good roads are worth more than they cost."

With Teddy riding the elephant, William Jennings glued to the tail of the Democratic mule, and the Hon. Thomas L. Johnson at the head of "the greatest show on earth," the entertainment is really worth the price of admission.

Walter Wellman is reported to have discovered the fact that all the great financiers are opposed to Mr. Roosevelt. By which it may be seen that if Mr. Wellman should take it into his head to look up that Pole Lieutenant Peary has been hankering after, something would be likely to come of it.

Registration of Voters.

Notice is hereby given that the books for the registration of voters in Greenville township will be opened from 9 o'clock A. M. until sunset, commencing on Thursday, October 2nd, 1902 and closing on Saturday, October 25th, 1902. (Sunday's excepted.) This will be an entirely new registration. All persons desiring to vote in the approaching election can register on each Saturday during said time at the Court House and at other times at my office in Greenville.

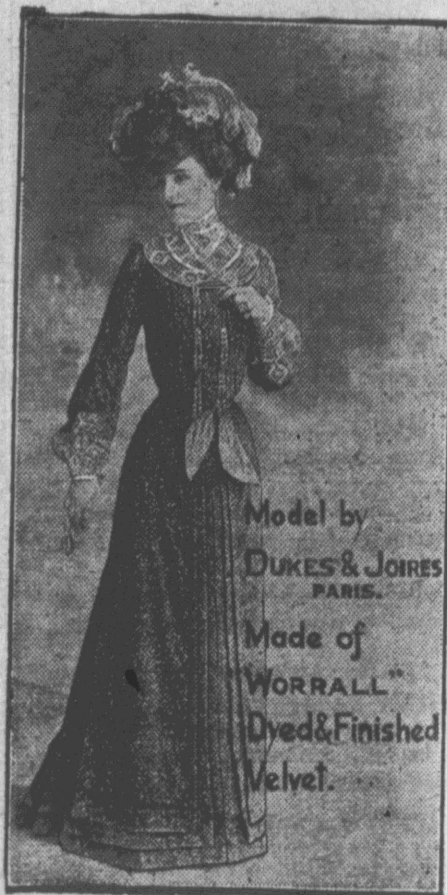

This September 29th, 1902.
W. L. BROWN,
Registrar for Greenville Township.

Rural Libraries.

Under the provisions of the law passed by the Legislature of 1901 365 rural libraries, costing $10,680, have been established in the various counties of the State. One-third of this amount was paid by the people in this district, one-third taken from the district school fund and one-third appropriated out of the State treasury, so that these 356 libraries have really cost the State only $4,560. Under the provisions of the act not more than six of these libraries can be established in any one county. I have no doubt that the remainder of the 500 libraries provided for in the act of the Legislature will be established before the close of the year. It would be difficult to calculate the benefits that will result to the children, to their parents and to the entire cause of education in the counties and districts where these libraries have been established.—J. Y. Joyner.

Do Good—It Pays.

A Chicago man has observed that, "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. You cannot possibly lose by it." Most men appreciate a kind word and encouragement more than substantial help. There are persons in this community who might truthfully say: "My good friend, cheer up. A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will rid you of your cold, and there is no danger whatever from pneumonia when you use that medicine. It always cures. I know it for it has helped me out many a time." Sold at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

Letting the lines out of a political campaign would be like letting the gas out of a balloon.

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. It's attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquifies the mucus, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." Jno. L. Wooten.

There is a great deal of stomach and intestine about this life after all. Weakly souls are always tied to weak stomachs.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers of indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat." Jno. L. Wooten.

If doctors received pay only from those they cure, they would soon be obliged to prescribe a light diet for themselves.

Gained Forty Pounds in Thirty Days.

For several months our younger brother had been troubled with indigestion. He tried several remedies but got no benefit from them. We purchased some of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and he commenced taking them. Inside of thirty days he had gained forty pounds in flesh. He is now fully recovered. We have a good trade on the Tablets.

The majority of signs, like the majority of men, will fail, if tried too long and too hard.

He Learned a Great Truth.

It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley: "why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" "John Wesley, because once telling is not enough." It is for the same reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds and grip; that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. For sale at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

The hand that does the scratching always aggravates the itch.

Ran a Ten Penny Nail Through His Hand.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount, of Three Mile Bay, N. Y., ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me," he says, "and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

We have made so many vain attempts to reform the world that I have my serious doubts as to whether the world feels the need of any reformation that is going to prevent us from acting just as mean as we know how.

Forty Years' Torture.

To be relieved from a torturing disease after 40 years' torture might well cause the gratitude of anyone. That is what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve did for C. Hanev, Geneva, O. He says: "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of piles after I had suffered 40 years." Cures cuts, burns, wounds, skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. Jno. L. Wooten.

THE STATE PRESS

News and Opinions.

If the populist party is all that Mr. Butler has to bank on he is likely to remain out of politics.—Durham Herald.

The President has tried honest persuasion and arbitration and now it's time to use force. A bird that can sing and won't sing must be made to sing.—Charlotte News.

Explorers Peary and Baldwin will no doubt lecture on the frozen north the coming season, but they are not likely to have a monopoly on information about cold weather. If the present prices of coal keeps up several million people in this country will be able to give graphic descriptions of arctic sufferings.—Kinston Free Press.

Some men are born independent, some achieve independence, and some are independent from natural born cussedness.—Greenville Reflector.

And some radicals claim to be independent in the hope that they can fool somebody into voting for them.

You may shatter the vase if you will, But the scent of the nigger hangs around it still.

—Rhankatte Roaster.

Public necessity is of far higher dignity and greater importance than private interests. While the first would not destroy the latter save in extreme cases, the latter must yield to the former in any case regardless of consequences. It is time this were impressed upon whomsoever may be responsible for the continuation of the coal strike, or upon both the contending parties thereto if needs be. It is as important to the well being of the country that such lawlessness as now disgraces Pennsylvania should be put down, let the party or parties there be whom they may, as it is that the public necessity for coal shall be satisfied.—Raleigh Post.

His Last Attempt.

Boston, Oct. 3rd.—Lieut. Robert E. Peary passed through Boston tonight on his way to New York. He will proceed in a few days to report for duty at the Navy Department at Washington. The explorer is accompanied by Mrs. Peary and their little daughter, Marie. The Lieutenant has been in Portland, Maine, settling the estate of his mother, who died a year ago.

"Do you intend to try again at some future time, or is that your final exploration?" he was asked.

"Undoubtedly I have made my last attempt," he answered, covering his weather-beaten face in his paper, for a moment. "My time is up now, and I am going back to my work in the navy."

Present State Administration.

I have not said these things in defense of the present administration. It needs no defense. Its record defends it. It is only necessary that there shall be no misstatement on that record. It is an administration of which the people of North Carolina can be justly proud. It has been prudent, conservative and progressive. It has been economical in the expenditure of the people's money. It has not misappropriated one cent of the people's funds. It has kept every promise which the party has made, and this convention will but voice the wishes of those it represents, and will do itself honor in giving to it a hearty and cordial endorsement.—F. M. Simmons at Greensboro.

Look Out For Fever.

Billiousness and liver disorders at this season may be prevented by cleansing the system with DeWitt's Little Early Riser. These famous little pills do not gripe. They move the bowels gently, but copiously, and by reason of the tonic properties, give tone and strength to the glands. Jno. L. Wooten.

White Snake Soup.

There is a legend to the effect that long ago a man named Ramsay of Banff, Scotland, having boiled down a white snake and accidentally swallowed a drop of the soup, against which he had been warned as poisonous, found himself endowed with the power of seeing through the people he met. This unusual opportunity for diagnosis established his reputation and fortune as a physician.

MAN-O'-WAR HAWKS.

Feathered Highwaymen That Do Their Fishing in the Air.

The man-o-war hawk is a somewhat large bird and an expert fisher, but he does most of his fishing in the air. When the booby bird comes home from abroad, he finds the man-o-war hawk "layin' for him," and, however persistently he may seek to escape by dashing flight, with much screeching and screaming, he finds that before he can safely set foot on the land he must disgorge a fish or two, which the swift pursuer adroitly catches in the air. It seems, however, to be generally understood as a modus vivendi between the fisher and the pirate birds that their contentions were only on the wing and that once on land they should dwell peacefully in their separate camping grounds.

The boobies are awkward and unwieldy on land and may be easily captured. They rarely seek to escape when a man approaches; but, accustomed to meet the demands of their familiar enemy, the man-o-war hawk, by disgorging a fish in the air, they frequently resort to the same process and lay at the feet of the intruding stranger what stock of fish they have available. The man-o-war hawks turned this practice to their own advantage by following after any man who might appear among the nesting birds, circling in the air just overhead, ready to pick up the fish which the frightened boobies might give up as a peace offering. The man-o-war hawks were generally eager for anything and would hover closely, ready to take from the hand of a man whatever he might toss in the air. On one occasion one of these birds swiftly snatched a notebook which lay for a moment on the ground and sailed away, dropping it, however, on finding it to be neither fish nor fat.—Century Magazine.

His Particular Want.

In a certain Sunday school the subject of the lesson was the condition of man in Eden. On a large leaf suspended in the room were named certain gifts with which God had blessed man. Among these was mentioned the giving of a wife. The pastor in some remarks to the children tried to show that man needed company.

"If," said he, "you had a dog at home or a playful kitten or a beautiful song bird, would that be all you would want?"

They agreed that it would not.

"What more would you want?" he asked, expecting that they would answer father, mother, brothers or sisters. After a pause a little fellow about three years old, with a thin, soft voice, spoke up:

"A wife."

The school broke into laughter, the pastor maintained his gravity with difficulty, and the superintendent disappeared to vent his feelings where he would not be observed.—New York Times.

Cheese as Food.

"People should know and value better cheese as food," said a physician the other day in discussing the diet question. "It is true that freshly made domestic cheese is hard to digest, but nothing is so easily digested as any of the imported cheeses and nothing is more nutritious. Weight for weight Roquefort, Brie, Camembert and Swiss cheeses are more nutritious than the best beef or steak. They are more easily digested, and they give the same sort of nourishment that is derived from fresh meat, so that in the time of a meat famine the well cured and well aged imported cheeses are the best substitute that can be found for beef, and, as consumed, the best of cheese is cheaper. A twenty-five cent Brie cheese, for instance, will feed more persons and nourish them better than a dollar's worth of beef. Two ounces of these cheeses have the same food value as a pound of the best prime beef."

Not the Example He Expected.

The master of a Glasgow school was presiding over the reading lesson when the child, whose turn it was to read, came across the word "hiring."

"What is a 'hiring'?" asked the teacher.

The boy thought for a moment or two and then replied, "I don't know." The question was next propounded to the entire class, with a like result. The master then explained the meaning of the word as lucidly as he could and at the conclusion of his explanation repeated the question.

"Please, sir," replied the boy addressed, "you're a hiring; you're paid to teach us."—Scottish American.

Theodor of Death.

A London physician of large practice asserts that owing to his extremely sensitive sense of smell he can foretell the coming of death forty-eight hours. He says that when a patient comes within two days of death a peculiar earthy smell is emitted from the body. When the fatal disease is slow in its progress, the odor makes its appearance as much as three days before-hand, but when the disease is of the galloping kind the doctor says he receives much shorter warning. He attributes the smell to mortification, which begins within the body before life is extinct.

Dogs are thought to have this sense, for hunting hounds have been observed to begin a mournful baying a day or two before their masters died.

The muscles of a bird's wing are twenty times more powerful, proportionately speaking, than those of a man's arm.
