AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

AYDEN, N. C., Jan. 12, 1906.

The first Saturday in February is the time appointed for overseers and road supervisors to meet in Ayden. This is a gentle reminder of a pleasant occasion.

Prof Rigdale spent Wednesday here.

Harry Kittrell, of Winterville, was a visitor this week.

A. D. Johnston, of Winterville, has been here during the week.

M. H. Quinerly, of Greenville, is here on a visit to relatives.

The condition of Claude Quinerly is considered critical.

That same good angel has been down our way again and mended the sidewalk. Now me and our girl can go out of a Sunday afternoon and there will be no need of an accident policy.

'Tis a pretty sight in Dr. Sauls' drug store every evening. The lovely ladies and beautiful girls assembled and the magnificent store tend to enhance the beauty of the occasion, and a poor lone bachelor is attracted, and as he gazes the blissful realities of a what might have been makes him ponder and gaze in admiration of another's bliss, and sigh for his own woes. 'Tis fate, we suppose, but such a fate. Don't blame us, we couldn't help it.

Mrs. Lon McLawhorn went to Greenville yesterday.

Dr. P. R. Hines had a call to the capital yesterday and left on the morning train.

John I. Brown, a former Pitt county citizen, but now of New Jersey, made us a visit Tuesday evening at our boarding house. He has been away from Pitt 12 years.

Louis B. Williams and family have moved to Ayden and will occupy the Edwards home on Lee street.

The beautiful snow has all gone, but from present indications there is yet more to come.

We like to be obliging and especially is it to us a source of delight to lend our aid in launching two souls into the world as one, that life's troubles may be less and its joys greater, but for the past week we have on account of other arrangement, been compelled to decline, yet we hope the happy one's have accomplished their purpose, arrived at that state where the third party is unnecessary and the two alone are satisfied alone to be.

We honestly believe every farmer, cropper and tenant, on an average, in Contentnea township has bought a new horse or mule. Certainly somebody expects to work this year and do a lot of it, too.

LOST—A gold clasp pin. Prescription sign Rx N. C. '04, on it. A suitable reward for it will be paid by C. L. Cannon at Sanl's drug store, Ayden, N. C.

Married at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Elatus Cannon, in Contentnea township, on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, Jan. 10th, 1906, Miss Emma L. Cannon to Mr. David C. Cannon, both of Pitt county. O. C. Noble, J. P., officiating.

LARGE LAND DEAL.

The Avon Farm Changes Hands.

W. H. & S. T. White have sold their Avon farm, about 8 miles from Greenville, to J. J. Laughinghouse. The deal has been in contemplation some time and was consummated a few days ago.

This farm, which is one of the best in the county, contains 2,565 acres and sold for $25,000.

The reason the Messrs. White parted with the Avon farm was because W. H. White, who had the management of it along with other farms, had more to look after than his health would permit.

It is generally conceded that the price paid was very reasonable for a farm as large and valuable as the Avon.

Remarkable Funeral.

Newbern, Jan. 10.—A funeral was held in Christ Episcopal today under very remarkable circumstances. Julian Leath, colored, aged 83, was given honor by being buried from this church. She was a familiar character around town for years, and was the special ward of the church, having been reared by the members of the church with more than usual favors. She was faithful to all her duties and was greatly respected. During her last sickness, she had served ministered to her wants, and members of the vestry visited her every day. She was familiarly called "Aunt Juno." The honor of burying her from a white church was granted spontaneously and heartily. A large number of white people paid their respects to her memory by their presence at her funeral.

Church Conference.

Next Sunday (Jan. 14,) being the second Sunday in the month, church conference day at the Methodist church, every member of that church, from the oldest to the youngest, is requested and urged to be present at that time. Matters of special interest and importance are to come before the church for consideration, and you may regret it if you are not there.

Business Meeting.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church will be held in the church this evening at 7:15 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

The league council, consisting of all officers of the league, will meet at seven o'clock.

F. M. Hornaday.
Corresponding Secretary.

Two Assignments.

On Wednesday L. R. Whichard, a general merchant at Whichard, this county, made an assignment, R. O. Congleton being named as assignee.

On Thursday A. E. Tucker, a dry goods merchant of Greenville, made an assignment, J. L. Wooten being named as assignee.

In neither of these assignments has the full amount of liabilities and assets yet been ascertained.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECK.

Greenville Man Among the Passengers.

On Monday afternoon there was a wreck of the freight train on the Plymouth branch of the Atlantic Coast Line. The wreck occurred about two miles below Everetts and was caused by the box car just in front of the coach jumping the track. This car was considerably damaged and the track was torn up for some distance. Several passengers were in the coach and they had a narrow escape. Mr. E. H. Shelburn, of Greenville, was among the passengers and sustained a slight injury to one foot.

Fair Western Journalism.

"It sounds like a yarn," said a Chicago antiquary, according to the Minneapolis Journal, "but here is the proof. Look at it for yourself."

He opened his scrapbook to a clipping yellow with age. It was a clipping from a newspaper, of Tombstone, and it read:

"Wx hopx our rxadxrs will pardon thx appxarancx of this wxrk's Intxllignx and thx sxxmngly mystxrious absoxox of a cxrtain lxttxr.

"Sam Gilbxx camx into our offic yxstxrday and statxd that as hx was going shooting and had no ammunitiox hx would lixx to borrow somx of our typx for shot. Bxfxx wx could prxxvxt it hx had grabbxd all thx lxttxs out of thx most impxxiant box and disppxxrxd

"Our rxadxrs can hxp in rxxplxxshing our stock if all thosx who wxrx shot by Sam will savx thx chargx whxn it is pickxd out of thxm and rxturn it to us."

Accept Thanks.

THE REFLECTOR force, up stairs, were given a surprise on Thursday afternoon by J. M. Bensa, proprietor of the new bakery, in the shape of cream puffs and salted English walnuts. There were received at an hour when the whole push was hungry and the way they jumped on them would have done Jimmie good had he been there. Accept our most grateful thanks and the force stands ready at any time to do all it can for the success of the new bakery.

District Agency.

In consequence of the large amount of business he secured in this territory, the Greensboro Life Insurance Company has appointed H. A. White district agent. The district assigned him embraces the counties of Pitt, Martin, Greene, Lenoir and Craven. Mr. White is one of the best agents in Eastern North Carolina and the man has to hustle who can keep anywhere near him in writing insurance.

Red Men.

The time of meeting of the Red Men has been changed from Wednesday to Friday night of each week. At tonight's meeting there will be ten pale faces for adoption and every chief is urged to be present.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Of Those Going and Coming.

J. S. Higgs went to Tarboro this morning.

J. W. Perkins went to Ayden this morning.

A. R. Dupree, of Plymouth spent Thursday here.

R. A. Tyson returned from up the road this morning.

L. I. Moore returned from up the road Thursday evening.

Dr. J. E. Nobles returned Thursday evening from Winterville.

J. I. Brown, a native of this county, who left several years ago, spent awhile abroad then settled in New Jersey, is on a visit to his home people in the Mt. Pleasant section.

This For The Borrower.

There are many people in the borrowing class who ought to be subscribers to THE REFLECTOR. It is not to say they do not read the paper, for everybody reads it who can lay hands on it, and will send all over the neighborhood but what they get it. With the paper costing only one cent a copy it is really cheaper to be a subscriber than a borrower. Beside this, if every borrower was a subscriber you have no idea how much more the paper could be improved. Think over this, Mr. Borrower, and come get your name on our subscription list.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Dr. J. F. Miller, a prominent physician of Goldsboro, died suddenly at his home there Tuesday night.

The plant of the Virginia Carolina Chemical Company, near Charlotte, was damaged $125,000 by fire Wednesday.

Since saloons were opened in Wadesboro, last September, seven deaths have occurred, all of them traceable to the saloons.

Nathan Oade, an aged farmer of Lenoir county, dropped dead Thursday morning in the office of one of the tobacco warehouses at Kinston.

Eight of the older cadets of Bingham school, near Asheville, have been excluded from school because of trouble with the school administration.

Early Thursday morning James Wells was found dead in a sand pit near the county road between Tarboro and Old Sparta. It is thought that he committed suicide.

At Washington Thursday afternoon David Nelmes and another boy were fooling with a pistol. Same old story "didn't know it was loaded?" and in a few moments young Nelmes was dead from a bullet penetrating his brain.

Mrs. Claudia Jordan Hardy, wife of H. B. Hardy, traveling representative of the Raleigh News and Observer, died at their home in Raleigh Thursday. Mr. Hardy's host of friends over the State sympathize with him in his sorrow.

In Wake county Superior Court Thursday, ex-Policeman Rogers, who last June shot John Dockery for intimacy with his daughter and came so near killing him, plead guilty of an assault and was fined $50. This is the same case in which Claude Bernard was connected and against whom a suit for damages is pending.

Case of a Dog.

A gentleman once possessed a valuable sporting dog, which was extremely clever in the retrieving of game. The owner, however, was a remarkably bad shot, and one day on firing both barrels hastily at a rabbit he heard a mournful howl. The next moment his dog appeared, carrying a black object in his mouth and laid it carefully at his master's feet. The animal had retrieved his own tail.

Choice of Evils.

Jack—So you are engaged to Miss Gotrox, I understand.

Tom—You have said it.

Jack—Well, I hardly know whether to congratulate you or not. She is very exacting, I hear, and if you marry her you will have to give up drinking and smoking.

Tom—Oh, well, it might be worse. If I don't marry her I'll probably have to give up eating.

He Got Two.

"Think," said the teacher, "of a little creature that wriggles about in the earth and sometimes comes to the top through a tiny hole." "A worm," said a small boy. "Yes," said the teacher. "Now think of another little creature that wriggles about in the earth and comes to the top through a small hole." "Another worm!" shouted the youngster in triumph.

Crime in Boston.

Judge—You say the prisoner held you up on the common. What were his exact words to you?

Complainant—He said, "I am compelled to request you to kindly elevate your digital extremities."

Judge—Prisoner, you are sentenced to six months for highway robbery and to twenty years for splitting an infinitive. — Boston Transcript.

Safe Investment.

Secure a Good Location while there is an opportunity to do so at Reasonable Prices and on Easy Terms.

I have divided that splendid property, just east of the town limits in South Greenville, into convenient lots for home-seekers and will sell them on easy terms. There is no better location for homes anywhere around Greenville. High elevation, level, and convenient, being only a few minutes walk from the business part of town. This property is just outside the corporate limits, yet those who reside there will have the benefit of the graded school, and be as near to the churches, and depot and postoffice as are the people in many parts of the town, being only three hundred yards from Five Points, nice neighborhood adjacent to the property. Talk it over with me and let me show you these desirable lots. No better time than NOW to buy. Greenville will grow rapidly in the next few years and property will be higher. Catch the opportunity before it is too late.

We think the claim of one State paper that it "goes into the home of every North Carolinian" is stretching the blanket somewhat. There are plenty of homes in North Carolina in which no newspaper at all ever goes.

Find Happiness Today.

This is a busy age, the busiest in the history of a busy world, and the great energising force is the desire for happiness. This desire finds expressing in a thousand ways and while its manifestations are often startling, there is no mistaking its presence. The thief steals because he thinks to rejoice in his booty, and the murderer kills because he believes he will be happier with his enemy out of the way. The good likewise strive for the goal of happiness, and so it has been since the eviction of Adam and Eve in the far flush of creation's dawn. Countless billions have joined in the race; bare feet followed by sandals; iron heels by cork soles; and still the race goes on.

And in this scramble of centuries, how many found the object of their search? Just a few; a little handful in each age—wise men and women who grasped and held the great thought that happiness is in a vivid consciousness of the blessings of the present moment. Tomorrow may find us rich in health, in character, in funds, in loved ones, but tomorrow is not in our keeping. It is today that we live; it is today, and today only, that we can claim as our own, and happiness is found in rejoicing over the things that are good that belong to today.—Advance Magazine.

WILL SOMEBODY TELL?

The Habit of North Carolinians to Leave a Door Open is Proverbial.

At this season of the year the subject of keeping doors closed is a vital one. It is proverbial of North Carolinians that they seldom shut a door and the question is often asked of one if he has been raised in jail where he had some one to close doors for him, or in a sawmill where there are no doors.

It is a strange thing, but nine men out of ten will pass in at a door and if there is no spring on it to make it close, will leave it wide open, whereas if there is a spring, he will take particular pains to hold it and let it go to until it is almost closed, leaving a crack through which the wind whistles. Door springs are now made so that there is no slamming by reason of the spring; there is an air cushion that stops it and lets the door close gently, but when a strong wind is against it, it will seldom close tightly and when one holds on to it the crack is in evidence.

It is noticeable, too, that a woman will open a door and yell at some one across the room, in the meantime holding the door wide open, no matter how cold. She will even do this with the rain pattering down on her. It is absentmindedness and habit. But it is a reprehensible one.—Greensboro Record.

WHY A DOG HOWLS.

The Seoland Neck Commonwealth is asking some more questions but in the main answers its own inquiry. That paper says:

From time to time some of our wise and studiously inclined contemporaries, notably the Greenville REFLECTOR, the Gastonia Gazette, the Charlotte Observer the Norfolk Landmark, and some others, propose to solve some very hard questions—such as why a rabbit wabbles his nose? Now The Commonwealth has a question of some importance to propound to those who can answer it, for not infrequently it involves that which grates on sensitive nerves. The question is this: Why does a dog howl? Dogs howl under varied and different circumstances and seemingly from different circumstances and seemingly from different impulses. For instance, when a dog gets left or lost he frequently howls, and we conclude that he does so because of sorrow or loneliness; but what impulse is it which causes a dog to howl when you blow a whistle, sound a flute or horn? Does he howl from sorrow or joy? Or is it because it grates upon his nerves?

If it is the whistle of a steam engine, then it is because it grates on his nerves that the dog howls. In that respect the dog is like folks, for there is nothing more grating on the nerves of man or dog or anything else that has nerves, than a steam whistle. If it is a dinner horn that sounds then the dog howls for joy, as he is hungry and realizes that feed time has come around once more. But the flute business, that stumps us and we pass it on to some of the other brethren.

Wonder how it makes a fellow feel for one of his namesakes to go to the bad. The press dispatches tell that one of Booker Washington's namesakes who had become notorious was shot and killed by officers. The President will read of some of his namesakes going that way after awhile.

Building and Loan Returns.

It has been mentioned on several occasions that the Mechanics Perpetual Building and Loan Association would pay to the holders of shares in the 34th series, which is to mature on Wednesday, January 17th, the sum of $70,000. A portion of this will go to the cancellation of loans, but the majority of it will be paid out in cash. This means much for Charlotte.

The 35th series will mature in July. It is estimated that the amount that will be ready for distribution then will be approximately $100,000. There are series which are now running which, when they mature, will call for more than $200,000. This evidences the fact that the building and loan associations of Charlotte are mighty factors in the city's growth and prosperity.—Charlotte Observer.

If there was any difference between the two Raleigh suicides the man was the worst, but he was given a decent burial participated in by his friends, while the woman only found mourners among her kind.—Durham Herald.

Dog Saves Freezing Master.

Danbury, Conn., Jan. 11.—Covering the unconscious form of its master, John Dunn, a New Milford farmer, with its own body and shaggy fur, Don, a huge St. Bernard dog, saved the man from death by freezing. Dunn started yesterday to walk from New Milford village to his home in the country.

Lying in the snow on a hill two miles outside the village, a rural mail carrier found him unconscious and nearly dead from the cold. Across his body lay his dog, vainly licking at its master's face in an effort to arouse him. Dunn will recover.

HOW A BANK WAS SAVED.

A Cashier With Nerve and an Issue of Counterfeit Money.

"Speaking of runs on banks," said the veteran story teller, "reminds me of a story I once heard of a bank that was on the verge of going through when a clever scheme of the cashier saved it from utter ruin. And the best of the whole thing was that in saving the bank the cashier floated a big issue of counterfeit money, and the deception was never found out. Here is how the thing occurred: Some of the bank directors and some of its officers had been dabbling in stocks. The crash came, and when it did some of the bank's officials got their fingers jammed. It looked to be all up with the bank. The run began, and it seemed as if the old bank would have to close its doors forever. It happened that the cashier had a brother who was a secret service man. This brother had led a raid on a counterfeiters' den several days before and had secured thousands of dollars' worth of paper money, which represented some of the most beautifully executed counterfeits ever seen in that territory. He had placed in the bank box used by himself and brother this money, which he was holding as evidence. The cashier thought of this and brought it into play. Figuring that all the depositors who had large amounts of money in the bank would return it to the institution after the rush was over, he paid all the claims of the big depositors with this class of money, keeping a record of those to whom counterfeit money was given. The bills were of large denomination. No one tried to change any of them. This money saved the day, and the run on the bank ceased when it was seen that all depositors were being paid. When it was all over the cashier went up to the men to whom he had paid counterfeit money and succeeded in getting them to again become depositors. In that way he succeeded in again getting possession of all the issue and within a week had restored every one of the big counterfeit bills to its place in his and his brother's bank box. Only the president, vice president and cashier of this bank ever learned of the manner in which the institution was saved."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Modern Diogenes.

A man had a quarrel with his wife which led to a breach of the peace. The woman took her revenge by refusing to speak to him for several days. The husband, who was good natured enough when not excited, could not bear this protracted silence any longer and thought of a way to break the spell. One afternoon he lighted a candle, stuck it in a lantern and while his wife was sitting in the room busily sewing he began to look under the table, the chairs, etc., as though he had lost something. At this the wife could not help laughing, and she asked him:

"What are you looking for?"
Delighted at having gained his point, he cheerfully replied:
"I was looking for your tongue."
—From the German.

A Rude Suggestion.

Mr. Stingiman's antiquated steed is, to put it mildly, rather thin. As if to make up for the lack of flesh on the body, however, the animal has a head many sizes too large for it. Of course, people talk about that horse, and Mr. Stingiman doesn't like it. The other week, for instance, Stingiman had gone to the expense of a new collar for the brute. Ten minutes after delivery he was back at the saddler's with the collar.

"You blundering idiot!" he blurted out. "You've made it too small! I can't get it over his head!"

"Over his head!" ejaculated the saddler. "Man, it wasn't made to go over his head. Back him into it."

And Stingiman was quite rude.

Johnnie Champagne's Butter.

A typical old French-Canadian "habitant" named Champagne and well known familiarly as "Johnnie Champagne" lived in Haverhill some years ago. One morning he entered the grocery store where he usually traded and in response to the pleasant greeting of the proprietor delivered himself of the following: "Mornin' ba gosh darn. See here, for wot you charge my wife for two pound of butter wot she never got? Ba gosh, dat's darn poor butter too."—Boston Herald.

The weather was so inclement on the day for meeting in December that no meeting was held. The program that was to have been had that day is for this meeting. Beginning from this time the work of the future meetings of the associations will be based largely upon "McMurry's General Method of the Recitation." The books will be on hand at this meeting so that the teachers may supply themselves with them. We begin this year under the most favorable conditions of any year in our school history. I shall be very glad to see every teacher in the county present at this first meeting in 1906. Most of you are enjoying your work during this session. This association is doing much to make conditions better for you. Will you stand socially for it and its work? Your presence is the only thing necessary for a splendid meeting. Shall we have it?

We wish to extend to all our customers and friends very best wishes for a happy and prosperous NEW YEAR together with our sincere appreciation of their liberal patronage during the past season, which we shall endeavor to deserve.

We are now making preparation for the biggest year's business any firm in Eastern North Carolina has ever known. Leather, Cotton Goods and Wool are advancing rapidly, therefore for the protection of our customers we are placing large orders as far in advance as the factories will accept them.

Our after Christmas clearing and stock adjusting sale will commence with the New Year. The holiday rushing has left us with broken lots, odd sizes and season goods such as the economical shopper is always on the lookout for. These goods will be sacrificed during this Great Clearance Sale and the prices will reach the lowest limit.
