AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C., June 15, 1906.— We have been requested to state that C. J. Tucker, tax lister for Contentnea township, will be in Ayden Wednesday the 20th, for the purpose of listing the taxes of those who have not already listed.

W. E. Hooks can now write insurance with greater rapidity and better satisfaction from the fact of a blushing young maiden having last Wednesday morning taken her residence in his household and began on first appearance to cry for papa and insurance. Ed says "oh how much happier others would be if they would only do likewise." We don't know who he means. The insinuation is mighty strong.

Mrs. C. L. Sumrell and children are visiting her parents over the river.

Henry Nelson, of Winterville, was here Tuesday.

Miss May Anderson, of Grimesland, is visiting Miss Nina Cannon. Johnnie Nobles has been to Greenville during the week. Is it a license?

J. A. Harrington and family came home Wednesday from Fort Barnwell, where they had been on a visit to the parents of Mrs. Harrington.

Constable W. J. Hemby went to Fremont Tuesday after a "coop." He didn't get the gentleman, but on his return he caught the brother at Kinston and brought him home.

There was a ripple of excitement on the streets Wednesday evening caused by a difficulty between Joe Hobgood and Walter Griffin, the latter on the ginger cake complexion. Griffin struck Hobgood with a brick, whereupon the latter outs with a knife and slashes the former across the side of the head inflicting a slight wound, and then Hobgood made for the woods followed by the police and a large crowd in hot pursuit. The police fired once and his man succumbed at first shot and brought back. A trial before Mayor E. G. Cox was had and both bound over to court. So ended a nice little scene for the time.

Last Saturday the trustees of the Methodist church here bought of B. H. Garris a nice lot on Lee street upon which they anticipate at a very early day erecting a handsome house of worship.

G. F. Morrison and family, who have been residents of Ayden for several years left Wednesday to make their home in Belhaven. There are very many of our citizens who regret exceedingly to see this most excellent family leave. Their friends are numerous and none were held in higher regard and esteem among us than Mr. and Mrs. Morrison. We heartily commend them to the people among whom they will make their home and assure them when they have become acquainted with this family they will appreciate them as we do.

Rev. B. E. Stanfield and two little daughters returned from Caswell county yesterday.

FIRE IN BALTIMORE.

Loss Will Reach $1,000,000.

Baltimore, June 13.—The greatest fire since the conflagration of 1904, involving a property loss of about $1,000,000, and the sacrifice of three lives, occurred at an early hour this morning on the water front.

For a time the entire harbor front was threatened with destruction on the north side, the flames being with difficulty kept within the confines of the wharf of the Merchants and Miners Transportation company, and on the south side a stubborn battle being fought to prevent a wholesale destruction of property by fire spread from the steamship Essex and barges, which were burned.

Three members of the Essex perished, and two are missing. It is believed that the missing men were hurled to death or jumped overboard and were drowned. The known dead are:

EDWARD ATKINSON, cabin assistant.

JOHN CASTELLO, second steward.

MANUEL ODELLO, fireman.

Five other men were rescued with difficulty by the tug Mary, two of them narrowly escaping death in the flames or drowning, as they were forced to make flying leaps to the rescuing vessel from the deck of the Essex, as the former boat pulled away from the burning steamer.

WHICHARD ITEMS.

WHICHARD, N. C., June 14.—

Owing to the delightful showers the grass is making good headway and giving the farmers a miserable rest.

Misses Susie Ross and Lillian Thomas, of Stokes, are visiting Mrs. W. A. Whichard.

Miss Susie Keel went to Greenville Monday and returned Tuesday.

Mrs. W. A. Whichard, after spending sometime in Greenville visiting relatives, returned Thursday, accompanied by D. J. Whichard, Jr.

K. S. Woolard was a caller in town Tuesday night.

R. O. Congleton went to Washington yesterday.

W. W. Thomas was in town yesterday.

Rev. M. L. Lawrence, of Hamilton, filled his regular appointment at Birery Swamp Saturday and Sunday.

L. R. Whichard spent Monday night in Greenville.

Miss Ella Woolard spent Tuesday night with Mrs. L. R. Whichard.

J. L. Roberson, of Stokes, was in town Wednesday on business.

Celebration at Kinston.

Kinston will have a big Masonic celebration on the 26th and 27th. A large delegation of Masons from this section had anticipated going over to take part in the celebration, but so far have been unable to reach any arrangements with the Atlantic Coast Line for a special train. On two occasions in the past it has been easy to secure trains for this purpose, but this time the railroad officials do not even show courtesy to answer correspondence about it, which is rather strange.

AROUND GREENVILLE.

Vanderbilt Sees and Hears Things.

GRIFTON, N. C., June 15.— The rainy season seems to be getting the best of the farmers by raising a grand army for General Green, who seems to be giving some of our fellows the very devil in the way of carpeting some of the crops with fine grass.

Vanderbilt has been to Greenville several times lately which has raised the curiosity of some of his Democratic friends who asked him what he was doing. He told them he was tabbing, confabbing, etc., that his party was like the Methodist church, doors always open and there was room for all who wanted to "jine."

Our town is over run with insurance agents. Some less than one hundred visitors and 18 or 20 local ones. No wonder the doctors are kept busy with these fellers going around telling people what a good time everybody will have when they die. It makes some of them fool enough to want to.

Dr. W. W. Dawson, one of our State's best posted and qualified practitioners, returned here last from a five weeks' trip North. He spent the most of his time at St. Joseph's Hospital, Baltimore, Md., was put in charge as hospital physician to relieve a friend of his who filled that position, while his friend took a month's vacation.

Of course occupying this position gave him access to this and all other hospitals in the city and vicinity, enabling him thereby to learn all the latest developments in medicine and surgery, returning with a mind equipped with all the modern knowledge in that line, and looking as well or better than usual. Long live our friend, the doctor, may his days of usefulness be many and his shadow never grow less.

The new residence of J. E. Harvey is moving up very rapidly under the supervision of Fred Fields, of Kinston.

Miss Jessie Coward was in town today, and Miss Rachel, too.

Misses Mana Patrick, Mabel McCotton, Anna Belle Kittrell and Viola McLawhorn attended the children's aid society last evening.

They are all them nice, good looking, spring chicken girls.

Every member of the Baptist choir is requested to meet at the church tonight for practice and to arrange for the past the choir will take in the Odd Fellows' memorial service Sunday afternoon.

Sam Jones says no man in America can defeat Bryan except Roosevelt and that he won't run. Mr. Jones may be right and he may not. We have our doubts about Mr. Roosevelt even turning down any kind of good chance, but we still have greater doubts about his being able to defeat Mr. Bryan if he did run. As the News and Observer remarks, all of this is only a good sign that we are again returning to a government by and for the people.—Charlotte News.

THE WEATHER.

Occasional showers tonight and Saturday.

HE IS USUALLY A FAILURE.

The Ways of the Average Great American Office Boy.

A most difficult person to "organize" is the office boy. We hear so much about the bright American boy and the achievements of the public schools that the wonder is where the office boys come from. They bring certificates of some sort from their teachers, but— Every big concern has a procession of boys trooping through its offices and works day after day, but the boys, for the most part, are obstinate and incompetent. When a bright boy appears he finds his opportunity quickly enough, and if he has staying powers he will get on. But the majority of youngsters that apply for jobs have no manners, they can't spell, and they are always watching the clock. They don't know whether San Francisco is in Cuba or the Philippines or whether Los Angeles is in Spain or the Sandwich Islands, and discrimination in the matter of foreign postage is beyond them. Discipline they object to, and they abhor taking orders. When it comes to that, the average young American of today does not take orders easily. He seems to suspect some hideous design upon his freedom and equality. After all, rudimentary information in geography, orthography, the wearing of hats and the omission of coats in offices and certain glimmerings of politeness are not without importance in business. The average applicant for office boydom has no notion of responsibility. He will take a job today and abandon it tomorrow on any pretext or on none at all.

But in capacity for vexation the average stenographer can give him points. Most stenographers are good laundresses or baseball pitchers spoiled. Polysyllables try their souls. The uncommon word fuddles their keys. Language is, in their minds, a device by which intelligent communication can be prevented, and initiative is a term without meaning. They believe that punctuation is given only to the gods, for they themselves know nothing of it. On the other hand, really capable stenographers are among the most helpful equipments of a business office, but their rarity is beyond belief.—Arthur Warren in Success Magazine.

Tennyson's Many Loves.

In discussing little oddities and peculiarities in connection with the works of various writers, and more especially poets, an official of the Congressional library recently said: "I was talking with a publisher not long ago about a new edition of Tennyson's poems which he proposes to bring out. He showed me a sample of the type which he intended to have cast for the edition, and I asked, 'Have you given an order for an additional lot of l's and v's?' " "Why, no. Why should I?" he asked. "Because you will have to have them," I told him. "The word 'love' occurs so many times in Tennyson's poems that the usual percentage of l's and v's is far short of the number required." —Larger's Weekly.

Keep Blankets Clean.

To wash blankets allow a large tablespoonful of lump borax to every two gallons of soft warm water. Soak the blankets in this overnight, the white ones in separate tubs from the colored ones. Let the water cover them as they lie loosely in the tub. In the morning squeeze them, wring out with the wringer, rinse in clear, soft warm water, wring and hang on the line.

Kitchen Helps.

Use soap and wood ashes to brighten pans and kettles that have been used over an open fire.

Grease the upper inside edge of the pan in which chocolate is being made, and it will not boil over.

Always place a knife which has been used in cutting onions immediately under the cold water spigot to prevent the odor from clinging to the blade.

Drive Away Beetles.

Add a piece of rock alum the size of a large potato to a pint of boiling water and allow it to simmer for about half an hour. Paint over the places that the beetles haunt with the mixture. At the same time sprinkle the floor with powdered borax, and you will soon be rid of the pests.

You cannot induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well. A sick dog starves himself, and gets well. The stomach once overworked, must have rest the same as your feet or eyes. You don't have to starve to rest your stomach. KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA takes up the work for your stomach, digests what you eat and gives it a rest. Puts it back in condition again. You can't feel good with a disordered stomach. Try Kodol. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

If your stomach troubles you do not conclude that there is no cure, for a great many have been permanently cured by Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Get a free sample at J. L. Wooten's drug store and give them a trial. They also cure constipation and biliousness.

If you ever bought a box of witch Hazel Salve that failed to give satisfaction the chances are it did not have the name "E. C. DeWitt & Co." printed on the wrapper and pressed in the box. The original DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve fails to give satisfaction for chancres, sores, boils, tetter, cracked hands, etc. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles it affords almost immediate relief. It stops the pain. Sold by John L. Wooten.

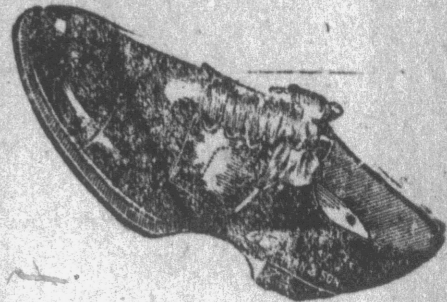

The Very Best Remedy for Bowel Trouble.

Mr. M. F. Borroughs, an old and wellknown resident of Bluffton, Ind., says, "I regard Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as the very best remedy for bowel trouble. He Made Allowance.

A French journal reports the case of a man who entered a coffee house and sat down near a customer who was reading the morning newspaper which belonged to the establishment.

"After you with the paper, if you please," said the newcomer.

The other man nodded assent and went on reading, but at the end of half an hour had hardly finished the first column. Just as the waiting customer was about making a second and perhaps impatient application, he noticed that the reader had lost one of his organs of sight. His resentment vanished.

"Ah," said he in a low voice, "I am not surprised. The poor man has only one eye and has to read everything twice over."

Adding Insult to Injury.

It is bad enough to have a red nose, as many entirely irreproachable women have, to their intense mortification, but to be gazed and swindled when one attempts to correct the deformity must be simply intolerable. "How to cure red noses permanently; absolute secrecy; send," etc., is an advertisement that, appearing only recently in a London paper, aroused great interest among a large circle of unfortunates. When those women whose noses, from one cause or another, were pinker than they thought proper eagerly opened their stamped envelopes this was what they read, "Go on drinking until it becomes purple."

A Sure Sign.

"The Briggs' honeymoon is over." "What makes you think so?" "When they go out together on a rainy day now each carry their own umbrella."—American Spectator.

FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1906.

Great is North Carolina. Asheville reports a light snow on the 13th.

The Charlotte News has a cartoonist who is putting in some good licks.

Some parts of last Saturday's primary and Thursday's convention looked too much like a cut and dried affair.

We do not believe the Republicans themselves are going to be sorry when Hackett beats Blackburn in the eighth district.

After he gets beaten it will not make so much difference whether Mr. Blackburn makes his home in Winesboro or Greensboro.

If there was not so much thought of politics and more attention given to improving the town there would be more rapid development.

The county convention Thursday was a field day for county candidates. They were all at work to get friends in the nominating convention.

If the Greensboro hotel would connect the dining table telephones with one in the kitchen the guests might be able to make the waiters get a move on.

The Greensboro hotel that has put telephones on every table in the dining room should go a step further and put one in every bed. Then the guests could be absolutely sure of getting no rest at all.

Congressman Small's bill for the draining of Dismal Swamp has been given a favorable report by the committee in Congress, and an appropriation of one million dollars arising from the sale of public lands is named for the purpose of draining the swamp. The bill stands a good chance of passing, and is in keeping with Congressman Small's policy to do everything possible to develop his district. The district never had a more useful representative.

THE BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION.

The North Carolina State League of Building and Loan Associations is one of the most active organizations in the country. The league held a few days since an annual convention of delegates from local associations from all parts of the State. There was very full discussion of matters relating to building and loan associations and the following may be considered cardinal principles developed by discussion and debate:

(1) Each association should be local in the sense of limiting all loans to home property in an area close to the home office and within which property values are well known to all directors and to many of the members of the association who are not directors.

(2) Each member should have one vote as a member and no vote on stock held.

(3) No limit should be put upon the number of shares any one member may carry.

(4) A moderate fine should be imposed for failure to pay dues and interest on time.

(5) Interest rate should be 6 per cent.

(6) New series should be started in small towns once each year. In large towns and cities once in six months.

(7) There should be no premiums, forfeitures, nor discounts on loans and but one kind of stock.

(8) Total expense of conducting an association should not exceed 2½ per cent. for the smaller ones, nor 1½ per cent. for the larger ones. Some of the well conducted associations keep the expense account inside one per cent.

(9) Building and loan associations should not be taxed, because the association never holds money property. It acts as a trustee to accumulate money from members and at once turn the aggregate over to one or more members who at once builds a house or puts it in other taxable form.

(10) In a properly organized building and loan association, all profits are distributed to members in proportionate payments. The only profit is the interest paid on loans, compounded and what little the fines make. The only expense is the compensation paid for actual services rendered by secretary and treasurer, cost of stationery and books. Presidents, directors and committees serve without pay. The building and loan presidents and directors and committees serve for the same motive that the church boards and school boards serve, viz: For the general good. Wherever the motive becomes one of personal advantage the institution ceases to be a building and loan association and becomes an ordinary profit making concern for the benefit of those who are in the scheme of personal advantage.

(11) All foreign inter-State, national and other associations making loans outside of local home territory, should be avoided by the people and prohibited by law. — Charlotte Chronicle.

WORK FOR THE BOYS.

This is a season which tries many a mother and father, and which means much for many a boy. The schools have all closed, and the boys who live on the farm are peculiarly fortunate in having right about them something to do. But the town boys are a problem just now. The average boy from eight to eighteen years of age is not apt to see the great importance in having something to do, and so if some one else does not find it for him, he will generally do very little. What can a man in town do with the boys during vacation? Well, this is a hard question, and has to be settled in every home where there are boys according to the particular environments in each case. But it ought to be set down by every parent that it is best for the boy to give him something to do. Regular duties at regular times will serve to develop the boy into some thing better than a loafer. The tendency is to let the boys "go at will" rather than take the trouble to put them at some duty, but this is not best for the boys. Then some parents let their boys drift about while their neighbors put theirs to work. Such parents ought to be careful not to allow their boys to "visit" too much. Nothing so annoys a boy as to have some visitors come and hang around while he is at work. It makes him feel like he is having a harder time than the boys who are allowed to go visiting twice a day, and so he becomes dissatisfied, sulks and is unhappy. Most boys have to be looked after if you get any work out of them, and most boys are better off, as we say, with such duties as keep them home most of the time. Keep the boys at home and give them something to do. — Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Too Many Wives.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 13. — Arthur T. Abernethy, formerly of Rutherford College, N. C., and known in North Carolina as the author of the book "The Hell You Say," is locked up here on a charge of bigamy. He was arrested last night and was to-day given a hearing in the central police station, after which he was committed to jail to await requisition from the Governor of New Jersey. Abernethy's arrest was made at the request of Detective Smith, of Camden, N. J., who telephoned to the Philadelphia police that Abernethy has at least four wives, two in Camden, one in Philadelphia and one in Pittsburgh.

PROGRESS OF STATE SCHOOLS

$206,000 Loaned to Counties by the State.

Raleigh, N. C., June 14.—The state superintendent of public instruction reports 440 school houses built on the plan approved by him, and that $270,000 was expended on new buildings and the improvements of old ones. The loans made to the counties from the state were found to aggregate $206,000. By means of this fund 566 school houses have been built in three years, valued at over a half a million dollars.

Rural libraries established during the year number 246, with 30,000 volumes. During the year 133, school districts voted special taxes, the total number of such being near 357. The main question now is rural high schools, better pay for teachers and higher grade teachers.

The Partitioning of the Continent Among the Powers.

By 1895 the partition of Africa had become an established fact. Almost every square mile of its surface having been scrambled for (here is no better word) by the great powers of Europe, the most remarkable circumstance of this gigantic acquisition of territory was the absence of international strife. It emerged from the struggle of the empires of Europe to find itself provided with new masters in many directions. France had become the possessor of 3,300,000 square miles of territory, 1,600,000 of which lay in the great Sahara Desert; Great Britain of 2,000,000; Germany, a newcomer, of nearly 1,000,000; Italy, also a new arrival, of 550,000, including a doubtful assigned claim upon Abyssinia; Spain of 150,000; the three Latin states and Belgium—Liberian, Belgian and Alexander Dumas—of 1,250,000.

The oldest colonies, Turkey and Portugal, claimed 2,700,000 and 2,500,000. A total in all of 11,370,000, leaving the poor little fraction of 1,000 unallotted, of which 70,000 lay in the great lakes and most of the remainder in the balance of the ordinary commissions.

By 1905 Britain, in annexing the South African republics and establishing with Egypt a joint control of the Sudan, added 800,000 to her total, and with her practical control of the destinies of Egypt itself is today the virtual ruler over some 3,300,000 square miles.

No partition of such a vast portion of the world's surface had ever taken place in so short a space of time, nor any one of even approaching magnitude, without severe and bloody human struggles. Britain had undoubtedly secured the lion's share, or perhaps the only share in which men of European descent could live and prosper materially and physically.

Africa possessed unique, though perhaps untoward features for successful development. Lying mainly, as it does, 30 degrees north and south of the equator, it was essentially a tropical continent. Its physical features resembled no other continent.—Lieutenant Colonel Sir Percy Grenard in Scribner's.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Guards and Robbers is a Jolly Game to Play in the House.

This is a game that may be played with three or more children. Choose a room that has two or more doors, and on the sill of each door place some small unbreakable object, like a bean bag or cushion. One child stays in the room and guards the bean bags, while the others try to get them. Of course the robbers cannot tell which door the guard is standing near, so when they come quietly up to steal the bean bags they may get caught instead. If the guard catches a child that could just stay a prisoner in the room. The guard can run out of the room to chase one of the robbers if she wishes to, but she is apt in the case to have some of the bean bags stolen from the other door. When only one bean bag is left the game is almost over, for in that case the guard chases the remaining robber or robbers all over the house till she catches them. Of course they still try to get the last bean bag, but it is not so easy. The guard wins if she catches all the robbers, and the robbers win if they get all the bean bags.

The Imperious and Conquering Reign of Isabel II.

"What's the news from Isabel, Mrs. Birch?" asked an interested neighbor.

"There is no news from my daughter Isabel. The only way I know she is still in existence since that baby was born is that I can recognize the handwriting as hers. It's a great mistake for a young mother to lose her identity the way Isabel's doing. I've lectured her about it in my letters, but I can't get a word of reply. Now, when I wrote last week I asked Isabel six direct questions about herself, her own health, her summer wardrobe and so forth. Her answer was eight pages—all about names for the baby! She discussed the pros and cons of every name under the sun and then put on a 'P. S.' to say:

"Leslie says this letter is all wasted. He has settled it that the baby is to have my name."

"There's one thing I insist on, though—they'll have to call that child 'Belle' or 'Izzie' when they stop saying 'baby.' Isabel certainly has the first right to her own name."

This was only one of a long series of like questions, with like answers, as the months went by.

"Tell us something about Isabel," was the frequent refrain of friends and relatives.

"Well, let me see," Isabel's mother would answer quizzically. "She thinks there's no prepared food on earth like a certain brand of condensed milk. And she's going to put baby into short clothes two whole weeks earlier than her neighbors advise because baby is so advanced for her age. Oh, yes, and she is going to leave the ruffles off the baby's pillowcases after this because baby will chew them. That's all I know about Isabel."

"Won't you read me a scrap of that letter from Isabel, Mrs. Birch?" begged a girl friend one day. "I'm hungry to know something about her."

"Certainly," agreed Mrs. Birch. Then she read:

"Precious Mother—I write in haste to ask whether two clusters of tucks and two rows of insertion will be too elaborate for baby's best short dress this summer. Mrs. Lamb thinks it will, but her baby is a boy, and that makes a difference, doesn't it? Of course I'm going to featherstitch above the tucks. Please answer at once. YOUR OWN ISABEL.

"Now, my dear," added Mrs. Birch as she folded the letter, "I'm going out to visit Isabel myself this fall, and probably I can bring you some news when I come back."

She went. She was away six weeks, and every minute of that visit was so precious that her letters home were few and hurried. The news would have to wait until she came back, she wrote.

When at last she returned Isabel's favorite brother met his mother at the train.

"Well, mother," he cried eagerly, "how did you leave Isabel?"

"Isabel!" exclaimed Grandmother Birch, with rapturous enthusiasm. "John, she is certainly a wonder! She's begun to put two words together!"—Youth's Companion.

A Beresford Anecdote.

An amusing reminiscence is given in Black and White of Lord Charles Beresford. He once created a disturbance in the house by a practical joke, for which the victim never forgave him. There was a certain member at the time who used to seek refuge in an empty bench behind the speaker's chair whenever a long winded debate was in progress. Here he would take off his boots and go to sleep until the division bell rang. On the day in question Beresford crept up to him and, taking one of the boots, hid it under a bench. Just then the division bell rang, and the sleepy member hunted high and low for his boot; but, unable to find it, he was hustled out by the tellers, and the humorous spectacle was witnessed of a staid member holding up one leg and showing a big hole in his sock.

The First Occasion.

The caution of the Aberdonian in giving an answer to a direct question was well illustrated the other day when I asked an eastern friend of mine whose family was not noted for very active habits:

"Was not your father's death very sudden?"

Slowly drawing one hand from his pocket and pulling down his beard, the interrogated one cautiously replied: "Aye, it was unco' sudden for me. I ne'er kent o' ma feyther's death in a hurry before."—London

FORETELLING THE FLOOD.

A party $20 expended by the flood service of the weather bureau for extra telegraph tolls in seasons of inundation frequently saves a million dollars in property and hundreds of lives.

During the great flood of 1897 $15,000,000 worth of perishable property was moved at the instance of the official forecasts, yet the total cost of the river and flood service of the United States was that year only $15,000, or one-one thousandth of this saving to the people. So this particular enterprise of the government certainly more than pays for itself, to put it very feebly.

"We always aim to frame our forecasts at least within a foot of what the conditions will afterward prove," said Dr. H. C. Frankenfield, in charge of the river and flood service. "In the rapid running rivers of the mountain regions we are rewarded with less accuracy than in the great, slow streams of the middle west. In the case of the Mississippi, Missouri and lower Ohio we can come within from one-tenth to three-tenths of a foot of actual rises."—Technical World.

Where Immense Energy Lies.

Talking before the Institution of Electrical Engineers at Glasgow on the unknown energy contained in the chemical elements and the prospect of making it available, F. Soddy said that the forces at our disposal compared with those exhibited when an atom suffers change are of a different and lower order of magnitude. Suppose, he said, that a way could be found in which uranium, which disintegrates to the extent of a thousand-millionth part annually, could be made to disintegrate completely in the course of a year. Then from one gram of uranium 1,000,000,000 caloric could be evolved, which, converted into electric energy, would suffice to keep a thirty-two candlepower lamp burning continuously through the year. By the expenditure of about one ton of uranium, costing less than $5,000, more energy would be derived than is supplied by all the electric supply stations of London put together.

A London Riot Fizzle.

May day's fiasco in Paris recalls the precedent set by London on April 10, 1848, when 200,000 chartists were to have marched on the houses of parliament from Kennington common. Only 20,000 went to Kennington when the day came, the meetings fizzled out tamely, just a few heads were broken, and the monster chartist petition was trundled to Westminster in three cabs. But London's panic and precautions had been quite on the scale of those of Paris in 1906. Troops were in force everywhere, especially at the bridges. The Bank of England and other buildings were crammed with soldiers and artillery and fortified with sandbag parapets and loopholed window barricades. Above all, 150,000 civilians were sworn in as special constables, including Louis Napoleon.

STOVES IN JAPAN.

The fuel in Japan is charcoal, wood, coal, coke and kerosene oil. The Japanese cooking apparatus is of two kinds—one of the "shichirin," a small portable construction of metal or earthenware, costing from 25 cents to $1.25 and heated by means of charcoal; the other the "kamado," a kind of stationary furnace, built of brick and mortar, the price varying from $1.25 to $10, and burning wood as fuel. The houses are usually heated by charcoal braziers, costing from 50 cents to $15. Foreigners there use cooking stoves, of which some are imported from America, England and France, but the greater number are of Japanese make, while their residences and offices are heated by grates and stoves, most of which are of Japanese manufacture, though those houses built by foreigners are usually fitted out with American or English grates. Only a few furnaces and steam heating plants are in use.
