WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., June 15.

The tax listers for Contentnea township were here Thursday. We understand that they will be here Monday again.

Miss Irma Cannon, of Ayden, who spent Thursday and Friday with Misses Carrie and Henrietta Wesson, returned home Friday evening.

A party of our young people went out to Forbes' mill pond Friday on a fishing tour. They reported a delightful trip.

Requests for catalogues of Winterville High School came in regularly 257 students, 60 music pupils, and about 135 boarders is the record for last year. The prospects are bright for the coming session.

A. G. Cox and F. C. Nye attended services at the Baptist church in Greenville Friday. They are having an excellent meeting.

Frank Craft who has been away in the U. S. army for the past five years is at home on a furlough for a few days.

J. A. Manning went to Kinston Friday.

S. D. Chapman, who graduated in pharmacy at Chapel Hill this year, has just passed the state board successfully. He is one of our very best boys and has our sincere congratulations and best wishes. For the next few days he will be here with his parents.

Mrs. Agnes Blount and Miss Nannie Nichols, of Ayden, were in town yesterday.

Dr. John H. Hudson, an old pupil of W. H. S. has our hearty congratulations in successfully passing the state board at Morehead a few days ago. We hope Pitt county will capture him and that he may serve his home country with honor and distinction.

Miss Fannie Rollins, of Stokes, is visiting Miss Mollie Bryan.

Purnell Tripp went to Greenville today.

Elder Fred McClemon went to Greenville today.

Silver Service for Battleship, Kansas.

Special to Reflector.

Philadelphia, June 17.—A large party of Kansas people, headed by Gov. Hoch, of Kansas, came to town today, and presented to the battleship Kansas the beautiful silver service that was secured for the big ship. The service consists of one large, handsomely engraved punch bowl and two smaller bowls, a set of silver candelabra, fruit dishes and other accessories.

Through Rail Passenger Trains Between Norfolk and New Bern N.C.

The Norfolk & Southern Railway announcement that with train No 4 from Norfolk at 11:15 a. m. Monday, June 17th, the through rail passenger service was inaugurated to New Bern will be welcome news to the people of Eastern North Carolina and to those having business interests in that growing section of the State. The express trains will make stops at all the stations between Washington, N. C. and New Bern, N. C. giving facilities of travel to the residents of this rich portion of the commonwealth. The steamer line between New Bern and Belhaven will be continued and passengers can enjoy the water trip if desired. The train from Norfolk arrives at New Bern 7:40 p. m. and the northbound train leaving New Bern at 6:15 a. m. arrives in Norfolk 2:00 p. m. The through rail service is daily except Sunday.

OVER THE HILLS.

By Mrs. W. G. Williams.

Over the hills grow the daisies white
Where the birds sing low and sweet,
Where falls the shadow of the night
And blue skies with the waters meet.
Over the hills the stars are shining,
To light the earth below
And far away in the distance
The fairy-winds softly blow.
Over the hills in dreamland I roam
And all the world is mine,
Where in the silent gleaming
I worship at Nature's shrine.

Common Honesty

Common honesty—how many of our social and industrial and political ills would disappear if themselves in a regime of universal honesty! How little legislation would be needed in a world of honest men, if fair dealing, in Washington's phrase, or the square deal, in Roosevelt's, were everywhere prevalent! Why is dishonesty a great national sin, and what influences promote its commission? Mr. Cleveland traces it to cupidity, selfishness and a sordid atmosphere. Herbert Spencer, some thirty-five years ago, laid his finger on the trouble when in consideration of the morals of trade, he asked why commercial morality was so low, by what potent agency it was that the discipline of education, of law and of religion was almost neutralized in the actual affairs of life, and answered that it was the intense desire of wealth, resulting from the indiscriminate respect paid to the moneyed classes.

We are all implicated, as Spencer said, in this evil. It is rooted deep in human nature, for the admiration of wealth and the adoration of success are not of modern birth. As for remedy, says the English philosopher, there is none save a purified public opinion. To inculcate such opinion, we fear, is more difficult than it first seems.

For even the molding of public opinion has become commercialized. Nothing is more profitable nowadays than the exploitation and condemnation of wrong doing in high places. Fortunes are being made out of the rich and the exposure of their folly and wickedness. Our modern Jeremiahs are clothed in purple and fine line. They inveigh against the evils of the time from the vantage ground of luxury and pride of life. It pays to preachify, to point the accusatory finger to lay bare the sore place in our organic life. But of what practical effect is this commercialized preaching; this morals-for-money propaganda of press and periodical?

National Convention of The T. P. A.

Special to Reflector.

Jamestown, Va., June 17.—Governor Swanson today welcomed the members of the national convention of the T. P. A. which has assembled at the exposition for its annual meeting. There are about two thousand visitors.

Mayor Riddick, of Norfolk, spoke for the exposition. Colonel John S. Harwood, on behalf of the T. P. A.'s of the state, responded and also Thad H. Howe, national president of the T. P. A.'s. The convention continues its session five days. The delegates are accommodated at the Norfolk hotels.

Weather.

Fair tonight and Tuesday.

PERSONAL POINTS.

People who Come and Go.

□ C. M. Jones, of Norfolk, left this morning.

Miss Gertrude Neff spent Sunday in Tarboro.

J. L. Fleming went up the road today.

W. L. Best went to Grifton Saturday evening.

Harold Parson, of Philadelphia, came in Sunday evening.

Miss Lena Matthews returned Sunday evening from Norfolk.

Mrs. J. M. Moore, and little son, returned Saturday evening from a visit to Durham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Little and son, James, and Miss Thomas spent Sunday in Grindool.

Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. E. G. Cox and son, Robert, of Ayden, came this morning to visit Miss Eula Cox.

Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, Miss Martha O'Hagan and little Miss Helen Grimes returned Saturday evening from Norfolk.

John J. Tyson came home Saturday from Bessemer, Ala., to visit his father, G. T. Tyson, in Beaver Dam township.

Miss Mimie Cox, of Winterville, who has been visiting Miss Hennie Ragsdale, returned home Sunday evening.

Which Are You?

This from an exchange may bring to mind similar cases that have come under your own observation:

We recently saw one of our citizens going home with a small basket of fruit. A few evenings later we passed him again and he had a small package of candy. On both occasions we were walking with the same gentleman who remarked to us that the man with the candy was a good fellow, but blew in what he made so foolishly. We merely smiled in reply, but could not help, in our own mind, as we walked along, drawing a contrast between the two men. One was smoking a cigar that cost as much as the candy. Burning into ashes and blowing out into the air the money the other spent for nic-nacks that brought a smile of happiness to the cheek he once thought so rosy, and gladdened eyes that still sparkled like a thousand diamonds with their tell-tale love for him; carrying home, one by one, the sweetest memories of life; building evening after evening an image in a little heart of "Home, Sweet Home" that no time, even into eternity, would destroy. Nourishing and kindling a new love that would in old age look back to those happy home comings and bless his memory as the dearest papa that ever lived.

But what of your friend, the critic? Yes, what of him? Which of the two had you rather have been? Which of the two are you?

Another Assassination.

Cable to Reflector.

Sebastopol, June 17.—The commandant of the harbor here was shot dead this morning. The murderer was arrested.

Telegraph Trouble Looks Like Settling.

Special to Reflector.

New York, June 17.—The telegraphers hope for peace in their troubles on account of the president's action in trying to bring about an adjustment. The presidents of the local unions were instructed to take no action until further orders, but hold themselves in constant readiness to act.

Mrs. Pattie R. Hooker Dead.

At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. Pattie R. Hooker died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, with whom she lived, in South Greenville. She had been sick for some weeks, and for some several days her condition was such that death was almost expected at any moment.

Mrs. Hooker was 63 years of age, and the widow of the late Mr. Travis Hooker, of Greene county, who died about twenty years ago. Some of her married children having made their homes in Greenville, she moved to this town about ten years ago and made her residence here the remainder of her life. She was a member of the Christian church and her life was marked by every devotion to the service of her Savior.

The community held her in highest esteem, for her life was such as to win the friendship of everyone.

Three daughters and three sons survive her. These one Mrs. H. L. Coward, Mrs. J. L. Wooten, Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, Messrs. T. E. T. M. and W. E. Hooker. They have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their great loss in the death of their devoted mother.

The funeral service, conducted by Rev. D. W. Arnold and Dr. J. J. Harper, of Wilson, was held this afternoon in the Christian church. The interment followed in Cherry Hill cemetery, the pall bearers being Messrs. E. A. Moye, Sr., D. C. Moore, J. G. Latham, R. C. Flanagan, H. L. Carr, W. T. Fleming, C. S. Carr, R. W. King, F. M. Wooten, Frank Wilson, J. S. Tunstall and R. J. Cobb.

The Meeting.

There were very large congregations at both the morning and evening services in Memorial Baptist church, Sunday, and Mr. Fry's sermons made a deep and lasting impression. He preaches the gospel so plainly, so earnestly, that his words cannot be forgotten. He is a thoroughly consecrated man, one who loves men, and his appeals to all to seek salvation are impressive. Good results of his sermons are shown in professions at almost every service. Christians are also edified and brought to a fuller realization of their duty by his heart to heart talks to them.

The meeting cannot continue but a few days longer, and Christians should spend these days in faithful work and prayer for God's blessing in the salvation of souls.

The service this morning was very interesting, and especially helpful to Christians. Service again tonight at the usual hour.

Battle of Bunker Hill.

Special to Reflector.

Boston July 17.—This is the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, and is set down in the new schedule issued by the Society of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York as one of the dates on which the United States flag should be displayed in honor.

The other holidays when the flag should be displayed in honor and prominence are as follows: Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12; Washington's birthday, Feb. 22; Battle of Lexington, April 19; Memorial day, May 30; Flag day, June 14; Independence day, July 4; Battle of Saratoga, October 17; Surrender of Yorktown, October 19; Evacuation Day, November 25. On Memorial Day, May 30, the flag should fly at half-staff from sunrise to noon and full staff from noon to sunset.

A DELIGHTFUL DAY.

Farmville, June 15th.

On the ninth of June there was just such another crowd of lads and lassies met at Blue Banks, on the famous old Tar, as did one year ago. The day was all one could ask for on such occasion. But we must confess we had more fun, as J. B. Stewart was with us this time and he is full of wit. He caught an eel which caused much fun with the boys and fright with the girls. We did not expect any accidents, but one of the boys got a good ducking and another overslept himself and was too late for his girl. They looked so sleepy we didn't think we would tell on them, but it's too good to keep Poor Burnett, we wonder if he has gotten dry yet.

And the next was dinner and Oh! the goodies we did have. We had all kinds of good things, plenty for all and plenty left. We had no grabbers so our dinner was a home like meal.

Those that liked rowing spent the afternoon on the water, and others lounging on the bank.

The following couples were present: J. B. Stewart, of Greenville, with Miss Annie Hearne, J. A. Burnett with Miss Pattie Norriss, Henry Hyde with Miss Lillian Stallings, R. A. Smith with Miss Lossie Bell Wilkinson, Knapp Burnett with Miss Mary Joyner, Robert Barrett with Miss Ella Hearne, Tom McGee with Miss Margrette Gay, Hardy Suggs, of Snow Hill, with Miss Eva Wilkinson, Aaron Turnage with Miss Rosa Smith, Jennings Smith with Miss Ellen Smith, T. A. Willoughby with Miss Agnes Smith, Hayward Smith with Miss Mary Smith, Chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Ivey Smith and a large bundle of stags. Each girl carried a souvenir of hanging moss from the grand old blue banks.

The Farmville people drove by the Indian Green spring and enjoyed a good drink. Each one was heard saying we must spend another such day soon. E. W.

Fishing For Suckers.

Will those of our exchanges which have accepted the advertisement of the "Beekman Advertising Agency" of New York and Washington City, be good enough to inform us when they get their pay? This may be a reputable concern but we have our doubts about it because a reputable concern does not send out business in any such way. And further the business advertised is of a character that carries suspicion with it. People who advertise to give something for nothing (free samples for advertising purposes excepted of course) usually have something up their sleeve, and when it comes to selling "genuine rose cut diamond rings of sparkling brilliancy" with "Tiffany setting," etc., for $2.00, fraud is stamped all over the proposition.

When this advertisement was offered to us we sized it up as being worthy only to be consigned to the waste basket without taking the trouble to investigate the responsibility of the concern offering it or warning the press against it, but as some of our exchanges are carrying the business (?) we take occasion to say this much about it. We may be mistaken in sizing up the Beekman Advertising Agency and the T. C. Moseley business they are putting out as frauds, but we do not think we are, and will hold to this opinion until we are informed to the contrary.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

The "Beekman Advertising Agency" offered this business to The Reflector, but it made about the same impression on us as on the Gold Leaf. We did pay enough attention to it to advise the "Beekman Advertising Agency" that they would have to pay in advance for space in The Reflector, thinking this would end the matter. They then sent us some references, but that made no more favorable impression than the first letter.

And a good looking detective isn't necessarily a good looker.

Charming Southern Story.

"Stella Hope" is the name of a charming story written by Mrs. Emily Woodson Barksdale, and published by the Neale Publishing Co., of New York and Washington City. The publishers say "it is a delightful story of aspiration and love and hope deferred, a story one does not forget in a day nor lay aside without regret." The price is $1.50.

Mrs. Barksdale is a sister of Mrs. P. C. Monteiro and Mrs. T. J.

MONDAY JUNE 17th 1907.

We have got some of them guessed.

Don't forget to keep both your eyes on Greenville.

The Charlotte Chronicle has reached the point that sunshiny days should be referred to with some degree of caution. Expect we had all about as well make up our minds to let the weather alone.

ing up this week in readiness for ture. And it might lose that if it was not too hard to move the

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

By a Contributor.

The whole country is, of course, observing the fact that Pennsylvania is making a noise like a State that intends to be right in the next presidential campaign.

Texas is giving out the story of a cyclone that picked up a letter and delivered it to the party to whom it was addressed twenty-five miles away. It begins to look as if the members of Roosevelt's ananas club are merely amateurs.

The planet Mars will come nearer the earth this summer, than ever before. And with Teddy in the white house, we may have a war with one of the neighbors yet.

Gov. Hoke Smith, of Georg'a, has declined an offer to go on the chautauqua circuit for a series of lectures. Slowly, but surely the country is awakening to the full measure of Mr.
Smith's splendid patriotism.

Mr. Bryan is a firm believer in the idea of "one term for every man." And no more.

We are not much on poetry but how's this? "Watch the Baltimore oil-can fleet, how it makes mosquitoes skeet."

It's hard to live up to a big reputation. An office boy caught

The Chinese rebels admit that their object is to overthrow the government by killing all the officials. It would certainly tax human ingenuity to hit on a plan more likely to accomplish the purpose.

"Tis love that makes the one poet, but, a man who is not in love, can secure the same effect with the aid of a few high "St. Louis has a smoke inspector but he hasn't done much says the Chicago Record Herald.

Why should he stop the smoke?

Japanese Children at School.
When a Japanese child is old enough to stand, sometimes before, he is taught to bow his little head very low, and his first words are words of politeness. Children are taught so early to show great respect to their elders and to have such reverence for those who are educated that when they are old enough to go to school there is no need to teach them manners. They know to a nicely the exact amount of deference to be shown to the teacher and how he is to be addressed. When they wish his aid, they say in Japanese, "Honorable teacher, will you kindly stoop to assist your humble and unworthy pupil?" or words to that effect, a slow and cumbersome method, surely, but back of it is a true spirit of politiness, which is often lacking in the brusque western method.—Circle.

Gathering Knowledge.
"It seems to me," said Mrs. Wakeman, pausing on the sidewalk to let the grade pupils, just released from bondage, rush by, "that school must be more interesting than it was in my time. The children acquire so much general knowledge nowadays—so much that is useful!"

"They do," agreed Mrs. Northrop promptly. "Now here comes little Johnny Greenfield. We'll ask what he learned. Here, Johnny! Tell us what your lesson was about today."

"About octagons," replied blushing Johnny.

"And what," pursued Mrs. Wakeman, "is an octagon?"

"It's a many-sided animal," piped the lad, "that grabs you when you go in swimming."

Newspaper Recipes.
In using recipes clipped from newspapers or magazines they are much easier to use if the ingredients are underscored with red ink.
A glance will tell you what you want without reading the recipe through each time. Ingredients seldom are given in a separate list, except in a cookbook.

Darning by Machine.
Cut the whole square or oblong and baste a piece of net on the wrong side, then with No. 100 thread on the machine sew back and forth close together, never taking the needle out of the goods.
Then do likewise in the opposite direction, always following the weave of the material.

To Mend Leather Chairs.
Dining room chairs that are worn on the edges can be neatly mended by stretching bicycle tape firmly over worn places. Smooth carefully, then paint brown or green to match leather. A child's ten cent box of water colors will do this nicely.

Bread Scraps.
Don't waste the scraps of bread, but cut them up in small squares.
Put in pan in a hot oven and brown nicely. They are splendid for soup or in hot milk for children or for tomatoes. Have a bag to keep the toasted squares hung in the pantry.

Remedy For Chilblains.
Here is a simple cure for chilblains: Cut an onion in two, put table salt on the cut side and rub it upon the afflicted part. Do this a few times and the cure will be effected.

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for coughs and colds, is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children, but good for every member of the family.
It contains no opiates and does not constipate. Contains honey and tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup.
Children like it. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

About all that some men are good for is to pose as horrible examples.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which are unequalled for Backache, weak kidney, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. A weeks treatment for 25c.
Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

And a good looking detective isn't necessarily a good looker.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, supplies the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is a simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach.
Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it makes you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten.

One pair in the front parlor beats three of a kind.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself.
Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Some men are so nice to their wives that it arouses the suspicion of the neighbors.

Mothers who give their children Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup invariably endorse it. Children like it because the taste is so pleasant. Contains honey and tar. It is the original laxative-cough syrup and is unrivaled for the relief of croup. Drives the cold out through the bowels. Conforms to the Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach serves--the inside nerves--mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys, as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr.
Shoop's Restorative has made its fame.
No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

LANDS ON ITS FEET.

The Fall of the Cat and the Curiosity of Scientists.

The curiosity of scientists knows no bounds. The French Academy of Sciences once had under examination and discussion the very interesting question, "Why does a cat always fall on its feet?" The old answer, "In order that it shall not break its back," did not serve in this investigation. Members of the Academy were desirous of ascertaining not only the real reason, but the precise method by which a cat, when dropped feet upward, manages to turn over instantly in the air, with no object to brace itself against in order to procure the muscular reaction that would seem to be necessary for the revolution.

To assist its study the distinguished members of the academy had one of its scientists prepare a series of instantaneous photographs showing a cat in various stages of a fall from a considerable height.
These photographs were obtained under the personal inspection of a committee, and several successful "drops," which the unfortunate cats must have been totally unable to account for, were necessary.

The photographs, it may be mentioned, failed to establish anything, except that the cat actually turned over in the air. As to how she did it, they afforded no clue. And as it was already known that she did it, the camera may be said to have contributed nothing toward the solution of the problem.

The committee next set itself about settling the matter by discussion. Several members presented their theories and compared notes.
The laws of mechanics and geometry were applied to the known movements of the cat, with no other effect than to prove that a cat cannot possibly turn over in the air, which, however, it is well established that she does.

One academician maintained that the animal is able to displace its internal organs in such a way as to affect its center of gravity while in the air, causing it to turn, by a new center of weight, to one side and then, by another displacement, to throw the weight so that its back comes uppermost.

This claim, however, was but an unproved theory. Another man of science insisted that at the very instant when the cat is dropped, say, from the hands of the person who holds her, feet uppermost, she is able to make an impulsive movement, using the operator's hands to push against, as it were. At all events the cat begins to turn instantly upon being let go.

However, it has against it the fact that the cat turns successfully when there are no hands or other objects to push against--when, for instance, she is firmly held, back downward, by threads, which are cut at the right moment, allowing her to drop suddenly. --New York Times.

Historical Accuracy.

An American traveler visited Warwick castle during his tour of Europe. A tall young soldier took him through the historic house, pointing out each object of interest with a long stick.

"Ere, sir," he said in one of the state chambers, "ere is an ancient old portrait of Queen Bess. A fine work."

The American looked at the portrait, and there was a long, impressive silence. To break this silence more than for any other reason the visitor finally said:

"Queen Bess, eh? She was a pretty old lady when she died, wasn't she?"

The guide shook his head.
"Not pretty, sir, but very old," he said.

An Essential Article.

An artist was talking about Walter Appleton Clark, who died at the beginning of his artistic career.
"And Clark," he said, "had a strong sense of humor. I remember going through a millionaire's stables with him one day. You know what a mil-lionaire's stables nowadays are like --floors and walls of translucent white tiles, drinking fountains of marble, mahogany mangers, silver trimmings, and so forth and so on.

"Well, gentlemen," said the millionaire proudly, "is anything lacking?"

"I can think of nothing," said Clark, "except a sofa for each horse."

A Beetle That Eats Metal.
What do you think of a beetle that has the power of cutting metal with its mandibles? There is one of that kind in the northern part of South America, and it bears the queer name of Zopherus melicanus.
Its metal cutting power, says the Chicago News, was accidentally discovered by a New York naturalist, to whom some one had sent a few specimens of the insect. He put them temporarily in a glass jar with a brass top, and within less than forty-eight hours they had cut holes in the metal sufficiently large for them to get their heads through.

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.
Indigestion causes the stomach to expand--swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early it stops the cold before it breaks, or before these early colds. That's surely better.
That's why they are called Preventics.
Preventics are little Caudy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children--and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Preventics will also save many from sickness. And don't forget the child. If there is feverishness, night or day. Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in

THE ANCIENT BO TREE.

Oldest Living Thing of Which Man Has Kept Record.

This bo tree (Ficus religiosa) is probably the oldest living thing in the world of which record has been kept by man and, with the possible exception of the sequoia, the oldest of living trees. It was brought from India by the Princess Sanghamitta and was planted by King Dewanampiya Tissa in 288 B. C. It is therefore 2,195 years old. The preservation of this tree has been an object of reverent solicitude to successive dynasties, and either through superstitious reverence or because of its worthlessness to a plunderer it has been spared amid all the havoc of repeated invasions. As recently as 1739 A. D. it was endowed with lands by Kaja Sinah, a Kandian chief.

The bo tree's age and identity are matters of absolutely faithful record, and when one recalls that in the rigorous climate of northern Germany, in Hildesheim, there grows a rosebush which is a thousand years old it does not seem so remarkable that in the balmy climate of Ceylon this tree should have lived twice as long. It is gnarled and unsymmetrical, because many of its branches have been cut off and sent to distant temples. This bo tree is a branch of the tree under which Gotama Buddha sat when he attained Nirvana, and Buddhists say the passion through which he passed communicated itself to the tree and caused all the leaves to tremble.

Each of the millions of pilgrims who have toiled along the sacred way which leads to this shrine has hoped to bear away with him a leaf from the sacred tree, and happy is he at whose feet one falls.

The leaves hang on a slender stem and are easily stirred by the slightest breeze, so each petitioner is rewarded for his pilgrimage by feeling that the tree responds to the fervor of his soul, but few take home a leaf. Many bring offerings to the tree, and on a number of the lower leaves are sheets of gold placed there by jewelers and other wealthy worshipers. — Rosalie S. Morton in Century.

WALL PAPER AND THE SICK.

"I am glad the walls of my bedroom are not papered," said the invalid. "Nobody but the sick knows how nerve racking it is to lie all day long looking at the wall paper that doesn't match. It matches well enough, you understand, for people who are well. They never would notice where the flowers failed to hitch or the stems met too far down the fraction of an inch, but we notice it and worry over it and cry sometimes because it worries us so. My wall is painted light blue, the color of the skies. It doesn't hurt my eyes at all to look at it. It doesn't worry me. When the curtain is down it is the very softest kind of blue, so gratifying that I fall asleep looking at it. Oh, yes; the only thing to do with the walls of the sickroom is to paint them light blue." — New York Press.
