GREENVILLE SCHOOLS.

No Town Has People More Loyal to Its School System.

The News and Observer yesterday issued a handsome 48-page Educational Edition, which contained the following about Greenville's schools:

Few towns anywhere furnish a better concrete example of the invaluable results of the educational renaissance which has swept over North Carolina in recent years than Greenville. The town is old, having been founded in the trying days of 1771, but the idea of public education supported by taxation never became popular to any considerable extent until the great educational awakening throughout the State. The popularizing of public education in North Carolina brought the Greenville graded school into existence, and it has been entirely satisfactory to the people since its beginning.

When the proposition to issue bonds for the erection of the building was submitted to the people, there was considerable opposition. However, the measure carried by a small majority, the school was established, and today no town in the State has a people supporting its public school system more loyally.

Like so many other good things in Greenville, and throughout North Carolina, the establishment of the graded school was due to Greenville's grand old man, ex Governor Thomas J. Jarvis. In doing so, he was very materially aided by Mr. R. J. Cobb, president of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company. The bonds were repudiated on a mere technicality; Mr. Cobb bought them and made it possible to get the necessary funds with which to erect the building.

Prior to the organization of the school in 1902, there were from three to nine schools in Greenville. They were denominational, Masonic, private non-sectarian, an academy for boys, a private school for girls, etc., and the town was at a disadvantage at all times. In those days, as now, people instinctively turned to the place offering the advantage of a good public school system.

Governor Jarvis had been away a long time. He had served as Governor of the State, as United States Minister to Brazil, and as United States Senator to fill out the unexpired term of Vance. When he retired to private life, he began to try to help the people of his own community. He agitated the establishment of a graded school in Greenville with the same zeal with which he had supported the State University while he was governor, and with the same courage and enthusiasm with which he supported the State Normal college at Greensboro and the Eastern Training School. Supported by the progressive, sturdy citizens of Greenville, Governor Jarvis' ideas soon prevailed, and the school was a reality.

In the fall of 1903, the school was ready to be opened. The Board of Trustees chose as their first superintendent Prof. W. B. Dove, who was at that time superintendent of the Reidsville public schools. The choice was a wise one; the school was managed conservatively and aggressively, and soon every one was in harmony with the graded school and its success was assured.

In December, 1905, Prof. Dove resigned his position as superintendent, and the present superintendent was chosen, Mr. H. B. Smith. Prof. Smith was in charge of the Department of English in the high school of the Reidsville public schools prior to his coming to Greenville. He graduated at Whitsett Institute in 1900, and then went to Davidson College, where he finished his college course. He has attended two entire sessions of the Summer School of the South at Knoxville, and is the best of the great teachers in the State.

Supt. Smith has succeeded in making the high school department of the school a very important feature, and the graduates are readily admitted to the colleges free of examination. The school is on the approved list of schools of the State University. It is the intention of the superintendent and the board of trustees to make the school a sort of people's college, where the young men and women of Greenville can get the necessary training for college or for a successful career in whatever vocation they may choose.

The school has ten grades. It makes a special effort to complete the entrance requirements in a manner satisfactory to the colleges. A department of music will be established this year. It will be in charge of a teacher who is a graduate of the music department of Syracuse University, New York. In addition to the department of music, a teacher of drawing will be employed hereafter, and one modern language, French, will be taught.

It Pays to Advertise.

Yesterday a 100 pound sack of rice was found and brought to this office to await an owner. An advertisement was set up and in less than an hour the owner called and took the rice away. And there are those who say it doesn't pay to advertise.—New Bern Journal.

Davenport's Cartoons.

Davenport, one of the master cartoonists of the day, is doing a great and noble work in his series of cartoons, now being published, in which he pleads for animals tortured for man's pleasure alone. The third one in this series, "Three Lives for One" is full of pathos. The mother deer lying cold and stark in death, the two little fawns, one standing by her head, the other a little beyond, starving, and begging their dead mother for succor, the group of vultures, gathered on a near by tree. All this loss of life, just to satisfy the so called "sport" of men. Now, you, who have the "sporting instinct," you who shoot merely for the pleasure of killing, before pulling the trigger close your eyes for an instant, and think of the suffering that you are causing. Think of the motherless fawns, and think of the motherless birds, who are slowly starving to death. In many sections game laws have been enacted thus protecting in some measure the dumb animals from man. But even this does not always suffice. The graceful deer, which once bounded so lightly over the hills, and down the valleys, is in many places almost extinct. This is also true of the birds.

These light hearted songsters are fast being destroyed by the gun of man. Pityful, is it not, that such should be the case? And yet we believe that a better day is coming, a day when man no longer shall delight in ruthlessly destroying the dumb creatures, but when he shall delight in protecting them.—Clarkton Express.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE

Those Who Come and Go—Some Know You—Some You Know

C. C. King left this morning for Pittsburg.

Mrs. L. W. Tucker went to Norfolk today.

W. B. James went to Rockingham yesterday.

Mr. D. C. Moore was a visitor to Bethel yesterday.

Mrs. W. P. White and children, of Hobgood, who had been visiting her brother, R. L. Humber, returned home today.

Mrs. E. P. Hyman, of Hobgood who has been here to see her nephew, Mr. H. B. Moore who has fever, returned to her home yesterday.

Historic Engines.

The famous engine, Texas, which on April 12, 1862, carried Capt. W. A. Fuller and Anthony Murphy from Adairsville, Ga., to three miles beyond Ringgold, a distance of 50½ miles, and made 12 stops, in one hour and five minutes, has been ordered sold for "junk" by the W. & A. Railroad.

Andrews' Raiders had captured another engine and set out to burn the bridges behind General Johnson's army, but Capt. Fuller, who was conductor on the train from which they took the engine, secured the Texas and started in pursuit, making the fastest record ever made over the road and succeeded in thwarting the raiders, four of whom he captured.

About three years ago the first engine used by the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad was torn to pieces at the company's shops in New Bern and sold for old iron. This engine, No. 1, was very small compared to those in use today, but when it was put into service in 1857, it was looked upon as a giant. It was used during the war of '61-'65 and as a shifter in New Bern until a short while before it was torn to pieces.

These old engines with so much history attached to them should have been preserved and placed in museums, and while in both cases there was talk of buying the old engines by citizens, talk was all.

THE TRIAL OF KLINE

The Evidence in the Peonage Case Being Heard at Beaufort

(Editorial Correspondence) Beaufort, N. C. Aug. 10.—Z. B. Bland was first witness called for the government this morning and testified to being present at Kline's camp when several of the foreigners were arrested by number. He mentioned some other persons who were present, among them Chief Police Smith in uniform. The warrant was read to Joe, the camp interpreter, who talked to the foreigners and pointed out the numbers to be arrested. After the arrest some one said those who wanted to return to work could step out to one side and several did so. I do not know if Kline said anything to interpreter at the time. Kline employed me to watch camp that night and report if any of the foreigners tried to run away. He told me not to hurt any of them if they started to leave. I was armed but not by Kline's direction or knowledge.

On cross examination Bland testified that he heard the bill of indictment read in court but could not say if any of those mentioned in the bill were among those arrested at the camp. The team and tools were also at the camp and the foreigners could have taken team and left had they not been watched. They knew I was there but not for what purpose.

Chief of Police J. T. Smith was the next witness and testified he was present at camp when the men were arrested, and named others who were present. Kline was not there when I arrived but came later with Joe. Deputy Dudley read the warrant to Joe and he translated it to the men and designated the men by number to be arrested. Kline said if any wanted to return to work they could be released. Some dropped out and returned to work. Nine or ten were placed in jail about 8 o'clock in the evening. I recognize only one of these here in court as among those arrested. (This man recognized was No. 64, but upon looking at warrant witness said this number was not in it.) I went to jail second day after arrest with other officers and Paul Mitrick, the latter could talk with the foreigners. I heard part of conversation but could not understand it. The men were released from jail that day do not know if any trial was had.

On cross examination he said he did not read the warrant but heard numbers read by which the men arrested were designated. No. 64 was not called. I saw the men when they first landed at Greenville from New York. I arrested several of them for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Kline paid the costs whenever any of them were arrested. Assistant Police G. A. Clark was the next witness and his testimony was practically the same as chief Smith. He also said that when Joe was translating the warrant to the men arrested he stopped and said some of the men wanted to return to work, when Kline said those who wanted to return could step to one side. Several stepped out and nine were taken to jail. I do not know about the arrest of Fitzer and Ramsour but saw them in jail. During the day previous to arrest the sheriff asked Kline if he released the men what was to hinder them from running away, and suggested that camp be watched.

Joe Dushevitz, the camp interpreter, was next examined. He said he could speak a little English, but his testimony was so unintelligible that but little could be made out of it. The court, lawyers, stenographers and all men puzzled to get anything out of what he said. He said he was a Russian, had been in United States about seven years and in North Carolina two months. Was hired to Kline by an agency in New York, and came from that city to Greenville with 35 others. As he could speak some English he was made foreman of the camp. He said the men worked by number and each was given a check showing his number. I was present when the men were arrested, Kline carried me there to point out the right ones Kline told me to tell those who wanted to go back to work step one side, and that the others would be sent to the chain gang. Only one of the men now in court was arrested that day. Kline said he did not want No. 55 to work any more, and others said they would not work unless No. 55 was taken back.

On cross examination he said the men slept in a car. They said they did not owe Kline anything except for railroad fare. They traded at the commissary. I have been in jail since quit work for Kline, the government put me there and paid me $1 per day. I don't like to stay there. When the government started to offer the foreigners as witnesses some question was raised as to how they should be sworn, it not being clear that they had belief in the Bible. It appearing that they were Catholics, they were sworn on both the cross and the Bible, the cross being placed on the Bible with hand of witness resting on both.

Tragessa Yoncovich was then placed on the stand and the effort made to take his testimony through the court interpreter. Right here things got in a tangle, the witness using a mixture of several different languages which even the interpreter could not unravel. Joe was called to the rescue, but even he could not give much relief to the situation. There was a controversy between counsel over every question to the witness, after worrying over it for sometime court took a recess until Monday morning.

Operators Strike in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 10.—The 500 operators of the Postal Telegraph Company struck to-night at 6 o'clock. This, with the 1,100 men out from the offices of the Western Union throughout the city, makes 1,600 men now on strike in Chicago.

At a meeting of the operators held this afternoon a resolution was unanimously passed declaring that every operator in the city having a union card should be called out.

Said He Was Going to Die.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 10.—Jo. Johnson, a railroad telegrapher from Atlanta, who has been working at Hamlet recently, announced to a friend here this afternoon that he was going to die and requested that his mother in Atlanta be notified. Soon after that Johnson's eyes closed and he became unconscious, evidently under the influence of a powerful drug of some kind. While the attending physician held that there was no hope of recovery, the man was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, where all possible was done for him.

Empire County of the East.

Mr. Andrew Joyner, writing to the News and Observer about the Farmers' Educational Meeting held here Friday, says:

"There can be no question of the sincerity of Congressman Small, who said, after the meeting was called to order by Representative J. J. Laughinghouse, who presided, that he was proud to introduce the government experts, noted for proficiency in their various lines, to such a representative class of progressive North Carolina farmers. He said that Pitt county was recognized as the Empire farming county of this section, but next to Guilford was the most advanced educational county in the State."

Among these typical farmers from sections of the county, some of them 28 miles distant from Greenville, I made investigation of the extent of their farming interests alone, to give an intelligent idea of the class of men present at the meeting.

The following list represents a fair specimen, not only of the highness of farming in the east, but of the progressiveness of these, who do not pretend to know it all but are continually seeking light.

The men are selected from different sections of the county, as representatives of each locality.

The Godivas of this country
prefer the beach.—Charlotte News.

There are no Godivas in this country!

The number attending the Exposition for the past few days has averaged about 15,000 a day, but 50,000 North Carolinians
will be added this week.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will provide their trains and depots with bandages and other surgical paraphernalia. This will perhaps prevent wrecks, as does an accident policy.

All this talk about the discontinuance of trains because of decrease in revenue owing to the new reduced passenger fare comes from other than railroad headquarters.

The Charlotte News seems to know the cause of the alarming death rate among the men in Chicago, while the women are increasing with equal rapidity,
and says:

"Nothing strange. Merely the survival of the fittest."

The Commoner is in receipt of the information that the portrait of the first treasurer of the United States, Michael Hillegas,
adorns the new ten dollar bill,
and asks:

"What, hasn't it been on them
all the time?"

We haven't seen it.

Says the Charlotte Observer:
"The Southern rate cases,
especially that of North Carolina, are of perennial interest to the Northern press, which is still moved to write column after column about them. Here the interest has subsided and the people have composed themselves to wait the final word, which will come from the Supreme court of the United States."

And just above this item the Observer has a half column editorial about the rate litigation.

The Industrial News remarks:
It is an almost universal custom among the writers of political editorials no less than among the makers of political speeches to claim as absolutely certain the success of their candidate irrespective of the chances the candidate may really have.

Yes, this is the universal custom, and it is also the custom of the candidate to be certain of his election long after the other fellow gets it.

The salary of the public school teacher has been raised, but it is still much too low. Some people entrust their children to whom they pay less than they pay the man who works on the public roads. Are they doing their children right?—News and Observer.

And the southern Farm Maga-
zin remarks:

"Perhaps if young men and women called teachers were as qualified for their tasks as are section hands on railroads for theirs, they would be paid better wages than the section hands."

But where is the consistency of thorough preparation for a $25.00 position?

CONDENSED STORIES.

Stories That Secretary of War Taft Tells on Himself.

Mr. Taft gives forth an unflagging impression of an honesty incorruptible, a courage undaunted, a wisdom neither to be foiled nor led aside. Also he owns a temper and can rage on right occasion. Beyond these Mr. Taft is bluff, frank, without pose, nowise in love with himself and lacks wholly in selfishness and an intriguing genius for design.
Mentally, morally and physically he wants in any element of the mollycoddle and is precisely what Mr.
Roosevelt would take to and stick to, and not only believe in, but love.
Likewise there is a wholesale sense of humor imbedded in the Taftian bulk. Mr. Taft can tell a joke and laugh like the roar of a storm.

Much has been joyously written concerning the rotundity of Mr.
Taft. He has gained frequent description as the Falstaff of the administration. Mr. Taft himself is prone to unbend in gay sallies about his size. He will tell of the lady whom he served in some West Point ambitions for her son and who in her gratitude burst forth with:

"Oh, Mr. Secretary, you are not nearly so fat as they say."

"Madam," returned Mr. Taft on this flattering occasion, "however much I may have served you, I am repaid a thousandfold."

Again Mr. Taft relates how a negro boy, on seeing him in the saddle, exclaimed as if from the heart,
"Lawd, I pities that ross!" And, according to the big cabinetee, the horse sighed a response to the sentiment.—Alfred Henry Lewis in Human Life

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

How a Hungry Collie Dog Got Meat
From the Butcher.

Here's a dog story from London:
A butcher in the great meat market has a customer who owns a fine collie dog. The dog arrived one day at the market with a slip of paper in his mouth. The dog dropped the piece of paper, which proved to be an order from the collie's master for a small piece of meat. He gave the dog the meat. Day after day the dog came with like orders until at last the butcher took them for granted and each time sent the animal home with a piece of meat.
After two months the butcher sent his customer a bill for the meat which he had supplied the dog. But the collie's master informed the butcher that he had given the dog only a dozen orders, whereas the animal had received at least fifty pieces of meat. The dog was carefully watched, and it was discovered that the cunning beast when he was hungry would lay hold of any piece of white paper he could find and run off with it to the meat market, obtaining for each bogus order a hearty meal.

An Adjustable Ring.

"That idea is novel," said Thomas
A. Edison of a new aeroplane. "It is a striking idea. I have seen nothing to beat it since last summer."

"Then a young man showed me an engagement ring that he was going to patent. But," said Edison, "examining the very ordinary looking circle, what is there patentable about this?"

"It is adjustable, sir," said the young man proudly.—Washington

There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed con-

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Dr. Store

The wise man looked not at the thermometer during July and August.

When you feel the need of a pill take DeWitt's Little Early Riser. Small, safe pill, sure pill. Easy to take, pleasant and effective. Drives away headaches. Sold by John L. Wooten's drug store

You can never make another noise with the cracker that has been exploded.

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for coughs and colds, is Dr. Shoop's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children, but good for every member of the family. It contains no opiates and does not constipate. Contains honey and tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by John L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Some bargains are expensive.

Get a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee" at our store. If real coffee disturbs your Stomach, your Heart or Kidneys, then try this clever Coffee imitation. Dr. Shoop has closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet it has not a single grain of real coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure roasted grains or cereals, with Malt, Nuts, etc. Made in a minute. Note this: It is not a substitute, it is like it. Sold by T. E. Wooten & Co

Politics sometime makes strange cellmates.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, soothes the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is a simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach. Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it makes you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten

Worry never completed a task worth while.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which are unequalled for Backache, weak kidneys, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. A weeks treatment for 25c. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

The vacation earned is the vacation enjoyed.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Sold by John L. Wooten

The pies are just as good as ever—your "taster" is out of whack.

For scratches, burns, cuts, insect bites and the many little hurts common to every family, DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is the best remedy. It is soothing, cooling, clean and healing. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

The vacation we miss is the one we would have enjoyed the most.

Piles get quick and certain relief from Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Please note it is made alone for Piles, and its action is positive and certain. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Large nickel-capped glass jars 50cents. Sold by Bryans Drug Store.

Worry causes more perspiration than the heat of the sun.

Mothers who give their children Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup invariably find it like it because of its pleasant taste. Contains honey and tar. It is the original laxative cough syrup and is unrivaled for the relief of croup. Drives the cold drive through the bowels. Conforms to the Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold out Jno. L.

Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition Completes In All Details.

BEAUTIFUL COLONIAL CITY.

A Veritable Dreamland to the Visitor.

In the Matter of Interesting Features Jamestown Leads All Other Expositions—Army and Navy Display.

Never before in the history of the country has there been held an exposition with so many attractive features as the Jamestown Tercentennial, now in full swing on the historic waters of Hampton Roads. The Tercentennial is now complete in all of its details and presents to the visitor a veritable dreamland. The immense exhibit palaces, state and government buildings, all of a permanent or semipermanent construction, set off with the most luxuriant trees and foliage, give to this exposition an appearance distinct from all of its predecessors.

Within an hour's ride by either boat or train are such places as Yorktown, where Cornwallis surrendered to the Continental army, and Jamestown Island, the "cradle of America," where now remain only the old ruins of the first church in America. Just across the waters of Hampton Roads are located Old Point Comfort and Fort Monroe, the strongest and most important artillery station on the Atlantic coast, whose grim walls and winding moat make it one of the most picturesque spots in the country. These and many other places of historic interest give an appropriate setting to the Jamestown exposition, which commemorates the three hundredth anniversary of the first permanent English speaking settlement in America, the most important event in the history of modern times.

Owing to the fact that the Jamestown Tercentennial is the first celebration ever held on deep water in this country, there has been going on almost continually a grand naval spectacle of a kind such as America has never seen before. The entire North Atlantic fleet, under the command of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, squadron by squadron, will rendezvous in Hampton Roads from time to time giving the visitor to the exposition ample opportunity to see the strongest fleet of battleships in the world. There will be at least six men-of-war in the roads.

The army as well as the navy is well represented at the Tercentennial, and daily parades by crack regiments of United States troops are to be seen on Lee's Parade, one of the largest and best equipped drill plains in the country. Stationed at the exposition grounds at present are the entire Twenty-third regiment of United States Infantry, the Second squadron of the Twelfth United States cavalry and D battery of the Third field artillery. Several regiments of the national guard of various states, besides numerous military and semimilitary organizations, are encamped at the exposition from time to time. Each of these military organizations brings its own band, which, together with the exposition orchestras and bands, gives a continual and varied musical programme.

The government exhibits, housed in four handsome structures on the water front of the exposition, comprise one of the most complete and comprehensive displays of the work of the various departments of the government ever assembled. The individual states have also come forward at this exposition with their heartiest support and co-operation, and twenty of them have erected buildings to represent them at the Tercentennial, while practically every state is represented in exhibits historical, educational or industrial. These state buildings are located on Willoughby Boulevard, a grand avenue paralleling the water front, and from the broad piazzas of the state structures visitors may rest and view the magnificent and historical harbor whereon the vessels of the world might rest at anchor. In the immediate front appear the great white men-of-war of our own and oftentimes a foreign nation's, and yachts, sloops, schooners and merchant vessels of every kind. Beyond are the frowning walls of Fort Monroe and the beautiful social retreat of the coast, Old Point Comfort. To the left may be seen the noted industrial school at Hampton, and still farther up the roads, toward where the mighty James mingles its waters with the salt-tide of the sea, may be seen the city of Newport News, with the greatest shipyards in the world. To the right appears the broadening channel from roads to bay and from bay to broad and mighty Atlantic out between the capes of Charles and Henry.

The illumination at night is a scene in itself worthy a journey of a thousand miles to witness, and, with all the outlines of the buildings aglow, the paths of the Canoe Trail and Lovers' Lane twinkling with the myriads of little lights, the War Path a blaze of electricity, the many powerful searchlights playing the heavens with their mysterious messages and fifty miles of shore lines dotted with the lights of a dozen cities and nestling towns, what spectacle more sublime or beautiful could be imagined?

On the amusement section of the exposition, called the War Path, there is every conceivable amusement and diversion, where the visitor to the exposition, after a long day of sightseeing, can relax and let himself drift with the pleasure seeking from one amusement to the next on this "Great White Way," where the lights ever twinkle and the noise of the oriental music is ever in the air.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated. Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives a firm flesh.

The Savory Seamless Roaster

Is far superior to any other Roaster made, not an ounce of substance lost. Other roasters waste from 10 to 20 per cent. The Savory seamless roaster needs no water, grease or attention of any kind. It simply asks to be let alone. Retains all juices and flavors, renews the youth of the toughest fowl. One great feature of the Savory roaster is the oval bottom, with the ordinary flat bottom roaster the moisture brought out of the meat by cooking has no chance to accumulate and is burned and dried up in the bottom of the pan. In the oval bottom this meat juice flows continuously to the lowest point of the bottom, where it is turned into steam and condensed on the surface of the meat. This condensation continues until the roast has become heated through to the temperature of the atmosphere in the roaster, when the condensation stops and the browning of the roast begins.

The Savory roaster is self basting and self browning. The bottom is raised off the oven by the outside heat-retaining jacket, which applies a uniform heat to the roast from all sides. The Savory roaster is in a class to itself. Is guaranteed to give satisfaction when used according to directions. Buy one, take it home, go by the directions, use it thirty days, if not all we claim forth, return it to us and we will give you back your money, providing the roaster when returned, is in good condition.

See our window display of the Savory roasters. We will be glad to show you. Call and see them.

A COMPLETE EXHIBIT.

Splendid Showing of North Carolina at Jamestown Exposition.

FORESTRY, FISH AND GAME.

Odd Specimens on View in These Sections—White Possum and Albino Raccoon—Agricultural Pyramid With Its Novel Peanut Umbrella.

The North Carolina exhibit in the States' Exhibit Palace at the Jamestown exposition is second to none in the building. It is compact and exhaustive and thoroughly exploits the resources of the state, natural and manufactured. Covering something over 6,000 square feet of floor space in the northwest corner of the building, just to the left of the main entrance, this exhibit is in the form of the capital letter "L," with a square within it. This square contains about 2,000 square feet of floor space and displays the exhibits of agriculture, forestry, fish and game. That space contained in the "L" accommodates the exhibits of like character in the building. The collective assemblage cost $15,000, twice as much being spent in the square as in the side booths.

The state colors—blue, red and white—are prominently displayed in the decorations, and yet the prevailing scheme is cream and gold. Around the several sections of the exhibit is a railing of polished brass. The posts supporting this rail are finished in cream and gold. On the top of each is a flagstaff with a golden ball. The entrances—and there are some eight or ten of them—are flanked with tall cream white columns with Ionic capitals, surmounted by gilded eagles with wings outspread.

Draped in festoons between the columns in the central booth are cords of gilded and colored peanuts in unique and artistic decorations, added by numerous designs of grain and forage plants.

On account of its size and unusual appearance the decorated building in the central exhibit catches your attention almost immediately. On the sides and roof of this little house is shown in quaint designs and displays nearly every principal agricultural product of North Carolina. The roof is made of cornshucks, the sides of wheat, tobacco, grasses, cornstalks, cotton and clipped grain. Among the most attractive designs on the house are the monogram of the state and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

The most artistic display in the booth and one that will not fail to call forth admiration is an agricultural pyramid, built in four sections and exhibiting in tubes and jars all the grain products of the state. Covering this, drooping from the top, is a hanging umbrella of artificially colored peanuts, blending perfectly with the brown and yellow grain and with the red background with which the very picturesque pyramid is finished.

In the exhibit of agriculture there are unusually fine samples of all North Carolina grains and grasses in the sheaf or bundle. While the whole state of North Carolina is represented by the fine exhibits of the department of agriculture, a great many of the finest were sent from the plantation of W. H. Roberts, near Raleigh. Mr. Roberts himself arranging them in the booth.

Though a by no means ancient science, forestry finds many of its ardent students in North Carolina, and the exhibits in this department are surpassed by none of like nature at the exposition.

Among the exhibits of the department of fish and game are several of the most strange and unique at the entire exposition. The visitor will see a possum with creamy white hair and beautiful pink eyes and an all the squirrel as a life size model.

In the race room with Mike Crooks he will see a yellow raccoon so nearly approaching albinism as to be almost a true representative of the type. These three specimens are from the North Carolina state museum, where for the last several years they have attracted great attention and interest. They were all killed in the state, the possum having been caught near Raleigh, the raccoon near Wilmington and the squirrel in Craven county.

Then there are a number of game and fur bearing animals, together with a large assortment of skins.

There is a case full of wild ducks—twenty-three varieties, two of each, as a rule—and six or eight wild geese. They were collected by H. H. Brimley, curator of the North Carolina museum, many specimens having been prepared especially for exhibit at the exposition. With the ducks is shown a hybrid duck, a cross between a mallard and black duck. This was shot some time ago in North Carolina and is one of the few specimens of hybrid ducks in existence.

The fishing interests of the state are represented by a number of large colored reproductions of the most important fish of North Carolina waters and a full assortment of crabs, clams, oysters, turtles, shrimps, etc.

Jamestown's Accessibility.

Within a twenty-four hour radius of the exposition there live some 40,000,000 people, or nearly half the population of the entire United States. Eight or ten railroads and as many steamship lines center in Norfolk and Newport News, making it possible to bring all of these people to the exposition during the period of the celebration, and all who enter the gates of the Colonial City by the Sea will find entertainment in the highest sense of the word.

Auction Sales.

Sales by auction, so far from being an invention of late years, were known as far back as the time of the Romans. It was supposed by some that they chiefly used the plan to dispose of the spoils taken in war. As these sales were said to take place under the pear, it is fair to conclude that they stuck a long spear in the ground to mark the place where the sale would be held. It was long the custom in England to mark the time during which bids might be offered by burning an inch of candle, the last offer before the light went out being of course the one that took the article on sale. This custom led many to make no bid until the candle was nearly out, and many often delayed so long that the end of the flame still found them silent.

North Carolina Negro Exhibit.

North Carolina has contributed to the Jamestown exposition a most interesting negro exhibit, housed in the Negro building at the Tercentennial. Under the charge of the Rev. C. H. Williamson, commissioner general of the North Carolina negro exhibit, this display represents the work of every educational, industrial and religious institution in the state.

Most wonderful of all is the work done by the school for the colored deaf, dumb and blind, located at Raleigh. The needle and fancy work and the woodcarving and other handwork of the unfortunate students of this institution have attracted the attention of the entire country.

The colleges and schools represented in the negro exhibit of North Carolina are as follows: School for the Colored Deaf, Dumb and Blind, Raleigh; Asheville graded school, Asheville; High Point Normal school, High Point; State Normal school, Elizabeth City; Roanoke Institute, Elizabeth City; Whitfield graded school, Durham; St. Augustine's school, Raleigh; A. and M. college, Greensboro; Joseph K. Brite school, Enfield; Henderson Normal Institute and Shaw university, Raleigh.

Among the most interesting exhibits in the general display of North Carolina negro development is a collection of negro publications. The exhibit of African curios is also most interesting and unique.

Exposition Rates Reasonable.

District Passenger Agent J. H. Wood of the Southern Railway company at Asheville has returned from a several days' trip to the Jamestown exposition and declares that he was favorably impressed with the excellence of the exposition. He said that there was no reason for complaint; that the transportation facilities were entirely adequate; that hotel facilities were ample and that rates were reasonable. The exposition itself, Mr. Wood said, was interesting and instructive and that visitors could very pleasantly and profitably spend several days in and around Norfolk and the exposition grounds.
