WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. April 25, 1908.
There was a temperance rally at Antioch school house last night. The exercises began at eight o'clock and were conducted by Mrs. Maggie Butt. The program consisted of songs, readings and recitations by the young ladies and children of the community. It was informal but very interesting and entertaining indeed. A large crowd was present and we feel that much good was accomplished for the cause of temperance. Sometimes things of that kind reach a man when a speech would not. Children and women of Pitt county, you have a part in this campaign. You can perform an important part in creating public sentiment against the curse of intemperance by these entertainments.
Rev. T. H. King accompanied Rev. B. W. Spilman, of Kinston, to Galloway's Cross Roads Friday, where Mr. Spilman made an address at the close of Misses Huldah Cox and Helen Galloway's school. They report a good sized audience out to hear him notwithstanding the busy season.
Prof. G. E. Lineberry will make an address on prohibition near Shelmerdine Sunday morning.
Rev. T. H. King left Friday evening from Goldsboro to fill his regular appointment Sunday.
Remember the class from the Oxford orphanage will be here Tuesday night, April 28. They give an excellent entertainment and we hope to have a full house to hear them.
Theodore Cox went to Parmerle Friday.
R. T. Cox went to Greenville this morning.
Miss Mary Gray and Mrs. Gaskins, of Aurora, spent a few days week with Mrs. Maggie Butt, and returned home Friday.
R. H. Hunsucker is away for a few days in South Carolina in the interest of the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.
Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lineberry went to Greenville Friday evening.
Our farmers are now busy setting out tobacco.
R. G. Chapman went to Greenville this morning.

The steam road roller that is being used on the streets, got in a ditch on Cotanch street Friday. It was nearly an all day job to get the roller out of the ditch.

TWO NEGROES PLAN TO ESCAPE AND MAKE DASH FOR LIBERTY.

One of Them Chased and Brought Down by Pistol Shot.

When court took a recess for dinner, Friday, there was a bunch of six prisoners, all colored, whom Sheriff Tucker and his deputies started to carry from the court room to the jail.
It seems that two of these prisoners, as has been learned since, had planned together to try to make their escape, it being agreed that one of them should trip the officer just before reaching the bottom of the stairway and as the officer fell both of them would run.
There being so many prisoners as to require the attendance of more than one officer, interfered with the attempt to escape being carried out exactly as planned. But the two negroes who had made the plot, John Teel and Jesse Wade, managed to place themselves in front of the other prisoners, and just as they reached the bottom of the stairs and landed in the hall on the first floor they broke to run, Wade making for the back door and Teel for the front door.
Deputy Sheriff S. I. Dudley made chase after Teel and after running through by the old buggy factory out to Cotanch street he saw the prisoner was getting the best of the run and would escape unless something else was done, so he fired three shots at the running man and brought him down. Only one shot struck Teel, this passing entirely through his hip and is a bad wound, though not necessarily dangerous.
There being so many other prisoners to guard at the moment, no officer could chase Wade and he made his escape. He is an ordinary looking dark negro, about 26 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches high, weighs about 160 pounds, has scar on one jaw and gold cap on one or more teeth. Sheriff Tucker will give a liberal reward for the arrest of the negro and delivery to him.

ENGINEERS TO PICK UP VILLAGE.
Incident to the Work of Digging the Panama Canal.
Washington, D. C., April 24.—Incidental to the work of digging the Panama Canal, the engineers are preparing to pick up a village that was so unfortunate as to establish itself in the path of progress.
This is the old town of Gatun which has 110 buildings and a population of 600. It is on the site of the Gatun dam and will be carried off two miles and set down along the Panama railroad. In the commission's way of doing things, the moving of a village is about as amputating a wart.
The church and parsonage have already been shipped to their new home. The native school is about to be moved and the natives are taking down their houses and putting them on freight cars on which they will be hauled to the new site at the expense of the commission.
The only difficulty is that the natives who had lived in the present location long before it became the Gatun dam site, don't relish carrying off their houses to a new place. If they don't the commission will do it for them. The new site is the only one where the sewer and water have been installed before the town. Everything is now ready. When the houses are set down the town will be full fledged with well paved streets and all public utilities.

SMITH BORDEN.
Beautiful Home Wedding of Popular Couple in Goldsboro.
Goldsboro, N. C., April 24.—Rarely if ever has Goldsboro society witnessed a prettier home wedding than that of Miss Rachel Moye Borden, only daughter of Mrs. William H. Borden, of this city, and Mr. E. Ehrlich Smith, son of the late Bishop Coke Smith, of Virginia, which was solemnized at the palatial Borden residence on James street Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. F. D. Swindell, of Wilson, a former pastor here, assisted by Rev. E. H. Davis, pastor of St. Paul M. E. church, officiating.
The commodious residence had been rendered a veritable dream-land of bewildering beauty to its adornment of cut flowers and growing plants and myriads of electric lights. The front parlors on either side of the spacious hall were used as reception rooms and here were displayed the bridal presents—so many, so varied, so lovely as to exhaust enumeration and beggar description, mute yet eloquent tribute to what measure of esteem the young couple are held by their immediate friends; not to speak of the wealth of gifts from members of their respective families.
It was a simple ceremony without attendants, other than the sweet little flower and ribbon girls, cousins of the bride, little Misses Claude Aycock, Mary Michaux and Ethel Miller.
After the ceremony the bridal pair were showered with cordial congratulations, and were also beshowered with conventional rice throwing as they took the northbound train at 10 o'clock for a bridal trip, after which they will make their home in Norfolk, Va., where the groom holds a responsible position with the Roper Lumber Company.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Large Check for Cotton.
On Friday Mr. W. H. Kilpatrick gave a check for $7,382.99 for about 150 bales of cotton purchased that day. For the time of year it was a very large check to be paid for cotton.

Bring the children to the kimona and apron sale next Tuesday and let them fish in the fish pond.

SATURDAY APRIL 25, 1908.

Greenville needs a public park.

Why should a man use profanity on the streets? If a man will swear he ought not to impose his profanity on the public.

The episode Friday ought to teach the colored people that if they try to get away from an officer the chances are that they will get hurt.

The farmers would do well to go back and plant some more corn. There is no pay in raising cotton to buy what you can easily make at home.

Church-going is an excellent habit to acquire. Besides the worship, there is a refining influence about it that you do not get elsewhere.

Pay your bills promptly. You have no right to buy what you cannot pay for, and if the merchants are promptly paid they can serve the general public cheaper and better.

There is much good material among the candidates for the county offices. Pitt is already doing what Mr. Cortelyou says is a panacea for all political ills—her business men go into politics.

The ladies of the town are organized to do temperance work in the town and county. They have been heard from but very little. If they are going to do anything they will have to begin now.

It would be a good idea to have a stay-at-home year in Greenville. It is more attractive than many places and if our people would stay at home we could make it attractive for others.

Sometimes when an attraction is advertised for the opera house there is doubt in the minds of some as to whether or not they can afford to go. When the orphans come all are glad to greet them.

There is nothing to be gained by keeping the stores open late Saturday night. If the merchants would have some uniform time to close early no one would be hurt and all would be better prepared to enjoy Sunday.

A few fellows around Washington City seem to think they are running North Carolina politics, and presume to speak with much positiveness as to what the Democratic State convention is going to do with regard to Bryan.

The cyclone season seems to have started in early this year. Portions of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama were swept by one Friday that left a disastrous trail. More than a hundred people were killed and much property destroyed.

SHORT WORDS.

Here Are Some and They Are Right to the Point.

The following paragraph on "The Use of Short Words" is attributed to Horatio Seymour. It practices what it preaches therein, since there is no word in it with more than two syllables save such as are quoted for purposes of illustration: "We must not only think in words, but we must also try to use the best words and those which in speech will put what is in our minds into the minds of others. This is the great art which those must gain who wish to teach in the school, the church, at the bar or through the press. To do this in the right way they should use the short words which we learn in early life and which have the same sense to all classes of men. The English of our Bible is good. Now and then some long words are found, and they always hurt the verses in which you find them. Take that which says, 'O ye generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?' There is one long word which ought not to be in it—namely, 'generation.' In the old version the old word 'brood' is used. Read the verse with the term, and you will feel its full force, 'O ye vipers brood, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?' Crime sometimes does not look like crime when it is set before us in the many folds of a long word. When a man steals and we call it a 'defalcation,' we are at a loss to know if it is a plunder or a crime. If he does not tell the truth and we are told that it is a case of 'prevarication,' it takes us some time to know just what we should think of it. No man will ever cheat himself into wrongdoing nor will he be at a loss to judge of others if he thinks and speaks of acts in clear, crisp terms. It is a good rule, if one is at a loss to know if an act is right or wrong, to write it down in short, straight-out English."

Don't Fold Your Arms.

By folding your arms you pull the shoulders forward, flatten the chest and impair deep breathing. Folding the arms across the chest so flattens it down that it requires a conscious effort to keep the chest in what should be its natural position. As soon as you forget yourself down drops the chest. We cannot see ourselves as others see us. If we could, many of us would be ashamed of our shapes. The position you hold your body in most of the time soon becomes its natural position. Continually folding your arms across the chest will develop a flat chest and a rounded back. Here are four other hints which should be made habits: Keep the back of the neck close to the back of the collar at all possible times. Always carry the chest farther to the front than any other part of the anterior body. Draw the abdomen in and up a hundred times each day. Take a dozen deep, slow breaths a dozen times each day.—Family Doctor.

The Model.

The difficulty of saying a suitable thing about an unprepossessing person was once cleverly surmounted by the great Duke of Wellington. At a Mansion House dinner he was called on to propose the health of the lady mayoress, whom he had never seen. The duke got up and proposed the toast, describing the subject as "the model of her sex."

Now, the lady happened to be a very plain wizened little woman, so the then Lord Ellenborough afterward asked the duke how he could describe that ugly little creature as the model of her sex.

"Why," said the duke, "I thought I did very well. I had never seen her before and didn't know what she was like—and some models are blamed ugly!"

Physiognomy.

The science of physiognomy can be traced as far back as the time of Pythagoras, who is said to have examined carefully the faces of his would be pupils before admitting them to his school. Hippocrates, 450 B. C., refers to the science, and Cicero has many references to it. The first systematic treatise on the subject that has come down to us is that attributed to Aristotle. The sixteenth century was particularly rich in literature on physiognomy, and the eighteenth shows a still greater interest in the science. Lavater's book seeming to be the final word on the subject.

Active Girls.

From an early age the girls of Japan are instructed in physical exercise, with the result that at maturity the women are almost as strong as the men. It is not an unusual sight in the mikado's empire to see a company of girls who are strolling along a country road step back a few yards for headway and then, following a leader, all nimbly clear a five foot fence by leaping over it.

EDISON THE VICTOR.

He Humbled the Pride of the Fast Telegraph Operator.

Edison made his first record as a telegraph operator in Memphis. A contemporary says he came walking into the office one morning looking like a veritable haysced. He wanted a job, and although his appearance was not prepossessing, the office was short handed, and he was assigned a desk at the St. Louis wire, the hardest in the office. "At the end of the line was an operator who was chain lightning and knew it," says Francis Arthur Jones "Life of Edison."

"Edison had hardly got seated before St. Louis called. The newcomer responded, and St. Louis started on a long report which he pumped in like a house afire. Edison threw his leg over the arm of his chair, leisurely transferred a wad of spruce gum from his pocket to his mouth, took up a pen, examined it critically and started in about fifty words behind. He didn't stay there long, though. St. Louis let out another link of speed, and still another, and the instrument on Edison's table hummed like an old style Singer sewing machine. Every man in the office left his desk and gathered around the jay to see what he was doing with that electric cyclone.

"Well, sir, he was right on the word and taking it down in the prettiest copperplate hand you ever saw, even crossing his 't's and dotting his 't's and punctuating with as much care as a man editing telegraph for printers. St. Louis got tired by and by and began to slow down. Then Edison opened the key and said:

"Hello, there! When are you going to get a hustle on? This is no primer class."

"Well, sir," said the gentleman in conclusion, "that broke St. Louis all up. He had been rawhiding Memphis for a long time, and we were terribly sore, and to have a man in our office who could walk all over him made us feel like a man whose horse had won the Derby."

THRILLING SPORT.

Rafting Down the Canyons of an Unmapped Glacial River.

With provisions for only ten days a party of explorers in Alaska found one September that they must build rafts and take their chances of letting the swift river carry them to settlements where food could be obtained; otherwise ice and snow would shut them in from all hope of rescue. In "The Shameless Diary of an Explorer" Robert Dugan tells of the journey on the roughly made rafts.

"At 11 o'clock today began the most thrilling sport I know, rafting down the anky canyons of an unmapped glacial river.

"Fred and I captained the Mary Ann II, the other three the Ethel May. We bumped and batted down over the gravel shelves of the canyon, shot out between the main walls of the stream and sailed upon that boiling current.

"We reached safety from cliff to cliff, jammed pike poles into the slate shelf overhead, twirled out of eddies. We bumped and grounded. We dashed overboard and on the run eased her across shallows. We tugged half an hour to make an inch at each shove through the gravel, suddenly plunged in to our necks, and she leaped free as we scrambled on.

"Bowlders rose through white ruffs of water in midchannel. We might or might not hang on them for a perpendicular minute.

"You must be very handy with a pole. You must have a hair fine eye for moving angles, the strength of an eddy, the depth of foam rushing over a stump. You must be surer of the length of your pole than a polo player of the reach of his mallet. You must be quicker than a St. Bernard dog. You must know the different weight of each log down to ounces, the balance of the duffel piled high like a dais, covered with the tent and the bean pot, the mackinaws and the ax lashed to all the lashings. It's a pretty game."

A Risky Subject.

"Do you think, sweetheart," queried the young man with the evenly divided hair, "that your father will consent to our marriage?"

"Well," replied the fair one, "of course papa will be sorry to lose me, but—"

"But," interrupted the rash youth, "I will remind him that instead of losing a daughter he will gain a son."

"Dearest," rejoined the wise maid, "if you really want me you mustn't say anything of the kind. Papa has three such sons boarding with him now, and he's a little touchy on the subject."

Queer Milk.

Many specimens of unconscious humor are received by the editors of that monumental work, the "Imperial Gazetteer of India." A district was said to be "an extensive rolling plain, consisting of alternate ridges of bare stony hills and narrow fertile valleys." An interesting item of natural history was afforded by the remark, "The buffalo differs from the cow in giving milk which is richer in butter fat, in voice and in having no hump."—London Globe.

Poured.

"I have poured every day this week at some function or other," remarked the vivacious girl.

"Well, well!" murmured the old gentleman who overheard her. "Now I know what is meant by the term 'a reigning belle.'"—St. Louis Republic.

No man prospers in this world by luck unless it be the luck of getting up early, working hard and maintaining honor and integrity.—Beecher.

Deafness Cannot be cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. He who attempts to butt through a crowd makes haste slowly.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup—the cough syrup that tastes nearly as good as maple sugar and which children like so well to take. Unlike nearly all other cough remedies, it does not constipate, but on the other hand it acts promptly yet gently on the bowels, through which the cold is forced out of the system, and at the same time it allays inflammation. Always use Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Generally a man can invent something that will work if it isn't any use.

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas and nervous headache. Kodol is a natural digestant and will digest what you eat. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A man can sit up all hours of night with a girl and never get bored until after they are married.

The kidneys are delicate and sensitive organs and are very likely at any time to get out of order. DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are prompt and thorough and will in a very short time strengthen the weakened kidneys and allay troubles arising from inflammation of the bladder. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A big cut or a little cut, small scratches or bruises or big ones are healed quickly by DeWitt's Carbolic W. W. Hazel Salve. It is especially good for piles. Get DeWitt's. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A LESSON IN ECONOMY

A STENOGRAPHER in a prominent business house, who operated a typewriter where the carriage had to be raised to see what was written, wasted eight minutes in one hour in lifting that carriage.

She was employed eight hours per day. On this basis she lost 64 minutes that day.

She would lose in one year of 300 working days 320 hours.

She was paid $2.50 per day for eight hours' work, 35.7 cents per hour.

Her employer, therefore, would have paid her $114.24 in one year, for which he received no equivalent.

There were ten stenographers employed in this office, and if they all lost the same amount of time, he would have paid in one year $1,142.40 for which he enjoyed no benefit.

In ten years he would have paid $11,424.00 for nothing.

Every business man using a typewriter that does not write in sight, but on which you have to raise the carriage to see the writing, is losing money in the same proportion.

WHICH IS BETTER—

to have that saving of money in dividends, or pay it out for wasted time?

BEATING THE LAW.

Sunday Travelers and Inns and Taverns in Scotland.

There is a law in Scotland generous to travelers. That law grants them the privilege of all taverns and inns during prohibition hours. Thus if you arrive in Edinburgh on a Sunday, having traveled, say, from Glasgow, your innkeeper is bound to serve you with any sort of alcoholic refreshment, albeit the native of Auld Reekie must first starve his Sawbath away on ginger ale, memories and the aural promise of tomorrow. But the law is merciful. He that hath journeyed three miles is a traveler within the meaning of the act.

Consequently there is a vast array of travelers leaving Edinburgh on foot, on coaches, pony carriages, etc., for the trains run not.

They all seek to constitute themselves as travelers. Just within the three mile limit, as far as Edinburgh is concerned, lies the historic village of Corstorphine.

A traveler arrives from Edinburgh. He knocks at the door of the village inn. He is wearied by his long walk. He is in sore straits.

The door is opened timidly, cautiously, and a voice is heard, "Who is it?"

"A traveler," is the weary answer.

"Whaur do ye come from?"

"I come from Edinburgh," is the answer.

"Then ye canna come in. It's against the law."

The door is banged ruthlessly.

The traveler thinks awhile. Your Scotsman thinks slowly, but very surely.

After deliberation he knocks again.

The formula is gone through.

"Whaur do ye come from?"

"Frae Leith," answers the traveler quickly.

"Then ye may come in. Why did ye nae tell the truth at first?"

Dixie's Land.

The phrase "Dixie" or "Dixie's Land" is supposed to be derived from one Dixy, a kind hearted slave owner on Manhattan Island in the latter part of the eighteenth century. His treatment of his negroes caused them to regard his plantation ("Dixy's") as little short of an earthly paradise, and when any of the slaves were taken away from their old home they were always pining for "Dixy's" and singing and talking of its joys. When slavery moved southward, the same ideal of "Dixy's" was taken along, and in the course of time, its origin being forgotten, it was applied to the southern homes of the negroes.—New York American.

Lighting Up.

"Ever notice," asked a salesman for a grocery house that makes a business of supplying the big New York hotels, "that if you stroll uptown and look at any of the big hotels you will see them all pretty well lighted up? Plenty of rooms occupied apparently. Well, that's sometimes a bluff. The help has orders to light up a number of the front rooms every evening just so that the hotel won't look like a graveyard."—New York Sun.

How Many Bricks Have You Sent Away?

That sounds like a funny question, addressed to every citizen of this town and community, but it's really a serious one. Listen: There is now just completed a magnificent building of red brick exterior and concrete interior right in the business heart of one of the biggest of American cities. It occupies a whole block and calls itself in a large lettered sign "The Largest Monolithic Building in the World." It has many floors, with about a hundred acres of floor space. The entrances are of solid marble. The floors are beautifully tiled. Altogether it is a credit to the big city in which it stands. Oh, it's a Jim Dandy!

Now, how many bricks have you sent to the city to go into this big building? Honest, how many?

Of the hundreds of thousands of bricks put into the walls of this building the city where it stands has contributed not a single red brick. Country people, the people of small towns and cities far away from the big metropolis, have sent in the bricks for the construction of this splendid edifice.

You may have sent in a few hods of bricks yourself without knowing it.

Listen: This magnificent structure, which ornaments a city you probably never will see yourself, is built of bricks bought with the dollars of people living in towns just like ours—towns that would like to have some new brick buildings themselves now and then. Every dollar contributed to the city building fund means a nice, hefty hod of bricks for this big, beautiful skyscraper, "largest in the world" of its kind. This building was put up, through the kind donations of their unknown country cousins, by a firm that ran a small store in that city a few years ago.

But this firm conceived the cute idea of having thousands of strangers contribute bricks to build its fine, large, new store.

And the building is a Mail Order Store. See?

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Greenville People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back, The weariness, the tired feeling, The pains and aches of kidney ills Are serious—if neglected. Dangerous urinary troubles follow. Mrs. C. C. Joyner, 322 Eastern Ave., Rocky Mount, N. C., says: "I think a great deal of Doan's Kidney Pills having received much benefit from their use. I suffered for a long time from dull pains in my back and loins and frequently on arising in the morning, I was so lame and sore that I could hardly stoop to put on my shoes. If I made a quick movement or performed any work that required the use of the muscles of my back, I was rewarded with sharp twinges throughout my body. I had no strength or energy and felt generally run down, but was at a loss to know how to obtain relief. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and believing that they might help me, I procured a box. Since using them I have been free from backache and have had no trouble from the kidneys. My advice to any one afflicted with kidney complaint is to use Doan's Kidney Pills." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

All the Gold IN GEORGIA Could not Buy-

Roding, Ga. August 27, 1906.
Messrs. J. C. DeWitt & Co.,
Chicago, Ills.

Gentlemen:—
In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. Some physicians told me it was Dyspepsia, some Consumption of the Lungs, others said consumption of the Bowels. One physician said I would not live until Spring, and for four long years I existed on a little boiled milk, soda biscuits, doctors' prescriptions and Dyspepsia remedies that flooded the market. I could not digest anything I ate, and in the Spring, 1902 I picked up one of your Almanacs as a poor emaciated Dyspepsia wreck will grasp at anything, and that Almanac happened to be my life savior. I bought a fifty-cent bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE, and the benefit I received from that bottle ALL THE GOLD IN GEORGIA COULD NOT BUY. I kept on taking it and in two months I went back to my work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic.
May you live long and prosper.
Yours very truly,
