Fleming-Sherrod Wedding.

Hamilton, N. C., April 28. — At St. Martin's Episcopal church last Wednesday was solemnized one of the most brilliant and beautiful weddings ever witnessed in this community. This was the wedding of Miss Jerusha Lucille Sherrod to Dr. Major Ivy Fleming. The church was beautifully decorated; the predominating colors being white and green. The altar was a mass of white roses and snowballs, while a striking contrast in green was afforded by a lavish display of palms, ferns and potted plants.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party Miss Pearl Carrington, of Durham, sang "Because I Love You." The bridal party entered by the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. W. E. Gladstone. Then came the ushers, Messrs. W. S. Rhodes and Weston Sherrod, followed by little Estelle Avent, carrying a white prayer book, little Louise Fleming acting as ring bearer, taking the ring on a calla lily. The bridesmaids were Misses Alma Fleming, Mary Hassell, of Williamston, groomsmen, Mr. Herbert Salisbury, of Hassells, and Dr. Everetts, of Everetts. Miss Mary Sherrod, sister of the bride, made a beautiful maid of honor. The bride entered the church leaning upon the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Robert Baker, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. Gordon. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom were driven to the depot, where they took the train for northern cities.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. William L. Sherrod, one of the most prominent capitalists in the State. The groom is a prominent, popular physician.

Crop of Alfalfa.

On a little plot near his office on Third street Dr. William Fountain is growing a beautiful crop of alfalfa. His experiment shows that alfalfa can be grown in this section. It is a profitable forage crop and easy to produce.

If you have not done so, the sheriff is a good man to see for a tax receipt.

OF LIBERTY!!

Harp on the Beautiful Word "Liberty," Mean They Want Whiskey.

Some people who really want whiskey conditions back, but are ashamed to say so straight out are attempting to peddle their woes on that beautiful word "liberty." We must say a word in its defense. The whiskey business shall not ride on its back. Liberty is not a condition of license, it is a condition of law. It never invites disaster, it seeks peace. Personal liberty ends where the rights of the community begin. It is the province of law to determine this boundary. Law is the expression of enlightened public opinion. Enlightened public opinion declares the whiskey business a menace to society. That opinion has forced its expression in statutes until nearly all of the South and much of the North is already in prohibition territory. And every wind brings tidings of new acquisitions.

Is it any part of my liberty to indulge in things that would endanger the health or happiness of the balance of the community? Certainly not. Is it a part of any man's inalienable rights or liberty to run a gambling den on Main street? Certainly not. No more has any one a natural right to debauch a community with the rum business. Nor does the fact that there are some people who are perfectly willing to risk themselves and their own sons, give them any right to jeopardize others. If a man wants to set the dog on his own family, it does not give him any right to set the dog on my family.

Ask any good mother what she thinks of a man's proposition that it is a part of his liberty to have a handy bar-room nearby, even if it does catch and ruin her boys. The fact of it is, this cry of liberty on the part of whiskey advocates, as if the unrestrained liberty of the bottle and the glass were the supreme matter of all, must proceed either from a very sluggish head or a very keen opposition. The temperance people have rights and claim some liberty also. One of these is the right to peace and safety. Is this not a fair contrast? One side demands the liberty of a condition of safety to themselves and others. Whose demand is more just? One wants the liberty to drink and get drunk and cut up and destroy, and wants the liberty to pursue peace and happiness without a constant danger of the saloon. A man has no right to lay poison around for a dog, and will men say that it is a part of their liberty to have it held out to folks? —Rockingham Rocket.

The Method of "Praying Blessings" in Union.

People passing Mr. Snider Carter's place in Sandy Ridge township last Tuesday morning saw 26 plowmen busy, plowing and planting and working like their lives depended upon getting it all done in one day. If a passing stranger had enquired why all the plowing and planting he would have been told that it was nothing more nor less than a Union county way of praying blessings on a sick brother. Mr. Carter has been sick for some time and is unable to prepare his land and plant his crop, and his brother members of Mineral Springs camp, Woodmen of the World, met as above stated and planted his crop for him. —Monroe Enquirer.

TAKE DOWN FRONT FENCES.

Premises and Streets Will be Improved Thereby.

In the last few years quite a number of property owners in Greenville have taken the idea of doing away with front yard fences, and wherever the fences have been removed the improvement in general appearance has been great, to say nothing of the cost saved in not having to keep up fences. This calls to mind that when the work of street paving now in progress reaches Dickinson avenue nearly all of the front fences along that street will have to be moved back to make room for side walks, and The Reflector wants to suggest to the property owners that they do away with the fences entirely. To have no front fences will make the street look decidedly wider and give it a much better appearance. We believe if you do without a front fence for a while you would not have one again if somebody would put it there free of charge.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., April 30, 1908. Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

Little change is noted in trade conditions generally. Considerable filling in orders are noted in dry goods, notions and shoes. Produce is in fair demand and prices satisfactory. Jobbers of groceries and provisions report improvement in trade. Retail trade shows slight improvement. An increase in demand for lumber is noted, especially for North Carolina pine. Tobacco is still being marketed in moderate quantities and good prices are maintained. Favorable weather conditions have existed in Virginia throughout the past week. A full acreage of corn and tobacco is expected. In North Carolina the planting of cotton continues. It is believed that the average of this crop will be well up to the average. Tobacco plants are reported in good condition and plentiful. There will probably be an increase in the acreage of this crop in eastern North Carolina. Continued large shipments of strawberries and other spring vegetables to northern markets are noted. Collections continue slow in all lines.

The Orphans' Concert.

There was a great crowd of people in the opera house, Wednesday night, to attend the concert by the singing class of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, the building being nearly full. The class is composed of ten girls and six boys, and while they are the smallest children that the institution has sent out on a concert tour, they gave the best entertainment of any class that has visited Greenville. The audience was thoroughly delighted and gave the little folks generous applause. The receipts here amounted to $92.

We will for the next ten days reduce our stock of woolen dress goods, shoes, embroideries and laces. $3.50 shoes reduced to $2.80; $3.00 shoes to $2.50; $1.00 dress goods (woolen) 85c; 60c dress goods (woolen) 45c. No goods charged at these prices.

EXAMINE "SOFT DRINKS."

United States Revenue Department to Make Inspection.

It is announced that the United States Revenue Department will investigate the "soft" drinks that are being sold in the South, especially in prohibition territory. It is said that such drinks will be examined by a representative of the Internal Revenue Department, and that if they contain a per centage of alcohol in excess of that allowed in soft drinks, which do not require a Federal license, the parties will be given opportunity to secure the license, and in the event they get the license, the State or municipal officers can arrest them under the prohibition laws—Raleigh News and Observer.

Want 'Em on the Street.

PICTURE AND PRIZE PRESENTED.

C. C. Moore Also Makes Interesting Talk.

There was an interesting part of the exercises in connection with the close of the Forbes school, Tuesday, that we did not get in the report of it published that day. A life size crayon portrait of himself in a beautiful frame was presented by the school to County Superintendent W. H. Ragsdale, the presentation speech being made by Prof. G. E. Lileberry, of Winterville, as the portrait was unveiled in view of the audience. Miss Mavis Evans was awarded a prize for proficiency in music, the presentation speech being by Prof. H. B. Smith.

At the conclusion of the other exercises Mr. C. C. Moore, of Charlotte, was introduced and made a little "cotton education" talk that was instructive and amusing to the audience.

Officers in Rowan Refuse to Recognize Badges of Iredell Deputies and Take Them for Hoboes.

Salisbury, N. C., April, 29 — After being locked up on charge of being plain hoboes and beating a freight train, Deputies W. T. Adams and Dock Journey, two well known officers of Iredell county, returned yesterday day to Statesville, asserting that they had been roughly treated by Rowan officers. Adams and Journey were searching for an escaped murderer and boarded a train headed for Salisbury. Upon reaching Barbers, twelve miles west of this city, they were arrested by officers there and held there under bond until higher officials in Iredell could be communicated with. The Rowan officers refused to recognize the badges of the Iredell deputies.

BUILDING AND LOAN.

On Saturday, May 2nd, The Home Building and Loan Association of Greenville will open its fifth series of stock. Already more than one hundred and thirty shares have been subscribed for in this new series, and the number is expected to be larger by Saturday night. Every person who can do so should take some shares in the new series. Besides being a safe and profitable investment, no institution is so helpful in building up the town. You have only to look around and see the great good it is doing. Since the organization of the association two years ago more than three fourths of the new buildings have been erected by the aid of the association. It deserves your co-operation.

South Carolina Republicans might at least have been a little more gentle with their negro brethren. Their State convention met in Columbia Tuesday, and a negro making himself quite prominent in taking the chair to preside over a recess meeting, was pitched headlong off the stage by the collector of customs.

April has come to a finish and the time is also up, in which the payment of poll tax preserves the right to vote. The law says non-payment of poll tax by May 1st forfeits this right, therefore those who did not pay their poll tax have disfranchised themselves.

To the Voters of Pitt County.

We the undersigned constituting a majority of the county board of elections for the county of Pitt hereby give notice that an election will be held on 26th day of May, 1908, at which all who favor the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina will vote a ticket with the words thereon "For the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors" and those who are opposed to the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina will vote a ticket with the words thereon "Against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors."

In order to vote in that election, as in all other elections, it is necessary to be properly registered. It is our opinion that the registration books used at the election on the 14th of May, 1907, are the ones to be used in the coming election. We therefore advise every voter who did not register in that election to see that his name is put on the registration books before the close of the 16th day of May when the registration books will be closed by law.

J. G. Moye.
Com. Board of Election.

To the Voters of Pitt County.

Some doubt and confusion having arisen in the minds of some persons as to what registration books shall be used as the legal registration books for the election to take place on the 26th of May 1908, I beg to say that the registrars should use the book used at the election on the 14th day of May 1907 and no other.

Whenever a new registration is ordered and taken all previous registration and registration books become useless and cannot be used at subsequent elections. The registration for the election on 14th, of May 1907 was a new registration and not a special registration. It is therefore certain that the registration books in use at the election on the 14th of May, 1907, must be used in the coming election. Any voter whose name is on the registration books used at the election on the 14th of May, 1907, need not register again. All whose names are not on these books will have to register for the coming election or they cannot vote.

The registration books were opened on the 24th inst and the law requires them to be closed at sundown on Saturday the 16th day of May, 1908. The law also requires the registrars to be at the polling places in their respective precincts on each Saturday during the period of registration, but the registrars can register the voters at other times and places. So it is clear that every voter whose name is not on the registration books used at the election in May 1907 has ample time and opportunity to have it put there if he so desires and I make this publication for the purpose of urging the voters to register and vote. A great moral question is to be decided upon which will seriously affect the habit, the homes and lives of the people and especially the boys and girls who are soon to become the men and women of the near future. You cannot vote in that great question on the 26th of May unless you are registered. I therefore urge you to register. This great question will be presented to you in the form of two ballots. One of these ballots will read "For the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors." The other ballot will read "Against the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors."

If any man is in doubt as to which of these ballots he ought to deposit in the box let him ask his wife or that darling little girl for whose safety he would give his life or that bright eyed boy whose future may be determined by the result of this election. They will tell him and tell him right. But I put it to every father and grandfather in the county of Pitt can you look that mother, that darling girl and that dear boy in the face and then turn away and vote "For the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors." I am expecting, hoping and praying that the men of Pitt will roll up a great big majority "Against the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors."

Deafness Cannot be cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is, by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Before you draw a Check

you are very apt to think whether you really want what it is to pay for. Many times you will decide that you don't and the check is not drawn. That's one of the advantages of having

An Account at The National Bank.

It makes you think and often helps to save. Better start such an account and put a check on your spending. The less money you have the more need for care in parting with it.

CURING A TOOTHACHE.

Remedy of a Cowboy That Proved Remarkably Effective.

One of the cleverest old customers we ever knew was Judge Booth, who lived on the Bell ranch along the Red River in the northeastern part of New Mexico. One morning out on the range the judge rolled out of his blankets with a fuming toothache, and, although he exhausted all the remedies in camp, nothing had any effect.

It was forty miles to the nearest town, with the chances against finding a dentist there, and it was finally decided to appeal to one of the Texas cowboys riding herd five miles away. He came over in response to the message, and after taking a look at the tooth, which was a double one on the upper jaw, he said, "Jedge, I can shoot that tooth out as slick as grease if you don't mind the scar it will leave on yer cheek."

"Shoot it out?" shouted the judge at the top of his voice. "Why, man, you must be crazy!"

"Waal, then, mebbe I kin pick in 'nuff powder to blow it out."

"Blow it out? Never!"

"Might possibly hammer it out with a piece of iron," mused the cowboy.

"And you might go to Patagonia and beyond!" exclaimed the indignant sufferer.

"Yes, that's generally the way with folks. I'm only tellin' you how we do it out here, but if you don't want the tooth out of course you'll have to stand the pain."

The cowboy started back to the day herd, but after a gallop of half a mile he returned to beckon the other boys aside and say: "The jedge seems to be a purty squar' sort o' man, though a leetle techy, and I'm sorry fur him. Kin he sit on a boss?"

"Some of the time."

"Kin he shoot?"

"Only now and then."

"Then I think I can cure that toothache."

He spent five minutes unfolding the plot and then went over to the sufferer and said, "Jedge, I've come back to say that ye are a booby and a coward!"

"What!" yelled the judge as he sprang up from his seat before the campfire.

"A booby, a coward and a squaw, jedge, and likewise a durned old liar!"

The judge jumped for him, but the cowboy ran for his horse. There was another near at hand, with two guns in the holsters of the saddle, and the judge sprang aboard and gave chase. Half a mile out on the prairie the two men began to shoot at each other, and it was not until the judge had fired his twelfth bullet that the kind hearted cowboy rode away and left his enemy to ride into camp and declare, "Well, by thunder, if that infernal toothache hasn't stopped so dead still that I feel just like singin'!"—Denver Field and Farm.

A Curious Music Box.

In the South Kensington museum, in London, is a curious musical box. It was originally the property of Tipu (or Tippoo) Sahib, the "Tiger of Mysore," who died in 1799, being killed during the British assault and capture of Seringapatam, the capital of Mysore. He always hated the British, and to show his enmity he had this instrument constructed. The box is a life sized statuary group showing the symbolic tiger of India at the throat of England, represented by a British officer. When Tippoo wished to amuse his court one of his attendants turned a handle, when the tiger emitted horrible growls and the man raised and lowered his arms and uttered terrifying shrieks. Inside the tiger are four rows of pipes and a set of ivory keys, which are either of French or British manufacture.

Vaccinated the Rifles.

Orders that were issued by the German West African officials some years ago that all firearms in the hands of natives should be stamped and registered aroused much discontent. Lieutenant Eggers, in Damaraland, however, got along with no trouble. He had inoculated cattle for the rinderpest three years before, as the Damaras saw, with good results. He therefore announced that he was ready to vaccinate their rifles so as to insure their shooting straight and doing no hurt to their owners, and the Damaras crowded to him to get their guns stamped.

It's Sometimes Like That.

They were rehearsing for the amateur theatricals. "You mean to say," cried the heroine, clearing her throat, "that the people in the back of the house can't hear us speak our lines?"

The professional trainer held up his hand with a soothing gesture. "Yes, but don't let that worry you," he said. "They can hear the prompter, so they won't lose touch with the play."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Absentminded.

Sir John Borden Sanderson was notoriously absentminded. Of the cycle of anecdote that gathered around him much was fabricated. The story of his holding his watch while holding an egg in his hand, often related also of Newton, is in La Bruyere's "Caracteres." But there seems to be some foundation for the suspicion that in his laboratory he once lunched on a frog and was afterward found deeply contemplating a sandwich.

Using His Voice.

Eliza—Did you say Sam was makin' a lot of money out of his voice? Cloe—Sure thing! At de opera. Eliza—At de opera? Cloe—Yas; he calls de carriages!—Yonkers Statesman.

Friendship that flames goes out in a flash.—Young.

AN AUDACIOUS PLAN.

How Captain Haraden Bluffed the Britisher Into Surrender.

A fight is a fight for 'a that, and just as an example of early American "nerve" a story unearthed by Ralph D. Paine in the old sea logs at Essex Institute, in Salem, is of much interest. It is told by Mr. Paine as follows in Outing Magazine:

The king's packet was a foe to test Captain Haraden's mettle, and he found he had a tough antagonist. They fought four full hours, "or four glasses," as the log records it, after which Captain Haraden found that he must haul out of the action and repair damages to rigging and hull. He discovered also that he had used all the powder on board except one charge. It would have been a creditable conclusion of the matter if he had called the action a drawn battle and gone on his way.

It was in his mind, however, to try an immensely audacious plan which could succeed only by means of the most cold blooded courage on his part. Ramming home his last charge of powder and double shooting the gun, he ranged alongside his plucky enemy, who was terribly cut up, but still unconquered, and balled her:

"I will give you five minutes to haul down your colors. If they are not down at the end of that time, I will fire into and sink you, so help me God!"

It was a test of mind, not of metal. The British commander was a brave man who had fought his ship like a hero. But the sight of this infernally indomitable figure on the quarter deck of the shot rent Pickering, the thought of being exposed to another broadside at pistol range, the aspect of the blood stained, half naked privateersmen grouped at their guns with matches lighted, was too much for him. Captain Haraden stood, watch in hand, calling off the minutes so that his voice could be heard aboard the packet:

"One."

"Two."

"Three."

But he had not said "Four" when the British colors fluttered down from the yard, and the packet ship was his.

WONDERS OF WATER.

Extent to Which Fluid Mingles With Bodies Apparently Solid.

The extent to which water mingles with bodies apparently solid is wonderful. The glittering opal which beauty wears as an ornament is only flint and water. In every plaster of paris statue which an Italian carries through our streets for sale there is one pound of water to every four pounds of chalk. The air we breathe contains five grains of water to each cubic foot of its bulk. The potatoes and turnips which are boiled for our dinner have in their raw state the one 75 per cent and the other 90 per cent of water.

If a man weighing ten stone were squeezed flat in a hydraulic press seven and one-half stone of water would run out and only two and one-half stone of dry residue remain. A man is, chemically speaking, forty-five pounds of carbon and nitrogen diffused through five and a half pailfuls of water. In plants we find water thus mingling in no less wonderful a manner.

A sunflower evaporates one and a quarter pints of water a day and a cabbage about the same quantity. A wheat plant exhales in 172 days about 100,000 grains of water. An acre of growing wheat, on this calculation, draws and passes out about ten tons of water per day.

The sap of plants is the medium through which this mass of fluid is conveyed. It forms a delicate pump by which the watery particles run with the rapidity of a swift stream. By the action of the sap various properties may be communicated to the growing plant. Timber in France is, for instance, dyed by various colors being mixed with water and poured over the root of the tree. Dahlias are also colored by a similar process.—London Tit-Bits.

Making It Clear.

A very young child was saying his prayers at the bedside in his grandfather's house. The grandfather, anxious to hear the boy, stood at the room door, which was sufficiently open for him to see and hear the child. After the usual asking God to bless his parents the child reached "God bless grandma and grandpa." At the mention of the last named, the boy's eye catching sight of his grandfather, he stopped and, pointing his little finger, said, "There he is!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Easy Job.

A schoolmaster set as an essay subject to a class of his young hopefuls "What I would like to be," and one pronouncement, delivered in a bold half text, was as follows: "I would like to be a horse driver. When you are driving a horse you sit and do nothing. You do that all day and feed the horse at night and your work is done for that day. Then when Saturday comes you get your pay, and then you get all Sunday to yourself."—Kansas City Newsbook.

A Long Wait.

"Did you and your wife take a long trip on your honeymoon?" "It seemed long to me. Her father had promised to settle a snug sum of money on us as soon as we got back."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The man who leads two lives is judged in the end by the worst of the pair.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The acts of this life are the destiny of the next.—Chinese Proverb.

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You!
Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean.

You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demnition bowwows, you say, because of the uncurbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodcarrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gourmandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and silently and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey!

Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that hurts your home place?

WINE OF CARDUI

Where the Compass Came From.

The earliest references to the use of the mariner's compass are to be found in Chinese history, from which we learn how in the sixty-fourth year of the reign of Hsao-ti (2634 B. C.) the emperor attacked Tcheyon on the plains of Tchou-lou and, finding his army embarrassed by a thick fog raised by the enemy, constructed an instrument for indicating the south, so as to distinguish the four cardinal points, and was thus enabled to pursue his adversary and capture him.

The power of the loadstone to communicate polarity to iron is said to be for the first time explicitly mentioned in a Chinese dictionary, finished in A. D. 121, where the loadstone is defined as "a stone with which an attraction can be given to the needle."

The Chinese appear to have once navigated as far as India by the aid of the compass.

"Sixpenny Jack."

"What a charming personality was that of Millais," says the author (a woman) of "Leaves From Life." "My father recollected him as a handsome lad in a velvet frock coming to paint at the academy schools when one would have expected him to be still in the nursery. But I remember him as a tall and good looking man, with curly hair and very bright eyes, with a hearty laugh, and particularly do I recollect the way he threw his head back when he laughed and the extremely merry addition he was to any gathering. He often came to Pembroke Villas late for a game of whist, and the nature of the points played for as well as some canny Scotch characteristics he displayed gained for him the sobriquet of 'Sixpenny Jack.'"

A Leech as a Weather Glass.

A leech confined in a vial of water, says G. S. in the Scotsman, will prove an excellent weather prophet. If the weather is to continue fine, the leech lies motionless at the bottom of the vial and rolled together in a spiral form. If it is to rain, either before or after noon, it is found to have crept up to the top of its lodging, and there it remains till the weather is settled. If we are to have wind the poor prisoner gallops through his limpid habitation with amazing swiftness and seldom rests till it begins to blow hard.

In judging a Bank, always remember that it is Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits that give security to the depositor, because that money is what stands between you as a depositor and any possible shrinkage in the securities held by the bank.
