Entertainment at Clay Root Neck.

Reported for Reflector.

All are familiar with the words "Hard Times". Yet when the question of building up the school begins to be agitated, the people of Clay Root Neck forget such a phrase, and themselves to be interested, generous patrons of the school.

And such was the case the 11th. of Dec. when an entertainment, under the direction of Misses Brown and Baldree, was given at the school house.

All entered into the spirit of the occasion, and not only enjoyed themselves but worked together for the benefit of the school.

And when the time for leaving came all were made glad to learn the sum of twenty-five dollars had been made clear of all expenses.

Success of the Local Paper

The success of a local paper depends upon the the local patronage. If it has to go away from home for support, sooner or later it will become embarrassed. On the other hand a town that does not support a local paper is losing ground. People will judge a town by the columns of the home paper. There is no getting away from it, the town and paper are dependent upon one another.—Waynesville Courier.

FOOT CRUSHED IN GIN.

Mr. C. C. Adams Suffers Serious Accident.

At Falkland Wednesday afternoon Mr. C. C. Adams met with on accident that maims him for life. Mr. Adams was foreman of the gin system operated at Falkland by J. L. Fountain & Co. He started to shut off one of the gins and stepped up on the box of the seed screw to reach the lever. It seems that the screw box was open at the time, and as Mr. Adams stepped upon it his foot slipped in the box and was caught by the screw. His foot was completely crushed and almost ground to a pulp. Drs. Morrill and Laughinghouse went out to see the injured man and finding amputation necessary took off the foot and a portion of the leg about three inches above the ankle. Mr. Adams is reported to be getting along as well as could be expected under such circumstances though suffering much pain.

Big Fire in Goldsboro.

Goldsboro, N. C., Dec. 16.—The most disastrous fire that Goldsboro has suffered in many years raged for several hours tonight and effected damage and loss of property that is estimated at $100,000.

The fire started in John M. Grantham's large sale stables, on John street, next door to the fire department's headquarters. The stables, fire alarm tower, all barns, and outhouses, the residence of Louis Gulley, opposite the post office and the rear building of the McCullen boarding house were soon aflame and burning rapidly. They were all practically destroyed and for awhile the whole block in the heart of the business section of the town was seriously threatened, and every possible stream of water was played with direct pressure and the aid of the fire engines for nearly two hours before the flames were gotten under control shortly before midnight.

The Crowing of the Cock.

Will some one wiser than we are tell us why chickens always crow just about midnight—they do, but why?—Lenoir News.

And we on our part, would like to know why they crow at three o'clock and also again at the middle of the darkest hour—just before daybreak?

They crow at three different times during the night and with such accuracy that a clock may be set by them and not be ten minutes from true sun time.

Then there is another unfailing sign. If a cock goes to bed growing—that is, crows during the early hours of the night without being disturbed or excited—he will wake up with a wet head. It will rain before morning.—Statesville Landmark.

There were 708 casualties to such craft as sail boats, launches, and rowboats, the accidents resulting in a loss of six lives. Because of the assistance of the life savers it is pointed out that of the 13 disasters more than $11,000,000 worth of property was saved. The life saving establishment now comprises 280 stations.

Auction Sale of Lots.

The auction sale of lots today on the Arthur property in South Greenville did not begin until 1 o'clock, which was too late for us to tell of the result in this issue. A large crowd went out to the sale and it looked like there would be some lively bidding.

Court Adjourned.

The December term of civil court got though in two days, at least quit in that time. The season was too busy for folks to do much at court.

Simple Life in Finland.

In Finland everybody lives the simple life in summer time. They camp out on islands, in the forests and always somewhere near the water, for everybody swims and bathes. Almost all classes sleep and eat al fresco at this time of year, and the town councils of the towns in this progressive and altogether delightful little country provide public fireplaces and public bathing sheds in all places where the working classes go in search of fresh air. When they are tired of bathing and splashing they dance, they sing, they watch fireworks and practice gymnastics, they all become like children and are the very happiest, merriest, most good natured, most easily pleased and most healthy holiday makers in the world. We might take many leaves from the Finns' book.—London Ladies' Pictorial.

The Solution.

It was very, very late, and one of them was very, very sleepy, but the other had no desire to go home.

"Oh, have another drink," he urged.

"No," said the sleepy one firmly. "Well, wait here while I have one."

"No. I am going to bed."

"Oh, don't yet. I'm hungry. I want something to eat. I'm going to order an egg sandwich."

"Well, order it."

"But, look here, I don't want to eat an egg sandwich all alone."

"Well—order another," suggested the sleepy one, getting up and walking away.

Making an Acquaintance.

An old lady was accosted in a London street by a well dressed and refined looking stranger, who effusively claimed her as a friend. "I really don't believe you remember me," she exclaimed reproachfully. And the old lady, never doubting that her memory was at fault, confessed that she could not quite recall the name. "Ah, but I have changed it since you knew me!" said her interlocutor gayly, and after a few more lively speeches she passed on, having possessed herself meanwhile of the old lady's purse.

WHAT THEY THINK OF IT.

"MAY IT SEE MANY MORE."

The Greenville Reflector came out last week in holiday dress, it being the 26th anniversary of that paper. The edition was made up of twelve pages and a handsome cover in colors. May it see many more anniversaries under the present editorial management.—Snow Hill Standard-Laconic.

"MORAL AS WELL AS MATERIAL UPLIFT."

The Greenville Reflector has issued a handsome 12-page illustrated edition as an anniversary-holiday number. The business of Greenville and the opportunities offered are attractively set forth. The Reflector is a good paper and is edited by a conscientious man who strives for the moral as well as the material uplift of his people.—Statesville Landmark.

"REFLECTS THE HEALTHIEST AND BEST."

The Greenville Reflector's trade edition was nicely gotten up, and a credit to the paper and to the splendid hustling city that sustains it. Editor Whichard is a live newspaper man, one who stands up with might and vim for his community and its progress. Through his brilliant mind The Reflector always reflects the heartiest and best for moral, intellectual and industrial development.—Wilson Times.

"MOST CREDITABLE EDITION."

The anniversary-holiday edition of The Daily Reflector, of Greenville, which made its appearance last week, was as pretty as "blue shoes and red strings." It is a most creditable edition and speaks well for the enterprise of The Reflector and the good town in which it is published.—Scotland Neck Democrat.

The Annanias club is growing.

If you bought a lot in Greenville you are all right. Get a house on it as quick as possible.

And Mr. Roosevelt has given congress another message. Perhaps there will be some more before the week is out.

The president may feel small over the way the senate ridiculed his Panama canal scandal message, but we doubt if he does.

It spite of what Mr. Roosevelt says about it and his threats, the New York World stands pat in wanting to know who got the money.

The Scotland Neck Commonwealth this week issued quite a handsome eight-page Christmas edition. Mr. Moore, who recently took charge of the Commonwealth, is keeping it up to its high standard and making a splendid paper.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Characteristics of a Good Newspaper.

A good newspaper tells the news as faithfully and truthfully as it can, without fear and without favor, and comments on it with the best intelligence it can command.

A good newspaper is in league with all men and women who think and are with all the agencies that strive for the happiness of the people.

A good newspaper shields no wrong that ought to be exposed, and stops at no truth that ought to be uttered.

A good newspaper does not lend itself to the making of strife between citizens, neither rages like a demagogue nor sweeps like a charlatan.

A good newspaper has ideals, believes in progress, and wins its way by courage, plain speaking and fair dealing.

A good newspaper assembles each day as much of the good things that are done in the world as it can find and no more of the foul than it must of news necessity publish.

A good newspaper has political opinions and may belong to a party, but it cannot be an organ and keep the faith of the best journalism.

A good newspaper knows no boss, bows to no petty astray or office and knows no allegiance but to that which it believes to be true.

A good newspaper is run on business principles, and should make money and prosper like any other business, but probably won't if that is its sole aim.

A good newspaper takes a cheerful view of the world, is kind to human failings and helps men by entertaining them rather than by ranting and scolding at them.—Scranton (Pa.) Tribune.

Facts About The Great Majestic Range

It is the only range in the world made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron.

It has, beyond a question of a doubt, the largest and best reservoir.

It uses about half the fuel used on other ranges, and does better work by far.

The Majestic All Copper Nickeled Reservoir heats the water quicker and hotter than any other. It is the only reservoir with a removable frame.

The Charcoal Iron Body of the Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a steel body.

Being made of non-breakable material, there is practically no expense for repairing the Majestic.

As for baking, it is perfection; not only for a few months, but for all time to come.

A Great majestic Range lasts three times as long as a cheap range, but it don't cost three times as much.

Proof - We don't ask you to take our word for any of the above statements, but if you will call at our store, a man from the factory, where Majestic Ranges are made, will prove to your satisfaction that these are absolute facts, and will show you many more reasons why the Great Majestic Range is absolutely the best that money can buy.

The Fleur-de-lis.

The origin and therefore the full heraldic meaning of the fleur-de-lis is disputed. By some the emblem is supposed to represent a lily, by others the iron head of some weapon, presumably a lance. From the claims put forth by English sovereigns to certain principalities in France, gained by inheritance or marriage, the French royal coat appeared as a quartering in the English royal arms, but it was abolished by George IV.
