

THE BEAUTIES OF EASTERN CAROLINA

ALONG THE HISTORIC NEUSE.

The Great Handwork of Nature Displayed.

Hanrahan N. C., June 12, 1911.

I have watched her with peculiar admiration and intensified interest from where she merges into the Trent near that historic though not very progressive old town of New Bern. And I don't wonder that her people are not as progressive commercially as are some others, when I contemplate the sublime grandeur and alluring beauties of nature that her people daily and hourly behold. Yes, I have watched the old Neuse from there to near her fountain head, and I have yet to see one spot along her banks and in her channel that failed to enrapture me with the one thought of God's great love to man and all of His creation. I have watched on her north side the fertile land with abundant crops of cotton, corn and golden grain. I have gazed upon her stately oaks hung with that long gray moss as they seemed to typify strength and love, wrestling beneath and even supporting old age. I have watched her wild flowers and clinging roses, seemingly planted to cheer the lonely boatman who away from home, wife and prattling children, guides his boat that carries our commerce. I have watched her southern banks with little lowlands and far from the fertility of soil; having running almost parallel with her channel and about one mile from her banks, from seashore to well up towards her source, a belt of sand bearing only small black jacks and wire grass, but here and there and not separated by much space the yellow jessamine vine, sattered, it seems as are the foot prints on the sands of time to cheer a forlorn and perhaps a fallen traveler, who seeing might take courage and go on. But of all the beautiful spots that I have seen situated on this or any other river, is the one about mid way between Goldsboro and Kinston and half a mile above the little village of White Hall, made historic by one battle during the Civil war. On the north spreads out that fertile valley, and on its south bank is a range of hills scattered here and there, but just at this spot are seven of these looming up from its bank and seemingly purposely arranged in a half circle as if placed there for eternal vigilance to keep with a strict injunction to ever watch and never to sleep, and guard with safety the same number of springs that find their source in your bosom and send their life giving waters from your feet to mingle a few yards distant with the somewhat red waters of the Neuse lest some one bent with years and wrecked with life's burdens and financial or other cares, should slip in, drink and be made young again, and thereby be cheated out of heaven for many years.

'Twas three miles north of this spot and on that sand belt, that this scribbler first saw the light, heard the chickens cackle and crow, and the birds warble out their sweetest lays.

I must digress just here to say, that it was here by the banks and on the same side of this river, about 35 miles east of there, and in a spot almost as beautiful as is that at Seven Springs, where was born and reared a queen of beauty, love and force. So powerful was her brow and keen the arrow that when it was aimed at our worthy superintendent its force and cutting point went straight to his venerable heart. Perhaps this accounts for his great love, well guided zeal, fatherly devotion and never flagging energy for the uplift of all the people, and especially those of Pitt. It takes deep sorrow and keen disappointments to bring out the best there is in a great and good man. This perhaps learned our professor another lesson, that a man does not have to ride in the finest carriages, dine at the most costly hotels, and make the greatest display to win that love that is worthy of his bestowal, but by riding in whatever is most convenient, or going on foot if needs be, yes, and eating and sleeping in some of the most humble homes, doing anything in any way for God that he has won the highest regards of not one, but of all the people. So the hand of Providence was guiding its professor, and what was her great loss has been our state's and Pitt county's eternal gain.

THE "OPEN SUNDAY" WILL BE DISCUSSED

AT THE MEN'S PRAYER LEAGUE.

The Aldermen Especially Invited to be Present Next Sunday.

The Men's Prayer League has now for about seven months been holding meetings each Sunday afternoon, and the good it has done the men who attend, and through them the community, has been very apparent. Subjects are announced a week in advance and three leaders appointed to open the discussion on it, others present having the privilege to speak as they desire. Those who have attended the meetings have been impressed with the subjects and character of these discussions, as they have been of such trend as to inspire and uplift men to a higher life, making them better Christians and better citizens.

Quite naturally the members of the league are interested in matters that affect the moral well being of the community, and as just now the town is threatened with what is called the "open Sunday" the effort being made to get the aldermen to permit places selling cold drinks, cigars, etc., to keep open on Sundays and carry on their business then as on other days. So the subject selected for discussion at the league meeting next Sunday is, "Is the Open Sunday in Keeping With God's Law?" The text is Exodus 20:8-11, with the following references also given for reading on the subject: Exodus 31:13-15 and 35:2, Ezekiel 20:12 and 44:24, Matthew 5:17, John 13:17 and James 4:17.

The leaders appointed for this discussion are Prof. H. E. Austin, Dr. J. W. Bryan and Mayor F. M. Wooten, and many others are expected to take part in it. The meeting will be held in the Christian church at 4:30 o'clock p. m., and all men of the town are invited to be present, with special invitations to the aldermen of both the present and incoming boards, the ministers, Baraca classes, Sunday school officers and official members of the churches. It is intended that the meeting shall show the sentiment of Greenville on this question.

There was a very good meeting of the league the past Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian church when the subject was "The Treasure House." The leaders, Messrs. W. J. Brown, B. S. Warren and B. W. Moseley, gave splendid talks, as did also some others who followed them.

Be sure that you read up on the text and references for next Sunday, and attend the meeting in the Christian church.

POISONED BY MATCHES.

Babies Ate a Box Each, But Doctor Got There in Time.

Farmville, June 10.—While the two little two-year-old children of Capt. Redding Smith and Mr. Robert Barrett were playing together, their mother stepped out of the room, and they took a chair, climbed up to a bureau, on which was a gross of matches. They secured the matches, took them a box each and sat down to have a feast. When discovered they had devoured one box each and were beginning on the second.

Dr. Patrick was hastily summoned and told the trouble, he came prepared to battle with the poison in a few minutes, and the work of rescue began. With purging and vomiting he soon had their little stomachs empty and though weak, they were soon all right.

Will Celebrate Anniversary.

On Friday, June 30th, the anniversary of the breaking of ground for the erection of the buildings of East Carolina Teachers' Training school will be celebrated with appropriate exercises. Gov. W. W. Kitchin and other prominent speakers will be present.

NOW IN FULL BAST AT WRIGHTSVILLE

LARGE ARRIVAL OF GUESTS.

Neat Compliment To A North Carolina Girl.

Wrightsville Beach, June 12.—With the arrival of some 150 guests who have made reservations at the Seashore Hotel, as well as a number of others who came to spend week-end at the beach, the realization that the summer season is upon us has been brought to our minds, and as of yore, the surf is dotted with bathers, while the Banks Channel is once more alive with pretty little sail boats, launches, etc., the whole scene being one of pleasure and society.

The past week has been marked by many fishing and sailing parties, notable among these being a fishing party given by Judge R. B. Peebles, at which time several gentlemen partook of his hospitality to enjoy a few hours on the briny deep, indulging in the fine sport of deep sea fishing. Among the guests was Mr. W. C. Carrington, of Spartanburg, who for several seasons past has been one of the most ardent sportsmen, and one who each year visits the Seashore Hotel, from time to time during the season. The party went out in the "Virgie May" and the occasion was greatly enjoyed by all present.

One of the most pleasing features of the music at the Seashore Hotel last evening was the rendition of "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie," which catchy little song came out some years ago, when it was dedicated to Miss Pearl Fort, of Pikeville, and which was most beautifully rendered by Miss Tully, one of the members of the orchestra at the Seashore. Miss Tully sang this song in compliment to Col. W. B. Fort, of Pikeville, who is well and favorably known throughout this state, and who is a most welcome guest at the Seashore Hotel. Miss Fort is the attractive daughter of Col. Fort, and the little compliment was greatly appreciated by him, while the splendid music furnished by the orchestra was much enjoyed by all who were present.

A large crowd of Wilmingtonians, as well as practically all of the guests on the beach attended the beautiful week-end dance at Lumina on Saturday evening, when Kneitssal's splendid orchestra furnished most exquisite dance music, and all things tended to make this one of the most delightful dances of the early summer season.

THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

PROCEEDINGS OF LAST MEETING.

Amounts of Disbursements And Collections.

At the regular June meeting of the board of county commissioners, all the members were present. The following aggregate sums were ordered paid out of the treasury: For paupers, $230.50; superintendent of health, $53.15; county home, $288.25; coroner, $42; court house, $14,526.55; bridges and ferries, $62.83; conveying prisoners and insane $85.95; court cost, $53.70; jurors, $344.56; jail, $11; capturing distillery, $20; clerk to board, $18.90; clerk court, $15.90; printing and stationery, $19.45; postage, $1.50; salaries, register of deeds, $250; clerk court, $250; sheriff, $333.33; auditor, $50; county stock law, $41.15; county roads, $287.42; Winterville stock law, $6; Delvoir roads, $18.44; Beaver Dam roads, $83.20; Bethel roads, $550.18; Greenville roads, $14.84.

The several officers tendered their reports for the past month which were approved and ordered recorded. The collections were, by register of deeds, $182.25; by clerk court, $444.96; by sheriff, $108.45.

W. A. Forbes was elected superintendent of roads for twelve months at a salary of $80 per month.

Some changes in allowances to paupers were made, and some corrections in tax list ordered.

The board also held a recess with the building committee to examine bids on furnishing the new court house and jail, and to make contracts for the same. While this has not yet been completed by the committee and recorded, it is learned that furniture was bought that will be in keeping with the new court house.

ELDER G. D. ROBERSON DEAD.

Died After An Illness Of Only Two Days.

Elder George D. Roberson, a prominent minister of the Primitive Baptist church, died Saturday night at his home in Robersonville after a brief illness, and was buried Sunday.

Elder Roberson was 67 years of age, and apparently looked the picture of health, being as splendid a specimen of physical manhood as is usually seen. Only a week previous to his death he returned from a month's trip through several northern states where he attended several associations of his denomination, and after getting home spoke of how well he had felt during that trip and how much he had enjoyed it.

Last Thursday he spent the greater part of the day out on his farm. After returning home that evening he was taken with paralysis of the muscles and nerves, and in two days had passed away.

His death was indeed a shock, and a great loss to his section and to the denomination he served.

AMBASSADOR WILL NOT RESIGN.

Senators Have Tilt Over Recognition of Portuguese Republic.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, June 12.—Senator Culberson wanted to know why this government has not recognized the republic of Portugal. Senator Root replied because the Portuguese minister here has not asked recognition. This caused a spirited colloquy in the senate.

The house considered District of Columbia legislation, then continued the debate on the Underwood wool bill.

The International Seal Conference were unable to agree on the treaty. President Taft instructs them to hold another conference this afternoon.

The vote will come today on the direct election of senators.

Washington, June 12.—The reciprocity bill will be presented to the senate tomorrow. The debate is expected to last a month.

Ambassador Wilson denies that he will resign the Mexican post.

Washington, June 12.—Senator McCumber spoke first on the direct election of senators. He said he would vote for the bill and delivered a lengthy speech, giving reasons, however, why the present plan of electing senators is satisfactory.

COTTON CROP ESTIMATE.

By The Government on The Crop For 1910.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, June 12.—The Census Bureau today issued the following statement of the cotton crop of 1910: Estimated value of the 1910 crop, $963,180,000; 1909 crop, estimated value $812,090,000; average production last five years, 12,175,867 bales. Area planted 1910 was 33,418,000 acres, average production 171 pounds per acre, average value 500 pound bales, $87.15. In 1904 it was $50.37. The quantity ginned in 1910, counting round bales as half bales, was 11,965,962 bales.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Gathered From Our Exchanges And Condensed for Our Busy Readers.

Waxhaw.—That a horse weighing 1,300 pounds and hitched to a dray-wagon could fall into a well twenty-five feet deep and get out without being hurt, seems hardly credible but this is exactly the exciting incident that happened here a few days ago, when the drayman for Rodman & Brown drove the drayhorse into a well twenty feet or more in depth. It was at first thought the horse would be killed, as the well had a number of old side harrow teeth and other broken up farm implements in the bottom, but after an hour and a half of hard work the horse was led triumphantly out amid the cheers of the crowd.

Concord.—A team of mules belonging to R. A. Brown's Sons became frightened at an automobile yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock on the hill leading out from Silver Hill, about two miles from the city and ran away, throwing the driver, Will Howie, a colored boy, about 20 years of age, to the ground. He sustained internal injuries causing a hemorrhage of the lungs, from which he died in about two hours.

Mr. W. B. Goodman, of Amity, had quite a thrilling experience in his bed room several mornings ago, when he heard an unusual racket in a closet near his bed. He entered the closet to find the head of a big black snake shooting out over the top of a bag of peanuts. He killed the monster, and after laying the reptile out in the yard, returned, and lifting a quilt, discovered to his horror, two others. These were soon dispatched. The snakes were supposed to be after mice and the mice were supposed to be after peanuts, while Mr. Goodman was after the snakes.—Mooresville Enterprise.

The Red Shirt.

The origin of the "red shirt"—worn as a blouse by English women in the sixties, when Garibaldi was a popular idol throughout Great Britain—is sufficiently curious. When the celebrated filibuster was warring in the South American republics he was anxious to obtain a distinctive and, above all, economical uniform for his followers. He learned that a local dry goods store had an immense "job lot" of these garments, worn by the "saladeros," or cattle slaughterers, of the great South American cities. The "bargain sale" appealed eloquently to the leader's purse, and he led his men to victory in the butchers' shirts, which are now the accepted emblem of the "risorgimento" of United Italy.—London Globe.

A Little Temperance Tragedy.
"Don't drink any more, John. You've got too much already."
"No, I haven't."
"Yes, you have, and you'll be drunk again."
"Aw, what do you want to worry about that for? It's me that has the headache next morning."
"I know, John, but it's me that has the heartache all the time."—New York Times.

PRAYING FOR RAIN.

Who opposes praying for rain? Bishop Doane, of Albany, urged his clergy and people to pray God to "send a joyful rain upon his inheritance and refresh it, since it is dry, to the great comfort of his unworthy servants, and to the glory of his name." And the next day it poured.—Raleigh News and Observer.

This reminds us of something that happened in Pitt county some years ago. It was in the midst of a severe drought, and at several churches the people assembled to pray for rain. In one neighborhood there were two churches not very far apart—Primitive Baptist and Methodist. The Primitives gathered one day in their meeting house and prayed for rain. It did not rain that day, and they quite naturally accepted it as so fore-ordained. A day or two following this the Methodists met in their church to pray for rain. Before they got back home there was rain sure enough, a regular downpour that filled ditches and washed away the bridges.

The Saturday following the Primitive preacher came to town, as he usually did on Saturdays when he had no preaching appointment. Bunches of folks gathered here and there discussing the big rain and the condition of crops. A friend who did not mind joking him said to the preacher, "Brother, the Methodists seemed to beat you on praying for rain." "Yes," he answered, "but just look what a rain they got. They always overdo everything they go at."

Another thing this calls attention to is that there is now in Greenville a tent, on the lot on Fifth street between Cotanch and the Training School campus, in which what are called Holiness preachers have been holding services every night for the last few weeks. It has been a subject of comment on the streets during the last few days that in these services the preacher prayed that it might not rain on any tobacco field before the 15th of June, by which time, without rain, he expected all the tobacco plants would die. The 15th of June is nearly here, and there has not been any rain of consequence yet.

Every time in recent years that there has been a change in the board of aldermen of Greenville, there have been renewed efforts to get repealed the ordinance relative to business on the Sabbath and permit places selling cold drinks, cigars, etc., to have "open Sundays." In view of the beginning of a new fiscal year on the first of July, when several new aldermen will be on the board, those wanting the change have already begun an active campaign for the "open Sunday." Greenville does not need the "open Sunday," and those who do not want to see the Sabbath desecrated with the carrying on of such business, should be equally active as are the advocates of the measure.

If The Greenville Reflector is to be believed that newly launched Pitt county fair should be a wonder when it reaches maturity next fall. Wonder of the Training School girls will add to the ornamentation of the occasion.—Charlotte Observer.

A GREAT PHYSICIAN.

What He Said of Germs That Cause Disease.

M. Pasteur, sometimes called the Greatest Physician often said "I believe that we shall one day rid the world of all diseases that is caused by germs."

Of all the diseases caused by germs catarrh is one of the most persistent and loathsome. Catarrh can be cured, but only by destroying the germs.

Breathe HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) and cure catarrh by killing the germs. The HYOMEI method is the only sensible method, because you breathe the highly antiseptic and germ killing air directly over the entire membrane infested with catarrh germs.

HYOMEI will cure catarrh. There may be some complicated cases where it will fail, but the chances are ten to one in its favor, and the sufferer from catarrh takes no risk, because HYOMEI is a guaranteed remedy, and if it doesn't cure White's Drug Store will refund the purchase price.

HYOMEI will also give instant relief and cure in bronchitis, coughs, colds and croup. A complete outfit, including hard rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1. If you now own a Hyomei inhaler you can get a bottle of HYOMEI for 50 cents.

GRANDMOTHERS

USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life, was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the vision of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

This remedy is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, More's Pharmacy.

Buying Patent Rights.

We advise our readers not to buy patent rights. There is some humbuggy connected with ninety-nine of every hundred of them and in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the buyer either cannot or will not work profitably the hundredth right. So there is hardly a possibility of success with them. We have known hundreds who bought patent rights, but do not know a single case where money was made. If there is such big money in them it looks like some purchaser would succeed with his right. We are glad to note that people do not buy patent rights so readily as they did years ago. We have known people to buy farm rights and some have even mortgaged their lands to buy state rights. What is a patent right? It is just a privilege to sell some new thing. Sometimes it is a patent fence, or a churn or a quilter or a knitting machine or a combination tool. All kinds of patent rights have been sold. There is no telling what kind of thing some fellow will come around with. We are not writing against agents. They have put many valuable articles in the homes of the people. If you want and are sure it is all right, then buy it but do not buy the privilege of selling something. We once heard of a man who sold a farm near a town for the privilege of selling tombstones in a certain county, when in fact as an American citizen he was born with the right to sell tombstones in that county. When you invest your money be sure you are getting something for it. Most men who buy patent rights soon discover that they have paid out good money for a fortune which will never come. Have you bought a patent right? Then you have been humbugged and the best thing to do is to go along at your regular work and think and say as little about it as possible. If you have been humbugged do not try to humbug others. Just remember that you have met a man too shrewd for you—one who has fleeced you.—Smithfield Herald.

Let Them Talk.

Some folks are kicking because Woodrow Wilson is going around the country making speeches. Gracious! If the man would sit down and keep a still tongue we'd never know what's in him. The country wants to know right now what all the presidential timber stands for, and, if the gentlemen can afford to talk, it's for the people to listen and size them up by what they say. That's the way we found out a whole lot of things on Col. Bryan, Col. Roosevelt, Judge Taft and Captain Hobson.—Wilmington Star.

Barbados.

Agriculture is the chief pursuit in Barbados, and without doubt the island is the most intensely cultivated spot in the West Indies. Sugar is the chief crop and has been from time immemorial; tobacco is grown slightly, fruit hardly at all.

The World.
He argued with his suit, she answered "No."
But the world went on revolving just the same.
Her answer filled his heart with woe,
But the world went on revolving just the same.
She had no wish to be his bride,
Her cold rejection hurt his pride,
He med-i-ta-ted su-i-ci-de,
But the world went on revolving just the same.

The business man ran out of cash,
But the world went on revolving just the same.
His business simply went to smash,
But the world went on revolving just the same.
He pleaded with the banks, but no,
They wouldn't help him make it go,
And so his heart was filled with woe,
But the world went on revolving just the same.

And so it is—we come to grief,
But the world goes on revolving just the same.
Our ship runs on a jagged reef
But the world goes on revolving just the same.
And when at last, in course of years,
There comes an end to hopes and fears,
And we must leave this vale of tears,
It will go right on revolving just the same.

ABOUT TELEPHONING.

Why Stop Two People To Answer A Call.

We have often wondered why people in using the telephone do not give their message to the person who answers the call. In a large majority of cases this could be done satisfactorily, but instead of this the person who answers the call is apt to be asked if another person is in, that other person has to be called to the phone, and thus two people are stopped from their business to do what one could have done in half the time. This may seem insignificant to some people, but it means a great deal to people who are busy. Be considerate of the other fellow when you use a phone, and have in mind to put the person called to as little inconvenience as possible, just as you would like for others to do when you are the one called.

Root, of The Guards.

Reporting the Canadian trade agreement with the Root amendment, the senate finance committee is true to a long record of distinguished plutocratic service. That committee is the very citadel of the interests. In its rooms tariffs written by the trusts are O. K.'d, jokers intended to nullify wise legislation are contrived and amendments deadly to reform are drawn and forwarded.

Without the sinister backing of a group as carefully chosen as this, Elihu Root's adroit amendment would have little notice. It is clearly enough the paper trusts' amendment, but the hopes of all the trusts hang upon it, for if accepted by the senate it opens a way to kill reciprocity and block progress. The senate may eliminate it, but that will take time, and time is valuable to trusts as well as to men who fight for life.

Owing to circumstances not pleasant to recall, the fatal amendment is presented by Mr. Root and affects the paper trade, whereas if there had been no scandal in Illinois it might easily have appeared in the immaculate hands of Mr. Lorimer and related only to lumber. We cannot congratulate Mr. Root upon the company that he keeps, but here are some compensations in the fact that if reciprocity is to be assassinated the man put forward to do the job cannot be said to owe his election senator to bribery by the trust that will profit by it.

Even if the amendment had merit its purpose is to prevent and not to perfect an agreement. Its adoption may mean the failure of the movement. The disposition of the lumber and paper trusts on our northern boundary will then be re-established. Every other trust in the land will be confirmed in its exertions. That will be a trust victory. Indeed, for if this reform comes to naught it will be the people and their president, and not a political party merely, that will be discredited and humiliated.—New York World.

LAW OF COTTON DRAFTS.

Suits Will be Brought Against Banks for Recovery of Million Dollars.

Pending litigation for the recovery of money lost as a result of fraudulent cotton bills of lading is being watched with much interest by the Federal Judge Noyes overruling the demurrer in the case of Anthony S. Hanny against the Guaranty Trust Company has alarmed some of the foreign exchange men; while the affirmation by the appellate division of the lower court's decision in Springs & Co.'s suit against the Hanover National Bank, holding the bank not liable, has had the effect of making bankers feel that there is little chance of their being compelled to make good the losses sustained by the acceptors of the drafts accompanied by the spurious bills of lading. As a matter of fact, the banks do not know exactly where they stand, and in the event that Judge Noye's ruling is sustained by the higher tribunals it is expected that they will be obliged "to make good" drafts aggregating several millions of dollars.

Both the Springs suit and the Hanny suit were test cases, the former having been brought in the state court and the latter in the Federal court. Inasmuch as the decision of the appellate division in the Springs suit was unanimous, an appeal cannot be taken unless permission is granted. Should it be refused, the decision rendered last Friday will stand as the law of New York state. The draft in this case was a "plain draft" and it made no reference to the bills of lading; and the court held that "when Springs & Co. accepted it, they became obliged to pay according to the acceptance."—New York Journal of Commerce.

Why Dread Typhoid?

Secretary Stimson has set a good example to the army by having himself vaccinated against typhoid fever. All the officers and men of the present maneuver camps have been vaccinated, with the result that among them typhoid—the dreaded disease of camps—remains entirely absent. It is sad to think how many thousands of sick American soldiers and how many hundreds of deaths could have been saved if this new preventive had been available at the time of the Spanish war. A considerable proportion of the army is now vaccinated against typhoid, and the surgeon general has recommended that vaccination be made compulsory for all.

What is good for the soldier's health is good for the civilian's as well. Typhoid vaccine prepared by reliable firms under government supervision is now on the market. The three injections at about ten-day intervals cause very slight discomfort—some people experiencing only a little local soreness or stiffness. There is no sore, no bandage or anything of the kind beyond, in most cases, a degree or two of fever for twenty-four hours and the naturally discomforting but not incapacitating effects. The immunity, which is not absolute but very high—all but absolute as regards death—lasts for about three years. A number of Charlotte people have already been vaccinated against typhoid, and we hope that many others here and hereabouts will have their doctors vaccinate them without delay.—Charlotte Observer.

And a fertile imagination may produce nothing but weeds.

MORE CLAIMS PAID.

Two Claims Paid in May Under One Policy.

Greenville, N. C., June 12, 1911.
Mr. C. L. Wilkinson, Gen'l. Agent, Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir:
Again I acknowledge through you by the Standard Accident-Insurance Co., check covering eight days' disability. I had two claims for the month of May and each was paid promptly when proofs of claim was completed. I carry a combination disability policy with the Standard Accident Insurance Co., with annual premium of only $18.00, and the indemnities under the policy are $40 per month. I consider this the best form of insurance as it pays for the time you cannot use otherwise. Again thanking you for the prompt and satisfactory manner in which you handled these claims, I beg to remain,
Yours very truly,
W. T. FOREST.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG'S REPORT.

Great Sums Saved to State by Salary System.

State Insurance Commissioner J. R. Young is now preparing his report and in it he treats of the matter of revenue. In his report it is shown that since the department was formed in 1899 there has been collected and paid into the state treasury a total of $2,237,256.25.
But the point in his report that is more striking than this, is that it is shown that great sums have been saved to the state by the salary system, which would otherwise have gone to individuals by the fee system. In the report the astonishing statement is made that since 1899, under the fee system, there would have been paid out $171,875.94 for the supervising of insurance companies, or an average of $14,322.86 each year. Commissioner Young in his report says this amount before the salary system supplanted the fee system, would have gone into the office of the secretary of the state and that it would have paid in more than the total cost of the department, including all salaries and other expenses.

The revenue section of the report shows to what a large amount the supervising of insurance companies in North Carolina has grown. In 1899-1900 the receipts were $91,973.49. In 1910-1911 they had been multiplied 300 per cent., showing a total of $275,300.08. And without the fee system there would each year have gone great sums for transacting the business.

The amount collected for the year prior to the organization of the department (1899) was $84,879.28. It is also worthy of note, as of interest in showing one of the advantages of the department, that there has been collected and paid into the state treasury of the amount that would have under the old law gone to the secretary of state as his fees or compensation for supervising insurance companies the sum of $171,875.94. This shows an average of $14,322.86 annually and more than the total cost of the department, including all salaries and other expenses.—Statesville Landmark.

Wins Fight For Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and rundown. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hay-fever or any throat or lung trouble its supreme. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

SEES END OF TROLLEY CARS.

Tells National Electrical Association of His Latest Invention.

Thomas A. Edison was the guest of honor yesterday, the third day of the convention of the National Electrical Light Association. Mr. Edison bowed his thanks and Mr. Samuel Isull read a set speech for him. Afterward the inventor said he was ready with the inventions of which he had spoken before—the storage battery that will run a car or wagon and the motion picture machine with the words spoken as the action proceeds.

"The storage battery for a wagon," said he, "is operating on a butcher's wagon in Orange. It costs 25 cents to run it 17 miles. You recharge it at the end of every trip with an ordinary feed wire. The battery is fitted under the seat.

"The surface car is being operated at Concord, N. C., and they are laughing at the rest of the United States for using trolley cars. It runs very cheaply."

Of the moving picture and talking machine combination, the inventor said he and his associates were nearly ready to place it upon the market. "We have a theatre in the Bronx with a stage bigger than the Metropolitan opera house. We have about 60 actors going through new dramas. They talk into a megaphone. We have about forty dramas. All that is to be done is to get the business end straightened out and they will be in the moving picture shows.

"We've not applied it to the Shakespeare dramas yet, but it will get there. It will be good for every kind of drama. We've had tests of it and it's all right."

When asked if the trolley car was going to be "put out of business," he said: "Certainly. After awhile there won't be any more trolleys."

Edison said that his was the first electric light convention he had ever attended, although he invented the electric light in 1874.—New York American.

The Fly Season.

At about the same period of the year when it becomes necessary to begin talking about sane Fourth of July celebrations, the house fly also comes up as an unfinished business.

The scientific has proved the dangerous qualities of the fly and has also pointed the way to exterminate it most effectively. To screen the doors and windows is good as far as it goes, and to kill the flies that succeed in running the blockades and getting into the house is also good; but the best way is to out-Herod Herod by killing the firstborn flies before they are born. Each individual fly travels only a short distance from the place of his birth, and the places that serve as hatching grounds are few and easily determined. Flies are hatched in piles of refuse and decaying organic matter, animal or vegetable—in fact, almost any place that is nasty and offensive to the senses of people of clean habits. If you keep your premises free from such material, there will be no
