JUDGE CLARK FOR THE SENATE

His Position On Vital Some Public Questions

FIGHTS FOR WHAT HE BELIEVES IN

Some Reasons Why Mr. Nimocks Thinks Judge Clark Should Be Elected to the United States Senate.

To the Editor: The question of which of the candidates for the senate is the most attractive personality is of no importance to the people, and its solution would not contribute anything to the advancement of the cause of government by the people. The opportunity which the voters will have of giving expression, in some measure, to their views on public questions should not be neglected. The records of the respective candidates are material in so far only as they throw light upon their probable course in the senate, if elected.

It is the purpose of this article to set forth what seems to be the controlling reasons why Judge Clark should be elected by the voters to represent them in the United States senate.

He has the first order of ability. He has integrity, courage and constancy.

His chief characteristic is that he fights for what he believes in, and makes no compromise which involves any sacrifice of principle.

He has the most advanced views in favor of putting human rights above property interests; and the most unlimited faith in the wisdom and justice of direct popular government. He believes that we have generally had government by the minority, and that representative government has failed.

His election would be regarded throughout the country as a distinct declaration that North Carolina stands with New Jersey, Oregon, Wisconsin and Mississippi for progressive policies. He believes that trusts should have been destroyed long ago by imprisoning those who organized them, and that the principles of protection and privileges have no proper place in government.

What he believes about public matters he feels with that degree of intensity that makes him effective.

He bitterly resents the machinery of the law that takes from the people the right and power to choose directly the United States judges and senators, and keenly feels that no permanent justice and equality can exist until means are provided for the people to initiate and veto laws.

The idea of the president, and not the people, passing upon the wisdom of an act of congress is abhorrent to him.

The nomination of men to office by irresponsible delegates and corrupt political machines instead of by direct vote of the people in a legalized primary is inconsistent with his idea of majority rule.

He is less likely to moderate his course to appease his enemies than almost any man in public life in this state.

His present views are the habits of a lifetime, and he has been trained to fight to maintain and advance them. He has never aspired to public office when the "Special Interests" did not realize his loyalty to the people, and put into operation their entire political machinery to accomplish his defeat.

No well-informed man doubts that of all the candidates he is most objectionable to the agents of privileges who are in politics to exploit the people under the forms of law.

When he was a candidate for chief justice in 1902, the agents of organized greed emptied their money bags and put in motion all their political machinery and exhausted their vocabulary of abuse to accomplish his defeat.

He was elected over an alliance of bolting Democrats and Republicans by over 62,000 majority. It was then truthfully said of him: "Of all the wrongs and blunders alleged against him by his enemies, no one has yet been reckless enough to charge to him one wrong, one blunder, against the people's cause of in disobedience to the people's will. He has respected the verdicts of juries and judgments of courts. His offense is, that he did not condemn them. He has encouraged and advised the enforcement of the law against the strong as well as against the weak. His offense is that he did not countenance and would not tolerate its evasion by the strong. He has seen open and persistent violations of the statutes of the state, and called attention of the proper authorities to them. His offense is, that he did not bandage his eyes and seal his lips. He has upheld and defended the constitution. His offense is, that he did not ignore it. He has stood by the legislature and obeyed its constitutional mandates. His offense is, that he did not defy it.

Some of those who then opposed him for judge assign as a reason for opposing him for the senate that they cannot spare him from the bench.

The battles for a free government in which the voice of the people shall be potent will be fiercest in the United States senate. The interests of the people require that the men who represent them there shall be militant and free from all entangling alliances, and without sympathy of toleration for any "Special Interest." It can be said of Judge Clark, as was recently said of Senator La Follette by the editor of the "American Magazine": "He has an enduring devotion for the things he believes, and he fights for them."

Speaking of Judge Clark, it was recently said by a California correspondent of Mr. Bryan's paper, the "Commoner": "The man who wins in 1912, regardless of party, must not only be an advocate of the Bryan policies to which the people have been educated, but he must be an embodiment of the same. A recommended candidate will not do next time. No doubt many, if not all of the Commoner's list of availables will meet this requirement, one of them we happen to know most assuredly does, viz. Judge Walter Clark, of North Carolina. * * * All classes look alike to him, but the trust barons and protected corporations know this too well, and when he, or any other true representative of the people, is nominated a life and death struggle by 'special interests' will be on as in the memorable Bryan campaign."

Judge Clark is not a mere theorist. He never had a theory about government that his mind did not work out some tangible and definite plan to put it into practice.

Each year of his service is a record of attainments.

As a senator he would not be content to protest against existing conditions, but would offer and press the passage of bills to change them. His views as to remedies to be applied for the evils that exist in the Federal government are best stated in an able address delivered by him in Philadelphia in 1906 on the subject, "Some Defects in the Constitution of the United States."

It should be read by every voter.

The democracy of his nature, and his sympathy for the masses who bear the burdens of government and society, but are denied the benefits, is shown in a long line of opinions in the Supreme court reports. Reference to a few of these will sufficiently indicate what manner of man he is.

A number of years prior to the decision of the case of Greenlee vs. Railroad, reported in the 122 N. C. Reports, congress had provided that the railroads engaged in interstate business should abandon the use of the dangerous link and pin coupler, but had provided further that the Interstate Commerce Commission might extend the time when the law would become effective. The commission had from year to year extended the time for the law to become operative, and its benefits were denied to employees on railroads.

Greenlee was injured while attempting to make a coupling with an old-style coupler. Judge Clark, writing the opinion of the court, laid down the principle that "the failure of a railroad company to equip its cars, whether passenger or freight, with automatic couplers is negligence per se, which entitled the employee who is injured while coupling cars by hand to recover damages for such injury, whether the employee was guilty of contributory negligence or not."

The result of this decision was that Judge Clark was denounced by the railroads in the newspapers, but the railroad cars in this state were at once equipped with automatic couplers, and all cars coming from other companies in this state until provided with modern couplers, and therefore,

THIS IS NO JOKE.

But What You Owe on Subscription Is Needed.

There are a great many people who are treating The Reflector just like they think a request to pay their subscription is made only to fill up space in the paper. It is the time of year now when they should be paying, and it is no joke about the money being needed to meet bills. Friends, look at the date after your name on the paper and come to see us or send in a payment. Do not make us go to the further expense of mailing you a statement when you can look at the date and tell what you owe. If there is any mistake in the date come call our attention to it and it will be corrected. It takes a lot of money to run this paper, and there is no way to get it except from those who owe it. So friends do not keep us waiting, but come and do your part toward helping the paper improve.

CORNER STONE GIBBONS HALL

WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

Large Addition to Catholic University in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—A procession of archbishops, bishops, monsignori and priests of the Roman Catholic church, clad in their varicolored vestments, formed an impressive prelude to the ceremonies this afternoon at the laying of the cornerstone for the Gibbons Memorial Hall at the Catholic University. The procession across the campus and through the buildings of the university was led by Cardinal Gibbons, who was attended by a large delegation of priests from the Baltimore diocese.

Upon arriving at the new memorial hall, one wing of which is already completed, the corner-stone was laid in the tower section, or central portion of the building. Exercises of a simple but impressive nature attended the laying of the stone. In addition to Cardinal Gibbons the speakers included the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Thos. J. Shahan, rector of the university; the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Alken, dean of the theological department, and the Rev. Dr. D. W. Shea, dean of the school of science of the university.

The Gibbons Memorial Hall is to be added to the already imposing group of buildings belonging to the Catholic University as a permanent and enduring memorial to the famous Baltimore prelate who has always manifested the keenest interest in the educational work of the church. The present year, marking as it does the fiftieth anniversary of Cardinal Gibbons' ordination to the priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the cardinalate, was selected as the most appropriate time for the construction of the memorial.

The memorial hall, massively constructed of stone, is designed for use as a hall of residence by students of the university. The structure will occupy a commanding site directly across the campus from the administration building of the university. In the rear of the new building is Michigan avenue, the principal artery of communication with the national capital. The building will consist of a central or main portion with a large wing at each end. It will have a total length of 265 feet, and will afford accommodations for about 150 students. In a niche over the main entrance will be placed a large statue of Cardinal Gibbons. The total cost of the building will be about a quarter of a million dollars.

In addition to discuss various problems of practical and scientific agriculture the congress will listen to prominent speakers who will be heard on the subjects of good roads, the conservation of natural resources, the parcels post, the regulation of railroad rates and other matters of general importance.

HEART TOUCHING SOLO.

A Feature of the Evangelistic Services at the Christian Church.

Evangelist H. C. Boblitt spoke last night to a splendid audience considering the rain.

His subject was "What Is In Thy Hand?" He presented the truth, that God gives us a multitude of opportunities for service. Each day, each hour He opens to us wide the door of opportunity and bids us enter.

Moses at the burning bush had in his hand only a rod, but with it he wrested a slave nation from the darkness of Egyptian bondage and led them to the land of promise. Joshua, David, Luther, had in their hand but a meager appearing opportunity, but it was sufficient to startle the world with the Providence of God.

As an illustration of this fact, the story of the discovery of the Coltona Diamond mines was told. Alhafd, rich and prosperous was told the story of the wealth of diamonds. He sold his home and went in search for them. At last as an old man, starving, deserted he suicides.

The man who purchased the farm went out to the brook to water his cambells and found diamonds. Whole acres of diamonds. Every shovel full of the old farm contained diamonds. And thus Russell H. Conwell says in his "Acres of Diamonds" were discovered the famous Golconda diamond mines.

Mrs. Ware sang the great gospel song, "Tell Mother I'll Be There." So effectively was it rendered that each felt its great appeal and there was scarcely one but was left in tears at its close.

The solos of Mrs. Ware have been a remarkable power during this great series of meetings. Their messages from heart to heart have been felt by all. Never before has the "Gospel Song" been more effectively presented in the city of Greenville. Mrs. Ware is possessed of a sweet, lovable womanly personality. Her whole soul seems to go out into the song messages. Her voice, a rich, tender soprano, has that elusive power to grip the attention and speak volumes to the soul. She is one of the most efficient soloists in the brotherhood.

Tonight the sermon theme will be, "The Unknown Girding of God."

JOHN ROBINSON COMING.

The Amusement Enterprise of The Century.

Nearly a century of continuous ovation has characterized the career of the John Robinson show, which this season is reaching the proud culmination of its triumphs. No other show in existence can display so continuous and so clear a record, for more than one generation has the name of John Robinson been a household word, and the coming of the big show that bear his name is ever greeted with a hearty welcome. From the genesis of the show until its present colossal perfection, there has not been a solitary season in which it has not led its fellows in the multiplicity and general excellence of its attractions, and now it towers above and draws all other tented exhibitions into comparative insignificance, and this season it presents such an opulence of sterling and meritorious attractions as to entitle it to be designated as a vast amusement enterprise whose wondrous wealth of entertainment is unlimited and immeasurable. The circus has always been the best and biggest, always in the van, always prolific in leading and sensational features, and always fully equipped with the finest horses and most skillful and finished bareback riders, gymnasts and acrobats in the profession; that has a large, well ordered and well selected menagerie, contains living, vigorous specimens of all that is strange, rare and curious within the range of natural history. The John Robinson show will exhibit at Greenville Thursday, October 19.

One Of The Most Notable Gatherings Ever Assembled in United States.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 12.—One of the most notable gatherings ever assembled in the history of the United States in the interest of waterway development was called to order in the auditorium today when the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Waterway Association met for its sixth annual convention. The association is endeavoring to secure Federal aid for the construction of a deep waterway from the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, by way of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. Representatives of commercial bodies from the Canadian line to Texas and Louisiana and from the Alleghenies to the Rocky Mountains filled the body of the big theatre when William K. Kavanaugh, of St. Louis, president of the association, called the convention to order and delivered the opening address. Occupying seats on the stage were senators and representatives, governors of many states and others high in official life.

The opening address, the completion of organization and the appointment of committees occupied the greater part of the initial session. The proceedings will continue over tomorrow and Saturday. Secretary of the Interior Fisher, Congressman Underwood, of Alabama, Governor Harmon, of Ohio, Senator Cullon, of Illinois, former Governor Francis, of Missouri, Congressman Cannon, of Illinois, Governor Hadley, of Missouri, and a number of other men of national prominence will address the convention.

Lieut.-Gov. W. C. Newland, of Le-noir, has also announced himself as a candidate for governor next year.

If Carolina club and the chamber of commerce were to unite their forces to work for Greenville, there would be something doing.

When we read a report from some other town of a good meeting of the chamber of commerce, it reminds us of the kind that Greenville does not have.

The spirit of selfishness is much too prevalent in Greenville. The man who takes no interest in public enterprises certainly fails in his duty to his town.

The price some of the western fellows have been paying for them, seats in the United States senate are considered worth as much as seats on the New York exchanges.

Do you reckon there is a cross road or road intersection in Pitt county that is marked with a sign board as the law requires? Wonder what would happen to road overseers if the penalty for failure to do their duty was enforced.

There are a great many men in Greenville who ought to be members of Carolina club. Then the club might do work for Greenville that failed to be accomplished through a merchant's association or the chamber of commerce.

Pitt's board of county commissioners have every cause to feel proud of what they have done in giving the county a new court house and new jail that reflect as much credit as the ones we now have. These gentlemen have done a great work for their county.

Durham county has an epidemic of hog cholera, and the Sun says it is requiring the services of several inspectors to prevent the people from smuggling to market the hogs that die. Any man who would knowingly sell a cholera infected hog ought to be put in the penitentiary.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The Private Cup.

"Oh, let us pledge a loving cup!"
The poet sang of old,
"With cheer and song
"We'll pass along
The silver mug or gold.
From lip to lip its wine shall slip
"Till all is drunken up."
Alas! No more!
That was before
The private drinking cup.

"Drink to me only with thine eyes,"
The longing lover sang,
"I cannot bear
That you should share
Your goblet with the gang,
and as no penny paper cups
Are handy to the paw,
Just give a wink,
Pretend to drink,
And keep within the law."

"You may break, you may shatter
The vase if you will."
But the millions of microbes
Will cling round it still.

"The dew was fasting fast,
The stars began to blink,
I heard a voice that said,
"Drink, pretty creature, drink!"
But "Baa!" the lamb replied:
"I will not take one sup
Till you provide an in-Dividual drinking-cup."

"Then here's to good old Yale;
Drink her down, drink her down!
Then here's to good old Yale!
Drink her down!"
Oh, here's to good old Yale,
But we all will go to jail
If we use a cup that's common to the town.

A soldier of the Legion dying in Algiers,"
A comrade passed his flask to him;
the lad smiled through his tears.
But along there came a copper and locked them up because
In drinking from a common cup the'd broken all the laws.

White-Forbes Beautiful Quiet Marriage.

What was to have been one of the most elaborate marriages ever solemnized in Greenville took place
Wednesday night in a very quiet manner (on account of recent bereavements in the family of the groom)
at the elegant residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. J. Forbes, when our popular townsman, Mr. Samuel T.
White and the beautiful and attractive Miss Helen Forbes were made one.

About 10:30 the Rev. J. H. Shore
entered the tastily decorated library
followed by Miss Clara Louise Moyer and Miss Rosa Quinerly Hadley, the flower girls; then immediately came the dame of honor, Mrs. W. L. Best, sister of the bride, handsomely gowned in ivory satin with pearl trimmings, and carrying white carana-tions. She was followed by the maid of honor, pretty little Miss Sophia Sadler, of Baltimore, who never could look any prettier or sweeter than she did in that pink crepe with the crystal trimmings and bearing a bunch of pink caranations almost as large as she. Then came the groom, accompanied by his cousin and best man Mr. H. A. White, both dressed in business suits, a strikingly handsome couple; then the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr. Fred J. Forbes, and gorgeously gowned in white crepe with Duchess lace and pearl trimmings, bearing a shower bouquet

of bride roses and lilies of the valley, approached the altar and there joined by the groom they were made man and wife by the Rev. J. H. Shore, in that easy, impressive, and eloquent manner of his.

After the ceremony ice cream and cake were served, and the guests (of which only the immediate families and those who were to have taken part in the wedding festivities were invited) spent the evening looking at the presents which were legion, and so handsome as to beggar description.

Mrs. J. B. Cherry and Miss Ver-nessa Smith added much to the pleasure of the occasion with their sweet songs.

The happy couple left on the 1 o'clock train for Norfolk and this afternoon they will sail for New York, where they will spend about a week before returning to Greenville.
Sam and Helen carry with them the best wishes of the entire community.
We all wish them a long and happy life.

Facts About Indigestion and Its Re- lief That Should Interest You.

Although indigestion and dyspepsia
are so prevalent, most people do not thoroughly understand their cause and cure. There is no reason why most people should not eat anything they desire—if they will only chew it carefully and thoroughly. Many actually starve themselves into sickness through fear of eating every good-looking, good-smelling, and good-tasting food, because it does not agree with them.

The best thing to do is to fit yourself to digest any good food.

We believe we can relieve dyspepsia.
We are so confident of this fact that we guarantee and promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to every one who will use it, who is not perfectly satisfied with the results which it produces. We exact no promises, and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely, nothing could be fairer. We are located right here and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want every one troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia in any form to come to our store and buy a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home and give them a reasonable trial, according to directions. Then, if not satisfied, come to us and get your money back. They are very pleasant to take; they aid to soothe the irritable stomach, to strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, and to promote a healthy and natural bowel action, thus leading to perfect and healthy digestion and assimilation.

A 25c. package of Rexall Dyspepsia
Tablets furnishes 15 days' treatment.
In ordinary cases, this is sufficient to produce a cure. In more chronic cases, a longer treatment, of course, is necessary, and depends upon the severity of the trouble. For such cases, we have two larger sizes which sell for 50c.
and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community
only at our store—The Rexall Store,

A WEEK OF AMUSEMENT.

Johnny J. Jones Shows Here Next Week.

Greenville folks all have a pleasant recollection of the Johnny J.
Jones exposition shows which were here about two years ago. The shows are in a class by themselves, quite different from the usual carnival company which as a general rule consists of fakirs, gamblers and immoral shows. The company consists of 12 high class attractions as well as numerous concessions. It is as a whole, said to be one of the cleanest shows on the road. The shows are of a character to please the most modest. There is nothing vulgar, but there is amusement and a lot of it.

The feature attraction of the entire aggregation is the wild animal show, consisting of the largest collection of the most perfectly trained wild animals in the world today.

The "Old Plantation" is larger and better than ever, carrying a company of 28 colored performers and a 10 piece band. Without a doubt, the best company of colored singers,

dancers and comedians in this country today, the cream of the "Southern Darkies".

The free attractions are the highest salaried carried with any show.
Presenting Capt. Dave De Relle, the one arm high diver, diving from a lofty structure 104 feet high, and the famous "Collins' Family" aeronauts
in their balloon ascensions and parachute drops, making from one to eight separate and distinct drops from the one balloon, the most awe inspiring,
hair raising, sensational free attraction in this country secured by Mr.
Jones at an enormous expense. These sensational thrilling features will be presented twice daily on the show grounds at 3 and 8:30 p. m.

The Famous Royal Italian band will render concerts on the public square every afternoon at 2 p. m., and evenings at 7:30 p. m. on the show grounds, a real treat to the music lovers of our city.

Coffee Goodness Proven by a Century of Use

There is something wonderfully satisfying and fascinating about this coffee blend that has been in daily use for over a century. Something far different from ordinary coffees. This is the coffee that was served in the quaint French Market, New Orleans, to society belles and beaux of the olden time. And that was so liked by Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay and other famous men. It is today the same identical, deliciously aromatic blend that was famous over a hundred years ago.

Then you could get this coffee with a history—the real

French Market Coffee

only at the French Market, New Orleans. But NOW you all may serve it daily at your own table. For the old French Market blend is perpetuated by

The Same Unique Hygienic Roasting Process

and delivered everywhere in perfect aroma and strength in hermetically sealed tins. Injurious elements are roasted out of French Market Coffee. In New Orleans, for hundreds of years, it has always been the custom to drink cup after cup, even at midnight. You may do the same today. Be sure you get the genuine. "There is only one real old French Market flavor."

all cars throughout the country were soon equipped with these safety appliances.

When the case of Troxler vs. Railroad, involving the same point, was decided in the 124 N. C. Report about a year later the court said:

"In the twelfth annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission (1898), published by authority of the United States government, upon returns made by the railroad companies themselves, it is stated (at page 88) 'Since the enactment of the law in 1893 (requiring automatic couplers there has been a decreasing number of casualties. There were 1,034 fewer employees killed and 14,062 fewer injured during the year ending June 30, 1897, than during the same period in 1893. The importance of this subject will be realized when the yearly casualties to railway employees are compared with those which occurred during the recent war. In the Spanish-American war there were 298 killed and 1,645 wounded. In 1897 there were 1,693 men killed and 27,667 injured from all causes in railway service. From coupling and uncoupling cars alone 219 less were killed and 4,994 less were injured than in 1893, when the law was enacted."

In delivering the opinion in the Troxler case Judge Clark said:

"Reason, justice and humanity, principles of common law, irrespective of congressional enactment and interstate commission regulation require the employer to furnish the employee safe modern appliances with which to work in place of antiquated dangerous implements, hazardous to life and limb and the failure to do so, upon injury ensuing to the employee is culpable, containing negligence on the part of the employer, which cuts off the defense of contributory negligence and negligence of a fellow servant."

In Fitzgerald vs. Furniture Company 131 N. C. Judge Clark announced the principle for the court, that when a child under the age prescribed by law for working in a factory is employed and injured the employer must answer in damages for injury to the child, caused by defective machinery, and the employer cannot escape upon the plea that the child was negligent or assumed the risk. Judge Clark said: "The sob of the child in his helplessness curses deeper than the strong man in his wrath."

In Presley vs. the Yarn Mills, reported in 138 N. C., the same principle is reaffirmed. In delivering the opinion in the later case Judge Clark speaking for the Court said:

"The law is not fossilized, it is a growth. It grows more just with the growing humanity of the age and boadens with the process of the suns. Could there be greater mockery than to assert that the employer is culpably negligent and peculiarly liable if dangerous and defective appliances are furnished, and then to hold that if the laborer is mangled or killed, there is no liability because of accepting employment the laborer has released the employer from liability 3-8. Labor is the basis of civilization. Let it withhold its hands and the forest returns and grass grows in the silent streets. Not so long since in England, labor unions were indictable as conspiracies and the wages of labor were fixed by officers appointed by capitalists, and it was indictable for a laborer to ask or receive more. There was no requirement that employers should furnish safe appliances, no limitations as to hours of labor, no age limit. With the era of more just legislation in both this country and England and elsewhere, shortening the hours of labor, forbidding child labor, requiring sanitary provisions and safe appliances, labor has been encouraged and the progress of the world in a few years has more than equaled that of all the centuries that are dead. Justice to the laborer has been to the profit of the employer. The courts should not be less just than the laws.

When the question of the right of the railroad companies to refuse to redeem mileage books on the trains was being considered by the court, in the case of Harvey vs. Railroad, reported in 153 N. C., in a concurring opinion Judge Clark said:

"I not only concur in the opinion of the court, but further, upon a point as to which it was not found necessary for the court to express itself. I am of opinion that the requirement that the holder of a mileage book shall present it and obtain a ticket thereon is an unreasonable regulation and therefore void.

"Practically it seems that the annoying and vexatious system which has been put in force here is almost unknown outside the territory covered by the three great railroad systems in this and adjacent states. It cannot be reasonable in any view to subject our people longer to this annoyance, and I think the court might well hold it unreasonable and void in this case and relieve the public of being further subjected thereto.

"On the great Pennsylvania system, with its thousands of miles of subsidiary roads, not only is a mileage book accepted by the conductor on the train without the previous purchase of a ticket, but it is good not only for the holder thereof, but for every other person traveling with him at the time, whom he shall designate. There can be no reason why this should not be universally the case. Every other business in the world considers the wishes and convenience of its patrons. Those railroads who do not think this their duty also should recall that their charters are granted by the public to the end that they may operate for the greatest comfort and convenience of the public and subject to public regulations, provided only that their owners are allowed a reasonable profit upon the true value of their property."

It was truly said of Judge Clark when he was presented for chief justice in 1902: "He is not an experiment. He has been tried. He has been weighed. Fresh from the scales and the furnace, he stands before the people, in the noon day's sun, full-statured, unshaken, unmarred, unterrified. He is not an ideal. He is a living, tangible, inspiring reality. His record from the first flash of his boyish sword in the battle days of the sixties to this moment, is an open book. The people know it by heart. His name is upon their lips. His life is in their memory. His vindication is in their hearts. His triumph is in their hopes and in their prayers."

It may be that it will develop that since that time the people have forgotten how to trust him, but it is certain the enemies of the people have not forgotten how to fear him.

If the contest for senator is to be determined upon principle, and North Carolina stands for progress and reform, the logic of the situation demands the election of Judge Clark to that tribunal where the battle will be fiercest and where he can be of the most service.
