VITAL NEWS FROM WASHINGTON

Democrats Running "Open-books," Clean Campaign

NO ENTERTAINMENT FUND

(By Clyde H. Tavenner).
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—The Democratic national congressional committee is leaving no stone unturned to keep the house of representatives safely Democratic.

The headquarters of this organization in Washington have not been closed during the entire summer. Congressman James T. Lloyd, of Missouri, chairman of the committee, is personally "on the job," prosecuting a vigorous campaign of organization work; directing the dissemination of facts showing what the Democratic house has already accomplished; informing the country as to the trust purpose of the Democratic program, and in all legitimate ways doing everything he can to bring about national Democratic harmony and co-operation.

Mr. Lloyd has more than anticipated the ideal of campaign publicity legislation by making it a strict rule to see that every dollar that has been entrusted to the committee has been honestly spent. Under his management there has been no "entertainment" fund, or anything of that sort. No "junkets" have been financed out of the funds at his disposal. From the first Mr. Lloyd has been determined that the methods of the committee should conform to the highest standard of business morals.

A feature of the committee work in which Mr. Lloyd takes a deep interest is the publicity bureau, which is the largest bureau of its kind that the Democrats have ever maintained in the national capital. Encouraged by the brightest prospects confronting the democracy of the nation, the Democratic editors of the country are using generously of the information sent out by the bureau. More than two thousand newspapers are regularly printing letters sent out by the committee, thus keeping the Democratic viewpoint constantly before the country.

Taft "Economy."

Under the Taft policy of "cut to the quick" economy, which was much talked about when Mr. Taft first went into office, the government overspent its revenue during the first thirty days of October by $4,648,634. Thus far this fiscal year, which began July 1, the expenditures of the government have exceeded the receipts by more than $20,000,000, which is $8,000,000 heavier than the deficit on the corresponding date last year. The mad money spending campaign which is responsible for this state of affairs was a feature of the legislative program of the last Republican congress.

The House of Morgan.

That J. P. Morgan's grip on the financial situation is becoming more and more absolute is indicated by the discovery of the Stanley committee that the cash balance of the steel trust, which he dominates, and of the railroads and other industrial corporations in which he controls heavy interests, amounting in all to over half a billion dollars, is on deposit in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., a private banking concern, not subject to the supervision of any constitutional authority. This money Morgan can lend to whom he pleases and refuse to lend to whom he likes. Moreover, the control of this cash gives him the power to regulate the credits of this country, which makes this one man the financial dictator of America.

Getting The Facts.

When congress convenes in December the Democratic majority in the house will be able to take up legislative matters with more intelligence than any preceding congress has started its winter's labor. The reason for this is that various party leaders, as well as many of the house committees, have been conducting investigations this summer, both public and private, into all sorts of matters with which congress is concerned. "Get the facts," has been the slogan of these Democrats, and every day they are accumulating information which will be submitted to the house as soon as congress begins its next session.

WALLOPS BURGLAR.

Wilmington Woman Makes It Hot For Midnight Intruder.

WILMINGTON, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Elizabeth Fortman, No. 706 Brunswick street, had a lively time with a squat black negro in her home late Saturday night. The negro entered her home with the evident purpose of looting the place. Mrs. Fortman is a widow and lives alone. She was aroused from her slumbers on hearing some one strike a match in the kitchen. She went to investigate and found the intruder to be a low, chunky-built negro, who, on her arrival, made a break for the window, by which he had entered. Mrs. Fortman grabbed him by one of his legs and hauled him back into the house, calling lustily for help the meanwhile. One of the man's now-quarter shoes came off in her hands and she used this as a club to beat him over the head. The negro made another attempt to leave by the window and again she hauled him back and whacked him stoutly across the cranium. His terror at last gave him added strength and he broke from her grip and escaped by the open door.

ANOTHER GOOD SERMON.

Large Congregation at Meeting Tuesday Night.

Good weather took out a large congregation to the meeting in the Baptist church, Tuesday night, and another strong, forceful sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Rock, on the general subject "The Needs and Means of Salvation." The special subject of this sermon was "Is Jesus Willing to Save?" The closing one of the series of four sermons will be tonight from the subject "Do You Want to be Saved?" After the service Tuesday night the choir remained for an hour to practice the songs in the new books that have been received for the meeting. The books are good ones and the singing will be a feature of the services.

Evangelist Holcomb, who is to take charge of the meeting for ten days or longer, is expected to arrive Thursday, and with him will come Prof. and Mrs. Blankenship who are to lead the singing.

Plan Canal Across Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 8.—The proposed canal across the state of Florida, which has been under discussion for many years, was brought one step nearer to becoming an accomplished fact today, when the board of army engineers appointed to determine the most feasible route met in this city to prepare its final report to the War Department. The Florida canal scheme is regarded as one of the most important of all inland waterway projects in this country. It would obviate the passage around the Florida keys of all ships between the Atlantic and the Gulf and would be valuable for naval and military purposes as well as for commercial use.

Postal Banks in Panama.

PANAMA, Nov. 8.—The first postal savings banks in the Canal Zone were opened today. The establishment of the postal savings system here is very gratifying to residents who have long desired to put their savings in the hands of the government for safe keeping. The system established here differs materially from that in the states, in that no interest will be paid on the deposits, the object being merely to provide a depository for the funds of the Canal Zone inhabitants.

Physicians of Four States Meet.

EVANSDALE, Ind., Nov. 8.—The Ohio Valley Medical association whose membership embraces many leading physicians and surgeons of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky, began its annual convention in this city this morning. Mayor Heilman welcomed the visitors and Dr. W. D. Haines, of Cincinnati, president of the association, responded. The proceedings will continue over tomorrow.

M. E. Conference in Session.

STATESVILLE, N. C., Nov. 8.—Nearly 400 ministers and lay delegates gathered here today for the annual Western North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South. The sessions will last five or six days and will be presided over by Bishop Hoos, of Oklahoma. The ministerial assignments for the year will not be announced until the first of next week.

Big Vote Offers Will Close Promptly At Nine Saturday Night

Thousands of Free Votes to Be Given Away Between Now and Saturday Night--Offers in Force This Week Will Never Be Equaled During Contest.

5000 FREE VOTES OFFERED ON YEARLY SUBS.

COUNTRY CONTESTANTS CAN MAIL SUBSCRIPTIONS SATUR- DAY NIGHT AND THEY WILL COUNT.

Between now and Saturday night a yearly subscription to the Daily Reflector will count 25,000 votes, a two years subscription will count as 50,000 votes, then, too, a yearly subscription will count as two six months subscriptions on the set of five and that will equal then, provided the set is complete, 10,000 more free votes on a years subscription. Isn't that worth working for? It's the biggest offer that will be made during the contest, so it is up to you to do some real hustling between now and Saturday night.

The New Offer.

We are going to give 5,000 free votes for every yearly subscription turned in between now and Saturday night at 9 o'clock. This is in addition to the 20,000 votes given regularly on a years subscription and too, each yearly subscription will count as two six months subscriptions in the clubbing offer of sets of five six months subscriptions.

Just stop and think what a big help this will be to you in winning the prize of your choice. Between now and Saturday night a yearly subscription to the Daily Reflector will be worth 35,000 votes to you if you have completed a set.

The biggest and best of them all! That is what we are offering you now. There will be offers and there will be offers but there will be no more during this big contest that will anywhere near equal the big offers that are made right here and now.

When the hour hand of the clock reaches the ninth hour mark on Saturday night, these big offers will be a thing of the past. Remember, now, they will both close sharp at 9 o'clock Saturday night, November 11. After that hour there will be no more extra vote ballots worth 25,000 votes to the energetic young women engaged in this contest, and the best opportunity will be a matter of history.

The Clubbing Offer.

This offer has been explained thoroughly nearly every day since it was made, but to make it absolutely clear to all, we will go through it again. On each set of five six months subscriptions to the Daily Reflector turned in before 9 o'clock Saturday night, next, will be given an extra vote ballot good for 25,000 votes. A yearly subscription will count the same as two six months subscriptions and a two year subscription will be the same as four six months subscriptions. Yearly subscriptions on which the 5,000 free votes will be issued will count on this offer just the same.

About Renewals.

A number of contestants have written to find out if renewals will receive the number of votes announced in the original schedule. Renewals and arrearages will be allotted the same number of votes as a new subscription. Be sure to ask all of your friends to ask for their votes when renewing their subscriptions, as otherwise no votes will be issued on them. There are a great number of persons who either renew their subscriptions or subscribe to the paper every day; in order to get the votes on these subscriptions they must ask for them at the time of payment, otherwise they will not be issued. The way for you to find these people is to make a systematic canvass of the town or country in which you live. Ask everybody to help you. Don't stop with just having seen your neighbors and friends, but go out into the highways and byways and see everybody.

Long Subscriptions Count Big.

It is the long time subscriptions that are going to make a winner; of course, the small ones count, too, and help a great deal, but try to get every subscription for a year or two that you possibly can.

Those subscribers living in the country can have a list of subscribers residing in their territory by writing to the Contest Manager. A list of this kind will help you. When you get your list start out at once and see everyone of them. Tell them that you are in the contest and that you are going to need their subscriptions or renewals to help you win. Nine out of ten will give you a subscription and help you all they can. They all read some daily newspaper and if you will show them you copy of the Daily Reflector and explain to them the many improvements that are being made in the paper every day, you will get three out of every five of them. This is a business proposition and should be treated as such. Don't go at it in a scarcity way, for then you will sure lose out.

Start out today and stick to it until you have secured at least two sets, then do the same thing tomorrow.

Country Contestants.

If you are not able to get your subscriptions until too late to have them reach this office before nine o'clock Saturday night, mail them at your post office and if the postmark on the envelope bears the date of Saturday, the 11th, they will be accepted on either of these offers.

To Take Up Beattie's Case.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 8.—The Supreme court of appeals of Virginia, which convened for its autumn session today is expected to take up next week the appeal in the case of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., the young man now under sentence for death of the murder of his wife. Should a writ of error be allowed it is probable that Beattie's second trial will be set for the January term.

Nebraska Teachers Meet.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8.—What promises to be the most successful convention ever held by the Nebraska Teachers association began in this city today with an attendance of several thousand pedagogues from all over the state. The convention will be in session three days and will be addressed by a number of educators of national reputation.

If a woman comes of a very old family she may excuse her age on the grounds that it was inherited.

ONE WHO SAW THE FAIR.

He Recalls Another Procession Here Fifty Years Ago.

Editor Reflector:
This writer attended the great Pitt county fair Friday. Oh, wasn't it wonderful that this grand old county could get up so many exhibits and so many bright, white children, solid Saxon yeomanry, their sons and fair daughters everywhere. I feel proud that I first saw the light here. One mistake the managers made was to have speakings and the fair under one roof. That procession of boys and sweet Southern girls that are soon to be husbands fathers, wives and mothers. Soon they are to be at the helm of state. And we old antebellum people will soon pass over the river.

Well, I saw a long procession of militia men of Pitt county in Greenville the last general muster before the Civil war. It was, I think, in October, 1861. They formed in front of the court house, marched down Evans street to Fifth street; thence east to Cotanch street; thence south with the New Bern road to the Greene plantation, pulled down the old rail fence to the right and marched in to drill. There was no crop in the field. It is now L. C. Arthur's plantation and about the southern limits of Greenville.

The men had their muzzle-loading guns, some with the old flint and steel. The county was then divided in districts with district captains and other company officers. These met to drill at the county muster ground as it was called, on July 4th, and at other times. The general muster was the meeting of all the country districts annually. This was a regiment and was officered by Walter Newton, near Falkland, as colonel.

Chauffeur Faces Serious Charge.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 8.—James A. Savage, a taxicab driver, who several months ago ran down and killed William H. Stanford, an aged druggist, on one of the principal streets of Newark, was placed on trial today on a charge of manslaughter.

Young man, never make the mistake of telling a girl that you are unworthy of her. She may marry you and remind you of it.

MAY BE SECOND GUNNESS CASE.

Alleged to Have Murdered Harry Harding, a Sailor.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 8.—In the trial of Mrs. Minnie L. Murdock and Charles Merkle, whose case came up in court here today, developments may come to light to show the case a parallel of the celebrated case of Mrs. Belle Gunness, the Indian woman found guilty several years ago of conducting a "murder farm." Like the Gunness woman, Mrs. Murdock is suspected of luring men to her little farm on the outskirts of this city and then murdering them for their money.

The specific charge upon which Mrs. Murdock and her employe, Merkle, are to be tried is the alleged murder of Harry Harding, a sailor, whose body was found in a shallow grave on the Murdock farm early last summer. The discovery resulted from a statement made by an old negro who called at the sheriff's office and reported that he had been asked by Mrs. Murdock to dig a grave at the farm. Deputies hurried out, and digging in an onion bed where the earth showed signs of recent disturbance, found at a depth of a foot the corpse of Harding, with his head crushed in with an ax.

Following her arrest, Mrs. Merkle is said to have confessed to knowledge of the crime. According to her statement, Merkle, jealous of Harding, murdered him singlehanded.

Search of the Murdock house is said to have brought to light scores of letters from men with whom the woman had corresponded through matrimonial agencies. Two men seen with the woman are said to have disappeared mysteriously. One, a Civil war veteran, banished so completely that the thorough search made for him by his Grand Army post failed to find a trace of him.

The Conference Plan.

The conference of governors of the cotton producing states held in New Orleans has made its recommendations looking to an adjustment of the price of cotton on a profitable basis. The first paragraph of the recommendation says:

We earnestly recommend to the planters of the southern states to follow the example of Louisiana and so diversify their crops as to produce everything necessary for consumption on the farm and let cotton be the surplus crop even if the quantity raised shall be 25 per cent less than present crop, as then they will get just as much in return for much less labor than this year's crop will yield at present prices, will soon free themselves from debt and be in condition without any financial aid, to sell their crops gradually, as the demand shall exist and not market the work of a year in 60 or 90 days as they have been accustomed to do.

That recommendation has the right ring to it, and is identical with the plan repeatedly urged in these columns as being the most practical and sensible one to follow. A farmer with a store debt for supplies and for fertilizer account cannot hold his cotton. He is forced to sell at whatever price he can get whether above or below the cost of production. But a farmer who has had the foresight to make all his supplies on his farm—breadstuffs, meat and vegetables, and grain and hay for horses and cattle—and has not had to incur debt for these things to make his crop, with another year's supply in his crib smokehouse and barn, can hold his cotton and continue to live at home.

The recommendations should go further and advise every farmer to not only reduce his cotton acreage, but to plant the acreage so reduced in some grain crop that will make food for man and beast. We believe that 25 per cent of the present year's cotton land sown to wheat and oats this fall and followed next summer with peas for hay crop and soil improvement will go far toward solving the problem.—Greensboro News.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1911.

THE CAROLINA CLUB.

We would have to go back hundreds of years to find the original and initial gathering of men which united for a certain purpose. Since then the result of this gathering has been a bye-word in the civilized world. "Union makes strength," "United we stand," and many other phrases of like nature, have been the slogan of men with a purpose. Civil leagues, chambers of commerce, associations of trades people, etc., are daily being formed and instantly flourish in communities throughout the entire Union. No sooner have the railroads and real estate people planted a town, its inhabitants get together. In the first place, they get together to "get a line on each other" in a social way. Later they inquire about each other's business and in a purely social way the shoe man makes a suggestion to the hardware merchant, the hardware merchant to the grocer and so on. Some of these suggestions are thrown into an imaginary wastepaper basket by the consignee. But fortunately, some are not. From this social intercourse a friendly business feeling is bred. It helps along the shoe man, the hardware man and the grocer. Each and all of them begin to understand that working in unison their cash registers register more figures; their working hours are not so lengthy and their circle of acquaintances of the worth-while kind has a longer radius.

For instance, when a particular druggist finds out that his brother druggist is willing to put out the lights at, say 10:30 p. m., he will not hesitate to put out his own lights at 10:30 p. m. Once this has been agreed in every branch of trade the feeling between merchants is one of solid comfort and safety, and the amount of business done will be found out to be just the same as when all hours were kept in order to catch a straggler that might happen along.

Of course, the labor attached to the organization that is going to bring your merchants together is "hard labor." Some merchants there are who from a purely civic pride fall in line at the first word of suggestion. They naturally think that being part and parcel of the community they have some sort of citizenship duties expected from them. This feeling is what might be termed "automatic." The true citizen has had it with him right along. All he needed to start it was the pressure on a mythical button, which should be called "civic pride." When a citizen of any town is told "Pleasantville, Any State," has the most beautiful lawns south of anywhere, Mr. Merchant takes a mental review of the looks of his lawn and makes note of the statement. This is his "civic pride" button, and that statement has touched it. It is the same with anything else that has to do with "his" town. It has been said for years and years, that comparisons are horrible. There are two sides to this question. Comparisons may appear horrible for whatever they help "show up." But this is not so. Comparison, much like competition, tends to improve whatever may be compared or competed for.

In all communities, some members will be found out to lack this civic pride. These members simply refuse to realize with the rest that they can help make a Pleasantville of their own town. They stubbornly refuse to enthrone with the rest, and in some cases even refuse to listen to the reasons advanced to show why they should join the enthusiasts. Usually they have a grievance against any one member of the community and are willing to forsake some of their friends, just to show that particular offender that he does not wish to be seen pushing the same barrow. It is almighty hard to show him that by getting together, he and the offender, that his robbing the community of his services, might get over that difference and become the best of social and business friends. There is no doubt about this. The hardest man to convince is the man who will listen not to neutral argument. He is much as the African ostrich. This giant bird, when hotly pursued by the hunter, finally digs a hole in the sand and buries its head. It figures this way: "Out of sight, out of danger." The recalcitrant citizen buries his head in the hole of sullenness and refuses to see his enemy. If he were just to pop his head out and exchange a few phrases he might, and probably would, come to a perfect understanding.

It is a great pity that where the pride and welfare of a community is concerned, such petty matters as purely individual opinions should be an obstacle to the building up and glorifying of that community.

It is a year before the next election, but candidates are already on the go.

The commercial travelers of the country are going to engage in a warfare to break up the tipping evil. Something they ought to have been doing long ago. If Carolina club does not wake up things in a business way for Greenville, the outcome of its efforts is going to be contrary to expectations. The slogan is "Our Greenville, Yours if You Come." And coupled with this should be a motto, Greenville people patronize Greenville enterprises. The whole world is a push, and the man who does not join in and help the pushing is likely to get pushed aside. The hunting season is on now, and it is time to warn people to be careful how they shoot. They have already had a snow fall of 28 inches in Indiana. That is some snow. The man who has no faith in his town ought to pack his grip and move out. Every day can be a good one if we resolve to make it so. The turkey crop for Thanksgiving is very promising. Col. Henry C. Dockery, of Rockingham and editor of the Post in that town, died Monday night at the age of 71 years. Col. Dockery was one of the most prominent men in the state and was a leading Republican. He was once United States marshal for the eastern district of North Carolina. As an editor he labored earnestly for the upbuilding of his state and was the father of the movement for a coast to mountain highway.

Two registered packages, each containing $20,000, have recently disappeared from the mails, the loss of one happening in the vicinity of Lynchburg, Va., and the other near Greensboro in this state. Of late banks have been shipping money more by insured registered mail than by express, but if such losses as these are to become frequent it will be cheaper to send a messenger along with large sums of money.

The man who assaulted Booker T. Washington in an apartment house in New York last spring, was tried Monday and acquitted. Witnesses stated that Washington was peeping through key holes, and also accosted a white woman who passed him in the hall with "Hello, Sweetheart." The affair caused much comment at the time it occurred. Now they are saying Washington deserved all he got.

Every citizen of Pitt county has a feeling of pride when he looks at Judge Whedbee on the bench. It is not every day you find a young man of such legal ability as he possesses, no one of even many more years who makes so excellent a judge. We expect to see him go higher.

Wu Ting Fang, who some years ago was Chinese ambassador to America and made himself popular in this country, is reported to have gone over to the rebels who are trying to overthrow the monarchial government of China and make it a republic.

A young fellow of Ludlow, Mass., was presented a gold watch on his 21st birthday because he had never used a profane word, never smoked or chewed tobacco, never touched a drop of liquor and never kissed a girl outside of his own family. Maybe he didn't, but we don't believe it.

The Reflector wants to remind you every day this week that it is your duty to attend the mass meeting called by the Farmers Union, for next Saturday morning in the court house, to discuss the cotton problem.

An Illinois congressman is predicting that this country will have a revolution within twenty years unless congress enacts some remedial labor legislation.

It is a year before the next election, but candidates are already on the go.

There are several things the business men of Greenville should learn, and one of these is they should be better advertisers if they want trade to come to the town.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind. He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles. I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs. I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be. I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Theford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines. I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Theford's."

Here Is Where The Draft Enters

The most perfect draft ever discovered is the patent Hot Blast Down Draft of the Wilson Heater. The only draft that secures perfect combustion and prevents waste.

This draft is found only in the

Wilson HOT BLAST Heater

The air enters at the top, drives the combustible gases into the fire where they are burned—prevents the escape of heat up the chimney—doubles the heating power of the fuel.

In other words, only half the amount of fuel used in ordinary heaters is necessary. The Wilson is air-tight, making perfect combustion possible and a fire can be held 36 hours.

We sell Wilson Hot Blast Heaters for either wood or coal.

An Asheville small boy, playing with matches, set his dad's house on fire, then crawled into a trunk to keep from being burned up, so the newspapers say, but that was not his object; he was trying to keep out of the way of the old man, probably having no idea the house was going to be destroyed, for had he known this he would have hit the back yard a yelling.—Greensboro Record.

Saved Many From Death. W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma, or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by all druggists.
