BUILDING ROADS WITH CONVICTS

Recently several newspapers of the state have been advocating that the state discontinue its farming operations and put the convicts to building public roads, especially a state highway. The argument of these papers for such a change sounded good, and to those not knowing the real facts it looked like their suggestion was the right thing to adopt. A communication from Superintendent J. J. Laughinghouse, of the state prison, to the Raleigh News and Observer, which we are publishing in this issue, puts quite a different face on the argument. He shows by actual figures that fully three-fourths of the convicts throughout the state are working on roads, and only a portion of the remainder on the state farm.

Seventy-five counties have chain-gangs to which the courts in these counties sentence prisoners to be worked locally on the roads, and Mr. Laughinghouse further shows that only a small per cent of the convicts get to the state prison. Those who keep up with the courts know it is true, as he says, that those able to do good work are sent to the roads, while only the long-termers and the weaklings, those who have to be taken care of, are sent to the state prison, and out of the latter he has to patch up enough to get what hands are on the farm. With the four hundred convicts he has on the farm he is doing a great and profitable work for the state, and this work should not be abandoned.

There is a side, however, to this road building suggestion, and the state should take more interest in building the roads. The eighteen hundred convicts who are working on the roads in the seventy-five counties are under no efficient direction and because of this their work is largely wasted, being slow in progress and usually not permanent in character. The state ought to have a highway commission, and this commission through competent engineers should direct all the road work by convicts throughout the state, so that the work may be well done and permanent. In this way one good engineer could have the direction of the convict crews in several counties lying close to each other, and the expense for this part of it be divided proportionately between the counties.

As to the state highways, they could be best and most quickly built in this way. Let the highway commission locate these highways and have them built through the respective counties by the convicts in those counties. For instance, if the highway should cross Pitt county, let the state engineer take charge of the convicts in this county and build that portion of the highway, and upon reaching the boundary line of this county take up the convicts of the adjoining county through that county, and so on from county to county until the highways are built. This work could be carried on in several counties at the same time, the crews working to meet each other at boundary lines, thus constructing the highways rapidly.

Bob Phillips' professed admiration for pie will be doubted ever hereafter. He sent an advance invitation to the boys to call around at The News office when in Greensboro to get some pie, and then took himself off to a conference where the chief dish is chicken. Some of us went to look for the pie, but if Bob left any there it was so kivered that it could not be found.

Beattie did what most other condemned criminals do after every effort to escape execution has failed, made a profession of religion. We do not doubt that it is possible for a man who has led a vicious life to be saved even in the last hours of such a life, but do not have much faith in that kind of profession.

LAND SALE.

We will sell to highest bidder, for cash, at 11 o'clock a. m., on December 15, 1911, the following lands: One brick store building now occupied by J. C. Robertson & Co., one vacant lot facing Railroad street, one open lot back of store, one farm near Everetts, N. C., consisting of about 200 acres, about 80 acres cleared; fairly good buildings, good state of cultivation for 1912. The above farm was not cultivated this year. For further information, apply to the heirs of G. T. Robertson, deceased. Reason for sale of for division.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Greenville People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come mysteriously. But nature always warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If there are settlings and sediment, Passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off serious diseases.

L. W. Lawrence, 311 Washington street, Greenville, N. C., says: "I am pleased to make the fact known that I have been greatly benefitted by Doan's Kidney Pills, which I obtained from the John L. Wooten Drug Co. Too frequent passages of the kidney secretions annoyed me and I often noticed that the flow was scanty. I took Doan's Pills as directed and since then my kidneys have been in much better condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Kansas Choice Over Missouri.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 24.—The annual football game between Missouri and Kansas universities, which for twenty years has usually been played on neutral ground at Kansas City, is to take place here tomorrow on Missouri's home field. With both teams reported to be in good condition and with the feeling of rivalry as strong as ever, the game is expected to attract hundreds of followers of the sport from both states. While local sentiment is strong for the Missouri eleven the betting odds favor the Kansans, not so much because of any development of this year's playing, but because of the long line of victories to the credit of the Lawrence school.

Intercollegiate Cross-Country Run BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 24.—Arrangements have been completed for the annual cross-country run for the intercollegiate championship, which is to be held tomorrow morning over the new course of the Brookline Country club. This year's entry list includes one more college than last year, Brown being the newcomer. The other colleges that have entered teams are Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Michigan, Syracuse and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

TRADE REPORT.

Conditions Improved, But Collections
Slow.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say for Richmond and vicinity: Trade conditions in general show improvement over the first weeks of the month, and while collections continue slow, they are not as much so as they were earlier in the month. The disposition to hold cotton for higher prices continues, however, the movement is being made in larger volume than previously reported. Offerings of loose leaf tobacco are large, and satisfactory prices are being paid. Grocers confectioners and dealers in holiday goods report satisfactory volume of sales. Dealers in malt and spirituous liquors report increase sales. In some lines cancellations are frequent, especially in lines usually sold on long terms. The peanut crop is reported to be up to the average and cleaners report large receipts. Stocks of merchandise are still reported depleted. Retail trade shows improvement with the advance of holiday season. Produce, fruit, game and poultry are plentiful, but bring fair prices. Eggs are high and scarce.
