

GREENVILLE HAS COTTON FIRE IN N. S. YARD

Fifty Bales of Cotton Are Partially Destroyed

ALTOGETHER 200 IN THE YARD

Saturday afternoon about 5:30, fire was discovered in the cotton yard of the Norfolk Southern railroad, where two hundred bales of cotton were awaiting shipment to Norfolk.

It is supposed that the fire was caused from sparks from the engine of the passenger train which arrives at the Norfolk Southern depot at 4:53. At any rate, as soon as the fire was discovered, the alarm was given and quickly responded to by some of the fire-fighters.

Three hose were put in commission and with hardly any pressure it was only by the strenuous work of the firemen that confined the fire to certain bales which were in flames. Altogether, out of the 200 bales awaiting shipment, only a quarter were partially destroyed, with an approximate loss of $2,000 worth of cotton, all of it insured. The shippers were Messrs. Jesse Speigh, Moseley Bros. and W. L. Hall.

Conspicuous in their efforts to put a stop to the fire were Mr. B. M. Bass, of the firm of Messrs. Jesse Speigh and Seth Hooker, the latter unfortunately having his right hand slightly, but painfully burned. The work of the firemen is to be commended in this, as in other occasions.

NO CHURCH SERVICE.

On Account of Snow Storm Local Churches Held no Services.

On account of the severe snow storm which raged over Greenville all Saturday night and early Sunday morning, none of the local churches held services.

The streets were unpassable, the snow being quite deep in many places. Even in the late afternoon it was a hardship to be on the street, where the cold wave had turned the snow into slippery ice that made walking both difficult and dangerous.

It is to be hoped, that, weather permitting, the attendances at next Sunday's services will more than make up for Sunday's inactivities.

The Weather.

Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; moderate variable winds.

CONDENSED NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE OLD NORTH STATE.

Lutheran Meeting Closes.

Salisbury.—Robert E. Spear, of New York, made the final speech at the closing session of the Lutheran Laymen's missionary convention in Salisbury tonight. The convention resulted in a great forward movement in the interest of missions. J. Campbell White, of New York, appealed to the business men of the south to occupy the mission fields of the east. The convention elected the following executive committee, George R. Cromer, of Newberry, S. C.; O. B. Mayer, of Newberry; J. E. Cooper, of Winchester, Va.; C. M. Enford, of Lexington, S. C.; J. H. Wheeler, of Wilmington; W. P. Housel, of Columbia, and Kenneth Baker, of Greenwood, S. C. Sufficient money was raised in a few minutes to carry forward of movement in the Lutheran church for two years.

Blacksmith Kills Desperate Negro.

Asheville.—Ed Mills, a bad negro who was serving two years on the chain gang, for house breaking, made his escape yesterday morning from the gang and in the afternoon went into the blacksmith shop of Deputy Sheriff Brown at Burnsville. Hill and demanded that his shackles be cut off. Mr. Brown started to arrest him and the negro drew a razor, whereupon the deputy sheriff mortally wounded him. Mills died Sunday night as a result of the shot and an inquest over the body was held today by Coroner Morris. The jury exonerated Mr. Brown and the verdict was to the effect that he had shot Mills in the discharge of his duty.

Two to Three Inches of Snow in Wilmington.

Wilmington.—Snow began falling here Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock the ground was covered with a mantle of white, the depth being estimated at two to three inches. This is the second snow for Wilmington this winter. It is still snowing at 10 o'clock and the indications are that it will snow the remainder of the night.

Snow Four Inches Deep in Charlotte.

Charlotte.—A driving snow storm which started at 7 o'clock at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, accompanied by unusually low temperature followed a day of spring-like weather. Traffic has been impeded and there is much suffering among the poor. The recorded depth at midnight was four inches and the high wind which accompanied the storm made the bitterest weather of the winter.

Much Tobacco Sold During Last Month

Raleigh.—Sales of leaf tobacco on the various markets in North Carolina for the month of January amounted to 10,429,749 pounds, according to statistics gathered by the department of agriculture, as against 6,098,749 in January, 1911. Winston-Salem, as usual, led the markets for the month of January; Mount Airy, Rocky Mount, Roxboro and Henderson came next in the order named.

Boy Scouts on the Job.

The Boy Scouts took the opportunity to show their grit at the cotton yard fire Saturday afternoon. The boys charged one of the reel stations, run out a line of hose, played a stream on the burning cotton bales and worked like regular firemen. They stuck to it, too, even if the water did freeze on their clothes. The scouts are determined to make themselves useful.

FIRE AT MR. F. J. FORBES.

Little Damage Done by the Fire, Al- though There is big "Scare."

Early this morning, as the family of Mr. F. J. Forbes was making ready for breakfast, the kitchen stove burst and fragments from it painfully wounded a cook. A small fire resulted from the explosion, but this was soon put out by the members of the household, without damage of any consideration, except the bruises the unfortunate cook received.

It is thought that a defective flue caused the explosion.

A hammer sometimes misses its mark, but a bouquet never.

Rev. R. L. Davis' Witness Missing in Charlotte

Man who bought "Booze" for Secretary of Anti-Saloon League may have been Spirited Away--Must Turn up by next Thursday to Testify as to buying Whiskey in Clubs

LAW ENFORCEMENT LEAGUE WILL PROSECUTE CASES ALL THE SAME

It Is Not Known for a Fact Whether Witness Has Been "Tampered With" or Not—His Name has Not Been Given Out as yet—He may be a Special Detective, in Which Case His Disappearance Should Cause no Unrest.

CHARLOTTE, Feb. 12.—The man who bought the eight bottles of liquor for Secretary Davis, of the State Anti-Saloon League, seems to be "out of the city" at present. But that does not necessarily mean that he will not be here next Thursday, the 15th, the date set for the prosecution of the case.

However, there is found much to talk about today in the matter. The Observer's story on the subject follows:

It turns out to be highly improbable that any warrants can be issued against the clubs and drug stores from whom whiskey was purchased for Rev. R. L. Davis, secretary of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League. It is certain that the officials in charge of the affair have been holding a number of conferences every day during the week, but no indictments have resulted. The report is current that the party who made the purchases of whiskey and beer and was depended upon as the state's material witness, the one witness around whom the body of the cases clung, is not "among us" any more. This is not denied by the officers of those who have the matter in hand for prosecution. Whether he will be here next Thursday, February 15, when Rev. Mr. Davis is to appear, is not known. It is certain, however, that he is not here now, nor has been for several days, to the great alarm of those instrumental in pushing the cases.

It is not known whether the state can produce sufficient evidence to justify indictments or not without the presence of this witness who has so suddenly departed for coasts unknown. Others have been investigated under ad testificandum proceedings with the view to strengthening the testimony which this witness was prepared to give the courts, but it is doubtful whether the prosecution is willing to rely upon this additional evidence without first introducing the party who actually made the purchases and whose purchases were so sensational exhibited at the mass meeting held last Sunday night in the interest of the cause of prohibition.

MEXICAN REBELS PILLAGE RANGHES

Use Fire As Destructive Means to Hurt In Torreon

MEXICO COULD NOT TRANSPORT NOW

There is No Necessity to Transport Troops Over American Territory and Negotiations Would be Too Lengthy.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12.—Mexico would not transport through United States territory, now even if the Washington government had not withdrawn its permission for such action, according to an official message sent to Washington today.

Government officials here say that it is not necessary to replace them with Federals. Even should the government wish to send the troops through United States territory, however, it would take at least two weeks to arrange formalities necessary to gain consent of the senate.

The proceedings for a special session of the senate requested by President Madero will go forward in the meantime in order that the plan may be carried out later if the emergency arises and the permission is granted by the United States.

Although wire communication was re-established with Chihuahua today, the railroad is still out of commission. New activities of the rebels were reported in the Torreon district.

WEATHER REVIEW.

Lowest Temperature in Thirteen Years.

Greenville got up Sunday morning to find a twelve-inch snow on the ground. Something in the way of a big snow was expected, for it began falling just after dark Saturday evening and kept coming thick and fast through the night. The dry, hard ground was a receptive place for the snow, and it looked like every flake stuck and counted.

While records are not at hand for comparisons with previous snows, this is the largest that has visited this section in many years, and the people were not prepared for so much of it.

COL. BRYAN TO TESTIFY

Called "Evil Genius" By Representative Dies, of Texas

SAYS HE DOES NOT FEAR POWER

Attack Made Upon the Peerless Leader by Texas Representative—"Evil Genius Hovering Over the Flanks of Democracy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The "evil genius hovering on the flanks of Democracy," was the way in which Representative Dies of Texas in the House Saturday described William J. Bryan. Mr. Dies was speaking of the Comstock's latest attack upon the Democratic membership of the house.

"Both Democratic and Republicans cheered Mr. Dies' declaration that he 'neither feared the power nor respected the judgment,' of the Nebraska; and his further announcement that Democracy, under the leadership of Champ Clark and Oscar W. Underwood was headed toward complete success swept the Democratic side of the house into storms of applause.

Mr. Dies' attack upon Mr. Bryan followed the latter's declaration in the last issue of The Comstock that the thirteen Democrats who voted against a recent amendment in the house to require publicity of all recommendations to the president on judgeship appointments were "unworthy to represent a Democratic constituency."

Sunday was a bright, beautiful day, with the temperature ranging as high as 62, but after night it turned much colder and pushed the thermometer down to the lowest stage of the winter, in fact the lowest it has been here in thirteen years. Mr. O. E. Warren says that at Riverside Nursery his thermometer registered 8 degrees, and night Policeman W. H. McGowan says that at 5:30 o'clock he read one in front of Wooten's drug store that was 5 degrees. The correct temperature was perhaps about the figure at Riverside.

Sunday there was much snow-balling, and several rude selghs were out.

A. WATTS, SIMMONS' MAN IN GREENVILLE

Approaching of Senatorial Campaign May Be Answer

WAS IN TOWN BUT A FEW HOURS

Importance attaches to the short visit paid Saturday night to Greenville, by Mr. A. Watts, private secretary of Senator Simmons, candidate for the re-nomination against Justice Clark, Governor Kitchin and ex-Governor Aycock.

In view of the approaching campaign, his rapid visit to this town and the negative information gathered as to what brought him here, it would appear that Mr. Simmons wants to feel his ground in Pitt county.

No doubt, developments will soon give us the answer to the visit of Mr. Watts.

GOOD NEWS FOR PROHIBITIONISTS

Anti-Shipments of Liquor Into Dry States, is Question

CONGRESS MAY PASS BILL IS SAID

National Act Against Interstate Ship- ment of Liquor Into Prohibition States Where State-Wide Prohibition Law Obtains.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.—The six hundred people of Gastonia, who called on the Representatives in Congress to work zealously for legislation that will "prevent the shipment of the liquor barrels into North Carolina from without the state," and all the forces in the state that are working for a condition in which the prohibition law can really be enforced will be encouraged today at the announcement that Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, has declared unequivocally for the Kenyon bill, which provides exactly what they ask for.

North Carolinians were prominent in the hearing before the Senate committee on Judiciary on this bill last week and of the Webb bill before the House committee.

The Webb bill, which was introduced before the Kenyon bill is identical, word for word, with the Senate bill, except for a section added by Representative Sheppard and introduced in the House, which provides that there shall be no property right in such liquor while in the possession of the railroad company.

Mr. Webb refused to accept this addition fearing that it would weaken his bill on constitutional grounds, but it is recognized that the Kenyon bill fully covers the ground and meets the approval of prohibition advocates.

Senator Lea declared that all fears for the constitutionality of the Kenyon bill are groundless.

Mrs. Munford Entertains In Honor Federation Council.

The 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th will long be remembered as "red letter" days in the annals of our city.

The coming of the council of the N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs brought with it more than temporary pleasure. We shall see lasting benefits from this meeting in many directions.

Never in the history of our town has a better spirit awakened—a spirit of co-operation—a spirit of loyalty to our town and its interests—a spirit that precluded dissensions and fostered union.

Good cheer and kindness held high carnival.

Even our streets and public buildings put on their clean dress, and we "saw that it was good."

Our guests were busy women. They had work to do and they did it; yet time was left for much social enjoyment. The receptions tendered in honor of the council by the Carolina Club and the Training school were two of a trio that have never been excelled in Greenville. The third of these was held on the evening of the eighth in the home of Mrs. C. T. Munford, librarian of the Round Table. It is useless to attempt in detail a description of the decorations; let it suffice that exquisite taste was delicately expressed in simple elegance everywhere.

The guests, about one hundred and fifty in number, were received in the hall by Mrs. J. R. Moye and Miss Mary Higgs, who conducted them to the punch table, presided over by Mrs. W. L. Best and Mrs. am White. Here in the soft glow of crimson-shaded candles, beneath garlands of red roses, beautiful women refreshed themselves while the Italian orchestra, screened above stairs, dispensed soul-thrilling music.

The guests were then introduced to the receiving line by Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse. Mrs. Munford was assisted by Mrs. Sidney Thomas Beckwith, president of the Round Table; Mrs. Robert Randolph Cotten, president of the N. C. Federation; Mrs. R. O. Jeffries, president of the End of the Century Club; Mrs. Mark Quinerly, Mrs. Richard Williams and the following members of the council: Mrs. C. C. Hook, Mrs. A. B. Kimball, Miss Clara Cox, Mrs. M. L. Tover, Mrs. T. B. Tyson, Miss Edith Royster, Mrs. B. K. Hays, Mrs. G. W. Whitsett and Mrs. J. L. Wooten.

After a few moments of social converse, the guests repaired to the dining room where Mrs. J. W. Higgs with Misses Lillian Carr, Lizzie Higgs and Carlotta Hamersly served a most delightful salad course. The color scheme of red and white here, as in the hall and tea-room, was perfectly sustained.

Just before their departure Mrs. H. E. Austin, Mrs. S. J. Everett, and Mrs. Will Ricks served to the guests "the cup that cheers, but not inebriates." It is impossible to give here the full guest-list which included the members of the End of the Century, the

Mr. C. C. Daniels who returned last night from Greenville where he went to defend Mr. Saleeba, the candy kitchen man of this city who was indicted for passing a worthless check for ten dollars says that the matter seems to be more a case of persecution and desire to separate a man from his money than anything else.

Why the warrant was made for $10.00 when the check that Saleeba gave was for $50.00 is not clear. Justice Rountree bound Saleeba over to court in a bond of $100 probably because he did not want to take final jurisdiction in the matter though it seemed clear that Saleeba acted entirely within his rights.

It seems that according to the evidence Saleeba purchased of Hatem, a Syrian merchant of Greenville, his soda water, fruit and confectionery business and the price was agreed upon Saleeba giving a check on the Branch Banking Company of this city for $50.00 as part payment.

Saleeba came back to Wilson to get the balance of the money and when he returned to have the necessary papers fixed up Hatem informed him of a mortgage on the soda water fountain and insisted that he also assume this indebtedness.

Saleeba refused because this was not the agreement in the trade, called the deal off and asked for the return of his check for $50.00 which Hatem refused to give, alleging that his trouble in the matter was worth $50.00. Saleeba stepped to the phone and stopped payment on the check upon which payment was of course refused.

Hatem then had him indicted for passing a check for ten dollars.—Wilson Times, 10th.

GREAT WORK IS A LIBRARY ON CIVICS, HISTORY AND INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Messages and Papers of the Presidents Compiled in a Series of Eleven Volumes.

An Encyclopedic Index Sets Forth Important Questions of Government From the Foundation of the Republic.

INSTRUCTION FOR YOUNG AMERICANS.

Among the interesting papers of George Washington is the first Thanksgiving proclamation issued in this country dated Oct. 3, 1789, the autograph copy of which is reproduced in facsimile by photo-engraving. In Washington's first annual address he emphasizes the importance of the occasion, and particularly of knowledge of governmental affairs, saying in part: "Knowledge is in every country the surest basis of public happiness."

In the third annual address reference is made to faith and confidence in the government, as illustrated by the fact that the subscriptions to the stock of the Bank of the United States were completed in a single day. This message is important as bringing out the fact that the central banking idea talked of today is not new.

So much has been said in praise of Washington's farewell address, in which he declines a third term, that we need say no more here than to call attention to the valuable fact that here it is in permanent, accessible form. A leading metropolitan newspaper in making an exhaustive review of this publication says, "Washington's farewell address should be a household word."

It is well nigh impossible to conceive a good foundation for United States history, including the colonial period, without making the intimate acquaintance of all of Washington's state papers. They are the history of his time, for it has been said that "the government was established by Washington, organized by Hamilton and then made democratic by Jefferson."

When Washington was inaugurated Sept. 30, 1789, on the balcony of the Federal hall, in Wall street, New York, then the capital of the United States, he became the president not of the United States as the map would show it today, but of a little segment of this great country, most of which he did not, during his lifetime, know existed at all. The portion of which he was president is shown in one of a series of outline maps in the front part of volume 11, where the evolution of our territorial extent is developed.

The great fundamental ideas which Hamilton brought to bear and which had the sanction of Washington were a firm determination to pay in full the foreign debt, to fund the domestic debt at par and to assume the state debts. Then came the establishment of the excise tax, which was bitterly opposed, particularly in the state of Pennsylvania, declared to be "established on principles subversive of peace, liberty and the rights of citizens" and amounted to what is known as the whisky insurrection, requiring 15,000 militia to put down. Then there was the beginning of the tariff question by the establishment of a protective tariff; the first government coining mint was established at Philadelphia; then arose the still mooted questions of "strict construction" or "implied powers" of the constitution. These were simple days and yet stirring times. The farseeing wisdom which prompted Washington to issue his "neutrality proclamation," arising from the war between England and France then going on, is worthy of the study of every school child. The recall of the French Minister Genet, the Jay treaty and the various other treaty relations with foreign countries and constant reference to our international rights and duties make the perusal of our own state papers a birdseye study of contemporary important events throughout the world.

The hardships of pioneering, accompanied by constant Indian warfare or minor depredations, allied to here and there give not and remembrance to the historical story as told by the early pioneers. Tennessee, Kentucky and

The opening paragraphs of the inaugural address of John Adams sounded a warning that has come thundering down the century to the present day.

It is interesting to note from the series of maps heretofore referred to how small "this extensive country" was in the time of Adams.

The important proclamation delivered July 22, 1797, by President Adams relating to foreign and domestic coinage is reproduced in facsimile.

One of the most notable official acts of John Adams was the appointment of John Marshall as chief justice of the United States. Marshall's decisions fixed an elastic interpretation of the constitution which made possible the expansion of territory and a liberality in police regulation needed for the law and order of such a government. It was during Adams' administration and while the French revolution was going on that commissioners sent to Paris by America were rejected except they, the French representatives, be bribed, which gave rise to Pinckney's famous saying, "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

The alien and sedition laws were passed, and a treaty with Napoleon was made. It will thus be seen how the history of the United States contained in the official papers of Adams reflects the side lights of foreign history as well. During Adams' administration the seat of government was formally transferred to the new built city of Washington.

Adams as a Federalist followed the so called "Tory" principles of Washington. President Adams was justly proud of his peace negotiations with France. He is recorded as saying, "I desire no other inscription over my grave-stone than this: 'Here lies John Adams, who took upon himself the responsibility of peace with France in 1800.'"

As a sort of frontispiece, in addition to the portrait of Jefferson and a reproduction of Monticello, Virginia, his home, there is a four page facsimile reproduction of parts of Jefferson's original draft of the Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson had to deal with the continued plague of piracy, upon which his discourses are interesting and instructive. In his first inaugural address he reviews the question of naturalization and makes recommendations. The Louisiana territory was purchased from Napoleon for the sum of $15,000,000, an event which had much to do with the problem of territorial expansion and which called forth from Jefferson in his second inaugural address a clear discussion of the freedom of the press.

In Jefferson's first annual message he makes a statement that would be significant today: "Agriculture, manufactures, commerce and navigation, the four pillars of our prosperity, are the most thriving when left most free to individual enterprise. Protection from DENVER, Col., Feb. 12.—With "Harmony" as their watchword, the Republican leaders of Colorado, both standpatters and progressives, gathered here in force today to attend a meeting of the state central committee and a general conference, concluding with a banquet and an address by ex-senator Beveridge of Indiana. A meeting of the Republican editors of Colorado was an added attraction of the gathering. Plans for an aggressive state and national campaign were discussed at the conference. At the election next fall Colorado will name a complete set of state officers and a legislature that will be called upon to select two United States senators—one for the full term of six years to succeed Senator Guggenheim and one for the unexpired term of two years caused by the death of the late C. J. Hughes.

Earl Rosslyn's Daughter a Bride.
LONDON, Feb. 12.—High society was well represented in the gathering that filled the Guards Chapel, Wellington Barracks, at the wedding this afternoon of Lady Rosabell St. Clair Emskine and David Cecil Bingham. The bride is the only daughter of the late Earl of Rosslyn, who is known in America through his appearance on the stage. Her parents were divorced in 1907 and the Earl subsequently married Miss Anna Robinson, an actress, whose home was in Minneapolis. David Cecil Bingham, the bridegroom of today, is a son of Brigadier General Cecil Bingham, who a year ago was married to the beautiful Mrs. Samuel Splan Chauncey, formerly Miss Alice Carr of Louisville, Ky.

Army Maneuvers in the Philippines.
MANILA, Feb. 12.—What is planned to be the most extensive war maneuvers ever indulged in by the United States troops in the Philippines were inaugurated today in the Department of Luzon. The plans drawn up for the operations divide the available troops into two forces consisting of 2,500 men each. On these armies will have its base at Stotsenburg camp, Panpanga, to the north of Manila and probably will carry out an attack on the city of Manila in which the other army will have its base and will act on the defensive.

Dominion Grocers Meet in Toronto.
TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 12.—Several hundred men, representing million of dollars of invested capital, gathered here today for the annual convention of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild. The organization includes in its membership the principal men in the wholesale grocery trade throughout Canada. The meeting was devoted to the transaction of routine business and the discussion of several matters of interest and importance to the trade.

Harry Thaw's Birthday.
FISHKILL LANDING, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Harry K. Thaw today passed his forty-second birthday at the Matteawan Hospital for the Criminal Insane, where he was sentenced after the second jury which tried him for murder of Stanford White, found him insane. No special incident in the routine of Thaw's life marked the anniversary, except that he received visits and messages from several of the members of his family. It is again rumored that Thaw is about to make another effort to gain his freedom by habeas corpus proceedings.

National League Meeting.
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Nearly all of the National League magnates have arrived in town for the reconvened annual meeting to be held tomorrow. The meeting will adopt a schedule for the coming season and will clean up a quantity of business left unfinished at the December meeting. Several slight changes in the constitution are to be considered and acted upon. One of the clauses that will be cleared up will be that referring to open dates and the playing of postponed games.

Shocking Sounds.
In the earth are sometimes heard before a terrible earthquake, that warn of the coming peril. Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need attention if you would escape those dangerous maladies, dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see back-ache fly and all your best feelings return. "My son received great benefit from their use," writes Peter Bondy South Rockwood, Mich. "It is certainly a great kidney medicine." Try it. 50 cents at all druggists.

There are few items which appear in this paper more important to Greenville people than the statement published below. In the first place, it is from a citizen of Greenville, and can be thoroughly relied upon. In the second place, it indisputably proves that Doan's Kidney Pills do their work thoroughly and not temporarily. Read this carefully:
Mrs. E. G. Worthington, Washington street, Greenville, N. C., says, "I have been so greatly benefitted by Doan's Kidney Pills that I am glad to recommend them. My back ached regularly all the time and I could not rest well. The kidney secretions caused me annoyance and it was plain to be seen that I was suffering from kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from the J. Pohn L. Wooten Drug Company, relieved my aches and pains and improved my condition greatly. I cannot praise this remedy too strongly."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
